> Not really. Even Larry Roll admits that most hams support her > decision. The "debate" over Kim's choice of a call isn't a debate at > all, it's a way for a few people to attempt to force her to change it > against her will. As such it isn't something to do with ham radio, but > with dictating the behavior of others.

Larry can't admit since he doesn't have more solid information than you or me. Nobody has taken a poll. I'm not forcing Kim to do anything. I'd certainly like her to see that she has done something which does not reflect well on amateur radio or herself. I'll also admit, through past experience with reading Kim's views on other topics, that I think it is highly unlikely that Kim would change her mind about much of anything.

Under libertarian, Libertarian, Republican and Democratic philosophies and under the U.S. Constitution, it is my right to make my views on the matter known. That you don't like it bothers me not.

Dave K8MN

2585. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:20:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1491410725C88FBB.1A85559CB970ED35.B168627D3B7EF147@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25582

On 29 Nov 2001 04:12:30 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> I guers it flew right between your ears with the wind, but it was Kim >who chose that callsign to go with the gabonzas.

And it is you, Larry, and Dave primarily who insist on harassing her about it instead of minding your own business.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2586. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:23:28 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4gogepr0@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25583

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 28 Nov 2001 06:22:51 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> > Yes, very quickly, since they had achieved the control they wanted. It > >was a sham on the desperate German populace from the start.
>
> Don't criticize them too harshly--our populace elected George > Wimpus, didn't we?
>
> Oops. Come to think of it, we didn't--he's President because > of election fraud in the State where his brother is Governor, isn't > he?
>

Welp, all the news is widely reporting that all the Press recounts that have been done in Florida still show that Bush is the winner. Bleaaaahhh to you, too.

They also say that it looks like that if Gore had gone immediatly for a complete statwide recount, instead of only the precincts where he was convinced he was assured he had a large majority, that they believe he would have won.

Sometimes a wise guy just outsmarts himself.

2587. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:27:29 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4h01epr1@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25584

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 28 Nov 2001 16:48:54 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> > I believe that better describes the true quality of that (those) > >civilizatioins, or the lack of it, than any words could ever do.
>
> But, of course, the United States leads the world in male > circumcision.

As you should know, that is largely a health issue, the Jewish practice aside.
There are studies which show that the wives of uncircumcised men experience a higher rate of cervical cancer, and other studies show an elevated rate of penile cancer in uncircumcised men.

2588. Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:28:28 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0111282128.f56aa8e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25585

Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:
>If I was interested in becoming a ham radio operator,this >NG would turn me off from the idea real quick.

HAMS DONT THINK HIGHLY OF DOPE-SMOKING BOOTLEGGERS MOPARHOLIC, SO THERES VERY LITTLE CHANCE YOULL BE ENCOURAGED TO GET YOUR TICKET BY THIS NG :)

From: Moparholic (moparholic@webtv.net)
Subject: Re: Illegal 1000 watt swing
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Date: 2001-01-04 16:16:51 PST

Criminal Mind ? Dude get a grip ! I live in a very rural area, have horses and farm a small piece of my land. I've ran my Collins S series with its matched 30 L1/phone patch and power supply for years out here. (all tubes..rec,trans,amp..on 11 meters). Friggin thing takes up
a bench and then some. Nothing but compliments on my audio and conduct.
Qsl's from the world and back. I can only hope when you get your ticket you will enjoy it at least half as much. I am new to this group, but not new to your type trollboy, you live for this ng . A sad state of affairs when the HAM attitude in all is self righteousness has to spoil a very fun hobby. I smoke weed too, I know it's illegal but the stuff grows like dandelions on the "back forty " <g>. You go ahead and let the government take even more control of your life, it will distract them from me.

****
Moparholic

2589. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:29:01 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4h2tepr2@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25586

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> Richard Plourde wrote:
> >
> > N2EY wrote:
> >
> > > I would say that the routine nonreversible mutilation of any human without > > > their consent is pretty barabic.
> >
> > I wouldn't say that... (pretty isn't an adverb)... ;-)
> >
> > I would leave out all those qualifiers and say...
> >
> > The mutilation of any human is unequivocably barabic.
> >
> > ...and yet, strangely, these hings happen in many 'civilizations'...
>
> In this peculiar day in which we live, it isn't necessary to mutilate > children. We just wait until they are in their teens and they will pay > to have all sorts of parts tattooed or pierced.

And after Professor Rickets gets finished with them they are mentally mutilated for life.

2590. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:30:05 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <347D0A151250BEFC.76C2B25A46CB1C8F.183E6046A32615E6@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25588

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 04:34:03 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:

>> >I don't. You did. The kids didn't have an opportunity to consent.
>>
>> Did your kids have the opportunity to consent to religious >> exposure before you stated teaching them about Christianity?
>
>It is interesting to see you write a comparison between Christianity or >another religion with your cursing. I'm sure that you are able to >rationalize the comparison in some manner.

I really wish you could read, Dave, it would save a LOT of typing.

Read the above C-A-R-E-F-U-L-L-Y and see if you can't see beyond the concept of "cursing" (which, of course, is a term related to morality and thus a religious value judgement).

Hint: Try focusing on the word in YOUR message "consent."

>> Mine was only exposed to the real world (and I _don't_ use >> that type of language frequently). Yours was/were exposed to >> brainwashing and superstition. Neither consented. I wonder which of us >> harmed our kids more?
>
>I don't have a single doubt about it.

Neither do I.

I'm glad we agree.

Fortunately it wasn't my son who was harmed.

>> You have the right to tell _me_ to shut up as well. The >> libertarian idea of freedom includes free speech, including the right >> to express your views--and if that view is that the person you are >> communicating with should "shut up" then you have every right to >> express it, just not to enforce it.
>
>Oh, so you really didn't mean it? According to you, I have the right >to tell you shut up (but I used restraint instead). I have the >right to add the expletives (but I've used restraint). I used my free >speech to write what I think about Kim's choice of calls. You've tried >to tell me that I shouldn't do that. That cuts across the grain of your >libertarian philosophy. It appears that it is your right to free >speech...but not mine.

No, Dave, it's both our rights.

You have the right to write what you think about Kim's call sign and I have a right to make it clear that you are an idiot for harassing her about it.

Better?

>I do work on it, Rick. None of us ever reaches perfection and all of us >fail some way in each day. Maybe we're make-believe Christians like you >are a make-believe Buddhist.

Buddhism doesn't require me to practice the religious aspects in order to be considered a good Buddhist. Christianity DOES require you to practice the religious aspects in order to be considered a good Christian. Looks like it's pretty clear which of us is a "make-believe" member of our religion, and which is a legitimate one.

>I come here for amateur radio policy discussion.

Kim's tits have something to do with radio policy?

> I don't come here for >discussions on marijuana smoking, the swinging lifestyle or legalized >prostitution.

You know where your delete key is--and how to use a kill file don't you?

No one is stopping you from using either or both.

> I don't really care that the laws against these things >somehow make you feel less free. At least I haven't told you to "shut >the (expletive deleted) up!". Maybe I'm a closet libertarian.

You may be in a closet, but it's not as a libertarian.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2591. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:30:10 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4h52epr3@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25587

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 19:23:06 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >In this peculiar day in which we live, it isn't necessary to mutilate > >children. We just wait until they are in their teens and they will pay > >to have all sorts of parts tattooed or pierced.
>
> Heck, Dave, that isn't a recent development. I have a pierced > left ear (with a 3/4 carat diamond that is a mate to the one in my > wife's engagement ring in it) and a tattoo (USN, if it matters)--both > of which are VERY common in my generation--and I was born in 1945!
>

I would have wagered LARGE on it!

2592. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:31:53 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3DB931D01BBA4453.C81DD29E341BF5DC.3255BF71C5C1F2C9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25589

On 29 Nov 2001 03:47:22 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> See Dave? They don't know everything, after all.

You mean that ISN'T how you got your extra?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2593. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:32:36 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7D3DC19B79F8A84E.45DFDFED58F76D57.4704ECD45917CC70@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25590

On 29 Nov 2001 03:46:21 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

>We are talking about the only way that a General class ham radio license >could ever legally obtain an Extra class license without any further >examination.

They waived the tests due to mental disabilities?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2594. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:33:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <CFC809652063B97E.B74E8E8220196F6F.7F5B686B85E12264@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25591

On 29 Nov 2001 04:16:13 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

>> I don't--and I _teach_ PLS101 classes!
>>
>
> Then you don't teach Political Science. You teach some radical BS just >as I would expect from you.

Er, Dickie,

PLS101 IS a Political Science course.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2595. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:33:45 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05C8B9.1A779674@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25594

Dick Carroll wrote:
> From Funk and Wagnall's Standard College Dictionary:
>
> vulgar, (adj). 1. Lacking in refinement, good taste, sensitivity, etc;
> Coarse; crude; boorish; also, obscene; indecent.
>
> Now you have the proper definition of Kim's W5TIT callsign.

Not so fast, Dick. I distinctly remember looking up what a dictionary in particular means when it says a word is vulgar and it said that is simply means "used by common people". The dictionary makes a definite distinction between vulgar words and obscene words and "tit" is NOT an obscene word.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2596. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:33:57 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B384F0F6E1D4E958.EC5508D84978D023.4B4C08517F87E28B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25592

On 29 Nov 2001 04:17:01 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

>> Majority rule CAN mean Tyranny of the Majority, Dickie. Simply >> because the "majority" want something does NOT make it either "right" >> or appropriate.
>
>
> Sure as hell makes it legal and proper, though.

True.

So did Hitler's orders to round up the Jews.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2597. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:35:34 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4hf6glc0@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25593

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 28 Nov 2001 12:11:23 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >I think there is a precedent for Dubya's action. I understand that in WW2, > >spies and saboteurs were handled that way - including some executions. The USA > >was infiltrated more than once by well-trained German agents posing as > >Americans. The idea is that nonuniformed foreigners acting in certain ways are > >committing acts of war against the USA.
>
> Close, but not quite.
>
> The idea is that nonuniformed foreigners acting in certain > ways on behalf of their government are committing acts of war against > the USA. The key point is that they are acting as agents of their > nation, not as individuals, terrorists, or just common criminals.
>
> The trial of a spy or saboteur who is a citizen of the nation
> he or she is acting for is treated as a military issue because a spy > is conducting military operations on behalf of a government, and thus > is considered to be acting in a military capacity. The trial of a > terrorist, on the other hand, is--and should be--a criminal matter not > a military one. There is no difference in principle, only in quantity > of dead, between a person who goes on a shooting binge in a MacDonalds > restaurant to "protest his plight" as a displaced worker and someone > like ben Laden who plans and executes a crime that results in the > death of thousands of innocent people. BOTH are criminals and treating > them in the same manner we would treat a spy only grants them a status > (as a loyal subject of a hostile nation) they don't deserve.
>
> ALL terrorists should receive a fair trial--to do less simply > states that the US can't convict a guilty person without recourse to > unethical methods. We don't need a Star Chamber, we need public > trials.
>
> Bear in mind that while TODAY military tribunals are > "supposed" to be used only in the case of terrorism, when they were > created the RICO statutes were only to be used in the case of > organized crime as well. Today, the RICO statutes are used in MANY > other types of cases; there's simply no reason to expect military > tribunals to be any different in the future themselves.
>
> >>The Military Tribunals can't be appealed... even to the Supremes... Bush has > >>usurped the Legislature AND... the Judiciary...

> >>
> >>Nice huh????
> >
> >I did not know that the even the Supremes could not be involved. A bit scary...
>
> It's VERY scary--and far too close to the way the KGB operated > at the height of the USSR for me.
>

Is it time to battern down all your loose cannons, Prof?

2598. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:36:07 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <EAAF77336ACAB21F.9E0D04409C179786.89F5C7A5C442025B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25596

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 04:41:48 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Gee, that'd be easy if you didn't once again snip the relevant >portion--the part to which I responded. Do people who take your classes >ever ask for their money back?

Dave, proper procedure dictates cutting back redundant quotes.
Since the part you responded TO already appears in the original message AND your reply there is absolutely no reason to quote it again. Learn to keep track of what you say--or don't say it in the first place.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2599. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:36:09 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05C949.8FD0DEB3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25598

Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:
> And your name is DICK, consider what comes to mind first...

From Webster's: "dick - PENIS - usually considered vulgar"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2600. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:36:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05C932.303D12D0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25595

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 06:24:44 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Be my guest, Rick. It wasn't 1979. I'll guess early '90s. I know I've > >been here since the mid-'90s. Is there a prize for the correct answer?
>
> It was created in response to a request for discussion > generated on: Mon Mar 29 20:33:05 1993. Actual creation date would > have been thirty days later, on April 30, 1993.
>
> By July 1995 (only two years later) the newsgroup already had > a readership of over 28,000. Although growth would certainly have > slowed after that time, it's extremely reasonable to assume it has > kept pace with other, special interest, newsgroups in the rec > hierarchy, and thus current readership should be _at least_ 84,000.
> Thus, unless a large majority of readers are non-amateurs with an > interest in the hobby (which would certainly support the position that > Cecil and I--among others--have taken that the communications in this > newsgroup influence more potential hams than do on-the-air > discussions), this group is read by at least one out of every seven > licensed amateurs in the United States.

I believe it is much more likely for radio amateurs to read the group than non-radio amateurs. It is also possible that the figures (I'd like to know how the figures are derived) are incorrect.

I've posted here since about 1996. In all of that time, I've received only two e-mails (from other than regular posters) related to my postings in r.r.a.p. Both were from already licensed amateurs. There have been no "atta boy", no "your postings have pushed me away from obtaining an amateur radio license" and no "you don't know what you're talking about" e-mails from any non-hams.

That would almost defy statistics, wouldn't it?

I won't try to claim a prize for my guess as to the date this group was created since my "early '90s" guess was too vague. It was certainly in the ballpark. That doesn't matter much since Cecil was quick to point out that he didn't actually mean this group once he realized the numbers didn't add up.

Dave K8MN

2601. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:36:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2298D130E6070A8B.6D3AB438FB208AB9.BAFF67093C7B56F0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25597

On 29 Nov 2001 04:29:45 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> Does Kim have a right to choose >> a flavor of ice cream that you dislike?
>
>
> Sure. She can even rename it Tits if she wants. Doesn't mean it's >appropriate.

Like I said--the God Squad.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2602. Re: Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:38:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05C9C7.608E6329@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25602

Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:
> If I was interested in becoming a ham radio operator,this NG would turn me > off from the idea real quick.

That's what I keep telling them.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2603. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:38:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0A96D28DABCD9D80.5366509D4460FF5A.181D2F57C1A46D1D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25600

On 29 Nov 2001 04:29:44 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Just something I already knew -- that low personal standards are >the norm these days. Nothing new here. I just don't go along with >the crowd -- I'm truly my own person.

Of course you're your own person, Larry. Who else would have you?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2604. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:38:44 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4hl4glc1@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25599

CAM wrote:
>
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > Who hinted that I want to do anything at all with them?
>
> You did, Dick. You said, in so many words, that all Muslims have > no choice except to become terrorists because they adhere to the > letter of the Koran and are required to kill people of another > religion.

Cecil, you are a lying SOB. I said nothing even close. Go back aand
READ it this time, without injecting all your characteristic alterations to make it look like I am the radical. Your actions are deplorable, actionable and obscene.

2605. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:39:17 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2C34259482C89013.DCE34FAC59CBA35A.05E2FA1599EA30A4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25601

On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 22:31:34 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Yeah, cuz nobody else wants you. :-)

You beat me to it, Cecil!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2606. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:41:55 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4hr3glc2@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25603

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <9u1jn9$ni9$0@208.207.71.131>, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> > writes:
>
> >> > Gee, imagine what you could do with "Cracklin' Rosie".
> >>
> >> I thought "Cracklin' Rosie" was already a novelty song (about inexpensive > >> wine).
> > >
> > >
> > > The Neil Diamond song?
> >
> > Yup. Took me years to get it. Like the very end of the classic film "North By > > Northwest"...
> >
> > > Not the way I hear it.
> > >
> > Hope I don't ruin it for ya. Try listening to it or reading the lyrics with the > > idea that it's an ode to cheap sparkling rose' wine.
> >
> > Lines like
> >
> > "Cracklin' Rose, you're a store-bought woman"
> >
> > are the give-away.
> >

Boy, it sure was subtle. Opening "Cracklin' Rosie, get on board, we're gonna ride till there ain't no more...."

2607. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:42:43 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2E645FEEC5BF8B25.0882AB2F5952C50D.3ECF77D689CC471D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25604

On 29 Nov 2001 04:35:36 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> When her choice negatively imnpacts the ARS that makes it MY business, >too.
>I'm nor surprised you fail to notice that.

Then, since I (and MANY other people here) sincerely believe that your offensive posts on race, religion, and other issues here negatively impact on the ARS, I guess that makes you prejudices and hate speech OUR business, doesn't it?

> Make no mistake, I never expected to change her mind, if she has one.
>If she had sense enough to change her mind, she would never have chosen >it in the first place.

And if you had 1/10 the respect for the ARS you CLAIM to have, you wouldn't keep attacking a fellow ham over her personal choices OR posting racist, sexist, or religiously prejudiced materials to a news group read by hams and prospective hams.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2608. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:51:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05CCCF.8A10925C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25605

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Is that what Thomas Jefferson did?
> >
> > Don't you know? At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > > referring to himself as a libertarian?
>
> I don't know if he did or didn't but historians have classified > him as a "civil libertarian" for hundreds of years. He certainly > believed in liberating Americans from British rule and giving > us as much personal freedom and protection from government as > is feasible in a civilized society.

The word "civil" in front of "libertarian" certainly changes the meaning, doesn't it? My Columbia Concise Desktop Encyclopedia doesn't refer to Jefferson as a libertarian but says that he headed the (old) Republican Party, antecedent of today's Democratic Party. He also envisioned an agrarian society, something I'm sure that not many of us would like to see revived. I'll go over the several Jefferson biographies which I have and see what is said about him as a (non-adjective) libertarian.

Dave K8MN

2609. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:53:40 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <534BC4D8E92C72E0.B7BD287B0D5600C5.CF03E33937DCE36C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25607

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:00:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>That's funny. I could swear that you were the guy who said that it is >acceptable under the libertarian philosophy for you to tell me to "shut >the (expletive deleted) up!). You said it is a right. You told me >that you just couldn't force me to shut up. If I use your own >philosophy to say that Kim's choice of calls is tacky--let's even say >that I choose to reiterate that statement every day--you "DO find a >problem" with that. That's a first class, championship double standard >on your part.

Nope--you DO have the right to voice your opinion about Kim and her call sign.

But I--and others--have the right to view you as a self-righteous idiot and a prudish pseudo-moralistic thug for doing so as well. And, like you, we have the right to express that opinion and the opinion that you should drop the issue, here in this news group.

>Are you really accusing Dick Carroll of blackmail?

Actually, I made an error there that I corrected in a later post. I was under the impression that it was Dick Carroll who posted that he would keep the thread going until she gave in and changed her call sign. It was not. It was Larry Roll who said that--and therefore it is Larry Roll who is attempting to blackmail her into obedience (not surprising, given his view that women must obey men anyway), not Dick.

Better?

>It is simply impossible for this discussion to create a worse image than >what goes on in r.r.a.m.

In other words, because another usenet news group is filled with offensive material that gives a negative image of ham radio, it's ok for this one to be filled with offensive material as well?

Take your meds, Dave, you are DEFINITELY not thinking
rationally.

>Don't jump to conclusions you silly boy. I have never stated that I >intend to force Kim to do anything. Get your ducks in a row and don't >start generalizing by lumping people together in clumps. I don't speak >for Larry Roll or Dick Carroll. They do not speak for me. By the way, I >don't recall issuing any orders to Kim. I certainly disagree with Larry >on one point; I don't think the majority of hams support Kim's tacky >choice at all.

You don't think. Don't bother to add to that, it's already a complete (and accurate) sentence.

>> Talk about a group of smug, self-righteous, fascists! It's >> people like YOU who give a bad name to ham radio, you hypocrite, not >> decent people like Kim.
>
>You'd have us change our views? Now THAT would be hypocritical!

You certainly want everyone else to change theirs. And there's nothing hypocritical about wanting someone to change their views, the hypocrisy comes from trying to FORCE them to do, as Larry & the God Squad are CLEARLY doing with Kim.

>I like the way in which you'd portray those who are offended by >trashiness as "smug, self-righteous fascists". Remember Rick:
>According to your philosophy, I have the right to state my views.

So did Hitler.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2610. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:54:15 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05CD85.85B7F14B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25606

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Remember Dave is the guy who jumped down my throat for confusing > > > "church" with "Church". Too bad he doesn't practice what he > > > preaches.
> >
> > Did you find the relevant part in your heavy dictionary yet?
>
> Nope.
>
> > Now about Kim's call, the only portion of this endless rant which > > related to amateur radio...
>
> And the only relevant question is: Does Kim have a right to choose > a flavor of ice cream that you dislike?

How is that a relevant question? Are we talking about ice cream featuring a name brand which uses a vulgar term for a portion of the female anatomy? Is the ice cream make a ham?

Dave K8MN

2611. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:55:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05CDCC.44A97616@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25609

Dick Carroll wrote:
> You may ignore all this as you > wish, but don't decieve yourself - if you happen to be in circumstances > where you are a part of a targeted entity, you die too, regardless of > your support to their cause.

Uhhhhh Dick, innocent civilians, including women and children, are dying by American actions right now in Afghanistan. They are dying regardless of support for the American cause. What would be your attitude if your family were included among those innocent victims? The situation is not at all black and white.

> And NO, certainly not all Muslims are involved, ...

"Not all"???? An "extremely small percentage" would be more appropriate. 99.99% or more of all Muslims are not involved.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2612. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:56:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05CE04.62FF19CD@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25608

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > You are too ignorant to realize that you've already told me.
> > > So be it.
> >
> > ...and your obsessive/compulsive side can't admit that no such thing has > > taken place in this dimension or reality. You just don't get any help > > from me in your search. On with your quest!
>
> The odds that you eat pork are essentially equal to the odds > that you will be alive tomorrow. That's all I need to know.

Is that kind of stuff available from the Vegas bookmakers? All you need to know is, that since I haven't given you any information, you'd be a fool to place a sizeable bet. On with your quest!

Dave K8MN

2613. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:57:17 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <738FEF7D8B780958.4E9C7D40079ED205.C6FFDC9435184715@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25610

On 29 Nov 2001 04:46:22 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> What I find is that you are just as full of bullshit as Cecil, and >that, Sir is a real load. Never thought it possible but you may be even >more loaded than Cecil.
> Maybe all your "credentials" are truth. maybe not. I find you to be the >poster boy for all that is wrong with higher education, a phenomena that >I found well begun when I was a college student in the late 60's and >early 70's. You will have it your way, just as soon as you can figure >out just what way that is, and for damn sure it will be contrary to >convention and all that is good and tried and true, real, and valuable >to society of free,preogerssive individuals. You freaks would instill >and install every craven, aberrant, undesirable and destructive behavior >and vice imaginable under the banner of "personal freedom" with total >disregard for any hint of personal responsibility. In short, you suck >and are sick.

Dick, your posts are becoming increasingly irrational and seeing the image you are creating of ham radio operators is almost embarrassing to a sane ham.

I won't bother to continue this thread with you--I'm tired of talking to a bigot as though he were a rational human being.

I do, however, reserve the right to confuse or enrage you at will in this or other threads in which you exert your self-righteous, hypocritical, pompous blathering.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2614. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:58:00 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <9u4ip8kum0@208.206.142.101>
Source record: 25611

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 28 Nov 2001 06:36:57 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> > That's patently untrue. Not all recruit, but many do. And you really > >should know (I'm sure you do) that at certain states of adolescense > >children are indeed recuitable, which can also seriously damage their > >mental development. Now I'd wager you will come back with some indignant > >"officlal" prounouncement that will be as wrong is it is indignant.
>
> No, I'll come back with a professional view that is accurate > even if your personal homophobia refuses to allow you to accept it.
>
> Homosexuals aren't "recruited" Larry--nearly all homosexuals > freely state that they knew their orientation long before they ever > reached puberty--or had their first exposure to sex. Homosexuality is > as natural (albeit less common, for obvious reasons) as > heterosexuality.
>
> You seem to feel that all it takes is exposure to a homosexual > for someone to be "recruited." Are you really that insecure in your > own sexual identity, or do you just believe that no one else is a > "capable" as you of resisting "temptation?"
>
> Adolescents are NOT "recruitable" Larry, as ANY developmental > psychologist would be glad to confirm.
>
> Stick with your field of expertise, Larry, it's patently > apparent you don't know anything about mine.
>

What is apparent is that you're not very knowledgable in it yourself.

2615. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:58:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05CE95.AD69D77E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25612

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > In this peculiar day in which we live, it isn't necessary to mutilate > > children. We just wait until they are in their teens and they will pay > > to have all sorts of parts tattooed or pierced.
>
> You forgot about consent, Dave. Big difference.

You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal consent.

Dave K8MN

2616. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:59:28 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05CEC0.478D190E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25613

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > Who hinted that I want to do anything at all with them?
> >
> > You did, Dick. You said, in so many words, that all Muslims have > > no choice except to become terrorists because they adhere to the > > letter of the Koran and are required to kill people of another > > religion.
>
> Cecil, you are a lying SOB. I said nothing even close.

Do you really want me to go back, dig up your obscene God forsaken postings, and repost them here? I will if you want me to. Anybody who read your previous postings knows exactly what you said and can see you are trying to crawfish out of them now.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2617. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 05:59:53 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u4isa02rkh@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25624

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:9u1rrkete3@208.207.71.131...

> Most people know that what is commonly accepted in locker rooms isn't > acceptable in public mixed company especially with children present.
> Sorry you don't

Ham radio is not a family activity and this is not a family newsgroup.

2618. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:01:14 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u4isk02ro5@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25625

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:9u4cfm$16o$1@208.206.142.101...

> > It's only vulgar if you allow it to be so.
>
>
> Kindly inform us as to how to prevent it, when ladies or children are > present who instinctively view it as such.

It's not my place to prevent it.

2619. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:03:17 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D196C31997E531F3.C1B192B7FB9113FA.8AD22B1611C6E72A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25614

On 29 Nov 2001 01:41:01 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Kim -- if your callsign were W5PSY, we wouldn't be having this discussion!

Apparently Larry likes PSY but not TIT.

How odd.

>Kim -- having "power" over women is not, and never has been, a personal >goal of mine. I prefer women I can relate to as equals, without having >to engage in any tiresome "power struggle" with them.

As long as they will capitulate to your Victorian demands that they not socialize or talk with members of the opposite sex unless you are there to insure that they don't do something immoral, right?

>It is YOU who >seek the "power" you can derive from the attention-getter call sign you >have chosen -- and for you to claim anything else is an obvious lie.

Wrong call sign, Larry.

I've heard of PSY power, but TIT power?

>However, your lack of integrity is well known in this newsgroup, and >probably everywhere else.

At least according to you and the God Squad.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2620. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:04:25 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05CFE8.E95FE9DF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25615

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 19:32:06 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Don't you know? At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > >referring to himself as a libertarian? Remember in his quarrel with > >Hamilton how he shouted, "Just shut the (expletive deleted) up, Al!"?
>
> He STRONGLY supported the views of John Locke, Dave. And > Locke, by _any_ definition, was a libertarian.

I'm a Republican but I strongly support the views of Harry Truman on many issues. Did Jefferson ever refer to himself as a libertarian (no adjective)?

Dave K8MN

2621. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:06:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05D05A.11D3C57A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25616

Dave Heil wrote:
> The word "civil" in front of "libertarian" certainly changes the > meaning, doesn't it?

Not really. A "civil libertarian" would be someone like Jefferson who believes in "civil liberties". What other kinds of liberties are there?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2622. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:08:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05D0E1.DE546A31@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25618

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > And the only relevant question is: Does Kim have a right to choose > > a flavor of ice cream that you dislike?
>
> How is that a relevant question?

Kim has a right to choose her callsign just as she has the right to choose a flavor of ice cream. There's no law or rule against either choice.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2623. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:08:37 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05D0E3.66B8D26B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25617

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 19:29:11 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Now instead of voting for the "Libertarian Party" candidate, you'll have > >to search for a "libertarian Party" candidate.
>
> And since there's no such thing as a "libertarian Party" I > guess that means that your views on libertarians are a bit "off," > doesn't it?

Oh, you DID get it. I think my views on self-proclaimed libertarians are right on target. I've found little to agree with in your views or Cecil's.

> >Now about Kim's call, the only portion of this endless rant which > >related to amateur radio...
>
> What about her call sign, Dave? Have anything new to add to > the thread on the topic, or just a repeat of the same statements once > again?

Kim's call? I think her choice was tacky, and exhibits a lack of class.

Dave K8MN

2624. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:10:35 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05D15B.9EC48170@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25619

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > The odds that you eat pork are essentially equal to the odds > > that you will be alive tomorrow. That's all I need to know.
>
> Is that kind of stuff available from the Vegas bookmakers? All you need > to know is, that since I haven't given you any information, you'd be a > fool to place a sizeable bet.

I have won a lot of money in my life by placing sizable bets based on probability. This is no different. I have all the information that I need.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2625. Re: Bigotry in the ARS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:11:27 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u4jfp02t1c@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25627

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:9u1ri7ete1@208.207.71.131...

> Better tell it to Rick and Kim who say that ham radio is loaded with > racism and bigotry when neither would recognize them if one jumped up > and bit them in the butt.

Why? It's already posted for everyone to see.

2626. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:12:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05D1D8.1425FC11@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25620

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > In this peculiar day in which we live, it isn't necessary to mutilate > > > children. We just wait until they are in their teens and they will pay > > > to have all sorts of parts tattooed or pierced.
> > >
> > You forgot about consent, Dave. Big difference.
>
> You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal
> consent.

That's a legal problem that needs to be solved.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2627. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:14:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05D260.FCC52E25@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25621

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 17:12:21 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> wrote:
>
> >Are Executive Orders permitted by our Constitution?
>
> It depends on their nature, Cecil. The Executive Branch of > government has certain Constitutional responsibilities and privileges > and the Executive Order can be--but is not necessarily--included in > those privileges.
>
> Of course, since we have a President who wasn't even elected > according to the Constitution (after the Florida fraud was finally > corrected and the votes counted recently it was announced that Gore > carried the state--and therefore garnered the greater number of > electoral votes), why should his orders be any different?
>

Gee, according to the mainstream media (CNN, NBC, USA Today, The Wheeling News-Register), your statement is a bald faced lie.

Dave K8MN

2628. Re: Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:16:33 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10111290615540.2832-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 25622

On Wed, 28 Nov 2001, CAM wrote:

>Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:
>> If I was interested in becoming a ham radio operator,this NG would turn me >> off from the idea real quick.
>
>That's what I keep telling them.

Same here, except that I manage to use correct English language syntax and inflections.

2629. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:18:37 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05D33D.E9258BDE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25623

Dave Heil wrote:
> I've found little to agree with in your views or Cecil's.

I'm against slavery, Dave. Are you for slavery?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2630. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:34:35 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C05D6EE.C9EA673C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25626

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 19:15:01 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Rick comes across like a '60s radical with a real job but unchanged > >political views.
>
> Thank you--that's the first half-way accurate portrayal of my > values I've seen you make.
>
> I _am_ a sixties radical--I was a freedom rider (and spent > time in Southern jails for my civil rights activities), a staunch > supporter of women's rights, gay rights, and human rights in general, > an antiwar activist and member of Vietnam Veterans against the War, > the Vietnam Day Committee, and other such organizations, and I'm a > life long opponent of domestic violence, child abuse (I was a severely > abused child personally, and left home on my 13th birthday to avoid > further broken bones and burns--I've lived on my own ever since), and > censorship.

So we do have some common views. A lot of the difference in us comes from your radicalization. I'm sorry for your experiences as a child.
That may have prompted your radicalization. It may also account for some of your views of organized Christian religion.

> If you find those offensive "credentials" I'm perfectly > willing to accept that opinion. At least it will be based on an > accurate picture of my values.

Sometimes you wear it like a badge. At other times it appears like a chip on your shoulder.

> >I don't believe that there is anything which will > >convince him that his skewed views run counter to the mainstream but it > >is fun to watch him rail against the system, the country and mainstream > >morality and religion. I haven't called for him to desist and I don't > >remember that you have.
>
> It's easy to convince me that my views run counter to the > mainstream Dave, just provide solid evidence (backed by citations) > that demonstrates how the mainstream feel on the same issues.

Then easy it will be. Just pick up some news magazines or newspapers.
It really is that simple. You've recently taken to railing not only against numerous actions by the President but additionally calling in to question the legitimacy of his Presidency--your statements running counter to what has been published in the media. Yet public support for this President is huge. You maintained earlier that because the public votes for Democrats or Republicans, we are all sheep. You apparently think that the people are sheep for supporting the President too. Do you still think your views are mainstream?

> Convincing me that my views are counter to the mainstream > morality and religion doesn't make them wrong, however, merely a > minority view. Mainstream morality is, essentially, based on Christian > morality and in order to convince me that it is a valid source for > moral values you would first need to provide proof that Christianity > is more than a system of belief shared by a number of people with no > more basis in fact than the beliefs of Buddhists, Hindus, Wiccans, or > Satanists for that matter. I have no obligation whatever to share the > moral values of a religion to which I do not subscribe, any more than > you have an obligation to subscribe to the moral values of the Native > American Church or the Communist Party of the People's Republic of > China.

So I don't need to submit additional proof. You've just said that you aren't mainstream. I can offer you no proof for the validity of Christianity. There is no proof of God's existence or of Christ's divinity. It is a religion of faith.

> I don't ask that you accept my values and views, Dave. Only > that you give them the same respect with which you expect your own to > be treated.

It is clear that you have expressed your views without my once calling for you to shut up. All I've done is disagree with most of them.

Dave K8MN

2631. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:44:18 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C05D942.7BBCAB1F@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25628

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Is that what Thomas Jefferson did?
> >
> > Don't you know? At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > > referring to himself as a libertarian?
>
> I don't know if he did or didn't but historians have classified > him as a "civil libertarian" for hundreds of years. He certainly > believed in liberating Americans from British rule and giving > us as much personal freedom and protection from government as
> is feasible in a civilized society.

I heard he owned slaves. Guess they didn't count?

2632. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:50:42 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C05DAC2.5C28F11B@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25629

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

>
>
> The FCC is not in the business of making value judgments on the > callsigns people select for themselves. Being a government agency, > they are legally constrained against doing so. An individual amateur's > Vanity call sign is strictly their choice; and the negative effect it has > on their image, and the image of the ARS, is strictly their > responsibility. Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that point.
>

Think I can get the call "Whiskey Two Foxtrot Uniform Kilowatt"?
Somehow I doubt it. Not that I'd want it......

2633. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:52:17 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C05DB21.61170D4A@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25630

Larry, how did that job interview go?

73s, Bob

2634. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:53:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05DB83.6A693A2A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25631

```
Robert Casey wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > Is that what Thomas Jefferson did?
> > >
> > > Don't you know? At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > > > referring to himself as a libertarian?
> >
> > I don't know if he did or didn't but historians have classified > > him as a "civil libertarian" for hundreds of years. He certainly > > believed in liberating Americans from British rule and giving > > us as much personal freedom and protection from government as > > is feasible in a civilized society.
>
> I heard he owned slaves. Guess they didn't count?

If I remember right, they counted 2/5.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2635. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 06:54:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C05DBBE.7D92B6FB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25632

Dick Carroll wrote:
> Now you have the proper definition of Kim's W5TIT callsign.

Here's an example of where the word "vulgar" came from, Dick.

"Vulgar Latin - popular Latin, as distinguished from literary or standard Latin"

Here's a definition you should enjoy.

"vulgar era - Christian era" Ain't it the truth! :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2636. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 07:00:03 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C1E17D36307668A2.89E152F2789513FE.6E76C0FC87570A30@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25633

On 29 Nov 2001 05:03:17 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>That's what I'm saying. The values of the local society (the people who live in >that neighborhood, and those who want to live there) as demonstrated by how >they keep THEIR properties. These values/behaviors are totally subjective, yet >they determine whether A has harmed B.

My argument isn't with how the values of the local community are determined, it's with how they are enforced.

A community is free to set any standards it wants, but before it can force compliance with those standards it MUST show that non-compliance will result in harm to one or more identifiable victims
(i.e., in the case you cite: "B" is an identifiable victim).

A simple analogy:

A community may decide that drinking alcohol to excess is in opposition to their values. But they do NOT have the right to enforce a no-drinking ban on private property unless they can demonstrate that direct harm will result for non-consenting individuals if it is not enforced (i.e., if the "private property" where the drinking takes place is the driver's seat of a motor vehicle on a public street).

>> More specifically, it refers to >>behavior that does not affect the property values or enjoyment of >>other residents.
>>
>As determined by the subjective values of those other than the owner of the >property.

No, as determined by objective measurement. Subjective values represent opinion; they are NOT binding on anyone.

>>>So what we have is SOCIETY deciding what the values are. Not the individuals >>>involved!
>>
>> Not at all. The housing market decides in this case.
>
>And who is "the housing market"? People other than the property owner! People >whose personal, subjective values determine what someone else's property is >worth.

The "housing market" is an economic construct that consists of individuals and business organizations who purchase property. It is not "society" because "society" is not uniformly in the market for property (some are renters, some have no credit, some already have homes they are happy with, some have no desire to be home owners, etc.). Thus "society" has no direct voice in the issue.

>In some neighborhoods, not cutting the grass and such will have a negative >effect on nearby property values, because the local society expects that people >will maintain their properties a certain way. In other neighborhoods, it will >have no effect because in those communities the local society has different >expectations.

Exactly.

Society, as a whole, cannot establish such values because it would consist of residents of BOTH neighborhoods. Only the housing market in the specific neighborhood is capable of making this distinction. If property values ARE adversely affected by an action which reasonably could be expected not to occur, that action is clearly causing harm. If they are not so affected, then the action does not cause harm and thus society has no right to seek to regulate or prohibit it.

>>If the >>actions of the neighbor do NOT reduce the value of the home or >>directly reduce the enjoyment and use of the property owned by >>neighbors (by directly, I mean that simply _knowing_ what a person >>does inside his/her home--that s/he is a practicing homosexual for >>example--and being personally offended by that kind of activity does >>NOT mean an individual is harmed by it), he or she has NOT harmed >>anyone, regardless of the opinion of "society."
>
>Which are all totally subjective judgements.

Nope.

The market price of a home is an objective fact, not a subjective value. The person seeking to purchase a home may be making a subjective valuation of each property he or she views--but that subjective valuation is NOT binding on anyone. If, on the other hand, a property cannot realize fair market value because of the actions of a second party, then the difference in the market value and the selling price is _objective_ evidence of harm.

>>>Plus consideration for B's time and aggravation in having to deal with it, >>>legal fees, excess RE taxes, etc.
>>
>> Within reason, yes.
>
>"within reason" being a subjective quantity.

Not if "reasonable damages" are decided by a court. At that point they become objective data.

>Now let's see what we've got so far.
>

>You agree that A can harm B by not maintaining A's property to the standards >typically found in the community where A's and B's property are located. This >harm is present even if A breaks no law and does not pose any sort of safety >hazard to B. The mere fact that other people judge B's property to be worth >less, or that B's enjoyment of his property is reduced by A's action, >constitutes A harming B.

Almost.

Judgement is NOT sufficient. In order for B to claim actual damages he must, by necessity, actually sell the property at a lower price than fair market value. If he chooses not to sell, he cannot claim economic harm because no evidence exists that he WAS harmed.

In like manner, in order for B's enjoyment of his property to constitute harm, B would have to demonstrate that he was _unable_ to enjoy his property as a direct result of A's actions. If, for example, he simply finds the appearance of A's property offensive, but it poses no actual threat to him (i.e., an overgrown yard in which mosquitoes breed, thus reducing B's enjoyment of his yard would clearly pose a threat and thus constitute harm), B has no grounds to claim that actual harm has occurred and seek redress. An individual has a right to be protected from damages, he or she does NOT have the right to be protected from being offended. That is one of the sacrifices we ALL make to live in a (relatively) free society.

>> My moral values do NOT support causing others harm w/o their >>permission. They simply insist that if no one is harmed it isn't any >>of society's business. In the case above, a clear victim (B) exists >>and real, identifiable, harm has occurred.
>
>Yup - even though NO law has been violated and the harm is totally derived from >people's personal values, NOT the state's.

Neither. The harm is derived from economic loss, a demonstrable, objective, value.

>>>That was part of it, but there's a lot more. For example, did the harm occur >>>when A let his property run down, or only when B tried to sell?
>>
>> That depends on whether it reduced B's enjoyment of his >>property. If it did not, then the harm didn't occur until the sale was >>attempted (for example, if A offered to purchase B's property for fair >>market value as soon as it was made available, A would NEVER have >>harmed B). If, however, B's enjoyment of his property was reduced >>directly by A's actions, clearly the harm began at that moment, not >>the moment of sale.
>>
>Agreed. One can also include such considerations as the amount of time and >effort B needs to expend to sell, or that B may be dissuaded from even trying >to sell because of A's property's condition.

B's efforts to sell are a legitimate consideration. If,
however, B is dissuaded from trying to sell by the property condition that becomes a personal opinion on B's part and not binding on A. In the absence of evidence that B _has_ lost money as a result of the condition of A's property, there is no legitimate grounds for believing that B has suffered any harm at all.

>So what we have is this: A can harm B by not maintaining A's property to the >standards typically found in the community where A's and B's are located. This >harm is present even if A breaks no law and does not pose any sort of safety >hazard to B. The mere fact that other people judge B's property to be worth >less, or that B's enjoyment of his property is reduced by A's action, >constitutes A harming B.

Not quite. Consideration of the property value is not grounds for assuming A harmed B. Actual loss must be established for that determination. Example: An individual may feel that an amateur radio antenna erected in his neighbor's yard both reduces his enjoyment of his property and decreases his property values. That view may even be shared by others. But unless the person can demonstrate a tangible reason why that antenna reduces his enjoyment of his property (simply being offended by its appearance is NOT sufficient grounds--if it were, a bigot could successfully claim that seeing a minority living next door harmed him) or that his property value actually HAS been reduced by the presence of the antenna (demonstrable ONLY by being forced to sell the property at a price lower than fair market), he has no legitimate grounds to establish that harm has occurred.

>And the standards by which A's property maintenance is judged are those of the >neighborhood and local real estate market, which are totally subjective and >personal. The fact that A's property maintenance would be considered customary >and adequate in a different community has no bearing on the issue.

Partially true. Minimal maintenance levels can be established objectively by actual selling price differential, which is objective not subjective.

>> How about enjoyment of the property?
>
>Same thing. In addition, if A is prevented from enjoying HIS property because >of antenna limitations, a counter-claim exists.

From a libertarian perspective, if A moved into that property after antenna limitations were put in place, he has no claim--he made a choice to live under those contractual terms. If, on the other hand, those restrictions are placed after he has purchased and taken possession of his property, from a libertarian perspective he has no obligation to adhere to them--he did not agree to those contract terms with the community when he made his purchase. If an attempt is made in such a case to force his compliance, he has legitimate grounds for a suit against the community on the basis of denial of use.

>> Suppose I'm a non-ham living next door to you and I feel your >>antenna farm is unsightly and detracts from my view of the >>mountains/lake/ocean/cess pool beyond your property. I cannot escape >>the view of your antennas because they dominate the only scenic side >>of my yard.
>
>Same rules apply as if I were to put up a fence or plant trees or bushes that >blocked your view.

But weren't you just arguing in favor of "property enjoyment"
being a legitimate grounds for regulating the behavior of a property owner? Just as A's inactions reduce property enjoyment, all those listed above have the same potential (particularly an antenna farm or a fence that might block a scenic view). If it is unacceptable to view the antenna farm as causing harm (which I don't believe it to do either), what possible justification exists for viewing A's actions as doing so on any but a strictly economic loss basis?

>> Have you harmed me? From my perspective, that WOULD constitute >>harm, as the property owner lost some measure of enjoyment in his >>property as a direct result of your actions.
>
>Only if it can be shown that YOUR view of things beyond MY property is somehow >superior to my enjoyment of my property.

What if I argue in A's case that his enjoyment of his leisure (made possible by not maintaining his property) is not inferior to B's enjoyment of the view in the direction of A's yard? How would that differ?

>What if I out up a fence or plant a bush that blocks your view?

Addressed above.

>>Do you agree?
>
>See above. It depends on the situation.

Same here--which is why it's impossible to claim that values are absolute. They are situational, something a libertarian takes for granted but many conservatives seem to refuse to accept at all.

>> Only if others follow suit.
>
>Which is made more likely by A's actions.

Not if he suffers loss in a court action as a result of his actions. That establishes a deterrent effect that will discourage others from repeating his behavior.

>For one thing, in many cases A does not have just one immediate neighbor. It is >quite common to have 8 immediate neighbors, all of whom could be affected by >one poorly maintained property. So we can easily have not 1 or 2 but 9 >properties whose value is reduced, all by the actions of ONE property owner. In >addition, B must take legal action against A, and win. Unless this happnes, A >sets a precedent for the neighborhood.

That would be true under any circumstances as one of the conditions you provided was that A was NOT in violation of any law or ordinance, and thus no legal remedy could exist which would compel his compliance.

More, if B did successfully sue A it would establish a court precedent in the case and all of the other property owners whose property values were reduced would be able to easily recover comparable damages themselves, thus making A's decision a potentially very costly one.

>Neighborhoods and property values rise and fall on their reputations.

A reputation is subjective value and cannot be the basis for determining harm unless it can be shown that the reputation was deliberately damaged in order to cause that harm.

>Properties that are not maintained to community standards harm the reputation >of the neighborhood. ("That used to be a nice neighborhood, but did you see the >rundown place in the middle of the block and all those for-sale signs?

But unless we set limits on the extent to which such a concept can be applied, it would be equally valid for a racist neighborhood to legally justify discrimination against minorities on the basis that their neighborhood would deteriorate if minorities were permitted.
Obviously, such a concept is totally unacceptable from any rational perspective.

>I >checked realtor.com and they are asking less than those houses sold for 10 >years ago!")

If no other possible reasons for the decline in market value exists, then a clearly objective basis for claiming loss is present.

>But the main point is simple: A can harm B (and others) by not doing things >like yard maintenance according to prevailing local community standards, even >though A breaks no law nor directly poses a safety or health hazard. All A has >to do is reduce B's enjoyment.

Not quite--see the above responses to that.

>Now let's apply this to ham radio callsigns.
>
>Suppose Z, a radio amateur, chooses a callsign that reduces the enjoyment other >hams (X, Y, et al) get from amateur radio, and damages the reputation of the >ARS. Even though Z's choice of callsign is legal it's clear that X, Y and >others have been harmed by Z's choice, which was not up to community standards.

Several points:

1. Damage to the ARS would not be actionable by individual hams. In order for such damage to constitute ALL members of the ARS would have to agree that they were harmed (in Kim's case, neither I nor Cecil agree--thus a consensus cannot be reached) and a tangible loss would have to be shown to have occurred.

2. For an individual ham to claim that her call sign reduces his or her enjoyment of amateur radio, it would be necessary for that ham to have direct on-the-air exposure to that call sign and for that sign to have caused demonstrable harm at that time. No one who has actually spoken to Kim on the air has voiced an opinion here that they were harmed, and the hams who have voiced opposition to her sign have not been in a position to be harmed by it and thus have no case. It would be like my neighbor complaining that your antennas were reducing his enjoyment of his property (we have a no antenna ordinance, although a hidden antenna is permitted--which is why I use a flag pole vertical) because he knew of its existence. Clearly, that would be an absurdity, just as claims that Kim's call sign harm people here is one.

3. If you read carefully what I have written above, it becomes clear that from my perspective at least (the one we are discussing), harm must take a tangible form to be considered actual. Unless you can show direct harm caused by a choice of call sign, you cannot legitimately claim that it causes any harm at all.

>Saying that Z's callsign choice cannot harm anyone is like saying that A's >nonmaintenace of his property cannot harm anyone. The real-estate example shows >that the situation is more complicated than that.

Nope. Saying that Z's call sign cannot harm anyone is like saying that A's nonmaintenance of his property cannot harm anyone not in his community. Someone directly exposed to Kim's sign who, for example, felt compelled to prohibit his or her children from listening to the amateur radio as a result of it (absurd, but an example) might have some validity in claiming he or she was harmed, but no one in this news group can make such a claim legitimately.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2637. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 07:01:45 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C05DD59.77BCBA53@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25634

Rick Adams wrote:

> On 29 Nov 2001 01:41:01 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >Kim -- if your callsign were W5PSY, we wouldn't be having this discussion!
>
> Apparently Larry likes PSY but not TIT.
>
>

Maybe Larry is a leg man.

2638. Re: Whats the deal?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 08:47:03 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0111290047.e3cbba2@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25635

>
> Chuck there are a few simpleminded assholes named Cecil, Rick, Plourge > or some such, and Kim whose entire life support system revolves around > stirring the pot here on this group. They do it by constantly > "inteerpreting" what other posters say and lying repeatedly in the > process. Don't worry, they haven't a clue.
>
>
You forgot Lenny and Squiggy . .
>
>
w3rv

2639. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 10:22:19 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C060C44.37BF3568@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25636

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Did your kids have the opportunity > to consent to religious exposure > before you stated teaching them > about Christianity?
>
> Mine was only exposed to the real > world (and I _don't_ use that type > of language frequently). Yours was/> were exposed to brainwashing and > superstition. Neither consented. I > wonder which of us harmed our > kids more?

You kids were not just exposed to the "real world," Rick. They were exposed to your views (your concepts of the "real world") as well. So, lets ask you the same question. Did your kids have the opportunity to consent before you started filling them with your political views or with your brainwashing about religion? Why is it harmful to for a Christian to teach his children about his views, but not harmful to you do to the same with your views? I'm not here to defend Christianity. I'm simply pointing out your obvious double standard.

> You have the right to tell _me_
> to shut up as well. The libertarian > idea of freedom includes free speech, > including the right to express your > views--and if that view is that the > person you are communicating with > should "shut up" then you have every > right to express it, just not to > enforce it.

The libertarian agenda don't even make sense. Since you seem knowledgeable about Libertarians, perhaps you can answer a question that remains unanswered after ten years of asking - what exactly would change if Libertarians were in power? The usual response is the libertarian concept of freedom - everything would be legal as long as it doesn't harm another. Of course, this argument almost always centers on the illegal drug issue (libertarians do love those drugs). Of course, I always respond to that with the argument that current drug laws were passed exactly because the majority believes illegal drugs do harm others. Therefore, unless the libertarians intend to go against the will of the majority and legalize illegal drugs anyway, absolutely nothing would change concerning those laws. And the same could be said for most other laws in this country. So, if nothing would change under the libertarians, why would one even consider supporting that group?

In fact, at this point, libertarians do seem like a strange group. They don't seem able to comprehend that their views are way out of the mainstream of American politics. They've been around for many decades, yet still have almost no membership (far less then one percent of the population), nor have they ever receive even close to one percent of the vote in a national election. In the end, it seems these people are still trying to ride a horse that died a long time ago.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2640. Re: "...one step closer to erasure."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 10:37:50 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <2eoN7.201624$3d2.8705189@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25637

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011129000317.22754.00000811@nso-cs.aol.com...
> In article
<3A9E9F89D6731966.C86B3D6FCC3DBEC6.468B50D3F5B0566A@lp.airnews.net>, > Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >On 28 Nov 2001 12:11:23 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> >
> >>>Technically, the US Congress could do exactly the same > >>>thing to our system anytime they chose to do so, provided they could > >>>garner sufficient votes, as the Nazis did.
> >>
> >>Yup. My point is that the Constitution is not an absolute protection, as > >Cecil
> >>seems to think.
> >
> > On the contrary--the ability to amend the Constitution is > >itself GOVERNED by the Constitution.
> >
> How is this "on the contrary"? The Consitution is designed to be changeable. Is > there any limit on the possible changes if enough votes are gathered? I don't > think so.
>
> For example, if there were enough votes, the Second Amendment could be > repealed, and the legal rights of Americans to keep and bear arms totally > eliminated. Or a new amendment could specifically define when life begins
and > ends. All it takes is enough votes.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

What then do you guys think of inititiative and referendum? One the one side you have the example of California where votes are held hourly and all sorts of stupidity is written into the state constitution, but on the other side what else do you do to change your government structurally? Revolt?

Nebraska in 1934 eliminated a redundant second chamber in its legislature by initiative with some interesting results -- no one who has served in the unicameral (both a noun and an adjective in NE) has ever been elected to anything else. You do have to admit that two chambers representing precisely the same people is in principle a bit silly but so far NE is the only one since PA went to two in 1839.

Incidentally, the unicameral was passed over the opposition of the state's newspapers who in a fit of cutesy-poo started referring to members of the legislature as Unics. So LB1 of the 1937 session gave them the courtesy title of Senator.

Dick N&#65533;BK

2641. NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 11:56:59 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C062258.BFE88925@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25638

I've noticed the discussions in this newsgroup are getting really nasty lately (personal insults, name calling, ridicule, harassment, pettiness, and so forth). Is this what we really want? One of the best aspects of this newsgroup has always been that the long-time members have always tried to keep the discussions on a relatively decent level. In other words, while we might argue, and even argue fanatically, most have tended to back off before things got too personal. But, lately, some of the messages here have turned into nothing more than an insult-fest. Please, before you post that nasty little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want to participate in.

I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same when they get carried away. Thanks.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2642. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 12:10:09 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C06256D.7D94B687@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25639

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> But I--and others--have the right to > view you as a self-righteous idiot and > a prudish pseudo-moralistic thug for > doing so as well. And, like you, we > have the right to express that opinion > and the opinion that you should drop > the issue, here in this news group.

Dave is not at all like that, Rick. Based on the messages I've read over the last year or two, Dave seems like a fairly intelligent person, with viewpoints that often span the entire political spectrum (from conservative to liberal). In other words, because you're basing your opinion of him on what he has said about just a couple of issues, your characterization of him above is not at all accurate. Why don't you wait until you get to know him a little better before you start relating him to Hitler (and the other nonsense you said in your message).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2643. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 12:28:32 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0629B8.2C0F56B8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25640

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) I was a freedom rider (and > spent time in Southern jails for > my civil rights activities), (snip)

And are you one of those people who "say" you were at Woodstock also? How many people were locked up in southern jails during the civil rights period of the late 50's to late 60's? If I remember what I read years ago in some national magazine correctly, it seems that number was just under five hundred during that entire decade. If so, isn't it amazing that we would run into one of those few here in this newsgroup?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2644. Re: Dropping the code.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 12:52:59 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <LcqN7.2163$m%.683971@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 25642

Actually... in my area at least, we have had TONS of people get ham licenses that were CB'ers..... all 2 of them out of at least 50-60 new licensees in the past two years in the tri-county area where I live.

Ryan

(CB'er being a major user of CB's, not the casual weekender that uses it on the long road trip)

"Sean G Gilley" <uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org> wrote in message news:ff37aa44.0111281232.1ed0aea@posting.google.com...
> "Bob - KE4JCD" <ke4jcd@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:<8yUL7.113107$Yb.28227333@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com>...
> > As you said "I haven't seen such "droves" in my area." Well the CODE
TEST
> > hasn't been dropped yet. People I talk to all say much of the same thing,
> > The CODE is stopping them and when its gone so will HAM RADIO! CBers
will > > come in droves and as I have on my website, BAD HABITS!
>
> So argue for harder tests. I guarentee that if code is stopping them, > they won't be upgrading to AE. Not with the current test, at least.
> It's too much work to learn that test. The key is to make the test difficult > enough that it takes effort to pass it. Doesn't matter whether it's > a code test or a written test. If it takes time and effort to pass it, > it's too much work.
>
> > One page on my site deals with what Amateur radio is slowly becoming,
the > > new children's band...
> >
> > Here something sweet for your ears...
> > http://www.hartungpress.com/hamradio/crummyhams.htm
>
> I listened to most of that last night. What's funny is that you often > couldn't tell the good guys from the bad guys.
>
> All of them were acting that poorly.
>
> Sean.

2645. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 12:53:00 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <McqN7.2164$m%.684450@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 25641

I stated that as "I understand it as such" in relation to it "being carved in stone."

"garigue" <garigue@home.net> wrote in message news:dLWM7.263091$5A3.100346135@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
> Ryan ..I will buy your idea of the Constitution being a "living" document > only if the last 5000 years plus of human nature changes. 73 Tom KI3R
> "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message > news:%7WM7.102$9d.19434@newshog.newsread.com...
> > As I understand it, it is viewed as a "living" document that is to evolve > > over time. At least that is the intent of it, I believe.
> >
> >
> > Ryan
> >
> >
> > > > The Constitution ain't carved in stone, Cecil.
> > >
> > > It ain't perfect but it will do until something better comes along.
> > > --
> > > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
> >
> >
>
>

2646. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 12:53:00 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <McqN7.2165$m%.684466@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 25643

Well.... isn't that discrimination against people (for whatever reason) who choose or cannot get a credit card???? Seems as it is the only way to get ANYTHING you might wanna buy online. I refuse to get a credit card..... legal extortion.

Ryan

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:22687F70492FBF5D.199963F29CBB8D23.31B4C2FD24DA0AFB@lp.airnews.net...
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 13:16:56 GMT, "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote:
>
> >Oooohhhh! Now that's a shopping list. Only one problem if we wanted to > >pursue a vanity call......It is my understanding that the vanity call system > >has been put on hold due to the anthrax/mail situation/paranoia. Could take > >a while....
>
> Electronic submissions are still being processed--only snail > mail applications are not.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2647. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:08:17 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C063329.13BAED2F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25644

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:00:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >That's funny. I could swear that you were the guy who said that it is > >acceptable under the libertarian philosophy for you to tell me to "shut
> >the (expletive deleted) up!). You said it is a right. You told me > >that you just couldn't force me to shut up. If I use your own > >philosophy to say that Kim's choice of calls is tacky--let's even say > >that I choose to reiterate that statement every day--you "DO find a > >problem" with that. That's a first class, championship double standard > >on your part.
>
> Nope--you DO have the right to voice your opinion about Kim
> and her call sign.
>
> But I--and others--have the right to view you as a > self-righteous idiot and a prudish pseudo-moralistic thug for doing so > as well. And, like you, we have the right to express that opinion and > the opinion that you should drop the issue, here in this news group.

I simply dismiss your accusations as so much radical leftist pap.

> >Are you really accusing Dick Carroll of blackmail?
>
> Actually, I made an error there that I corrected in a later > post. I was under the impression that it was Dick Carroll who posted > that he would keep the thread going until she gave in and changed her > call sign. It was not. It was Larry Roll who said that--and therefore > it is Larry Roll who is attempting to blackmail her into obedience > (not surprising, given his view that women must obey men anyway), not > Dick.
>
> Better?

Some.

> >It is simply impossible for this discussion to create a worse image than > >what goes on in r.r.a.m.
>
> In other words, because another usenet news group is filled > with offensive material that gives a negative image of ham radio, it's > ok for this one to be filled with offensive material as well?

There aren't any "other words" and that is not what was stated (except by you). One newsgroup is filled with utter filth. One (this one) is not. You have a history of making unnecessary "translations". You come up with "other words". Try reading sentences as written.

> Take your meds, Dave, you are DEFINITELY not thinking
> rationally.

Did you twist your ankle jumping to those conclusions, Radical Rick?

> >Don't jump to conclusions you silly boy. I have never stated that I > >intend to force Kim to do anything. Get your ducks in a row and don't > >start generalizing by lumping people together in clumps. I don't speak > >for Larry Roll or Dick Carroll. They do not speak for me. By the way, I > >don't recall issuing any orders to Kim. I certainly disagree with Larry > >on one point; I don't think the majority of hams support Kim's tacky > >choice at all.
>
> You don't think. Don't bother to add to that, it's already a > complete (and accurate) sentence.

It must pain you to see your statements easily and convincingly refuted. Your squawks indicate as much.

> >> Talk about a group of smug, self-righteous, fascists! It's > >> people like YOU who give a bad name to ham radio, you hypocrite, not > >> decent people like Kim.
> >
> >You'd have us change our views? Now THAT would be hypocritical!
>
> You certainly want everyone else to change theirs. And there's > nothing hypocritical about wanting someone to change their views, the > hypocrisy comes from trying to FORCE them to do, as Larry & the God > Squad are CLEARLY doing with Kim.

I really don't care if you change your views, Radical Rick. You don't have the tacky callsign. (yet).

> >I like the way in which you'd portray those who are offended by > >trashiness as "smug, self-righteous fascists". Remember Rick:
> >According to your philosophy, I have the right to state my views.
>
> So did Hitler.

So did Luther. It is always interesting to guess when an opponent will resort to the "Hitler" word. You've done it with fair frequency.

Dave K8MN

2648. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:19:15 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0635CE.105201DE@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25647

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I come here for amateur radio policy discussion. I don't come here for > > discussions on marijuana smoking, the swinging lifestyle or legalized > > prostitution.
>
> Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?

Because that's where you and a few other diversionary types invariably take us. Rick chose to defend Kim's poor judgement in callsign selection by bringing up marijuana smoking, prostitution and the swinging lifestyle.

Do you have anything related to amateur radio or would you rather to ask additional questions to which you already have the answer?

Dave K8MN

2649. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:23:28 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0636CB.FDE461D5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25645

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 29 Nov 2001 04:12:30 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> > I guers it flew right between your ears with the wind, but it was Kim > >who chose that callsign to go with the gabonzas.
>
> And it is you, Larry, and Dave primarily who insist on > harassing her about it instead of minding your own business.
>
> Rick

We're all hams, Rick. Anything which takes place in amateur radio is our business. Amateur radio is a public venue. Anything which takes place in a public venue is our business.

Dave K8MN

2650. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:26:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06378B.327AE9DA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25646

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 29 Nov 2001 04:17:01 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> >> Majority rule CAN mean Tyranny of the Majority, Dickie. Simply > >> because the "majority" want something does NOT make it either "right" > >> or appropriate.
> > >
> > >
> > > Sure as hell makes it legal and proper, though.
>
> True.
>
> So did Hitler's orders to round up the Jews.

You're on record pace, Radical Rick--two "Hitler" references within an hour!

Dave K8MN

2651. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:30:40 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06387B.219EE610@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25650

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 04:41:48 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Gee, that'd be easy if you didn't once again snip the relevant > >portion--the part to which I responded. Do people who take your classes > >ever ask for their money back?
>
> Dave, proper procedure dictates cutting back redundant quotes.
> Since the part you responded TO already appears in the original > message AND your reply there is absolutely no reason to quote it > again. Learn to keep track of what you say--or don't say it in the > first place.

Now all that is needed is for you to realize just what constitutes a redundant quote. If you snip the relevant portion, folks aren't likely to know what you are responding to. The thread won't make sense and things will be out of context. As to your last sentence, there you go giving orders again, Radical Rick.

I'd want my money back.

Dave K8MN

2652. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:34:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06394F.6B76B8F4@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25649

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > The word "civil" in front of "libertarian" certainly changes the > > meaning, doesn't it?
>
> Not really. A "civil libertarian" would be someone like > Jefferson who believes in "civil liberties". What other > kinds of liberties are there?

There'd be the kinds like "libertarian" without any modifying adjectives and there'd be "libertarian" with any modifying adjectives other than "civil". An example would be Radical Rick as sexual libertarian.

Dave K8MN

2653. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:36:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0639D0.1DD7D3E8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25652

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > And the only relevant question is: Does Kim have a right to choose > > > a flavor of ice cream that you dislike?
> >
> > How is that a relevant question?
>
> Kim has a right to choose her callsign just as she has the right to > choose a flavor of ice cream. There's no law or rule against either > choice.

To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names. I'm a radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue relating to amateur radio. If you want to continue your ice cream idea, why not try an ice cream newsgroup?

Dave K8MN

2654. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:38:13 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C063A40.6BB6C2A1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25648

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > The odds that you eat pork are essentially equal to the odds > > > that you will be alive tomorrow. That's all I need to know.
> >
> > Is that kind of stuff available from the Vegas bookmakers? All you need > > to know is, that since I haven't given you any information, you'd be a > > fool to place a sizeable bet.
>
> I have won a lot of money in my life by placing sizable bets based > on probability. This is no different. I have all the information > that I need.

I'd certainly have to agree with your last sentence. I've see you form other opinions based upon about the same amount of knowledge--none.

On with your quest, Don Quixote!

Dave K8MN

2655. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:40:54 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C063AE1.2CE5E5BF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25651

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I've found little to agree with in your views or Cecil's.
>
> I'm against slavery, Dave. Are you for slavery?

The troll-o-meter is pegged, Cecil.

You'll have better luck with your does-he-eat-pork? quest.

Dave K8MN

2656. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 13:50:11 UTC
From: richard54@email.com Message-ID: <3da73545.0111290550.7ec2abbe@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25653

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C05DB83.6A693A2A@IEEE.org>...
> Robert Casey wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > Is that what Thomas Jefferson did?
> > > >
> > > > Don't you know? At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > > > > referring to himself as a libertarian?
> > >
> > > I don't know if he did or didn't but historians have classified > > > him as a "civil libertarian" for hundreds of years. He certainly > > > believed in liberating Americans from British rule and giving > > > us as much personal freedom and protection from government as > > > is feasible in a civilized society.
> >
> > I heard he owned slaves. Guess they didn't count?
>
> If I remember right, they counted 2/5.

Do we have freedom when secrecy dominates?

http://www.geocities.com/justicewell/dean.htm

John Dean doesn't think so

2657. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 14:45:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C064A17.FBAB380@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25654

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> And are you one of those people who "say" you were at Woodstock > also? How many people were locked up in southern jails during the > civil rights period of the late 50's to late 60's? If I remember what > I read years ago in some national magazine correctly, it seems that > number was just under five hundred during that entire decade. If so, > isn't it amazing that we would run into one of those few here in this newsgroup?

Maybe, maybe not. How many hams here have ever been on a plane with Willie Nelson? I was, two weeks ago.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2658. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 14:51:07 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C064B5B.5AC2B9C3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25655

KC8PMX wrote:
> I refuse to get a credit card..... legal extortion.

Yes, but in the opposite direction from what you are thinking.
My money pays interest at the bank while the credit card company floats me an interest free loan of X thousand dollars which I pay off every month and avoid any charges at all.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2659. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 14:52:50 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C064BC2.6643811C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25656

Dave Heil wrote:
> We're all hams, Rick. Anything which takes place in amateur radio is our > business.

Does the FCC know you are making a business out of amateur radio? :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2660. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 14:53:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C064C05.83759C9F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25657

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?
>
> Because that's where you and a few other diversionary types invariably > take us.

Have we installed a ring in your nose or what?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2661. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:13:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06509D.EF3ACB29@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25658

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?
> >
> > Because that's where you and a few other diversionary types invariably > > take us.
>
> Have we installed a ring in your nose or what?

The same could be asked of you? Are you bound by some peculiar code to make reponses which lead the topic astray?

Dave K8MN

2662. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:20:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C065238.316411FF@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25659

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> In fact, at this point, libertarians do seem like a strange group.
> They don't seem able to comprehend that their views are way out of the > mainstream of American politics. They've been around for many decades,

I wouldn't call three decades "many" decades. I'm a charter member and we are celebrating our 30th anniversary.

> yet still have almost no membership (far less then one percent of the > population), nor have they ever receive even close to one percent of > the vote in a national election. In the end, it seems these people are > still trying to ride a horse that died a long time ago.

From the Libertarian website: "With about 300 candidates on the ballot in November, the LP won about one of every five races it contested."
"[November 27] The number of Libertarians elected to office on November 6 has jumped to 67, thanks to a flurry of late-breaking victories."

67 is a record high, Dwight, for the Libertarians.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2663. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:23:17 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0111290723.72e229ab@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25660

A quick partial response..

Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:<C1E17D36307668A2.89E152F2789513FE.6E76C0FC87570A30@lp.airnews.net>...
> On 29 Nov 2001 05:03:17 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >That's what I'm saying. The values of the local society (the people who live in > >that neighborhood, and those who want to live there) as demonstrated by how > >they keep THEIR properties. These values/behaviors are totally subjective, yet > >they determine whether A has harmed B.
>
> My argument isn't with how the values of the local community > are determined, it's with how they are enforced.
>
> A community is free to set any standards it wants, but before > it can force compliance with those standards it MUST show that > non-compliance will result in harm to one or more identifiable victims
> (i.e., in the case you cite: "B" is an identifiable victim).

That's YOUR value system, Rick. Here it is in another form:

To force compliance of a rule or law, a community MUST show:

1) Noncompliance WILL result in harm to a victim
2) The victim is one or more real individuals

Let's see where that leads.

> A simple analogy:
>
> A community may decide that drinking alcohol to excess is in > opposition to their values.

They may decide what "excess" means, including a total ban.

> But they do NOT have the right to enforce > a no-drinking ban on private property unless they can demonstrate that > direct harm will result for non-consenting individuals if it is not > enforced (i.e., if the "private property" where the drinking takes > place is the driver's seat of a motor vehicle on a public street).
>
So you support DWI laws, as do I - even though many of them contradict your standards.

Suppose law enforcement officer in an unmarked car sees a person driving away from Location A late at night. The LEO follows and notes that the driver obeys all traffic rules and regulations on from

Location A to Location B, which is the driver's destination, where the driver parks and gets out of his car. No other vehicles were on the road that late at night. The LEO approaches the driver, asks if he has been drinking, and the driver says yes. LEO administers a breathalyzer or other appproved test and determines from the results that the driver has been operating a motor vehicle while legally intoxicated. Driver winds up paying a fine, getting points or maybe losing his license, maybe even being arrested, etc., because that community does not take DWI lightly.

What harm was done by the intoxicated driver who violated no motor vehicle rule other than driving while intoxicated? And who, exactly, was harmed if no accident occurred and there were no other vehicles on the road but the intoxicated driver's and the LEO following?

According to YOUR value system, the community has NO right to penalize the intoxicated driver in any way because no actual harm has occurred and there is no identifiable victim. By your rules, DUI laws should only apply if an accident actually occurs.

According to my value system, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated exposes other people and their property to an unreasonable and unnecessary RISK of harm, even if no actual harm occurs in all cases, and so the community has the duty to enact and enforce DWI laws.

Here's an even simpler example: An intersection is controlled by a traffic light. Visibility in all directions is excellent and I am familiar with the area. I can easily see that mine is the only vehicle on the road within a half-mile of the intersection. There is no emergency or other unusual situation, I just don't like waiting at red lights. Who is harmed if I run a red light under those conditions? Am I justified in running a red light at that intersection under those conditions, or should Officer Opie give me a ticket, fine and points for doing so?

73 de Jim, N2EY

2664. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:23:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0652EE.BA34F310@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25661

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Not really. A "civil libertarian" would be someone like > > Jefferson who believes in "civil liberties". What other > > kinds of liberties are there?
>
> There'd be the kinds like "libertarian" without any modifying adjectives > and there'd be "libertarian" with any modifying adjectives other than
> "civil". An example would be Radical Rick as sexual libertarian.

I do believe that sexual liberty is a civil liberty. How about a liberty that is not redundant to a civil liberty? Seems to me, it is civil law Vs criminal law and "criminal liberty" doesn't make any sense at all.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2665. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:27:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0653C9.8A7214F9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25662

Dave Heil wrote:
> As to your last sentence, there you go giving orders again, Radical Rick.

That's not an order, that's an admonition, i.e. a gentle reproof.

--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2666. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:28:49 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C065431.54A2C8E2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25663

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Kim has a right to choose her callsign just as she has the right to > > choose a flavor of ice cream. There's no law or rule against either > > choice.
>
> To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.

There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all in your mind.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2667. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:30:49 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0654A9.ABAEEA4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25665

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I've found little to agree with in your views or Cecil's.
> > >
> > I'm against slavery, Dave. Are you for slavery?
>
> The troll-o-meter is pegged, Cecil.
> You'll have better luck with your does-he-eat-pork? quest.

I'm also against smallpox, Dave. Are you for smallpox? I suspect, contrary to what you say, that you agree with 99% of my views.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2668. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 15:31:02 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0111290731.2bee49ba@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25664

yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011128204101.08355.00003715@nso-mq.aol.com>...
> Your callsign spells out the word "tit," which is a vulgar slang expression > referring to a woman's breasts, specifically, your own. You chose this > Vanity call sign with and for the specific purpose of calling attention to > your own breasts, which you obviously consider to be particularly > noteworthy for some reason. You did this in order to evoke purient > interest in male hams, thus hopefully giving you some sort of power > over them, and increasing the amount of attention you receive from > them. You had no other purpose in mind when you choose this call > sign.

Let's see. I believe I read Kim's explanation of how/why she chose her callsign, and I don't believe she mentioned any of the above.

You can believe anything you wish. You can believe all those reasons above are why Kim's callsign is what it is. Truth is, you don't know.

At first I thought you were in this discussion because you really believed that her sign was bad for the ARS. I believed that. It's become clear from your writings that while that may have been a part of it, it's really much more simple than that. Kim has a callsign you don't like. It offends you. You want it taken from her because of that. The ARS doesn't figure into it much, if at all. She's doing something you don't like, and being the person you are, you want to force your beliefs upon her and get her to get rid of the callsign.

I'll fight for you to be able to have, speak, and write your beliefs, even though I find them apalling. You argue against others being able to do the same. Your desire to control others' freedoms is what brings us close to extinction. Not a stupid callsign.

Sean.

2669. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 17:57:25 UTC
From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <c2356669.0111290957.60fc7fc9@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25666

Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:<C1E17D36307668A2.89E152F2789513FE.6E76C0FC87570A30@lp.airnews.net>...
(continuation of earlier discussion)

> No, as determined by objective measurement. Subjective values > represent opinion; they are NOT binding on anyone.
>
> >>>So what we have is SOCIETY deciding what the values are. Not the individuals > >>>involved!
> >>
> >> Not at all. The housing market decides in this case.
> >
> >And who is "the housing market"? People other than the property owner! People > >whose personal, subjective values determine what someone else's property is > >worth.
>
> The "housing market" is an economic construct that consists of > individuals and business organizations who purchase property.

OK

>It is > not "society" because "society" is not uniformly in the market for > property (some are renters, some have no credit, some already have > homes they are happy with, some have no desire to be home owners, > etc.). Thus "society" has no direct voice in the issue.

"Society" was not a good word choice, then. Let us say "the local RE market" meaning all those individuals and organizations who might buy a particular property, OR who have a direct effect on the pricing of a property.

Then, it is "the local RE market" who determine what a property is worth. Their criteria are NOT all objective.
>
> >In some neighborhoods, not cutting the grass and such will have a negative > >effect on nearby property values, because the local society expects that people > >will maintain their properties a certain way. In other neighborhoods, it will > >have no effect because in those communities the local society has different > >expectations.
>
> Exactly.
>
> Society, as a whole, cannot establish such values because it > would consist of residents of BOTH neighborhoods. Only the housing > market in the specific neighborhood is capable of making this > distinction.

Agreed! Which means the values are not objective - they are set in part by the warm fuzzies of those in "the local RE market".

> If property values ARE adversely affected by an action > which reasonably could be expected not to occur, that action is > clearly causing harm. If they are not so affected, then the action > does not cause harm and thus society has no right to seek to regulate > or prohibit it.

Yup. But the "harm" in many cases is purely in the subjective feelings of those in the local RE market.
>
> >>If the > >>actions of the neighbor do NOT reduce the value of the home or > >>directly reduce the enjoyment and use of the property owned by > >>neighbors (by directly, I mean that simply _knowing_ what a person > >>does inside his/her home--that s/he is a practicing homosexual for > >>example--and being personally offended by that kind of activity does > >>NOT mean an individual is harmed by it), he or she has NOT harmed > >>anyone, regardless of the opinion of "society."
> >
> >Which are all totally subjective judgements.
>
> Nope.

Yes, they are. Whether A's actions or lack of them reduces B's enjoyment or use is up to B's subjective judgement.

Say A puts up a tower. B may find it unsightly and say it reduces his enjoyment of his property. D, who lives on the other side of A, may find it attractive, and say it ADDS to his enjoyment of the property.
>
> The market price of a home is an objective fact, not a > subjective value.

True, but it is based on many subjective judgements.

> The person seeking to purchase a home may be making > a subjective valuation of each property he or she views--but that > subjective valuation is NOT binding on anyone.

Once an offer is made, it sure IS binding!

> If, on the other hand,
> a property cannot realize fair market value because of the actions of > a second party, then the difference in the market value and the > selling price is _objective_ evidence of harm.

The "fair market calue" is determined by subjective factors, though.
Here's an example:

Two years ago I moved about 8 miles. The house I left was slightly older, slightly larger and in many ways nicer than the one I moved to.
Both are in the same county, have about the same amenities, features and operating costs. The lots are comparable in size. Yet the new house cost more than double the price of the old one. The reason is simple: Location, location, location.
>
> >>>Plus consideration for B's time and aggravation in having to deal with it, > >>>legal fees, excess RE taxes, etc.
> >>
> >> Within reason, yes.
> >
> >"within reason" being a subjective quantity.
>
> Not if "reasonable damages" are decided by a court. At that > point they become objective data.

Based on SUBJECTIVE judgements.
>
> >Now let's see what we've got so far.
> >
> >You agree that A can harm B by not maintaining A's property to the standards > >typically found in the community where A's and B's property are located. This > >harm is present even if A breaks no law and does not pose any sort of safety > >hazard to B. The mere fact that other people judge B's property to be worth > >less, or that B's enjoyment of his property is reduced by A's action, > >constitutes A harming B.
>
> Almost.
>
> Judgement is NOT sufficient. In order for B to claim actual > damages he must, by necessity, actually sell the property at a lower > price than fair market value. If he chooses not to sell, he cannot > claim economic harm because no evidence exists that he WAS harmed.

Suppose B tries to refinance his mortgage but is refused by the mortgage company because they say the property value has been lowered.
B cannot get a new loan because of A's actions and has been economically harmed without actually selling his property.
>
> In like manner, in order for B's enjoyment of his property to > constitute harm, B would have to demonstrate that he was _unable_ to > enjoy his property as a direct result of A's actions. If, for example, > he simply finds the appearance of A's property offensive, but it poses
> no actual threat to him (i.e., an overgrown yard in which mosquitoes > breed, thus reducing B's enjoyment of his yard would clearly pose a > threat and thus constitute harm), B has no grounds to claim that > actual harm has occurred and seek redress. An individual has a right > to be protected from damages, he or she does NOT have the right to be > protected from being offended.

The line between being offended and being harmed is a purely subjective one. Note that your example with the mosquitoes does not demonstrate actual harm but only the threat (risk) of harm (until someone is actually bitten by the mosquitoes, no harm exists, only the threat).

>That is one of the sacrifices we ALL make to live in a (relatively) free society.

Not a sacrifice at all. It's a tradeoff of rights. Each person's rights need to be balanced against those of the neighbors. This balance is based on subjective values, not objective ones.
>
> >> My moral values do NOT support causing others harm w/o their > >>permission. They simply insist that if no one is harmed it isn't any > >>of society's business. In the case above, a clear victim (B) exists > >>and real, identifiable, harm has occurred.
> >
> >Yup - even though NO law has been violated and the harm is totally derived from > >people's personal values, NOT the state's.
>
> Neither. The harm is derived from economic loss, a > demonstrable, objective, value.

Based on subjective valuations.
>
> >>>That was part of it, but there's a lot more. For example, did the harm occur > >>>when A let his property run down, or only when B tried to sell?
> >>
> >> That depends on whether it reduced B's enjoyment of his > >>property. If it did not, then the harm didn't occur until the sale was > >>attempted (for example, if A offered to purchase B's property for fair > >>market value as soon as it was made available, A would NEVER have > >>harmed B). If, however, B's enjoyment of his property was reduced > >>directly by A's actions, clearly the harm began at that moment, not > >>the moment of sale.
> >>
> >Agreed. One can also include such considerations as the amount of time and > >effort B needs to expend to sell, or that B may be dissuaded from even trying > >to sell because of A's property's condition.
>
> B's efforts to sell are a legitimate consideration. If, > however, B is dissuaded from trying to sell by the property condition > that becomes a personal opinion on B's part and not binding on A. In > the absence of evidence that B _has_ lost money as a result of the > condition of A's property, there is no legitimate grounds for > believing that B has suffered any harm at all.

As shown above, a sale is not required to provide such evidence. The mortgage company refusal is just one example.
>
> >So what we have is this: A can harm B by not maintaining A's property to the > >standards typically found in the community where A's and B's are located. This > >harm is present even if A breaks no law and does not pose any sort of safety > >hazard to B. The mere fact that other people judge B's property to be worth > >less, or that B's enjoyment of his property is reduced by A's action, > >constitutes A harming B.

>
> Not quite. Consideration of the property value is not grounds > for assuming A harmed B. Actual loss must be established for that > determination.

Why?

> Example: An individual may feel that an amateur radio > antenna erected in his neighbor's yard both reduces his enjoyment of > his property and decreases his property values. That view may even be > shared by others. But unless the person can demonstrate a tangible > reason why that antenna reduces his enjoyment of his property (simply > being offended by its appearance is NOT sufficient grounds--if it > were, a bigot could successfully claim that seeing a minority living
> next door harmed him) or that his property value actually HAS been > reduced by the presence of the antenna (demonstrable ONLY by being > forced to sell the property at a price lower than fair market), he has > no legitimate grounds to establish that harm has occurred.

The tangible reason can be based on subjective judgements, though.
Suppose A has a satellite "pizza dish". B allows a tree to grow so that it blocks the signal to A's dish, thereby reducing A's enjoyment of his property because his satellite TV doesn't work anymore. Has B harmed A? Can A require B to cut down the tree so his dish will work again?

Or must A relocate his dish? What if that is not practical?

> >> How about enjoyment of the property?
> >
> >Same thing. In addition, if A is prevented from enjoying HIS property because > >of antenna limitations, a counter-claim exists.
>
> From a libertarian perspective, if A moved into that property
> after antenna limitations were put in place, he has no claim--he made > a choice to live under those contractual terms.

Partially true. However, in many areas there is little choice.

> If, on the other hand,
> those restrictions are placed after he has purchased and taken > possession of his property, from a libertarian perspective he has no > obligation to adhere to them--he did not agree to those contract terms > with the community when he made his purchase. If an attempt is made in > such a case to force his compliance, he has legitimate grounds for a > suit against the community on the basis of denial of use.

Agreed.
>
> >> Suppose I'm a non-ham living next door to you and I feel your > >>antenna farm is unsightly and detracts from my view of the > >>mountains/lake/ocean/cess pool beyond your property. I cannot escape > >>the view of your antennas because they dominate the only scenic side > >>of my yard.
> >
> >Same rules apply as if I were to put up a fence or plant trees or bushes that > >blocked your view.
>
> But weren't you just arguing in favor of "property enjoyment" > being a legitimate grounds for regulating the behavior of a property > owner?

Yep.

> Just as A's inactions reduce property enjoyment, all those > listed above have the same potential (particularly an antenna farm or > a fence that might block a scenic view). If it is unacceptable to view > the antenna farm as causing harm (which I don't believe it to do > either), what possible justification exists for viewing A's actions as > doing so on any but a strictly economic loss basis?

My point is that it's all based on subjective valuations, not objective measures.
>
> >> Have you harmed me? From my perspective, that WOULD constitute > >>harm, as the property owner lost some measure of enjoyment in his > >>property as a direct result of your actions.
> >
> >Only if it can be shown that YOUR view of things beyond MY property is somehow > >superior to my enjoyment of my property.
>
> What if I argue in A's case that his enjoyment of his leisure
> (made possible by not maintaining his property) is not inferior to B's > enjoyment of the view in the direction of A's yard? How would that > differ?

Thus the tradeoff and subjective nature of the judgements, which is my point.
>
> >What if I out up a fence or plant a bush that blocks your view?
>
> Addressed above.
>
> >>Do you agree?
> >
> >See above. It depends on the situation.
>
> Same here--which is why it's impossible to claim that values > are absolute. They are situational, something a libertarian takes for > granted but many conservatives seem to refuse to accept at all.

Which means that "harm" is often a completely subjective thing.
>
> >> Only if others follow suit.
> >
> >Which is made more likely by A's actions.
>
> Not if he suffers loss in a court action as a result of his > actions. That establishes a deterrent effect that will discourage > others from repeating his behavior.
>
> >For one thing, in many cases A does not have just one immediate neighbor. It is > >quite common to have 8 immediate neighbors, all of whom could be affected by > >one poorly maintained property. So we can easily have not 1 or 2 but 9 > >properties whose value is reduced, all by the actions of ONE property owner. In > >addition, B must take legal action against A, and win. Unless this happnes, A > >sets a precedent for the neighborhood.
>
> That would be true under any circumstances as one of the > conditions you provided was that A was NOT in violation of any law or > ordinance, and thus no legal remedy could exist which would compel his > compliance.

So A's inaction, unless successfully challenged, can start a trend that causes a neighborhood to decline. That was my claim all along.
>
> More, if B did successfully sue A it would establish a court > precedent in the case and all of the other property owners whose > property values were reduced would be able to easily recover > comparable damages themselves, thus making A's decision a potentially > very costly one.

Only if A had any assets to be recovered.
>
> >Neighborhoods and property values rise and fall on their reputations.
>
> A reputation is subjective value and cannot be the basis for > determining harm unless it can be shown that the reputation was > deliberately damaged in order to cause that harm.

Yet that subjective value can result in economic loss.
>
> >Properties that are not maintained to community standards harm the reputation > >of the neighborhood. ("That used to be a nice neighborhood, but did you see the > >rundown place in the middle of the block and all those for-sale signs?
>
> But unless we set limits on the extent to which such a concept > can be applied, it would be equally valid for a racist neighborhood to > legally justify discrimination against minorities on the basis that > their neighborhood would deteriorate if minorities were permitted.

That's why we have equal housing laws. Which I support.

> Obviously, such a concept is totally unacceptable from any rational > perspective.

It is unacceptable from the perspective that a person's right to buy and enjoy a property regardless of things like race or gender is superior to the subjective values of the local RE market.

> >I > >checked realtor.com and they are asking less than those houses sold for 10 > >years ago!")
>
> If no other possible reasons for the decline in market value > exists, then a clearly objective basis for claiming loss is present.

Even for those not selling their houses?
>
> >But the main point is simple: A can harm B (and others) by not doing things > >like yard maintenance according to prevailing local community standards, even > >though A breaks no law nor directly poses a safety or health hazard. All A has > >to do is reduce B's enjoyment.
>
> Not quite--see the above responses to that.

How "not quite"? Seems perfectly clear to me that A can harm B even though A breaks no law IF it can be adequately shown that A reduces B's enjoyment. What constitutes "adequately shown" is complicated.
>
> >Now let's apply this to ham radio callsigns.
> >
> >Suppose Z, a radio amateur, chooses a callsign that reduces the enjoyment other > >hams (X, Y, et al) get from amateur radio, and damages the reputation of the > >ARS. Even though Z's choice of callsign is legal it's clear that X, Y and > >others have been harmed by Z's choice, which was not up to community standards.
>
> Several points:

I did not refer to any specific callsign. The discussion is about the principles involved, not any specific person.
>
> 1. Damage to the ARS would not be actionable by individual > hams. In order for such damage to constitute ALL members of the ARS > would have to agree that they were harmed (in Kim's case, neither I > nor Cecil agree--thus a consensus cannot be reached) and a tangible > loss would have to be shown to have occurred.

Do ALL of the neighbors have to agree that A's actions result in loss of enjoyment? No. Same thing applies here.
>
> 2. For an individual ham to claim that her call sign reduces > his or her enjoyment of amateur radio, it would be necessary for that > ham to have direct on-the-air exposure to that call sign and for that > sign to have caused demonstrable harm at that time.

Why?

> No one who has > actually spoken to Kim on the air has voiced an opinion here that they > were harmed, and the hams who have voiced opposition to her sign have > not been in a position to be harmed by it and thus have no case.

Why MUST it be over the air?

> It > would be like my neighbor complaining that your antennas were reducing > his enjoyment of his property (we have a no antenna ordinance, > although a hidden antenna is permitted--which is why I use a flag pole > vertical) because he knew of its existence. Clearly, that would be an > absurdity, just as claims that Kim's call sign harm people here is > one.

Not the same thing at all.
>
> 3. If you read carefully what I have written above, it becomes > clear that from my perspective at least (the one we are discussing), > harm must take a tangible form to be considered actual. Unless you can > show direct harm caused by a choice of call sign, you cannot > legitimately claim that it causes any harm at all.

See discussion about DWI laws. Who is harmed if an intoxicated driver does not have an accident?
>
> >Saying that Z's callsign choice cannot harm anyone is like saying that A's > >nonmaintenace of his property cannot harm anyone. The real-estate example shows > >that the situation is more complicated than that.
>
> Nope. Saying that Z's call sign cannot harm anyone is like > saying that A's nonmaintenance of his property cannot harm anyone not > in his community.

OK. But all hams are part of the amateur radio community.

> Someone directly exposed to Kim's sign who, for > example, felt compelled to prohibit his or her children from listening > to the amateur radio as a result of it (absurd, but an example) might > have some validity in claiming he or she was harmed, but no one in > this news group can make such a claim legitimately.

Your example is not absurd at all.

73 de Jim, N2EY

2670. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 18:14:59 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C067B23.B9EF64F6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25667

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?
> > >
> > > Because that's where you and a few other diversionary types invariably > > > take us.
> >
> > Have we installed a ring in your nose or what?
>
> The same could be asked of you? Are you bound by some peculiar code to > make reponses which lead the topic astray?

Yep, AADD. I really have no choice. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

2671. Re: Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 18:39:01 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u5v9i0231o@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25669

"D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org> wrote in message news:Pine.LNX.4.10.10111290615540.2832-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org...
> Same here, except that I manage to use correct English language syntax and > inflections.

This newsgroup isn't worth the use of an editing and style manual.

2672. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 18:43:22 UTC
From: kb9rvb@arrl.net
Message-ID: <77f1797e.0111291043.2ccbf80b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25668

> yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011127205928.12427.00003464@nso-cg.aol.com>...
> > People who are married, or in committed relationships with a person > > they love, respect, and trust, do not challenge that trust by having > > private meetings, professional or otherwise, with people of the opposite > > sex unless their spouse or partner is present. It simply is not done.

Been married 35 years, goin' on 36. Never had the first problem with accepting that my wife had professional (don't tear into that) contacts with the opposite sex. Don't think my wife objects to my professional (and in some cases, personal) contacts with members of the opposite sex. None of which from my side were anything close to what Larry fears. Our trust and confidence in what we have together doesn't require the level of paranoia the statement above represents.
To assume anything untoward from our way of interacting would be deeply insulting. Am I unaware that perception is reality? No. I just choose to allow those to live in the squallor created by their perceptions.

uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org (Sean G Gilley) wrote in message news:<ff37aa44.0111280758.35006325@posting.google.com>...
> I brought my mother into this because she's 62 years old -- older than > you, if I remember correctly -- and would have attitudes more moralistic > than most people these days.
>
I'm 58, goin' on 59. I think my attitudes about morality are probably more rigid than those of my children. But I don't think it's moralism that creates or prevents a break-up. It's compatibility. I know of more divorces (at least among my generation) caused by finally realizing incompatibility than by any dalliances. Heck, most of us are like dogs chasing a car. We wouldn't know what to with it if we caught it.

73
Carl KB9RVB

2673. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 18:56:42 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u60an024d0@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25670

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C062258.BFE88925@sccoast.net...
>
> I've noticed the discussions in this newsgroup are getting really > nasty lately (personal insults, name calling, ridicule, harassment, > pettiness, and so forth). Is this what we really want? One of the best

Maybe, but neither do any of us want to return to the days of Fidonet when every controversial post was subject to a moderator's whim.

> aspects of this newsgroup has always been that the long-time members > have always tried to keep the discussions on a relatively decent

Remember when Carl Stevensen posted here prior to restructuring? I was much worse than what it is now.

> level. In other words, while we might argue, and even argue > fanatically, most have tended to back off before things got too > personal. But, lately, some of the messages here have turned into > nothing more than an insult-fest. Please, before you post that nasty > little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the > effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps > up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want > to participate in.

On the contrary, it's actually doubled activity. The newsgroups now gets well over 100 posts a day. A month or so ago it was only getting about 30 to 50. (Unless you're the type who prefers quality over quantity.)

> I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, > Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on > this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent > here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same > when they get carried away. Thanks.

The bottom line is that these types of arguments occur from time to time. They usually run their course and things return to normal.

2674. Re: Dropping the code.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 19:36:37 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C068E45.B822FF81@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25671

I'm an exCBer. Was active with a legal CB station for a few months then decided to get the real thing: a ham license. This was back in '76. when you had to take your test at an FCC field office. I had to copy AND send code, albeit just 5WPM. And took and barely passed the General written for an old tech plus license.
Which was suprizing, I expected to ace the written and squeak by on the code, as I was a double E major in college at the time.
I put the CB set away.

KC8PMX wrote:

> Actually... in my area at least, we have had TONS of people get ham licenses > that were CB'ers..... all 2 of them out of at least 50-60 new licensees in > the past two years in the tri-county area where I live.
>
> Ryan
>
> (CB'er being a major user of CB's, not the casual weekender that uses it on > the long road trip)
>

2675. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 19:49:01 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C06912C.F72286A0@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25672

> >> More specifically, it refers to > >>behavior that does not affect the property values or enjoyment of > >>other residents.
> >>
> >As determined by the subjective values of those other than the owner of the > >property.
>
> No, as determined by objective measurement. Subjective values > represent opinion; they are NOT binding on anyone.
>
> >>>So what we have is SOCIETY deciding what the values are. Not the individuals > >>>involved!
> >>
> >> Not at all. The housing market decides in this case.
> >
> >And who is "the housing market"? People other than the property owner! People > >whose personal, subjective values determine what someone else's property is > >worth.
>
> The "housing market" is an economic construct that consists of > individuals and business organizations who purchase property. It is > not "society" because "society" is not uniformly in the market for > property (some are renters, some have no credit, some already have > homes they are happy with, some have no desire to be home owners, > etc.). Thus "society" has no direct voice in the issue.
>
> >In some neighborhoods, not cutting the grass and such will have a negative > >effect on nearby property values, because the local society expects that people > >will maintain their properties a certain way. In other neighborhoods, it will > >have no effect because in those communities the local society has different > >expectations.
>
>

Sometimes this get applied to antennas. Now that brings ham radio
"...one step closer to extinction."

2676. Re: PING: Jim N2EY

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 19:51:41 UTC
From: JC from Gnat Flats <jccooperr@wcnet.net> Message-ID: <XoxN7.263$FP6.19606@atlpnn01.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 25676

Henry County American Red Cross <arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote in message news:dC3t7.36212$ga2.1739788@cletus.bright.net...
>
> N2EY <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20010928080310.02205.00000176@nso-cc.aol.com...
> > In article <OSEs7.35847$ga2.1706239@cletus.bright.net>, "Henry County > American > > Red Cross" <arcweb@bnnorth.net> writes:
> >
> > >heheheh and people say that hams are dry, and have no sense of humor > heheh.
> >
> > We're just getting started!
> >
> > >I'll have to dig out my copy of the worst country song titles.
> >
> > "Drop Kick Me, Jesus, Through The Goal Posts Of Life" is a favorite here.
> >
> > Know what happens if you play country music backwards? Your spouse > returns,
> > your truck gets fixed and you sober up.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
> I used to work as the kitchen supervisor of a truckstop along US 24 in N.W.
> Ohio.
> We had a jukebox there with a cd that was a compilation of Ray Stevens > greatest hits.
> One song I had never heard before was his rendition of the classig Glenn > Miller tune "In The Mood", first time I heard it I laughed my a$$ off. And > since I have a warped sense of humor and an eclectic taste in music that > became the mostr played song on the jukebox, the waitresses hated that song, > and of course once the truck drivers found that out, they played it as well > just to drive them crazy. Even the drunks who came in on weekends after
the > bars closed played it. The girls all signed a petition to get that cd > removed from the jukebox, the company said no because it was the "most > popular" hence it was a money maker. It is now 2 years since I quit theree,

> and that song is STILL the most played song on the jukebox.
>
> Keith Hosman
>
>

I'm new here. I was a ditty bop back in '61 and always thought I would get my HAM or whatever license when I got out of the USAF. Well, it's been 34 years since I got out and I guess I better get started on the exams. So, I am going to trade you guys a lead on a real good country Christmas song, in return for a lead on where I start. Do you still have to know morse code? I still know it, but very, very slow.

Anyhow, you just gotta hear "Merry Christmas from the Family" by Robert Earl Keene. I guarantee you, you will recognize at least one incident as having occured in your family.

--
JC from Gnat Flats, Texas
Where we celebrate daybreak all night long!!!

2677. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 19:58:59 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <5A1679C095CD2C27.079B50FD1FA21789.9B6BCB0233415E14@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25673

On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 18:55:18 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Reckon Dick doesn't believe in electromagnetic RF waves because he >has never seen any?

Sure he does.

That's what he thinks causes the spark.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2678. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 19:59:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <86D4705537D14825.83D0330BE00E19E7.6CCE4AE5A815221E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25674

On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 18:19:46 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>Uh, like human males do.

Er, Kim.

Women get pretty "Randy" at times, too . . . ;-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2679. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 20:09:39 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C069603.5A7F4A0C@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25675

Dwight Stewart wrote:

> I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, > Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on > this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent > here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same > when they get carried away. Thanks.
>

We're just enjoying a good old fashioned flamefest. :-)

2680. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 21:28:47 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <18461F9582F38B34.F5BA3093FED4700A.3893E1566CA34C54@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25677

Just to clear the air on the "violent" content of the Koran, and the so-called directions incorporated in it to kill non-believers, here's an article that appeared in a local paper today that addresses that issue and corrects the mis-interpretation of the religious writings of Islam.

======

By Fedwa Wazwaz

Throughout the United States, critics of Islam have raised alarm by proclaiming that Islam is either an "evil wicked religion" or by claiming that the Koran (Islam's holy book) promotes violence. Taking advantage of the fact that most Americans know little about Islam and have no interaction with Muslims, these self-styled experts distort and manipulate verses from the Koran to prove their hatred is based on "evidence." Examples of frequently cited Koranic verses include:

1. "And slay them wherever ye catch them." (Al-Baqarah: 191)

2. "... But if they turn away, seize them and slay them wherever ye find them; and (in any case) take no friends or helpers from their ranks." (An-Nisa': 89)

Shedding more light on this issue is critical to a better understanding of Islam. First, there are two primary sources of Islamic belief. One is the Koran, the revealed word of God. The second is the Hadeeth, which are the sayings or actions of Prophet Muhammad.
In addition, three factors are essential for understanding the verses in the Koran: textual context of the verse within the Koran, the historical context, and the manner in which the Prophet Muhammad implemented the verse.

For example, here is the first verse noted above in the appropriate Koranic textual context: "Fight in the cause of Allah those who fight you, but do not transgress limits; for Allah loves not transgressors.
And slay them wherever ye catch them, and turn them out from where they have turned you out; for tumult and oppression are worse than slaughter, but fight them not at the Sacred Mosque, unless they (first) fight you there; but if they fight you, kill them. Such is the reward of those who reject faith. But if they cease, Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful. And fight them on until there is no more tumult or oppression, and there prevail justice and faith in Allah; but if they cease, let there be no hostility except to those who practice oppression. The prohibited month, for the prohibited month, and so for all things prohibited, there is the law of equality. If then any one transgresses the prohibition against you, transgress ye likewise against him. But fear Allah, and know that Allah is with those who restrain themselves." (Al-Baqarah: 190-194)

And the second verse frequently cited out of context by critics occurs in the following series of verses:

"They but wish that ye should reject Faith, as they do, and thus be on the same footing (as they): so take not friends from their ranks until they flee in the way of Allah (from what is forbidden). But if they turn renegades, seize them and slay them wherever ye find them; and (in any case) take no friends or helpers from their ranks. Except those who join a group between whom and you there is a treaty (of peace), or those who approach you with hearts restraining them from fighting you as well as fighting their own people. If Allah had pleased, He could have given them power over you, and they would have fought you: Therefore if they withdraw from you but fight you not, and (instead) send you (guarantees of) peace, then Allah hath opened no way for you (to war against them). Others you will find that wish to gain your confidence as well as that of their people: Every time they are sent back to temptation, they succumb thereto; if they withdraw not from you nor give you (guarantees) of peace besides restraining their hands, seize them and slay them wherever ye get them; in their case We have provided you with a clear argument against them." (An-Nisa': 89-91)

An understanding of the historical context of these verses is also critical. Muslims believe that these verses were revealed by God to Prophet Muhammad, peace be upon him, at the time when Muslims were attacked by the non-Muslims of Mecca on a regular basis. The Meccans wanted to kill the Muslims and stop the rise of Islam in Medinah. These verses do not grant permission for "violence," but they are a warning against those who seek to instigate violence and oppression against the Muslims. Note that even in these warnings, restraint and caution are emphasized to the Muslims.

The third factor to keep in mind is how each verse was implemented at the time of Prophet Muhammad. The Prophet implemented these verses in the following manner: The intention must be pure, meaning those with personal agendas were not allowed to fight. The war was declared by a legitimate authority (Prophet Muhammad). War was a last resort. There existed an openness among Muslims to respond to just peace initiatives - even during the battle. The Prophet spared non-combatants and refrained from destruction of homes, trees or resources needed by Meccans to survive. In addition, the Prophet gave and ordered his followers to give humane treatment of the injured and prisoners of war.

Finally, what does the Koran say about murder? "... Take not life, which Allah hath made sacred, except by way of justice and law: Thus does He command you, that ye may learn wisdom." (Al-An'am: 151). Also,

"Nor take life, which Allah has made sacred, except for just cause. And if anyone is slain wrongfully, we have given his heir authority (to demand Qisas [retribution] or to forgive): but let him not exceed bounds in the matter of taking life; for he is _ helped (by the law)" (Al-Isra': 33).

According to the Koran, killing any person without a just cause is as enormous a sin as killing the whole of humanity, and saving the life of one person is as good a deed as saving the whole of humanity.

As can clearly be seen from the above examples, the Koran does not "promote" or glorify violence. Islam is a religion that preaches peaceful co-existence between communities, nations and tribes. Historically, Islam has shown tolerance to all religions and communities in its midst and around. Whatever "evidence" Islamophobes cite to legitimize their hatred of Islam can easily be shown to be deceptive and false when examined within the appropriate textual and historical context.

Fedwa Wazwaz is communications director of the Islamic Resource Group in Crystal, Minnesota, and a member of the Independent Writers Syndicate.

======

Nuf' said.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2681. Re: Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-29 22:22:09 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <lyyN7.202255$3d2.8747611@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25678

Well, I'll try and keep in touch when I'm back on the air. Passed the 20 WPM without a problem - although I'd be in deep do-do at 30. Well, make that would have been. I wrote a couple of programs that send and receive morse and had to debug them (quite a bit at that) and didn't want to spend forever at 20. After it is working, one tends to let it send long text messages (old basic programs - try that, complete with all kinds of punctuation and line numbers!) just to listen to the thing. Amazing what a couple of hours at 40 plus can do for your receiving capability (yes, I had to follow along - for a while)..

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

ummm ... I do remember a guy whining about no more CW during a chat on 440 FM. Fortunately, the repeater owner was on at the same time and, as an old buddy of mine, always willing to help. We switched to F-2 at about 40. Golly, the other guy sure was quiet. Can't understand it.

"Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net> wrote in message news:9u3g4chaj1@news.bignet.net...
>
> "JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message > news:2saN7.200797$3d2.8621226@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > Heh, you misunderstood my 'I don't care' attitude. I used to love CW.
>
> What do you figure your code speed is after all the years of I assume non > use?
>
> > I'm > > just waiting to get another HF rig (after doing a couple of roofs, > > remodeling the kitchen and the bathroom - I just don't want to charge
it.
> > It will wait.).
>
> Paying the interest charges on a credit card for a few months will ruin
the > best deal you can find on a rig mail order.
>
> > Most likely I'll end up on a few digital modes (largely CW) > > and some SSB. Who know?
>
> Hollingsworth seemed to be a big fan of PSK31. He must have mentioned it at > least 20 times during his recent talk on enforcement issues at the Fort > Wayne Hamfest the other week.

>
> >I've just got to start planning an antenna (no > > mean feat living on a city lot!). Anyone can construct a dummy load - I > > need a decent antenna.
>
> I live in an apartment. Trying to come up antennas that work well even at > V/UHF is not easy to do.
>
> > Heck, I haven't been on HF in 30 years!
>
> Sounds like you have a bit of catching up to do. 8-))
>
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LDO
>
> --
> "People have a societal and ethical responsibility to be considerate of > the rights of your fellow citizen. Those that choose to ignore and > dismiss this out of hand are, at the very least, social deviates and > misfits, who are morally bankrupt, and at the most, criminal. "
>
> Dave Hall
>
>

2682. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 00:51:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06D7E8.1F84496C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25679

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Not really. A "civil libertarian" would be someone like > > > Jefferson who believes in "civil liberties". What other > > > kinds of liberties are there?
> >
> > There'd be the kinds like "libertarian" without any modifying adjectives
> > and there'd be "libertarian" with any modifying adjectives other than
> > "civil". An example would be Radical Rick as sexual libertarian.
>
> I do believe that sexual liberty is a civil liberty. How about a > liberty that is not redundant to a civil liberty? Seems to me, > it is civil law Vs criminal law and "criminal liberty" doesn't > make any sense at all.

But a "sexual libertarian" does not describe a "civil libertarian".
You asked a question. I provided an answer.

Dave K8MN

2683. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 00:53:00 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06D84A.EAFEC414@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25680

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > As to your last sentence, there you go giving orders again, Radical Rick.
>
> That's not an order, that's an admonition, i.e. a gentle reproof.

You calls 'em as you sees 'em. I calls 'em as I sees 'em. I don't believe he was writing for your benefit.

Dave K8MN

2684. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 00:56:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06D925.9181F698@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25681

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Kim has a right to choose her callsign just as she has the right to > > > choose a flavor of ice cream. There's no law or rule against either > > > choice.
> >
> > To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.
>
> There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all
> in your mind.

...and we strongly disagree on the point about the callsign. I'm happy we can agree upon the ice cream.

Dave K8MN

2685. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 00:57:53 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C06D96C.9B54D0D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25682

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > I've found little to agree with in your views or Cecil's.
> > >
> > > I'm against slavery, Dave. Are you for slavery?
> >
> > The troll-o-meter is pegged, Cecil.
> > You'll have better luck with your does-he-eat-pork? quest.
>
> I'm also against smallpox, Dave. Are you for smallpox? I suspect, > contrary to what you say, that you agree with 99% of my views.

What ever happened to your "live and let live" philosophy?

Dave K8MN
```

2686. ham radio milita net connection ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:00:29 UTC
From: uncle meatballs <darastafra44@aol.com>
Message-ID: <NSAN7.4493$Ao6.530590@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 25683
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Leigh Hanlon" <lthanlon@ameritech.net> wrote in message news:281120012251545430%lthanlon@ameritech.net...
>
> http://www.sierratimes.com/archive/files/nov/28/arjj112801.htm
>
From the above URL :

Lancaster, Kentucky -- An automotive technician had his home raided by federal agents Tuesday.
After the 7-hour action by the Bureau of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms that cost the loss of all firearms and a computer hard drive, Charlie Puckett vows to fight back. "I will do whatever it takes to get my firearms back," he said.

------------ cut ---------------

Was this the same station who would check into and called himself
"Wolfman Jack" on the Eastern Regional Patriot Militia Net
without using a valid ham radio callsign on 3.860 mHz Lower sideband ?

Net meets mon, tue, thur, sat nights 3.860 mHz LSB ham radio at 8:00 PM eastern time. Listen 4 yourself. I thought the Liberty net was bad.

Note: This net IS NOT affiliated with the Motley-Crew net that meets late on at the same frequency - no connection!

Did the ATF got there before Hollingsworth did....?

2687. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:03:14 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011129200314.23850.00000899@nso-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 25684

In article <9u4hr3glc2@208.206.142.101>, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
writes:

> Hope I don't ruin it for ya. Try listening to it or reading the lyrics with
>the >> idea that it's an ode to cheap sparkling rose' wine.
>>
>> Lines like
>>
>> "Cracklin' Rose, you're a store-bought woman"
>>
>> are the give-away.
>>
>
> Boy, it sure was subtle. Opening "Cracklin' Rosie, get on board, we're >gonna ride till there ain't no more...."
>
Yup.

Say, just how old is that song? I seem to remember hearing it in the mid-1960s on WPEN (950 AM).

73 de Jim, N2EY

2688. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:34 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200534.10701.00003800@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25685

In article <B2E42985DE9AE6F8.1805E004EC1A4BF8.ACF7CE7F0E7491C9@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>As an American, I'd defend to the death your right to express >>your differences of opinion here or anywhere else -- but I'm not so >>sure you would!
>
> Would you Larry?

Rick:

The question is, would you? Please pay attention.

> Is that why you promise to badger Kim about her choices until >she capitulates to your demands?

I am merely exercising my right to comment on an issue which concerns the image of the Amateur Radio Service. As an licensed amateur radio operator, I have a legitimate concern. Are you saying I have no right to express my opinion on this matter?

73 de Larry, K3LT

2689. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:34 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200534.10701.00003799@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25686

In article <3C0537B6.E4480D24@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
writes:

>
>I don't recall demanding that Kim "shut the (expletive deleted) up" >though I have to admit that I might have wished she would on occasion.
>Rick comes across like a '60s radical with a real job but unchanged >political views. I don't believe that there is anything which will >convince him that his skewed views run counter to the mainstream but it >is fun to watch him rail against the system, the country and mainstream >morality and religion. I haven't called for him to desist and I don't >remember that you have.
>
>Dave K8MN

Dave:

Yup. You know you are dealing with a liberal because after about two minutes worth of debate, they tell you to shut up. Makes you wonder how they'd react if the got what they really wanted -- a society run under a socialist, totalitarian, dictatorial government?
Of course, they reckon they'd be a part of the elite ruling class, but in reality, would be mere voiceless supernumeraries required to tow a very narrowly defined line, or get the carpet pulled out from under them! But, I enjoy liberals -- they provide comic relief, and serve to reinforce my love for the true freedom upon which this nation is based. I'm willing to fight to defend that freedom, and have sacrificed the best years of my adult life working to make that defense a reality. I just wonder if Professor Adams would defend the motivation to sacrifice that my fellow Veterans and I understand and consider to be our obligation in return for the privilege of living in a free society? Anyway, he gets to be what and who he is, and whether he likes it or not, so do we. God Bless America!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2690. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:35 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200535.10701.00003801@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25689

In article <B97A0168FB090DB0.B7E1B34CFCD8AC8C.39ED4A3F158482DC@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

> Not really. Even Larry Roll admits that most hams support her >decision. The "debate" over Kim's choice of a call isn't a debate at >all, it's a way for a few people to attempt to force her to change it >against her will. As such it isn't something to do with ham radio, but >with dictating the behavior of others.
>
> Rick

Rick:

Nobody is attempting to force Kim to change her callsign against her will. I am attempting to convince her to change her decision to keep her callsign, and change it on her own accord. This has nothing to do with anything but amateur radio, and the fact that the positive image of the amateur radio service is being taken "…one step closer to extinction" by Kim's selection of a vulgar, demeaning callsign for self-indulgent reasons.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2691. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:36 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200536.10701.00003803@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25690

In article <3c044b6f_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>
>Well, since you're asking about the "voice of experience" Larry, and you >have so much advice and opinion on marrige: are you still married to ... er, >OH YEAH, that's right! YOU'RE NOT MARRIED.
>
>Kim W5TIT

Kim:

Yes, that's right...I'm not married, and I've never been married. I've also never been divorced -- like about 75% of the people I know who are around my age. If and when I meet a woman who grasps a few simple concepts I believe in -- like total, unconditional loyalty -- the kind of loyalty which accepts conditions like no private lunch/Starbucks/ etc. meetings with "friends" of the opposite sex -- I would ask her to marry me! I have many "friends" who are married, and I consider their wives to be my friends as well, but I don't have private meetings of any sort with them -- not that I haven't had "offers." Whether or not they respect their marriage vows, I do!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2692. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:36 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200536.10701.00003802@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25691

In article <662D1F38FD8521B2.9C2BBEC35A4DE6FD.444F1121565268AC@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>No, I'll come back with a professional view that is accurate >even if your personal homophobia refuses to allow you to accept it.
>
> Homosexuals aren't "recruited" Larry--nearly all homosexuals >freely state that they knew their orientation long before they ever >reached puberty--or had their first exposure to sex. Homosexuality is >as natural (albeit less common, for obvious reasons) as >heterosexuality.
>
> You seem to feel that all it takes is exposure to a homosexual >for someone to be "recruited." Are you really that insecure in your >own sexual identity, or do you just believe that no one else is a >"capable" as you of resisting "temptation?"

Rick:

My sexual identity is not at issue here. I'm a heterosexual, and cannot conceive of being anything else. I know this offends your liberal values, but that's the way it is.

> Adolescents are NOT "recruitable" Larry, as ANY developmental >psychologist would be glad to confirm.

Very well. In that case, why do books like "Heather Has Two Mommies" exist in our public schools?

> Stick with your field of expertise, Larry, it's patently >apparent you don't know anything about mine.

I'm not claiming to be working your side of the street, Rick. I am just reacting to what I've heard and read about the topic, and drawing my own logical conclusions. Why would there be a book like "Heather Has Two Mommies" unless someone with an agenda to normalize and lend an aura of acceptability to homosexual behavior wanted young children to be exposed to this concept? In other words, why are homosexuals attempting to "recruit" young people to their lifestyle?

73 de Larry, K3LT

2693. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:37 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200537.10701.00003805@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25687

In article <3C048E82.53584256@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
<wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:

>> You say your mother wouldn't agree with me. Let me ask you -- is >> she still married to your father?
>>
>>
>
>"Your mama, she had sex with her husband before you were born!"
>:-)
>

As a matter of fact, she did! How did you know?

73 de Larry, K3LT

2694. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 01:05:37 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129200537.10701.00003804@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25688

In article <3C046A84.E3567032@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> People who are married, or in committed relationships with a person
>> they love, respect, and trust, do not challenge that trust by having >> private meetings, professional or otherwise, with people of the opposite >> sex unless their spouse or partner is present.
>
>Egads Larry, would you actually demand to sit in on your wife's >job review behind closed doors with her male boss? You are one >sick puppy.

Cecil:

That's probably one of the few exceptions I would make. However, in today's political climate, where women have all the power, any male manager who had a private, closed-door counselling session with a female subordinate is an absolute fool!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2695. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:13:10 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <WWBN7.241684$W8.8474632@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25692

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C06D7E8.1F84496C@earthlink.net...

> But a "sexual libertarian" does not describe a "civil libertarian".

I hear Jefferson was a sexual libertarian, though. Have you heard that?

Rich

2696. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:13 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213913.10701.00003820@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25698

In article <18WM7.104$9d.19434@newshog.newsread.com>, "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net>
writes:

>Is it legal to rent or lease ham gear? I was wondering about this one, say >for instance, here in Michigan we have places called Rental King, >Rent-a-Center etc. Not that we would want to have ham gear rented at a >location like that, but if there were places that you could rent or lease >equipment, in the short term, that may seem like a more feasable option for >some who clearly cannot afford one of those way-overpriced, multi-band, >do-everything rigs. (Between those and the "kit" radios, there is not much >inbetween)
>
>Also, would it be legal to rent someone elses station? Since the FCC license >does not state what gear you are operating, only that YOU are licensed, is >this a loophole?
>
>Don't mean to start any arguments, just an honest question, looking for >intelligent answers.

Ryan:

I can't see any legal problem with "renting" ham radio gear, aside from the issue of taking steps to ensure that only licensed amateurs get to do so. However, it would seem to be impractical from a purely financial standpoint. The money spent on rental fees would be better used to save up for the purchase of equipment. If all you want to do is try out a top-of-the-line rig for a week or two, then "renting" would be OK as a one-time or occasional practice.

Some hams rent out their vacation properties, equipped with contest-capable ham radio stations, for visiting hams looking for a DXpedition opportunity. There's obviously nothing wrong with it, as long as it's right for you and your checkbook!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2697. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:14 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213914.10701.00003821@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25693

In article <7DA18F9749B0FD30.ACC2E8591B765D9E.C41133D55EC5843D@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> Give it up--according to the resident "experts" here the FCC >has far more serious problems to consider--like Kim's call sign.
>You'll just have to wait your turn.
>
> Rick

Rick:

I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to consider. It is her problem to consider!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2698. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:14 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213914.10701.00003822@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25697

In article <1491410725C88FBB.1A85559CB970ED35.B168627D3B7EF147@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>> I guers it flew right between your ears with the wind, but it was Kim >>who chose that callsign to go with the gabonzas.
>
> And it is you, Larry, and Dave primarily who insist on >harassing her about it instead of minding your own business.
>
> Rick

Rick:

I can't presume to speak for Dick and Dave, but everything I do here on this newsgroup seems to me to fall completely within any reasonable description of "my business." If I am commenting on issues which are public knowledge and related to ham radio, I feel that this newsgroup is the place to do so, and the act of doing so is certainly "my business."

To use your own logic against you, why is defending Kim's self-indulgent choice of a callsign your "business?" I'm not questioning your right to do so, as you've questioned mine, I just want to understand the reason.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2699. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:15 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213915.10701.00003823@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25699

In article <D196C31997E531F3.C1B192B7FB9113FA.8AD22B1611C6E72A@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>Kim -- having "power" over women is not, and never has been, a personal >>goal of mine. I prefer women I can relate to as equals, without having >>to engage in any tiresome "power struggle" with them.
>
> As long as they will capitulate to your Victorian demands that >they not socialize or talk with members of the opposite sex unless you >are there to insure that they don't do something immoral, right?

Rick:

I don't think it's too much to ask for a married man or woman to expect his/her spouse to refrain from private, intimate meetings with "friends" of the opposite sex. And by "intimate," I don't mean a sexual affair, just a private meeting where the two interact only with each other for a period of time, where an informal, private, and perhaps affectionate relationship may develop. When one is committed to a loving, caring relationship with another, they don't challenge their partners trust -- they go out of their way to reinforce and solidify that trust. You can't do that by meeting a "friend" of the opposite sex in Starbucks for a discussion of world events. If I were married, I would find no need to do any such thing, and my wife would be expected to respect that and refrain from doing so herself.

Each and every time a married person cheats on their spouse, it is because the opportunity to do so was created, usually with the original intent being completely innocent. I believe that a spouse or committed partner must conscientiously and deliberately avoid such occasions, out of respect for the relationship, and as a way of placing the trust they want their partner to have in them into practical, viable reality.

> At least according to you and the God Squad.

I don't know what God has to do with this, because I'd feel the same way even if I were an atheist, which I am not!

73 de Larry, K3LT

2700. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:16 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213916.10701.00003825@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25694

In article <3C05DB21.61170D4A@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
<wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:

>Larry, how did that job interview go?
>
>73s, Bob

Bob:

Thanks for asking. I thought it went pretty well. However, right now, I'm having some serious second thoughts as to whether I want to give up my present job. I've just decided that I like it -- and that it has a lot of advantages over going back into a cubicle. But, there's other things to consider, and if offered the position, I'll probably take it. I won't hear anything for at least another week -- I'll keep you posted.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2701. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:16 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213916.10701.00003826@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25695

In article <3C05DD59.77BCBA53@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
<wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:

>> >Kim -- if your callsign were W5PSY, we wouldn't be having this discussion!
>>
>> Apparently Larry likes PSY but not TIT.
>>
>>
>
>Maybe Larry is a leg man.
>

Ok, everyone, I'll byte -- what's the big deal with a callsign like W5PSY?
I've taken several courses that had that callsign suffix as the prefix to the course number. As far as I'm concerned, it stands for "Psychology" or any other derivative of that word; and is not in any way controversial as a ham radio callsign suffix. Like I said, if that were Kim's callsign, we wouldn't be having this discussion! (At least I wouldn't!) Sooo -- where's the beef? (Apologies to Dave Thomas.)

73 de Larry, K3LT

2702. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:16 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213916.10701.00003824@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25696

In article <3C05DAC2.5C28F11B@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
<wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:

>> The FCC is not in the business of making value judgments on the >> callsigns people select for themselves. Being a government agency, >> they are legally constrained against doing so. An individual amateur's >> Vanity call sign is strictly their choice; and the negative effect it has
>> on their image, and the image of the ARS, is strictly their >> responsibility. Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that point.
>>
>
>Think I can get the call "Whiskey Two Foxtrot Uniform Kilowatt"?
>Somehow I doubt it. Not that I'd want it......

Bob:

I believe that similar calls have already been issued, both sequentially and under the Vanity Call Sign program. The fact that you wouldn't want it only reflects the fact that you have good taste and mature judgment -- something apparently lacking in Kim Walker, W5TIT.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2703. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:39:17 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011129213917.10701.00003827@nso-mv.aol.com>
Source record: 25700

In article <ff37aa44.0111290731.2bee49ba@posting.google.com>, uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org (Sean G Gilley) writes:

>
>At first I thought you were in this discussion because you really believed >that her sign was bad for the ARS. I believed that. It's become clear >from your writings that while that may have been a part of it, it's really >much more simple than that. Kim has a callsign you don't like. It offends >you. You want it taken from her because of that. The ARS doesn't figure >into it much, if at all. She's doing something you don't like, and being >the person you are, you want to force your beliefs upon her and get her >to get rid of the callsign.
>
>I'll fight for you to be able to have, speak, and write your beliefs, even >though I find them apalling. You argue against others being able to do >the same. Your desire to control others' freedoms is what brings us close >to extinction. Not a stupid callsign.
>
>Sean.

Sean:

I've endured several messages worth of your immature, misguided
rantings, now I must reply.

I have absolutely no desire to "control" Kim's actions. All throughout my past and present discussions on that subject in this newsgroup,
I have made it clear that Kim is the only person who can act to make a change, and the choice whether or not to do so is entirely hers to make. I have no way to "control" Kim's actions other than to point out the potentially harmful effects her callsign, which reflects very poor taste and judgment on her part.

This is entirely about the effect of Kim's tasteless choice in a callsign upon the image of the ARS. For at least the last decade of the debate on code testing as a licensing requirement, I've had the concept of the family-oriented nature of the ARS shoved down my throat, to the point where I've become convinced. Therefore, Kim's choice of a sexually-provocative callsign, which is demeaning not only to female hams, but all women in general, obviously violates this principle. I am merely exercising my right to state my objections to her callsign. How she acts as a result is entirely her decision, and her responsibility. If she hadn't chosen a controversial Vanity call sign, this wouldn't be an issue in the first place.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2704. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:49:09 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06f2cc_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25751

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C04651B.53E50C59@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C0319DC.4EA73CD4@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > > I know of no woman who refers to her tops as > > > > breasts or mammaries. We all call them tits. We call all you guys' > > > > thangs dicks.
> > >
> > > > Tits serve two purposes. They can nurse babies or men, or woman if > > > > the owner of the tits is prone to that persuasion. We have to cover > > > > our tits and you men have to cover your dicks.
> > >
> > > > I call my tits tits and always have. I call my, well....never mind.
> >
> > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > >
> > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > >
> > > ...and that's just part of the reason I refer to the woman as Tugboat > > > Annie.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> > > * The view expressed is my personal opinion.
> >
> > Then consider that most women are tacky and lack class and decorum.
Forgive > > me for no desire to live up to either of the latter.
>
> That is not the conclusion I draw at all. I don't know many women who > would verbalize or write the type of thing you've written here. My > comment wasn't directed at "other" women. It is written about your > actions. My wife, mother, sister, next door neighbor, girl across the > road don't speak like that. I consider it coarse and vulgar. I can see > material like yours written on restroom walls at service stations. I > don't much care for it there either.
>
> Dave K8MN

I am of the female persuasion, Dave. Have been all my life. Are you going to tell me that you are more experienced at being a woman than I am? I have been in the Dressing Rooms with women, the locker rooms with women, the restrooms with women, and so it goes. I am here to tell you that, yes there are women who are as you perceive your wife, mother, sister, next door neighbor, etc. I am also here to tell you that you'd be quite, quite surprised at the behaviors of many women you think you know, when in the company of women only. I choose to be real wherever I am.

I also choose that people like you, who are besmirched by behaviors like mine are as unimportant to me as I am to you. So, we are even, and we both understand each other.

Kim W5TIT

2705. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:52:06 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06f37c$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25752

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
>
> Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk like > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't hang > with the same type crowd.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't know why you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's for sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more comfortably than you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what gives me the ability to be more flexible than you?

Kim W5TIT

2706. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:54:22 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06f404_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25754

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C046687.3F5C3C56@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C03AEB0.80A5178E@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > >
> > > > > Uhhhhhh Dave, W5PSY was issued by the FCC to Mr. Olsen > > > > > of Duncanville, TX.
> > > >
> > > > Uhhhhh Cecil, I was referring to Kim's post, not Mr. Olsen's call.
> > > > I don't believe Mr. Olson has the anatomical parts to reference in the > > > > manner Tugboat did.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > And, I submit that you are the one with the mind who deciphered my > > > message--all with nothing but mere inuendo from me. Who is it, exactly, > > > with no class?
> >
> > Right, Kim. You not only provided the call, you provided the innuendo.
> > I'll bet Mr. Olsen doesn't do that with his call. You did the same in > > the selection of your vanity call.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >

Once again, is there an echo online? I think I state above that I provided the innuendo. It is you, apparently, that picked up on it, Dave. Did you pick up on it for the sheer misery of it, or did you enjoy it just a little?
Surely, you don't relish misery, do you?

Kim W5TIT
```

2707. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:57:35 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C06F59F.50F317D5@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25753

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

> In article <3C048E82.53584256@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
> <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:
>
> >> You say your mother wouldn't agree with me. Let me ask you -- is > >> she still married to your father?
> >>
> >>
> > >
> > >"Your mama, she had sex with her husband before you were born!"
> > >:-)
> > >
>
> As a matter of fact, she did! How did you know?
>

Just a guess that you were the proper product of a legal marriage. :-)

2708. Re: Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 02:59:26 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C06F60D.C6907FAA@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25755

JAMES HAMPTON wrote:

> Well, I'll try and keep in touch when I'm back on the air. Passed the 20 > WPM without a problem - although I'd be in deep do-do at 30. Well, make > that would have been. I wrote a couple of programs that send and receive > morse and had to debug them (quite a bit at that) and didn't want to spend > forever at 20. After it is working, one tends to let it send long text > messages (old basic programs - try that, complete with all kinds of > punctuation and line numbers!) just to listen to the thing. Amazing what a > couple of hours at 40 plus can do for your receiving capability (yes, I had > to follow along - for a while)..

How about running the contents of this newsgroup thru that program. :-)

2709. Re: Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:12:28 UTC
From: hdr@gro.gulas
Message-ID: <3c06f44e.20504166@news.chcksw1.al.home.com>
Source record: 25756

On 29 Nov 2001 04:54:01 GMT, Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:

>If I was interested in becoming a ham radio operator,this NG would turn me >off from the idea real quick.
>
>This is the second or third time I've lurked here,and maybe the last.
>
>What a bunch of baby's.

Well, it hasn't put me off; and, if you are entertaining even the most occasional thoughts of becoming a ham, I'd encourage you to shrug off the abuses of this group as well. From what I've seen, rec.radio.amateur.policy is a lot like comp.os.linux.advocacy -- where the overly-opinionated come to shoot their mouths off. And like the comp.os.linux.* hierarchy, there is much useful information outside the "advocacy" group. The only reason I stay subscribed to .policy is for the occasional good laugh.

If the hams I know personally are any indication, the hobby attracts more than its share of intelligent, genuinely nice people. As for the loonies... well, r.r.a.p makes a nice catch-bin for them. :)

--
Russell rdh at salug dot org

2710. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:29:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06fc54_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25757

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011128204101.08355.00003715@nso-mq.aol.com...
> In article <3c0300ce_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >Larry:
> >
> >The word tit is not offensive to scores of women I know, and I probably have > >known far more than you. I know of no woman who refers to her tops as > >breasts or mammaries. We all call them tits. We call all you guys' thangs > >dicks.
>
> Tugboat Annie:
>
> I'm sure that you and your fellow broads down at the trailer park > use all the standard vulgarities. How charming!
>

Uh, Larry, you likin' Dave's nickname for me? Can't you come up with something more original? I don't live in a trailer park. I live in a trailer on 5 acres of land, married to a wonderful man, have a great job that I cherish going to every day, have two dogs, and a bird. That's a start. What you got there, big fella? I know you don't have a wife. Can you even interest a dog?

> >> This term is used when one > >> intends to deliberately demean and depersonalize a woman through > >> the reference to secondary sexual characteristics which the viewer > >> finds attractive, in exception to or exclusion of all of the other > >personal > >> qualities she possesses as a woman, and as a human being.
> >>
> >
> >Where do you come up with your Puritan crap? No wonder you think the word > >tit (which, by the way is not my callsign, my callsign is W5TIT, > >phonetically Whiskey Five Tango India Tango) is offensive!
>
> Your callsign spells out the word "tit," which is a vulgar slang expression
> referring to a woman's breasts, specifically, your own. You chose this > Vanity call sign with and for the specific purpose of calling attention to > your own breasts, which you obviously consider to be particularly > noteworthy for some reason. You did this in order to evoke purient > interest in male hams, thus hopefully giving you some sort of power > over them, and increasing the amount of attention you receive from > them. You had no other purpose in mind when you choose this call > sign.

>
> >Could you please
> >'splain to me what "secondary sexual characteristics" tits can have?
Tits > >serve two purposes. They can nurse babies or men, or woman if the owner of > >the tits is prone to that persuasion. We have to cover our tits and you men > >have to cover your dicks. Know why? They "mean" sex to many people. I > >know of no primary purpose for tits other than nursing and sex. So, if > >there's no primary, what is your definition of a "secondary sexual > >characteristic"?
>
> A secondary sexual characteristic is one which is not directly involved > in the physical act of reproduction. They are physical characteristics > related to the physical differences characteristic of the sex of the person > who possesses them. In women, this would include wider hips, larger > breasts, a softer, more fair complexion, and other secondary traits > not directly related to the creation of a child. In men it involves > attributes such as stronger muscle tone, facial hair, a deeper voice, > etc. Our "secondary" sexual characteristics are those which reveal > the more outward aspect of our sexual identity, and which are the > basis of our attractiveness to the opposite sex.
>
> >> Most > >> modern women are personally offended by those who judge and value > >> her primarily for the size, shape, and general attractiveness of her > >> breasts.
> >>
> >
> >Uh, Larry. What the Hell would you know about a modern woman?
Puhleeze.
>
> Apparently, a lot more than you do, "Annie."
>
> >You're still looking for some virgin who believes that her man should tell > >her how to live!
>
> Not hardly.
>

Then, where is the wife? Eh? Where's the nice home? Eh? Where's the big job with the big money, eh? Where's all the things you yourself idolize, but just can't get a grip on?

> >> Men who do this are quite rightly criticized for this, yet you > >> not only deliberately encourage such behavior, you actively solicit it > >> through your selection of a callsign.
> >>
> >
> >And I think whomever criticizes a man or woman for calling a spade a spade > >or a tit a tit is looking for far more attention than I have time to give!
> >I am not soliciting a damned thing from anyone, Larry. I call my tits > >tits and always have. I call my, well....never mind. Just be glad I don't > >have the callsign W5PSY.
>
> Kim -- if your callsign were W5PSY, we wouldn't be having this discussion!
>
> >> In so doing, you not only bring > >> the ARS ".one step closer to extinction," you also set back all the > >> societal gains made by women in the last century, and bring about a > >> return to their objectification as mere sexual playthings. Is that > >> really how you see yourself?
>
> >Nope. I don't see myself that way, Larry. Only people like you are capable > >of such arrogance. I don't think I have the slightest bit of power you > >relay to me. We women are mere playthings, always have been and always
will > >be. That's why we are so darned good at everything else we do. We do it > >well and we can still come home and "take care" of our man. But, now > >we're on a subject to which you cannot relate, and is so far beyond your > >reach that you have to dream up ways to have power over women. Ha!
>
> Kim -- having "power" over women is not, and never has been, a personal > goal of mine. I prefer women I can relate to as equals, without having > to engage in any tiresome "power struggle" with them. It is YOU who > seek the "power" you can derive from the attention-getter call sign you > have chosen -- and for you to claim anything else is an obvious lie.
> However, your lack of integrity is well known in this newsgroup, and > probably everywhere else.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

You aren't looking for an equal, Larry. You have none.

Kim W5TIT

2711. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:33:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06fd1a_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25758

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:9u4cfm$16o$1@208.206.142.101...
>
>
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message > > news:9u1hi7$i5b$0@208.207.71.131...
> > > > Yet, you don't think it's right for a word meaning "breasts" to be > > viewed by > > > > the rest of the world via an amateur callsign. What a hypocrite!
> > >
> > >
> > > "Tits" is and has long been considered a vulgar expression. Breasts is
> > > not.
> > > What an idiot!
> >
> > It's only vulgar if you allow it to be so.
>
>
> Kindly inform us as to how to prevent it, when ladies or children are > present who instinctively view it as such.

It is not instinctive behavior at all, Dick. It is learned.

Kim W5TIT

2712. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:34:04 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06fd53_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25759

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011128232944.08355.00003721@nso-mq.aol.com...
> In article <3C050645.1E92F970@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> In fact, the majority would seem to support Kim.
> >
> >That should tell you something, Larry.
>
> Cecil:
>
> Just something I already knew -- that low personal standards are > the norm these days. Nothing new here. I just don't go along with > the crowd -- I'm truly my own person.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Is that what that's called...!!?? LOL

Kim W5TIT

2713. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:36:40 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06fdf1$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25760

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:9u4duo$6hh$0@208.206.142.101...
>
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> >
> > Either it is strictly her business (as your statement makes > > it clear that it is) or it is not.
>
>
> When her choice negatively imnpacts the ARS that makes it MY business,
> too.
> I'm nor surprised you fail to notice that.
>

Prove your position that it negatively impacts the ARS, Dick. Prove it.
Should be simple enough, especially given the magnitude of the situation as you describe it.

>
> If it is, then what possible > > justification do you, Dick, and Dave have for taking her to task for > > her choice? If, on the other hand, it is NOT her choice, then it is > > the FCC, not you, Dick, and Dave, that is responsible for affecting > > that decision. In no case, however, is it the business of others to > > tell her (beyond a single statement of personal opinion) to change her > > call or that she is "damaging the ARS" by maintaining it.
>
>
>
> Make no mistake, I never expected to change her mind, if she has one.
> If she had sense enough to change her mind, she would never have chosen
> it in the first place.

You just can't handle a challenge from a woman.

Kim W5TIT

2714. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:38:22 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06fe56_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25762

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:9u4eiu$88d$0@208.206.142.101...
>
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 19:15:01 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >Rick comes across like a '60s radical with a real job but unchanged > > >political views.
> >
> > Thank you--that's the first half-way accurate portrayal of my > > values I've seen you make.
> >
> > I _am_ a sixties radical--I was a freedom rider (and spent > > time in Southern jails for my civil rights activities), a staunch > > supporter of women's rights, gay rights, and human rights in general, > > an antiwar activist and member of Vietnam Veterans against the War, > > the Vietnam Day Committee, and other such organizations, and I'm a > > life long opponent of domestic violence, child abuse (I was a severely > > abused child personally, and left home on my 13th birthday to avoid > > further broken bones and burns--I've lived on my own ever since), and > > censorship.
> >
> > If you find those offensive "credentials"
>
>
>
>
> What I find is that you are just as full of bullshit as Cecil, and > that, Sir is a real load. Never thought it possible but you may be even > more loaded than Cecil.
> Maybe all your "credentials" are truth. maybe not. I find you to be the > poster boy for all that is wrong with higher education, a phenomena that > I found well begun when I was a college student in the late 60's and > early 70's. You will have it your way, just as soon as you can figure > out just what way that is, and for damn sure it will be contrary to > convention and all that is good and tried and true, real, and valuable > to society of free,preogerssive individuals. You freaks would instill > and install every craven, aberrant, undesirable and destructive behavior
> and vice imaginable under the banner of "personal freedom" with total > disregard for any hint of personal responsibility. In short, you suck > and are sick.

Man, I can't believe all these people that claim to be so much smarter and worthy than others they consider "dumbed down." Yet, here they are admitting that they were educated in such a shitty system. Whew...

Kim W5TIT

2715. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:39:23 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c06feaa_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25763

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C05BF60.FCF246DE@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > I made my comment, and that would have been the end of it > > if not for verbal assaaults by you and Cecil.
>
> This from the person who invariably initiates the > ad hominem attacks.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

But, he's got God on his side, Cecil...'member?

Kim W5TIT

2716. Re: ham radio milita net connection ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:46:03 UTC
From: Emmersom Bigguns <blowme@woody.com>
Message-ID: <%hDN7.81934$z55.9769354@typhoon.neo.rr.com>
Source record: 25761
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

Nice plug for another group of freaks, if only you had worked a plug in for Hal Turner, Llyod would have gave you a free years subscription to the K1MAN newsletter.

EB

"uncle meatballs" <darastafra44@aol.com> wrote in message news:NSAN7.4493$Ao6.530590@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
>
> "Leigh Hanlon" <lthanlon@ameritech.net> wrote in message > news:281120012251545430%lthanlon@ameritech.net...
> >
> > http://www.sierratimes.com/archive/files/nov/28/arjj112801.htm
> >
> From the above URL :
>
> Lancaster, Kentucky -- An automotive technician had his home raided by federal agents Tuesday.
> After the 7-hour action by the Bureau of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms that cost the loss of all > firearms and a computer hard drive, Charlie Puckett vows to fight back. "I will do whatever it > takes to get my firearms back," he said.
>
> ------------ cut ---------------
>
> Was this the same station who would check into and called himself
> "Wolfman Jack" on the Eastern Regional Patriot Militia Net
> without using a valid ham radio callsign on 3.860 mHz Lower sideband ?
>
> Net meets mon, tue, thur, sat nights 3.860 mHz LSB ham radio > at 8:00 PM eastern time. Listen 4 yourself. I thought the Liberty net was bad.
>
> Note: This net IS NOT affiliated with the Motley-Crew net that meets late on at the same > frequency - no connection!
>
> Did the ATF got there before Hollingsworth did....?
>
>
>
>

2717. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:52:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0701bd_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25764

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011129213916.10701.00003825@nso-mv.aol.com...
> In article <3C05DB21.61170D4A@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey
> <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:
>
> >Larry, how did that job interview go?
> >
> >73s, Bob
>
> Bob:
>
> Thanks for asking. I thought it went pretty well. However, right now, > I'm having some serious second thoughts as to whether I want to give > up my present job. I've just decided that I like it -- and that it has a > lot of advantages over going back into a cubicle. But, there's other > things to consider, and if offered the position, I'll probably take it. I > won't hear anything for at least another week -- I'll keep you posted.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

To use one of your tactics, Larry:

TRANSLATION: He'll probably not be chosen and knows it.

Kim W5TIT

2718. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 03:54:56 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c070237_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25765

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011129213914.10701.00003821@nso-mv.aol.com...
> In article
<7DA18F9749B0FD30.ACC2E8591B765D9E.C41133D55EC5843D@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >
> > Give it up--according to the resident "experts" here the FCC
> >has far more serious problems to consider--like Kim's call sign.
> >You'll just have to wait your turn.
> >
> > Rick
>
> Rick:
>
> I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to > consider. It is her problem to consider!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Larry, Larry, Larry. When ya gonna get this right? My callsing is not my problem! It's yours.

Kim W5TIT

2719. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:00:33 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c070388_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25766

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011129200536.10701.00003803@nso-mv.aol.com...
> In article <3c044b6f_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >
> >Well, since you're asking about the "voice of experience" Larry, and you > >have so much advice and opinion on marrige: are you still married to ... er,
> >OH YEAH, that's right! YOU'RE NOT MARRIED.
> >
> >Kim W5TIT
>
> Kim:
>
> Yes, that's right...I'm not married, and I've never been married. I've > also never been divorced -- like about 75% of the people I know who > are around my age. If and when I meet a woman who grasps a few > simple concepts I believe in -- like total, unconditional loyalty -- the > kind of loyalty which accepts conditions like no private lunch/Starbucks/> etc. meetings with "friends" of the opposite sex -- I would ask her to > marry me!
>

Welp, lemmee give ya a clue: I doubt you'll find one.

>
> I have many "friends" who are married, and I consider > their wives to be my friends as well, but I don't have private meetings > of any sort with them -- not that I haven't had "offers." Whether or > not they respect their marriage vows, I do!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

You make it sound as though an offer to have a meal or visit, Larry, was an offer of sex. Good grief.

Kim W5TIT

2720. Re: Contest idea, work all your own suffix

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:04:44 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0704a7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25767

"Nonya Bidniz" <no_email@all.gov> wrote in message news:ltcg0ugikrjnnl616o08ofqs19fs85t9uu@4ax.com...
> On 29 Nov 2001 04:29:44 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
>
> >What I can't figure out is why my old General call -- N3CRA -- hasn't been > >snapped up!
>
> Either:
>
> 1. With the example of hams you set, there's nobody getting new > licenses to snap up the old call.
>
> OR:
>
> 2. Everybody knows whose call it used to be and is afraid they'll be > mistaken for you at a hamfest and shot to death.
>
> OR:
>
> 3. Both.
>

Uncalled for. Referring to someone being "shot to death" in a casual manner is offensive and vulgar. Uncalled for...absolutely.

Kim W5TIT

2721. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:31:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070B8E.D8298958@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25769

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Nobody is attempting to force Kim to change her callsign against > her will. I am attempting to convince her to change her decision > to keep her callsign, and change it on her own accord.

And I gather she is attempting to convince you to go jump in the lake.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2722. Re: ham radio milita net connection ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:32:17 UTC
From: CB Rambone <sdinkensfrsch4@hotmail.com> Message-ID: <lZDN7.5044$Ao6.578640@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 25768
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

Here's a post that was on something called the squrell's communications pages. Looks like these militialoons are also operating in the 10 meter ham band !!

****
From: http://www.frugalsquirrels.com/cgi-bin/ubb/ultimatebb.cgi?ubb=forum&f=13

"The next SENICA Net will be held Sunday December 2, 2001 @ 1600 UTC (11am EST, 9am MST) Primary will be 28.365 + or - 10khz for QRM.
The ALT freq will be 24.940 + or - 10 khz for QRM both USB.
Net Control will be in NC. Hope to hear you on the air! I may or may not be on here before then after tonight so if you will keep this on top of the SC board I really appreciate it.
Thanks & 73! BTW the net will be 99% for sure on 10M...

signed: "Zombieaxe"
****

weird shit eh?

"uncle meatballs" <darastafra44@aol.com> wrote in message news:NSAN7.4593Ao6.5374757@newsread1.prod.itd.wans.net...
>
> "Leigh Hanlon" <lthanlon@ameritech.net> wrote in message > news:2811200122515454 30%lthanlon@ameritech.net...
> >
> > http://www.sierratimes.com/archive/files/nov/28/arjj112801.htm
> >
> From the above URL :
>
> Lancaster, Kentucky -- An automotive technician had his home raided by federal agents Tuesday.
> After the 7-hour action by the Bureau of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms that cost the loss of all > firearms and a computer hard drive, Charlie Puckett vows to fight back. "I will do whatever it > takes to get my firearms back," he said.
>
> ------------ cut ---------------
>
> Was this the same station who would check into and called himself
> "Wolfman Jack" on the Eastern Regional Patriot Militia Net
> without using a valid ham radio callsign on 3.860 mHz Lower sideband ?
>
> Net meets mon, tue, thur, sat nights 3.860 mHz LSB ham radio > at 8:00 PM eastern time. Listen 4 yourself. I thought the Liberty net was bad.

>
> Note: This net IS NOT affiliated with the Motley-Crew net that meets late on at the same > frequency - no connection!
>
> Did the ATF got there before Hollingsworth did....?
>
>
>
>
>

2723. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:36:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070CB1.6A016F6F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25770

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> But, he's got God on his side, Cecil...'member?

He just doesn't realize that God = Jehovah/Yahweh/Allah.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2724. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:40:50 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070DD2.9811879F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25771

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all > > in your mind.
>
> ...and we strongly disagree on the point about the callsign.

The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2725. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:42:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070E46.DC993EC8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25772

Dave Heil wrote:
> What ever happened to your "live and let live" philosophy?

It's still there, Dave, and I'll bet that in the great majority of your daily life, you are also a live and let live person.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2726. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:46:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070F17.943AE888@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25773

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> If and when I meet a woman who grasps a few > simple concepts I believe in -- like total, unconditional loyalty -- the > kind of loyalty which accepts conditions like no private lunch/Starbucks/> etc. meetings with "friends" of the opposite sex -- I would ask her to > marry me!

You're in the wrong country for that, Larry. Slavery was outlawed in this country more than a century ago.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2727. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:49:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C070FD7.973FCAB1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25774

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> That's probably one of the few exceptions I would make. However, > in today's political climate, where women have all the power, any > male manager who had a private, closed-door counselling session > with a female subordinate is an absolute fool!

You are living in the distant past, Larry. Such happens millions of times a day. It's called a one-on-one at Intel.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2728. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 04:52:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0710A0.32262462@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25775

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to > consider. It is her problem to consider!

Kim doesn't seem to have a problem with it. Seems to be your problem, Larry.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2729. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:05:41 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u741o09fq@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25781

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c070388_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > I have many "friends" who are married, and I consider > > their wives to be my friends as well, but I don't have private meetings > > of any sort with them -- not that I haven't had "offers." Whether or > > not they respect their marriage vows, I do!
> >
> > 73 de Larry, K3LT
> >
>
> You make it sound as though an offer to have a meal or visit, Larry, was an > offer of sex. Good grief.

It's probably wishful thinking on his part.

2730. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:12:35 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D81BC74FEF5DE794.445B06648ACAF35C.06B52BC874E150AE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25776

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:23:28 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>We're all hams, Rick. Anything which takes place in amateur radio is our >business. Amateur radio is a public venue. Anything which takes place >in a public venue is our business.

Fair enough.

Since ham radio is a public venue, that means the First Amendment applies to it. Thus, no one has the right to regulate the speech of people on the ham bands.

I'll drop down to rec.radio.cb and let them know that Dave Heil said it's ok for them to freeband in the 10m band, ok?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2731. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:23:47 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <612CFC363E9E59A0.656CA9210B7736F5.69A427005A845239@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25777

On 30 Nov 2001 02:39:14 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote:

>To use your own logic against you, why is defending Kim's >self-indulgent choice of a callsign your "business?" I'm not >questioning your right to do so, as you've questioned mine, I >just want to understand the reason.

Fair question.

My defense of Kim's sign is twofold. (1) It is a response to what I perceive to be a vicious and unprovoked attack on a fellow ham (which, of course, has nothing to do with ham radio as a motive for my action, only standing up for someone who is being attacked personally) and; (2) I seriously question the view that discussions of her call sign in terms of morality ARE legitimate discussion of radio policy in that they must, inevitably, be based on religious values of morality and regardless of how sincere the beliefs of the critic may be, the fact remains that if ham radio IS a public venue, by necessity religion MUST be excluded from it, as the alternative is the use of public resources to promote religion.

We could, in fact, carry that concept further by asking--seriously, btw, not as a troll--if ANY attempt to promote religious values of any nature is appropriate in a Government regulated service, or rather such things as Christian and Jewish nets are, effectively, violations of the First Amendment in exactly the same way such activities would be violations in a public school (a college is different in that it specifically TEACHES about religion, and does not expose children to the teaching--but a college, likewise, is free to teach and discuss topics related to human sexuality and alternative lifestyles as well).

Perhaps such activities ARE reasonable--but if so it would be equally reasonable for a group of Wiccans, Satanists, or Rastafarians (for example) to participate in similar nets and promote their moral and religious values in the same manner as Christians do now (after all, it would be a CLEAR violation of the Constitution if the FCC attempted to restrict the religious topics that could be discussed to those acceptable to Christians and Jews). On the other hand, such discussions could (and would) be far more threatening to a parent of a potential ham than Kim's call sign could possibly be.

Comments?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2732. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:26:34 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <19A455C0471C42D4.E6227F76046D03AD.4ED29ED6775BB512@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25778

On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 23:18:04 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Dave Heil wrote:
>> I come here for amateur radio policy discussion. I don't come here for >> discussions on marijuana smoking, the swinging lifestyle or legalized >> prostitution.
>
>Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?

And why does he discuss such topics as morality and taste
(with respect to Kim's call sign) which likewise have nothing to do with ham radio at all.

If this thread was normally "on topic" his complaint would make sense. But since this is the official "Thread That Wandereth Forever in the Forest of Confusion" it's hardly a valid complaint. It IS, however, a clear indication that he is losing his arguments and thus wants to shut the discussion down while seeming not to be doing so from a position of weakness or defeat.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2733. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:29:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8B927A581047B0EB.FE4D5A732EFAF285.5F78E7ECC617C96D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25779

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:19:15 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> > I come here for amateur radio policy discussion. I don't come here for >> > discussions on marijuana smoking, the swinging lifestyle or legalized >> > prostitution.
>>
>> Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?
>
>Because that's where you and a few other diversionary types invariably >take us. Rick chose to defend Kim's poor judgement in callsign >selection by bringing up marijuana smoking, prostitution and the >swinging lifestyle.

Sorry, Dave, but those topics (dealing with freedom) are at least as appropriate here as your desire to viciously attack a fellow ham over her personal choices.

Don't like the topics? Fine, don't post to them. Don't like my posts? Fine, kill file me or ignore them. Don't want others to discuss them? Tough--get a life.

>Do you have anything related to amateur radio or would you rather to ask >additional questions to which you already have the answer?

Sure.

Have you thought of taking up cb?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2734. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:30:42 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7D3977661A14ECBE.CDFDD429FB84A64D.7E344388A25ABDF0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25780

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 15:13:39 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>The same could be asked of you? Are you bound by some peculiar code to >make reponses which lead the topic astray?

Oh, horrors!

THIS thread is getting off topic?

Oh, dear, what shall we do?

I know.

We'll look for the answer in the Koran. Whoops--that discussion (started by Dick Carroll as I recall) doesn't belong here either, does it?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2735. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:42:10 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C071BFD.7B7B335@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25782

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C06D7E8.1F84496C@earthlink.net...
>
> > But a "sexual libertarian" does not describe a "civil libertarian".
>
> I hear Jefferson was a sexual libertarian, though. Have you heard that?

I've heard it, read it and have seen the living proof interviewed on TV.
He was a civil libertarian except when it came to his own "property".

Dave K8MN

2736. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 05:54:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C071EF0.C57F8302@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25783

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C04651B.53E50C59@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C0319DC.4EA73CD4@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > I know of no woman who refers to her tops as > > > > > breasts or mammaries. We all call them tits. We call all you guys' > > > > > thangs dicks.
> > > > >
> > > > > Tits serve two purposes. They can nurse babies or men, or woman if > > > > > the owner of the tits is prone to that persuasion. We have to cover > > > > > our tits and you men have to cover your dicks.
> > > > >
> > > > > I call my tits tits and always have. I call my, well....never mind.
> > >
> > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > >
> > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > >
> > > > ...and that's just part of the reason I refer to the woman as Tugboat > > > > Annie.
> > > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > * The view expressed is my personal opinion.
> > > >
> > > Then consider that most women are tacky and lack class and decorum.
> Forgive > > > me for no desire to live up to either of the latter.
> >
> > That is not the conclusion I draw at all. I don't know many women who > > would verbalize or write the type of thing you've written here. My > > comment wasn't directed at "other" women. It is written about your > > actions. My wife, mother, sister, next door neighbor, girl across the > > road don't speak like that. I consider it coarse and vulgar. I can see > > material like yours written on restroom walls at service stations. I > > don't much care for it there either.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
```

> I am of the female persuasion, Dave. Have been all my life. Are you going > to tell me that you are more experienced at being a woman than I am? I have > been in the Dressing Rooms with women, the locker rooms with women, the > restrooms with women, and so it goes. I am here to tell you that, yes there > are women who are as you perceive your wife, mother, sister, next door > neighbor, etc. I am also here to tell you that you'd be quite, quite > surprised at the behaviors of many women you think you know, when in the > company of women only. I choose to be real wherever I am.

Just to be certain, I asked my wife. Not only does she not use the language you earlier ascribed to all women and later to most women. She assures me that that she has never heard my mother, my sister, the neighbors or any of her friends use such language in an "all woman" situation.

I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male group. I guess that makes you "real".

> I also choose that people like you, who are besmirched by behaviors like > mine are as unimportant to me as I am to you. So, we are even, and we both > understand each other.

What you do as a radio amateur IS important to me. If my views are unimportant to you, I'm surprised you'd even bother to respond.

Dave K8MN

2737. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:00:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25784

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk like > > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't hang > > with the same type crowd.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
>
> Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't know why > you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's for > sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more comfortably than > you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what gives me > the ability to be more flexible than you?

I don't happen to believe that it is true, Kim. I doubt that you'd feel very comfortable using the language which makes you "real" all the time if you were in the company of people I associate with. I'm certain that you could use shock value to get some attention but I don't think it would be the kind of attention you would appreciate.

This is the first attempt I've seen to portray the tendency use coarse language as some kind of virtue.

Dave K8MN

2738. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:06:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0721B5.8452661E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25785

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C046687.3F5C3C56@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C03AEB0.80A5178E@earthlink.net...
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > > >
> > > > > Uhhhhhh Dave, W5PSY was issued by the FCC to Mr. Olsen > > > > > of Duncanville, TX.
> > > > >
> > > > Uhhhhh Cecil, I was referring to Kim's post, not Mr. Olsen's call.
> > > > I don't believe Mr. Olson has the anatomical parts to reference in the > > > > manner Tugboat did.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > And, I submit that you are the one with the mind who deciphered my > > > message--all with nothing but mere inuendo from me. Who is it, exactly,
> > > with no class?
> > >
> > Right, Kim. You not only provided the call, you provided the innuendo.
> > I'll bet Mr. Olsen doesn't do that with his call. You did the same in > > the selection of your vanity call.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
>
> Once again, is there an echo online? I think I state above that I provided > the innuendo. It is you, apparently, that picked up on it, Dave. Did you > pick up on it for the sheer misery of it, or did you enjoy it just a little?
> Surely, you don't relish misery, do you?

It must be quite difficult for you to understand that I am not a monk nor do I live in a vacuum. Sure, I picked up on it (even though it doesn't spell anything). It didn't make me miserable. I did not enjoy it. I just felt it was as lacking in decorum as your choice of calls.
```

I do feel kind of sorry for you though.

Dave K8MN

2739. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:18:31 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C072481.731E82C0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25786

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all > > > in your mind.
> >
> > ...and we strongly disagree on the point about the callsign.
>
> The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters
> devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value > system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.

The callsign suffix spells a coarse term for a portion of female anatomy. No one has a problem with calls like W6RCA or W5DXP.
Oh--I forgot. You already knew that.

Dave K8MN

2740. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:20:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C072509.966E4410@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25787

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > What ever happened to your "live and let live" philosophy?
>
> It's still there, Dave, and I'll bet that in the great > majority of your daily life, you are also a live and let > live person.

I'll bet I am too.

Dave K8MN

2741. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:25:04 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C072609.2BEEF3E7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25788

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:23:28 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >We're all hams, Rick. Anything which takes place in amateur radio is our > >business. Amateur radio is a public venue. Anything which takes place > >in a public venue is our business.
>
> Fair enough.
>
> Since ham radio is a public venue, that means the First > Amendment applies to it. Thus, no one has the right to regulate the > speech of people on the ham bands.

How is it that you can't add two and two and come up with the correct answer? Better check Part 97 and get back to me later.

> I'll drop down to rec.radio.cb and let them know that Dave
> Heil said it's ok for them to freeband in the 10m band, ok?
>
> Rick

Man, you are oh-for-two tonight. You are the libertarian. Go tell 'em YOU think it is okay if that's what you think. Don't put words in my mouth.

Dave K8MN

2742. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:26:09 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B8E7C27C86DAB362.760BA2DB48423D5A.3224AE38B417E727@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25789

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:22:19 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> You kids were not just exposed to the "real world," Rick. They were >exposed to your views (your concepts of the "real world") as well. So, >lets ask you the same question. Did your kids have the opportunity to >consent before you started filling them with your political views or >with your brainwashing about religion?

Yup!

My son (only child) was ENCOURAGED to read the religious writings of various religions, Christian, Islamic, and Buddhist among them and to make his own decisions. Until he was a teenager I _never_ presented my views of Christianity in his presence--that would have biased him unfairly and I wanted him to make his own choices when he was a teenager. For the record, he is an atheist, choosing NEITHER Christianity OR Buddhism for himself. He has, however, read the Christian Bible, the Koran, and the major Buddhist works.

As far as politics go, I have no doubt that he was strongly exposed to my political views--on the other hand he was likewise exposed to the political views of others in our neighborhood as well--and we live in an almost exclusively Republican area (Jackson, MI, our nearest city, is the founding place of the Republican Party and actually has a MONUMENT to it in the park where it was founded). In addition, he has been active on the Internet since childhood and has, since he started college at 14, participated in a wide range of discussion groups (he doesn't care for the Usenet--too much spam--and prefers Web Boards and forums instead). In those groups he is exposed to a broad range of political views (including those of people in other nations) and has formed his own political values that, while similar to my own in terms of support for rights, differs significantly on the issues of social programs and the economy.

I practice what I preach.

>Why is it harmful to for a >Christian to teach his children about his views, but not harmful to >you do to the same with your views?

If I insisted that my child attend religious services, accept my personal moral values as the only correct ones, and that he accept the teachings of my--or anyone else's--religion on faith instead of demanding scientific proof, it would be just as harmful. But since I did none of those things, it obviously wasn't.

One key point--I limit my claims to those supported by scientific evidence when it comes to providing my son information. If I express an opinion or belief, I make it very clear that it IS my opinion, not a statement of fact (exactly as I do in a classroom if I express an opinion), and that he is as free to question my beliefs as he is to question anyone else's--and he knows I MEAN that. If Christians would limit themselves to the same guidelines, I would see nothing wrong with what they do--but the fact of the matter is, they don't! Instead, they inform their children that Christian tenets represent facts, not opinions or beliefs unsubstantiated by science and lacking in any objective proof. That, to me, is dishonest at best and destructive to their children at worst.

>I'm not here to defend >Christianity. I'm simply pointing out your obvious double standard.

I don't have a double standard. I practice what I preach.

>> You have the right to tell _me_
>> to shut up as well. The libertarian
>> idea of freedom includes free speech,
>> including the right to express your >> views--and if that view is that the >> person you are communicating with >> should "shut up" then you have every >> right to express it, just not to >> enforce it.
>
> The libertarian agenda don't even make sense. Since you seem >knowledgeable about Libertarians, perhaps you can answer a question >that remains unanswered after ten years of asking - what exactly would >change if Libertarians were in power?

While I could answer some of the basic points of that, the fact remains that as a libertarian (which refers to a political philosophy, not a political party) rather than a Libertarian (the party) I don't know the Libertarian party platform well enough to intelligently present it. I _do_ know that they support the elimination of consensual crime legislation (with which I agree--providing protection for children is insured), a major reduction in the ways in which the government is permitted to violate our privacy (with which I likewise agree) the elimination of social service, social security, and other transfer payment programs (with which I disagree strongly--although I DO believe our social service programs need a very strong reworking to provide more help where it is legitimately needed and cut off funding to those who are looking for a free ride), and the elimination of income taxes (which, although I would obviously love to see it happen, simply isn't realistic from my perspective). I also know they oppose socialized medicine (which, on the basis of universal health insurance--but NOT government paid physicians--I happen to believe is badly needed in the US), foreign aid (a view I support only if it is used to support dictatorial regimes or those in which human rights violations are common), and term limits (a view I agree with completely--term limits are not in the best interest of the public, from my perspective, they serve only to force potentially very valuable and experienced legislators with new, relatively inexperienced, ones).

The person to ask about the Libertarian Party is Cecil, who IS a Libertarian (to my understanding) and can far better answer your questions.

>The usual response is the >libertarian concept of freedom - everything would be legal as long as >it doesn't harm another.

A position I agree with completely.

>Of course, this argument almost always >centers on the illegal drug issue (libertarians do love those drugs).

It isn't a "Love of drugs," and I think you know that as well as I do. The drug war is simply the most outrageous example of a total disregard for personal freedom of choice a libertarian OR a Libertarian can raise. Ask yourself, is there ANY sane reason we should be spending sixty BILLION dollars to make war on our own citizens simply because we have arbitrarily chosen to define one set of drugs as illegal and another MORE harmful set of drugs (nicotine, caffine--which is more physically harmful than either powder cocaine OR heroin [ask your pharmacist if you doubt it], and of course alcohol which kills more people in one year than have died from all illegal drugs combined in history) as legal? To me the concept that we can (and DO) send a person to prison for the rest of his life for growing a couple (2-4) marijuana plants in his basement or closet for his personal use (and that's ALL that few plants would yield) while giving a drunk driver who has endangered the lives of his neighbors a slap on the wrist fine. THAT is idiotic from any rational perspective.

EVERY President since Johnson (Nixon included) has privately admitted that moderate use of marijuana or other soft drugs is no more harmful or destructive to society than is social drinking--and several (Nixon, Ford, Carter, Clinton, and Both Bushes) have USED recreational drugs (not surprising--according to the DEA over 70% of all US citizens over the age of 18 have done so as well). Yet not a single politician has had the courage to openly argue for the abolition of our current prohibition. Libertarians (both kinds) view the drug war in the same vein we all now view prohibition, as unenforceable, unwinnable, and destined only to fill our prisons and create enormous profits for criminals--as, of course, occurred during our original experiment with alcohol prohibition early in the 20th Century.

In a like vein, libertarians (and Libertarians) believe that other consensual crimes (prostitution, gambling, pornography, etc.) so long as they involve only consenting adults are not the concern of government and should not be regulated (some of us--myself included--would like to see prostitution legalized on the European model so it could be restricted to certain areas only--thus keeping it out of our neighborhoods--and so that the working women would be both safe from violence [and thus not dependent on a pimp for protection] and subject to regular health checks which would reduce the likelihood of STDs being spread.

More than anything else, we do NOT believe the government is the proper guardian of our morality. Take a look at our politicians--do YOU want them making decisions dealing with morality?

>Of course, I always respond to that with the argument that current >drug laws were passed exactly because the majority believes illegal >drugs do harm others.

Actually, that isn't accurate.

Surveys make it pretty clear that US citizens believe marijuana should be legal for adults, and that the drug war should end. When the drug laws were passed they were NOT subject to a public referendum, but were passed in large part at the instigation of a single official--Henry Anslinger--who was trying to prevent his job as the head of drug enforcement in the US from being eliminated by congress. Read the history of the drug war (you don't need to rely on the liberal or libertarian presentations--most law schools will have excellent histories that contain precisely the same information) and you will DEFINITELY change your opinion as to why our drug laws exist.

>Therefore, unless the libertarians intend to go >against the will of the majority and legalize illegal drugs anyway, >absolutely nothing would change concerning those laws.

You talk about the will of the majority--yet even where the majority have made it clear that they DO want drugs to be legal, the Federal Government refuses to accept their votes as valid. In several states, for example, the public voted for laws that make the use of medical marijuana legal. Yet the US Government, ignoring those laws, has continued to prosecute people who are exempted from prosecution by the laws enacted by the people.

Most libertarians (small "l") feel that the choice to ban or permit drug use belongs to the community not to the federal government. If, for example, Texas chooses to ban marijuana and Nevada chooses to legalize it (it WOULD increase the tourist trade), a libertarian does not see any legitimacy in the federal government attempting to prevent that decision. No libertarian would agree that a local community had the right to limit your personal behavior (even drug use) in the privacy of your home--but most libertarians WOULD agree that the local community has the right to prohibit the sales, manufacturer, or public use of drugs (including, btw, alcohol and nicotine).

>And the same >could be said for most other laws in this country.

Not at all. No libertarian would consider it unreasonable that laws which can be shown to protect people from harm by others should exist. We simply don't accept the right of the government--ANY government--to "Protect us from ourselves." I don't need to be protected from myself, only from others. If I make a bad decision, I, not society, am the one who must suffer the consequences. Therefore, only I have the right to MAKE that decision with respect to my personal life.

>So, if nothing >would change under the libertarians, why would one even consider >supporting that group?

Quite a bit would change. For a view of the political platform, however, you need to be asking Cecil, not me.

> In fact, at this point, libertarians do seem like a strange group.
>They don't seem able to comprehend that their views are way out of the >mainstream of American politics. They've been around for many decades, >yet still have almost no membership (far less then one percent of the >population), nor have they ever receive even close to one percent of >the vote in a national election. In the end, it seems these people are >still trying to ride a horse that died a long time ago.

Again, you are confusing the philosophy of libertarianism (on which, btw, the US was founded) with the Libertarian party. As I mentioned elsewhere, that's very similar to confusing a person who believes in democracy with a Democrat. The meanings are very different, even if many of the values are shared by both. Since I've never claimed to be a Libertarian (although I have voted for a number of Libertarian candidates--I vote the person not the ticket), my entire discussion has been focused on the philosophical perspective, not the political party one.

Hope that answers your question--I'm sure Cecil will be glad to present the Libertarian take on the question as well--which may well differ from my own in many areas.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2743. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:28:05 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8CFBA291D2079A96.E03CE34A4F1BF42B.A66B496CCCCA2469@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25790

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:26:39 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>You're on record pace, Radical Rick--two "Hitler" references within an >hour!

Can't help it--the similarity is just too strong to resist.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2744. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:29:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <86C786CB18388C7D.E4FCFD0C28AACCD0.CC70738A35715359@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25791

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 00:06:18 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Not really. A "civil libertarian" would be someone like >Jefferson who believes in "civil liberties". What other >kinds of liberties are there?

Shame on you Cecil. You should know the answer to that. Look at the "liberties" Dick Carroll takes with facts.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2745. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:31:02 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <26B768D9CDBEE79E.5542EFD7BDA16B30.B11544EDE07801C4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25792

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:34:12 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>An example would be Radical Rick as sexual libertarian.

You're half right, Dave.

I'm not a radical--that's a left wing extremist (i.e., a communist).

I'll accept the sexual libertarian designation, however, so long as you include civil libertarian, religious libertarian, and other forms of libertarian as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2746. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:34:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C072847.D1C4C17D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25793

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 23:18:04 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> wrote:
>
> >Dave Heil wrote:
> >> I come here for amateur radio policy discussion. I don't come here for > >> discussions on marijuana smoking, the swinging lifestyle or legalized > >> prostitution.
> >
> >Then why do you spend so much of your time posting on those subjects?
>
> And why does he discuss such topics as morality and taste
> (with respect to Kim's call sign) which likewise have nothing to do > with ham radio at all.

Why are you asking Cecil? We don't have a telepathic link between us.
Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
Your views on sexuality left the ham radio highway in a squeal of brakes.

> If this thread was normally "on topic" his complaint would > make sense. But since this is the official "Thread That Wandereth > Forever in the Forest of Confusion" it's hardly a valid complaint. It > IS, however, a clear indication that he is losing his arguments and > thus wants to shut the discussion down while seeming not to be doing > so from a position of weakness or defeat.

You are one of two individuals who did the most to take the thread away from an amateur radio topic toward your gripes about your suppressed freedoms. Which arguments am I supposed to be losing--the ones about "freer Finland", your profession of libertarian philsophy vs. your non-libertarian actions or the one about suppressed sexual "freedoms" in the U.S.?

Dave K8MN

2747. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:35:09 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <00D5FBBEAC15A147.F731E275132E20E2.0A418F77DFB1DD05@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25794

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 06:04:25 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I'm a Republican but I strongly support the views of Harry Truman on >many issues. Did Jefferson ever refer to himself as a libertarian (no >adjective)?

Several times--as did Ben Franklin and many of the other founding fathers. They were VERY supportive of John Locke's philosophy--which Locke himself defined as libertarian.

Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at
Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state dinner by a sitting President) so what did THEY know? After all, under the current law in the US, given that number of plants, George Washington would have been executed by the Federal Government.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2748. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:39:25 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C85A46CED038713A.B48092AD7C4BD6F2.473361C380E348FA@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25795

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:36:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.

Yum, yum, let's eat mud pies.

Sounds pretty disgusting to me!

BTW, ever seen some of the flavors of Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream?

>I'm a >radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue >relating to amateur radio.

No you aren't. You're a radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue involving the private personal decision of a fellow ham--and insulting or offending everyone who doesn't share your view. Would you consider that appropriate behavior on the air? If not then it has no place here, either.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2749. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:40:53 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <9682563A92F986BB.3DC302A165FFAF9C.018B479E9635E2FC@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25796

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 00:57:53 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>What ever happened to your "live and let live" philosophy?

He limits it to human life forms.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2750. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:51:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0FD2DED227008DE7.84F4938B7AFC6508.DD4EAC1A4BE5605E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25797

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 07:10:09 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Dave is not at all like that, Rick. Based on the messages I've read >over the last year or two, Dave seems like a fairly intelligent >person, with viewpoints that often span the entire political spectrum >(from conservative to liberal). In other words, because you're basing >your opinion of him on what he has said about just a couple of issues, >your characterization of him above is not at all accurate. Why don't >you wait until you get to know him a little better before you start >relating him to Hitler (and the other nonsense you said in your message).

Dwight, when I entered this thread (because I honestly felt--and still feel--that what Dick, Larry, Dave, and a few others were doing with respect to Kim was wrong, vicious, cruel, and completely at odds with the very arguments they were making about giving a bad impression of ham radio) I did so politely. I didn't come in calling Dick an idiot, Dave a radical and a fool, or Larry a loser.
I stated a position in opposition to their own that was no more an attack on them personally than is my reply to you right now. What I was greeted with wasn't open and respectful discussion, it was insults, put downs, and innuendos that I has an ulterior (read sexual) motive in defending Kim's choice (which I didn't--and still don't--find offensive).

If I have a bad impression of Dave it's because he has given me that impression in this thread. I can only base an opinion on evidence, and the evidence I've seen is that the people I named above have no desire to discuss this--or any other controversial topic--in a way that demonstrates respect for those who disagree with them. That being the case, I've been quite willing to respond in kind.

I agree that this has become ridiculous--but at the same time
the only reason the thread is continuing is because Larry Roll has specifically insisted that it WILL continue until Kim is forced to change her sign--and his attacks on her integrity and morality are supported by the others I named above.

I'm perfectly willing to let the thread drop and more useful discussions take place--and I believe it would benefit everyone--particularly the potential hams who may be reading it--if that occurred. But it will only occur if that group of people agree to disagree with those of us who don't share their views, and to let the matter drop themselves.

Comments?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2751. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 06:59:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2A61F6573BB5F666.1B7E92A583D1F7EB.F4D24671DE5599D4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25798

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 07:28:32 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> And are you one of those people who "say" you were at Woodstock >also? How many people were locked up in southern jails during the >civil rights period of the late 50's to late 60's? If I remember what >I read years ago in some national magazine correctly, it seems that >number was just under five hundred during that entire decade. If so, >isn't it amazing that we would run into one of those few here in this newsgroup?

Do I "say" I was at Woodstock?

I point myself out in the movie to those who watch it with me.
Yes, Dwight, I was at Woodstock. If you doubt it log into the Jackson Citizen Patriot website (I'm sure you can get the url from any search engine) and search their back issue listings for the 25th Anniversary of the festival. You'll find an article about the Jackson residents who were at Woodstock that includes my name and picture as well as excerpts from an interview the reporter conducted with the four of us who were there.

Why is it amazing that you would run into a sixties civil rights activist here, Dwight? MANY of the people from the sixties were attracted to the Internet in the late seventies (while it was still ARPANet) and in the eighties. Is it so unexpected that some of us are Hams as well? Or that someone who was outspoken about rights almost forty years ago would still be that way and would join a thread such as this one?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2752. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 07:03:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D374FBD4DF91CC44.C39188505EE68B37.BD1631CE02D642E1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25799

On 30 Nov 2001 01:05:34 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>I am merely exercising my right to comment on an issue which concerns >the image of the Amateur Radio Service. As an licensed amateur >radio operator, I have a legitimate concern. Are you saying I have no >right to express my opinion on this matter?

Then I'm sure you won't mind if I exercise the same option and discuss my feelings on an issue (sexism and hypocrisy) which I feel concerns the image of the ARS.

Since I don't choose to do so on the Internet exclusively (as is my right, of course), I'm sure you won't mind if I discuss my impressions of you (along with quotes from your public messages here in this thread) in what I would consider a more suitable venue--such as 20m CW or 80m voice.

Any problem with that?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2753. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 07:08:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <36C0D7FECCBDD42C.ED24960ED45C2E31.98FF9764DA11CF59@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25800

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 12:53:00 GMT, "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote:

>Well.... isn't that discrimination against people (for whatever reason) who >choose or cannot get a credit card???? Seems as it is the only way to get >ANYTHING you might wanna buy online. I refuse to get a credit card......
>legal extortion.

Use a VISA/debit card from your bank instead. Works just as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2754. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 07:13:45 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0111292313.7c01080b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25801

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:<cuvyxnansvbet.gnhg6tb.pminews@or.news.verio.net>...
> On Wed, 28 Nov 2001 02:08:39 +0000 (UTC), K0HB wrote:
>
> [Re: Leasing/renting ham gear.]
>
> >Everything you're suggesting is perfectly legal and above board.
>
> Henry Radio in Los Angeles used to have a policy of "selling" a > piece of used ham gear (traded-in by someone) and returning 90% of > the sale price if the gear was returned within 5 days. They were > fully aware that this was de-facto "rental".
>
> To date this practice, they had lots of Gonset Gooney-Birds for us
> 2-meter guys who needed a portable or mobile rig over a long > weekend. (Late 1950s)
>
>
Gooney BOXES, Benton Harbor LUNCHBOXES . . sheesh awready . .

2755. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 10:14:52 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C075C0C.A5715739@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25802

Krell wrote:
>
> On the contrary, it's actually > doubled activity. The newsgroups
> now gets well over 100 posts a day.
> A month or so ago it was only > getting about 30 to 50. (Unless > you're the type who prefers quality
> over quantity.)

The number of message varies greatly. Go back two or three months, and you'll see numbers similar to today. Whatever the case, I don't think the insults and stuff are responsible for any increased activity at this particular moment.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2756. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 10:21:08 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C075D7E.33536965@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25803

CAM wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
> > yet still have almost no membership > > (far less then one percent of the > > population), nor have they ever > > receive even close to one percent of > > the vote in a national election. In > > the end, it seems these people are > > still trying to ride a horse that > > died a long time ago.
>
> From the Libertarian website: "With > about 300 candidates on the ballot > in November, the LP won about one of > every five races it contested."
> "[November 27] The number of > Libertarians elected to office on > November 6 has jumped to 67, thanks > to a flurry of late-breaking victories."
>
> 67 is a record high, Dwight, for the > Libertarians.

And which "national" elections did those 67 win, Cecil? I don't see how anything you said changed what I said.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2757. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 10:43:12 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0762A4.3E6B090A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25804

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dwight, when I entered this thread > (because I honestly felt--and still > feel--that what Dick, Larry, Dave, > and a few others were doing with > respect to Kim was wrong, vicious, > cruel, and completely at odds with > the very arguments they were making > about giving a bad impression of > ham radio) I did so politely.

See, the problem is that you're getting into a discussion that has been going on for at least a year or so. And, throughout that time, Kim and her supporters have been throwing it back at Larry and his supporters just as hard. So, while you might see it as cruel and vicious, trust me when I say none of them (Larry, Kim, or supporters) are losing even a moment's sleep over it. I was even involved in this once (on Kim's side), but I just don't have the time at this point.

Anyway, by getting into this so late in the game, I feel you've gotten the wrong impression of some of the people in this newsgroup. All of them (Larry, Dick, Dave, Kim, Cecil, and so on) are a lot different than their positions in this single, long fought, battle. Take care, Rick.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2758. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 11:03:47 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C07676E.313FB0EA@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25805

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Why is it amazing that you would > run into a sixties civil rights > activist here, Dwight? MANY of the > people from the sixties were > attracted to the Internet in the > late seventies (while it was still > ARPANet) and in the eighties. Is it > so unexpected that some of us are > Hams as well? Or that someone who > was outspoken about rights almost > forty years ago would still be that > way and would join a thread such > as this one?

Well, since you've been around for some time, you should know the answers very well, Rick. A lot of people today claim they were at Woodstock (far more than the numbers actually there). And a lot of people today are claiming positions, and activities, in the sixties that also don't match the numbers involved. And, since so few people were locked up during the civil rights movement of the sixties, it would be rare to run into one of them anywhere (including this newsgroup).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2759. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 11:11:01 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C07691E.1B11C67C@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25806

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Then I'm sure you won't mind if > I exercise the same option and > discuss my feelings on an issue > (sexism and hypocrisy) which I feel > concerns the image of the ARS.

Rick, in case you haven't noticed lately, this isn't the ARS. This is a newsgroup. What is said here has no more bearing on the ARS than what a liberal says at a dinner party has on any group that liberal might belong to.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2760. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 11:33:07 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C076E43.EF12C578@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25807

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> I don't think it's too much to ask > for a married man or woman to expect > his/her spouse to refrain from > private, intimate meetings with > "friends" of the opposite sex. (snip)

I agree with your entire message, Larry. A lasting relationship with a person is not built on relationships with others of the opposite sex - it is built on two people working together to build trust in their own relationship. Anything that even slightly undermines that trust is obviously harmful to the relationship and should be avoided by both parties. That is not a religious position or a moral position - it is simply common sense.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2761. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 11:53:37 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C07730C.CDB72B2C@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25808

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> You make it sound as though an offer > to have a meal or visit, Larry, was > an offer of sex. Good grief.

That brings up an interesting issue, Kim. Several years ago, a television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person. What do you think, Kim? Can a man truly be friends (not a co-worker, associate, or an aquantance - a friend) with a woman without ever having thoughts about sex? Can a woman? What about your male friends? Can you honestly say they've never had sexual thoughts about you? Can you honestly say that you've never had sexual thoughts about them?

To answer my own question (it's not fair to ask a question like this without being willing to answer it also), I think such a relationship is possible, but it is extremely rare. Most people who have friends of the opposite sex are sexually attracted to them.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2762. Re: Dropping the code.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 12:02:39 UTC
From: Bob - KE4JCD <ke4jcd@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <zzKN7.146436$Yb.37452115@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com>
Source record: 25809

> So argue for harder tests. I guarantee that if code is stopping them, > they won't be upgrading to AE. Not with the current test, at least.
> It's too much work to learn that test. The key is to make the test difficult > enough that it takes effort to pass it. Doesn't matter whether it's > a code test or a written test. If it takes time and effort to pass it, > it's too much work.
>
Yes that's true...

> I listened to most of that last night. What's funny is that you often > couldn't tell the good guys from the bad guys.
>
> All of them were acting that poorly.
>
> Sean.
>

Well that was the point of the clips, to show that even the people on the repeater were the problem. For if they follow what the FCC and ARRL said "Pay no mind to the jammers" or WA8JSC.. Also TURN OFF the repeater if it got out of hand as it did most of the time as you heard... I was not one of them, I just sat back shacking my head.... I then turned the tapes over to the FCC. Soon after, the FCC did get on the repeater owner about it and now the repeater is cleaned up... As for the People that still use it, the FCC can't help there... :)
--

Robert Hartung - KE4JCD
publisher@hartungpress.com

Hartung Press, is a Non-Profit Online Public Affairs Magazine.
http://www.hartungpress.com

KE4JCD Amateur Radio Web Site
http://www.ke4jcd.org

Be Sure To Protect Your Legal Rights, Pre-Paid Legal Service, Inc.
http://www.legalbob.com

"Sean G Gilley" <uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org> wrote in message
news:ff37aa44.0111281232.1ed0aea@posting.google.com...
> "Bob - KE4JCD" <ke4jcd@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:<8yUL7.113107$Yb.28227333@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com>...

> > As you said "I haven't seen such "droves" in my area." Well the CODE
TEST
> > hasn't been dropped yet. People I talk to all say much of the same thing,
> > The CODE is stopping them and when its gone so will HAM RADIO! CBers
will > > come in droves and as I have on my website, BAD HABITS!
>
> So argue for harder tests. I guarantee that if code is stopping them, > they won't be upgrading to AE. Not with the current test, at least.
> It's too much work to learn that test. The key is to make the test difficult > enough that it takes effort to pass it. Doesn't matter whether it's > a code test or a written test. If it takes time and effort to pass it, > it's too much work.
>
> > One page on my site deals with what Amateur radio is slowly becoming,
the
> > new children's band...
> >
> > Here something sweet for your ears...
> > http://www.hartungpress.com/hamradio/crummyhams.htm
>
> I listened to most of that last night. What's funny is that you often > couldn't tell the good guys from the bad guys.
>
> All of them were acting that poorly.
>
> Sean.
>

2763. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:24:20 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <8MLN7.3155$m%.726401@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 25810

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C05C23F.A958378@IEEE.org...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > True. Dogs are usually pretty loyal and accepting (and I'm a > > cat person!).
>
> Did you hear the difference between dogs and cats? A dog looks at his > master and thinks: "This man fulfills all my needs - he must be a god".
> A cat looks at her master and thinks: "This man fulfills all my needs -
> I must be a god."
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

And my stupid cat looks at me as if to say "Get out of here and go to work to pay for the rent on MY place." Thank god she does some cute stuff now and then, otherwise I would sell her to the local chinese buffet place for what they allegedly call "chicken on a stick." (meow)

Ryan

2764. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:33:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078AC5.9E0EFC0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25811

Dave Heil wrote:
> What you do as a radio amateur IS important to me. If my views are > unimportant to you, I'm surprised you'd even bother to respond.

All it takes for the bad guys to win is for the good guys to do nothing.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2765. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:35:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078B24.9D6E7D4D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25812

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote:
> >Well.... isn't that discrimination against people (for whatever reason) who > >choose or cannot get a credit card???? Seems as it is the only way to get > >ANYTHING you might wanna buy online. I refuse to get a credit card......
> >legal extortion.
>
> Use a VISA/debit card from your bank instead. Works just as well.

Except with a debit card, I can't float an interest free loan.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2766. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:42:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078CDC.87A3EBFB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25813

Dave Heil wrote:
> Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.

That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2767. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:47:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078E0A.E80A77ED@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25814

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> And which "national" elections did those 67 win, Cecil? I don't see > how anything you said changed what I said.

You implied that the Libertarian Party is a dead horse while it is in fact more successful than it ever has been before. The Libertarian Party is probably the largest third party in the US.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2768. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:54:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078F7D.2B7EDF08@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25815

Rick Adams wrote:
> Shame on you Cecil. You should know the answer to that. Look > at the "liberties" Dick Carroll takes with facts.

Oh yeah, I forgot about those kinds of "liberties".
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2769. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 13:55:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C078FE9.72E450A1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25816

Rick Adams wrote:
> Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at > Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation > of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of > conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state > dinner by a sitting President) so what did THEY know? After all, under > the current law in the US, given that number of plants, George > Washington would have been executed by the Federal Government.

I've often wondered how something could have been so right back then and so wrong now.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2770. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 14:09:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C079309.95FAB5AA@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25817

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters > > devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value > > system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.
>
> The callsign suffix spells a coarse term for a portion of female > anatomy. No one has a problem with calls like W6RCA or W5DXP.
> Oh--I forgot. You already knew that.

W5TIT doesn't spell anything, Dave. It is just one combination of 175,760 Wnxxx calls. It is your dirty mind struggling hard to find something dirty in all possible random combinations of characters that is the problem. If I set my mind to it, I can find something dirty in your callsign.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2771. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 14:12:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0793CB.2C4AA79C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25818

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> You make it sound as though an offer to have a meal or visit, Larry, was an > offer of sex. Good grief.

That's apparently the way Larry's mind works, Kim. He furnishes the meal so his date furnishes sex.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2772. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 14:17:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0794E8.BEA78E9A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25819

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Most people who have friends of > the opposite sex are sexually attracted to them.

Not true of me, Dwight. For months, I have been dating a lady with absolutely no thought of sex on my mind.
We just enjoy socializing together as a couple.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2773. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 15:14:01 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <ZmNN7.203168$3d2.8836121@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25820

> > "Dave Heil" wrote

> > > But a "sexual libertarian" does not describe a "civil libertarian".

> Richard Plourde wrote:

> > I hear Jefferson was a sexual libertarian, though. Have you heard that?

"Dave Heil" wrote

> I've heard it, read it and have seen the living proof interviewed on TV.

So have I...

> He was a civil libertarian except when it came to his own "property".

That would make him an uncivil libertarian.

Rich

2774. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 15:31:43 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9u88mh02qrj@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25821

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C075C0C.A5715739@sccoast.net...
> The number of message varies greatly. Go back two or three months, > and you'll see numbers similar to today. Whatever the case, I don't > think the insults and stuff are responsible for any increased activity > at this particular moment.

Everyone likes controversy, especially when they have passionate beliefs about things that they're not going to change their minds about. Such beliefs are easy marks for those who don't share the same ideas. When such is the case, insults and ad hominem attacks are bound to happen.

2775. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:00:23 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0111300800.71601dfa@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25822

yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011129213917.10701.00003827@nso-mv.aol.com>...
> I've endured several messages worth of your immature, misguided
> rantings, now I must reply.

Then we're even. I find you immature and misguided as well.

As for enduring, well, I'd much rather you reply. You completely ignored articles where I was a lot more forgiving than I am now.
Guess it takes slightly more anger to get you to say something.

> I have absolutely no desire to "control" Kim's actions. All throughout > my past and present discussions on that subject in this newsgroup,
> I have made it clear that Kim is the only person who can act to make > a change, and the choice whether or not to do so is entirely hers to > make. I have no way to "control" Kim's actions other than to point out > the potentially harmful effects her callsign, which reflects very poor > taste and judgment on her part.

I never said you could control her callsign, I said you wanted to control her callsign. Completely different things.

Let me repeat what I said in an earlier post: If you feel that her callsign is as bad as you seem to feel, then you should be lobbying to change the rules. Kim's callsign is a symptom of something much bigger, and to attempt to torment her is useless. It's obvious she won't voluntarily change her call, so the only way it's going to happen is if the FCC changes its rules. Further, even if she does change her callsign, someone else is likely to have or create another that is just as, or more, offensive to you. It's futile and senseless to rant about Kim's callsign. Lobby the FCC if you feel that strongly. Find others who share your feelings and get them to lobby the FCC.

What you are doing in this group does nothing to promote your cause, and does, in fact, more strongly ally people against you -- possibly for you as well, but I've seen little evidence of that while I see plenty of evidence for the former.

Just what good do you think you are doing? Do you actually think you are implementing change by taunting people and making them angry here?
Do you actually think that rec.radio.amateur.policy will be an instrument of change in the ARS and FCC?

> I am merely > exercising my right to state my objections to her callsign.

Okay. We got it. You don't like her callsign, you don't believe it's family oriented, and you don't believe it's right for amateur radio.

You've stated your objections. And I think you had a perfect right to do so. But you're putting a lot of effect into continually stating those objects, over and over and over. And any worth it might once have had is now gone.

A long time ago I took a two weekend class. Between the two weekends, one of the assignments was not to complain to anyone who can't or won't help solve the problem. That's exactly what you're doing. Kim can't solve the problem, only the FCC can. No one reading or posting on this newsgroup can solve the problem. Only the FCC can.

You want to solve the problem? Get the FCC to change the rules. You aren't ever going to solve the problem here.

> How she > acts as a result is entirely her decision, and her responsibility. If she > hadn't chosen a controversial Vanity call sign, this wouldn't be an issue
> in the first place.

And I simply can't understand why you seem so angry specifically at Kim. Maybe it's because she's posting on this group and is completely uncontrite. Why aren't you as angry about other off-color callsigns? Are you simply not aware of them? They are out there, and there are calls that I'd believe are more offensive that her's.

Go ahead. Explain why you've centered your anger on Kim. Explain to us all what good you are doing here.

Sean.

2776. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:06:40 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0111300806.60a6c079@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25823

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C076E43.EF12C578@sccoast.net>...
> A lasting relationship with > a person is not built on relationships with others of the opposite sex
> - it is built on two people working together to build trust in their > own relationship. Anything that even slightly undermines that trust is > obviously harmful to the relationship and should be avoided by both > parties. That is not a religious position or a moral position - it is > simply common sense.

I basically agree with this.

I simply disagree that my wife having a one on one conversation with another man in a coffeshop is anything that would (or should) even slightly undermine my trust in her.

Adults spend time with other adults, and if I can't trust my wife enough to trust her to spend time alone with another man, then my relationship isn't very good to begin with.

Sean.

2777. Re: Dropping the code.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:18:47 UTC
From: kb9rvb@arrl.net
Message-ID: <77f1797e.0111300818.15adc3a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25824

yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011111104320.12427.00001965@nso-cg.aol.com>...
> I recall having to answer a lot of questions about repeaters when I > took my written exams for Tech, General, Advanced, and Extra. I > also had to answer a lot of questions about SSB, RTTY, and FM.
> Why were these modes being "singled out?"

Not to beat a dead horse, but ... is it possible to miss ALL the questions pertaining to SSB and still pass the test? RTTY? FM? And still pass the test?
That, in itself, makes the code different.

...

> However, without > the code tests, I never would have been able to use the Morse/CW > mode, a mode which has produced over 85% of my HF operating > achievements, and 99.999% of my overall enjoyment of ham radio.

There are two premises and I don't think the second always has a direct connection to the first. Many people use packet exclusively, yet never had to take a test equivalent to the code test to gain 99%
of their enjoyment of ham radio.

Presence of the code test does provide an interesting stimulus. There are probably many who would not be operating CW, had they not had to study it. Some would ask why the same is not true for the other modes.
Were folks required to study packet or SSB operation before using it, might not that serve as the same stimulus to increase the numbers using other modes? Yet, we don't test that way for any mode except CW.

> The difference is, once I lost my childish, self-serving objections to > code testing -- based mainly on an immature fear of failure -- I saw > the code tests as just as useful and necessary as the testing on > any other mode. It's all about having the right attutude.

I never approached the code in that manner. I came to General from Tech with the expressed purpose of using CW as the preferred mode in QRP operation. Had I gone to code only in order to gain HF phone privileges, I think I would've been, at the very least, puzzled by the requirement: Pass a code test to earn phone privileges?

...

> .... Code testing does > reinforce good operating technique, because you are tested in exactly > the same way you operate in CW and a variety of other modes.

I must've missed that part. I recall copying a message in which the sender identified himself, said where he was from, said what equipment he was using, and reported the signal strength of the contact. I don't remember being required to send in CW. I don't remember very much at all about how to adjust the signal, about using "split" VFO's, about RIT or XIT or notch. I don't recall being asked how many CQ's I should send or whether I should send CQ CQ DE KB9RVB CQ over and over again. I don't recall anything at all about whether you should crank up your power to overwhelm everybody else on the frequency -- on the CW test.

Had I finished my ham studies in my teens with many of my friends, I probably would've come in as a Novice w/ 5wpm and gained that operating experience that you refer to. But that methodology wasn't then and isn't now part of the code test. Operations in ham radio probably are the least covered aspect of the service.

Yes, there are rules for operation -- and those are covered in all the study guides and on the tests. But what about the realities? What is the proper procedure for XYZ? What is the impact of ABC? These only come from actually getting out there and stumbling along, asking your "Elmer."

Why is code different?

> 73 de Larry, K3LT

Returning the 73,
Carl KB9RVB

2778. Re: Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:21:11 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9u8b80$to0$1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 25825

"JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:lyyN7.202255$3d2.8747611@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net... > ummm ... I do remember a guy whining about no more CW during a chat on 440 > FM. Fortunately, the repeater owner was on at the same time and, as an old > buddy of mine, always willing to help. We switched to F-2 at about 40.
> Golly, the other guy sure was quiet. Can't understand it.

8-)) what a way to see who is being honest! This isn't the first time I've heard that tactic being used.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

Saw this on a Tee-shirt:

"I am a bomb technician. If you see me running, try to keep up. "

2779. Re: Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:25:53 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9u8bh4tte1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 25826

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message news:20011128234548.635$dF@newsreader.com...
> "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net> wrote:
> >
> > Yeah, you got them P.O. so they let you guys know in the only way that > > would REALLY matter. 8-))
> >
> Same as you pissing off the CBer's Leland.....8-))

They get P.O'ed because that's how they want to feel. Has nothing to do with what I say or do. If they want to get angry they'll find an excuse no matter what.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LDO

--
"Let me add that there are an awful lot of extra class calls playing on the VHF side of things exclusively - just like me.

One of the truly great things about this hobby is that there is so much to do in it, that you should never get bored regardless of your license class."

Don Ross (an extra who has never logged an HF contact)
NL7CO/EM04

2780. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:33:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C07B4E7.D7E3A1B1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25827

Krell wrote:
> Everyone likes controversy, especially when they have passionate beliefs > about things that they're not going to change their minds about. Such > beliefs are easy marks for those who don't share the same ideas. When such > is the case, insults and ad hominem attacks are bound to happen.

And some people enjoy yanking other people's chains. :-)
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

2781. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 16:39:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C07B64F.DCA8766@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25828

Sean G Gilley wrote:
> Adults spend time with other adults, and if I can't trust my wife enough > to trust her to spend time alone with another man, then my relationship > isn't very good to begin with.

And that relationship definitely certainly is NOT based on trust.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

2782. Re: "...one step closer to trash"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:23:37 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <0615cf25296d75ca34bf1feea8bff690.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 25829

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote

>
> This is entirely about the effect of Kim's tasteless choice in a callsign > upon the image of the ARS.
>

Larry,

Most of us have pretty much agreed that Kim's choice of call is trashy.
We've also pretty much agreed that she probably isn't going to change
it. Thus this becomes a dead horse being uselessly beaten, and has the additional negative effect of giving continued free visibility and recognition to Mrs. Walkers piece of tastelessness. Perhaps only W5CAW can influence her to discard the thing.

Meanwhile, you need to speak to the FCC about two of my neighbors, N0OKY and KB0OBS.

73, de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted from mplsapanas05poolc197.mpls.uswest.net [65.103.11.197]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2783. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:25:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C0DC.9D5748E9@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25830

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:26:39 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >You're on record pace, Radical Rick--two "Hitler" references within an > >hour!
>
> Can't help it--the similarity is just too strong to resist.

Make that three.

Dave K8MN

2784. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:30:26 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C1EA.AF64A470@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25831

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:34:12 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >An example would be Radical Rick as sexual libertarian.
>
> You're half right, Dave.
>
> I'm not a radical--that's a left wing extremist (i.e., a > communist).

Gee, not many posts ago you admitted to being a radical. I like the new definition of "radical" you've come up with. All this time I thought that anyone could be a radical over any number of issues.

> I'll accept the sexual libertarian designation, however, so > long as you include civil libertarian, religious libertarian, and > other forms of libertarian as well.

Why should I have to include the others? Many of your perceived supressed "rights" have to do with sex. Maybe you'd like to known as the "Drug libertarian".

2785. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:36:54 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C36D.73300509@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25832

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:36:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.
>
> Yum, yum, let's eat mud pies.
>
> Sounds pretty disgusting to me!
>
> BTW, ever seen some of the flavors of Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream?

You really want to head off on another diversion?

> >I'm a
> >radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue > >relating to amateur radio.
>
> No you aren't. You're a radio amateur posting in an amateur > radio newsgroup about an issue involving the private personal decision > of a fellow ham--and insulting or offending everyone who doesn't share > your view. Would you consider that appropriate behavior on the air? If > not then it has no place here, either.

Your writing of the dismissive "No you aren't" doesn't negate my statement. It looks like you are another of those folks who tries to make the perpetrator look like a victim. Kim isn't a victim. She chose to do what she did and she has outlined, on a number of occasions, why she did it. Now she's taking her lumps for it from those who disapprove.

Dave K8MN

2786. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:43:09 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C4E4.7D27F556@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25833

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 07:28:32 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> > And are you one of those people who "say" you were at Woodstock > >also? How many people were locked up in southern jails during the > >civil rights period of the late 50's to late 60's? If I remember what > >I read years ago in some national magazine correctly, it seems that > >number was just under five hundred during that entire decade. If so, > >isn't it amazing that we would run into one of those few here in this newsgroup?
>
> Do I "say" I was at Woodstock?
>
> I point myself out in the movie to those who watch it with me.
> Yes, Dwight, I was at Woodstock. If you doubt it log into the Jackson > Citizen Patriot website (I'm sure you can get the url from any search > engine) and search their back issue listings for the 25th Anniversary > of the festival. You'll find an article about the Jackson residents > who were at Woodstock that includes my name and picture as well as > excerpts from an interview the reporter conducted with the four of us > who were there.
>
> Why is it amazing that you would run into a sixties civil > rights activist here, Dwight? MANY of the people from the sixties were > attracted to the Internet in the late seventies (while it was still > ARPANet) and in the eighties. Is it so unexpected that some of us are > Hams as well? Or that someone who was outspoken about rights almost > forty years ago would still be that way and would join a thread such > as this one?

...not to mention that you must have been one of the youngest freedom riders ever. You must have been what--seventeen in '63?

Dave K8MN

2787. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:47:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C5F8.C106F9EE@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25834

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > What you do as a radio amateur IS important to me. If my views are > > unimportant to you, I'm surprised you'd even bother to respond.
>
> All it takes for the bad guys to win is for the good guys to > do nothing.

I know. That's why I'm still posting.

Dave K8MN

2788. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:49:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C66B.1B652AAD@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25835

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> > THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
>
> That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?

Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
Good luck on your quest.

Dave K8MN

2789. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:52:44 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C722.6385C6CA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25836

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters
> > > devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value > > > system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.
> > >
> > > The callsign suffix spells a coarse term for a portion of female > > > anatomy. No one has a problem with calls like W6RCA or W5DXP.
> > > Oh--I forgot. You already knew that.
>
> W5TIT doesn't spell anything, Dave. It is just one combination > of 175,760 Wnxxx calls. It is your dirty mind struggling hard to > find something dirty in all possible random combinations of > characters that is the problem. If I set my mind to it, I can > find something dirty in your callsign.

Look back at my statement. See the word "suffix". Did you address
"suffix"?

You could probably find something dirty in your social security number.
It is simply your nature.

Dave K8MN

2790. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 17:56:30 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C07C803.E05C05E0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25837

```
Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> > > "Dave Heil" wrote
>
> > > > But a "sexual libertarian" does not describe a "civil libertarian".
>
> > Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> > > I hear Jefferson was a sexual libertarian, though. Have you heard that?
>
> "Dave Heil" wrote
>
> > I've heard it, read it and have seen the living proof interviewed on TV.
>
> So have I...
>
> > He was a civil libertarian except when it came to his own "property".
>
> That would make him an uncivil libertarian.

That makes him similar to the liberarians we have posting here.
Their quest for liberty is pretty one-sided and leans toward things which benefit them. Their opponents don't have the same liberties.

Dave K8MN
```

2791. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 18:58:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C07D6CE.ECC2E53C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25838

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> > Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> > Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
>
> Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
> Good luck on your quest.

Ah, but Texas "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"
are based on FCC issued callsigns. I suspect they would have no choice except to issue Kim's ham callsign plates since the feds apparently don't see anything wrong with it.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

2792. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 19:01:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C07D77E.A24D3220@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25839

Dave Heil wrote:
> Look back at my statement. See the word "suffix". Did you address
> "suffix"?

A callsign suffix doesn't matter. It is just three letters, not a word.
What you choose to make of it is all in your mind.

> You could probably find something dirty in your social security number.
> It is simply your nature.

My social security number does contain three sixes. :-) I might be "The Beast".
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

2793. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 19:29:22 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <m6RN7.137281$WW.8674297@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25840

> Richard Plourde wrote:

> > That would make him an uncivil libertarian.

> That makes him similar to the liberarians we have posting here.

That lacks logic, you just lost me there Dave...
The people here aren't trying to empregnate their slaves.

> Their quest for liberty is pretty one-sided and leans toward things > which benefit them.

Why? Don't they want others to be at liberty to be staightlaced prudes?

Oh, I get it... you mean, they don't want the liberties dictated by the staightlaced prudes.

Truth is, hey want the same liberties for their opponents.

Rich

2794. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 19:44:34 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C07E1A2.F5E51406@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25842

Dave Heil wrote:

>
>
> Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
> Your views on sexuality left the ham radio highway in a squeal of > brakes.

Kim could apply for ham radio automobile plates. Wonder if the DMV would accept the fact that it is a legal ham callsign?
Do it Kim! :-)

2795. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 19:44:41 UTC
From: hairy apes <3tonmarydoesyou@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <JkRN7.7921$Ao6.707410@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 25841

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C062258.BFE88925@sccoast.net...
>
> Please, before you post that nasty > little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the > effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps > up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want > to participate in.

I agree Dwight, but I think this is an indirect result of the FCC's cleaning up of the old 14.313 mess.
When 14.313 was still going hot and heavy, all the misfits, screwballs, radio-geeks, bicycle seat sniffers, RF trailer trash and bootleggers had a nice place to call all their own. A "red light district" frequency if you will, Ham radio's answer to the Jerry Springer Show. Now that's gone and all these hard up hams and bootleggers are on the internet. Just like as if the vice cops cleaned up one corner of the city downtown, the hookers just go and re-locate for business 5 blocks uptown.
I sorta wish we had the old 313 back. It did serve as a nice pen to keep all the animals in one place while the rest of the bands were comparativily clean.
Just my observations, and one I feel is 100% accurate.

Kenny

2796. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 19:57:46 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C07E4BA.13FC44B5@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 25843

Rick Adams wrote:

> On 30 Nov 2001 01:05:34 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >I am merely exercising my right to comment on an issue which concerns > >the image of the Amateur Radio Service. As an licensed amateur > >radio operator, I have a legitimate concern. Are you saying I have no > >right to express my opinion on this matter?
>
> Then I'm sure you won't mind if I exercise the same option and > discuss my feelings on an issue (sexism and hypocrisy) which I feel > concerns the image of the ARS.
>
> Since I don't choose to do so on the Internet exclusively (as > is my right, of course), I'm sure you won't mind if I discuss my > impressions of you (along with quotes from your public messages here > in this thread) in what I would consider a more suitable venue--such > as 20m CW or 80m voice.

Better use CW. IIRC, that's Larry's favorite mode. :-)

2797. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 21:02:33 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011130160233.12731.00000061@mb-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 25844

>Subject: Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!
>From: "hairy apes" 3tonmarydoesyou@hotmail.com
>Date: 11/30/2001 1:44 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <JkRN7.7921$Ao6.707410@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>

>Just my observations, and one I feel is 100% accurate.

My participation in this newsgroup has "proven" only one thing to me....that opinions are just like rectums...Everyone has one but only cares about their own.

73

Steve, K4YZ

2798. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 21:03:30 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011130160330.22754.00000888@nso-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 25845

In article <3C07730C.CDB72B2C@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>Several years ago, a >television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a >male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering >their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member >of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person.

I recall something like that. I think that idea is total hogwash.

>Can a man truly be friends (not a co-worker, associate, or >an aquantance - a friend) with a woman without ever having thoughts >about sex?

Absolutely YES. Been there, done that. And the reverse....

> To answer my own question (it's not fair to ask a question like this >without being willing to answer it also), I think such a relationship >is possible, but it is extremely rare.

I think it's a lot more common than some people think.

>Most people who have friends of >the opposite sex are sexually attracted to them.
>
I'm sure lots of that happens - been there, done that too. But it's not universal.

Just because a person feels something doesn't mean they must act on it. People can be highly attracted to each other and yet keep things at a platonic level.

Whole thing boils down to behaving like a grown-up. Some folks can do it, some can't.

73 de Jim, N2EY

2799. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 21:16:21 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <916221843e63d2edd6c44b0af58e24a5.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 25846

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote

> That brings up an interesting issue, Kim. Several years ago, a > television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a > male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering > their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member > of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person.

Makes a nice titillating centerpoint for a television entertainers monologue, but fails an even cursory reality check.

I count many women among my closest friends, to whom I'm not even remotely attracted sexually. Some of them come to mind which I would be repulsed from a sexual viewpoint, but they are among my best friends.

73, Hans, K0HB

--
Posted from mplsapanas11poolc107.mpls.uswest.net [65.103.21.107]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2800. Re: Whats the deal?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 21:36:56 UTC
From: Vern Cole <coleve@ida.net> Message-ID: <3C07FBF8.9030402@ida.net>
Source record: 25847

Yup....
I first started reading this newsgroup about 12 years ago. On a CRT terminal befor the www was even invented. Just tuned back in today. Its like a soap opera. I haven't missed a thing. Still an argument about incentive licensing and whether or not morse code in the backgroud, and a lot of flaming about stuff which has nothing to do with ham radio in the foreground.
Wish they'ld grow up.
Vernon -- KF7XM

Chuck wrote:

> I cme ot this new group in hopes of finding out intereting tid bits of Ham > Radio Policy. What goes here?, not one posting about policy. Either my > computer is goofed or you poeple are just enraged with one another. I hate > to even post the message here, but this is all new to me. I will wait a few > daays and see if anything actually comes up about policy if not I will move > on. One thing that does strike me funny as that Dave Heil is here and > posting, I hope this is not the same Dave Heil that builds the microphones.
> As this would be dissapointing to me. As I was hoping that you would have > some very interesting tid bits posted here. Later all. I hope that does not > offend anyone. But I would think that the news group would reflect the > title. Chuck
>
>
>

--

Vernon Cole coleve@ida.net
Software Engineer 208.527.3000 Butte City, Idaho, USA

2801. Re: Newbie ham ?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 22:09:51 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <PsTN7.137775$WW.8684917@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25848

I dunno. Haven't seen many babies around lately. Uh .. missed part of your message ... ummm bunch of baby's what?

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message news:20011128235401.793$sT@newsreader.com...
> If I was interested in becoming a ham radio operator,this NG would turn me > off from the idea real quick.
>
> This is the second or third time I've lurked here,and maybe the last.
>
> What a bunch of baby's.
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

2802. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-11-30 23:31:29 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnmr2zb.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 25849

On 29 Nov 2001 23:13:45 -0800, Brian Kelly wrote:

>> To date this practice, they had lots of Gonset Gooney-Birds for us
>> 2-meter guys who needed a portable or mobile rig over a long >> weekend. (Late 1950s)
>>
>>
>Gooney BOXES, Benton Harbor LUNCHBOXES . . sheesh awready . .

Weren't the Benton Harbor LunchBoxes products of Heath?

I'm talking 1958......

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

2803. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 02:43:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0844a9_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25850

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9u741o09fq@enews3.newsguy.com...
>
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> news:3c070388_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > > I have many "friends" who are married, and I consider > > > their wives to be my friends as well, but I don't have private meetings
> > > of any sort with them -- not that I haven't had "offers." Whether or > > > not they respect their marriage vows, I do!
> > >
> > > 73 de Larry, K3LT
> > >
> >
> > You make it sound as though an offer to have a meal or visit, Larry, was > an > > offer of sex. Good grief.
>
> It's probably wishful thinking on his part.
>
>

ROFLMAO!!! You're probably right...

Kim W5TIT

2804. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 02:46:59 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c084560_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25701

If Larry follows suit, here, I am going to find a later post that will bear out my suspicion that you've just been classically set up by Larry Roll, Rick. It's a tactic he uses many times.

Kim W5TIT

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:612CFC363E9E59A0.656CA9210B7736F5.69A427005A845239@lp.airnews.net...
> On 30 Nov 2001 02:39:14 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >To use your own logic against you, why is defending Kim's > >self-indulgent choice of a callsign your "business?" I'm not > >questioning your right to do so, as you've questioned mine, I > >just want to understand the reason.
>
> Fair question.
>
> My defense of Kim's sign is twofold. (1) It is a response to > what I perceive to be a vicious and unprovoked attack on a fellow ham > (which, of course, has nothing to do with ham radio as a motive for my > action, only standing up for someone who is being attacked personally) > and; (2) I seriously question the view that discussions of her call > sign in terms of morality ARE legitimate discussion of radio policy in > that they must, inevitably, be based on religious values of morality > and regardless of how sincere the beliefs of the critic may be, the > fact remains that if ham radio IS a public venue, by necessity > religion MUST be excluded from it, as the alternative is the use of > public resources to promote religion.
>
> We could, in fact, carry that concept further by > asking--seriously, btw, not as a troll--if ANY attempt to promote > religious values of any nature is appropriate in a Government > regulated service, or rather such things as Christian and Jewish nets > are, effectively, violations of the First Amendment in exactly the > same way such activities would be violations in a public school (a > college is different in that it specifically TEACHES about religion, > and does not expose children to the teaching--but a college, likewise, > is free to teach and discuss topics related to human sexuality and > alternative lifestyles as well).
>
> Perhaps such activities ARE reasonable--but if so it would be > equally reasonable for a group of Wiccans, Satanists, or Rastafarians > (for example) to participate in similar nets and promote their moral > and religious values in the same manner as Christians do now (after > all, it would be a CLEAR violation of the Constitution if the FCC > attempted to restrict the religious topics that could be discussed to > those acceptable to Christians and Jews). On the other hand, such > discussions could (and would) be far more threatening to a parent of a > potential ham than Kim's call sign could possibly be.

>
> Comments?
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2805. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 02:48:14 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0845aa$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25702

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:19A455C0471C42D4.E6227F76046D03AD.4ED29ED6775BB512@lp.airnews.net...
>
> If this thread was normally "on topic" his complaint would > make sense. But since this is the official "Thread That Wandereth > Forever in the Forest of Confusion" it's hardly a valid complaint. It > IS, however, a clear indication that he is losing his arguments and > thus wants to shut the discussion down while seeming not to be doing > so from a position of weakness or defeat.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

BINGO....

Kim W5TIT

2806. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:00:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c084890_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25703

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C071EF0.C57F8302@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C04651B.53E50C59@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C0319DC.4EA73CD4@earthlink.net...
> > > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > I know of no woman who refers to her tops as > > > > > > breasts or mammaries. We all call them tits. We call all you guys' > > > > > > thangs dicks.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Tits serve two purposes. They can nurse babies or men, or woman if > > > > > > the owner of the tits is prone to that persuasion. We have to cover
> > > > > > our tits and you men have to cover your dicks.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > I call my tits tits and always have. I call my, well....never mind.
> > > >
> > > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > >
> > > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > >
> > > > > ...and that's just part of the reason I refer to the woman as Tugboat
> > > > > Annie.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > * The view expressed is my personal opinion.
> > > >
> > > > Then consider that most women are tacky and lack class and decorum.
> > Forgive > > > > > me for no desire to live up to either of the latter.
> > >
> > > That is not the conclusion I draw at all. I don't know many women who > > > would verbalize or write the type of thing you've written here. My > > > comment wasn't directed at "other" women. It is written about your > > > actions. My wife, mother, sister, next door neighbor, girl across the > > > road don't speak like that. I consider it coarse and vulgar. I can see > > > material like yours written on restroom walls at service stations. I > > > don't much care for it there either.

> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I am of the female persuasion, Dave. Have been all my life. Are you going > > to tell me that you are more experienced at being a woman than I am? I have > > been in the Dressing Rooms with women, the locker rooms with women, the > > restrooms with women, and so it goes. I am here to tell you that, yes there > > are women who are as you perceive your wife, mother, sister, next door > > neighbor, etc. I am also here to tell you that you'd be quite, quite > > surprised at the behaviors of many women you think you know, when in the > > company of women only. I choose to be real wherever I am.
>
> Just to be certain, I asked my wife. Not only does she not use the > language you earlier ascribed to all women and later to most women. She > assures me that that she has never heard my mother, my sister, the > neighbors or any of her friends use such language in an "all woman" > situation.
>
> I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems > improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male > group. I guess that makes you "real".
>
> > I also choose that people like you, who are besmirched by behaviors like > > mine are as unimportant to me as I am to you. So, we are even, and we both > > understand each other.
>
> What you do as a radio amateur IS important to me. If my views are > unimportant to you, I'm surprised you'd even bother to respond.
>
> Dave K8MN

To get under your skin, Dave. To get under your skin. If you are so smart, then why haven't you figured that out? This newsgroup is about nothing to me but taking out a day's frustrations, and I actually enjoy the exchanges--though I'd be abhorrent to have to deal with you on a personal level of any kind each day... But, here in the newsgroup where I am in control of whether I "deal" with you or not, I can handle it.

Not to say that my opinions expressed here are not real. They certainly are. For instance, your profession that your wife says she's never heard women talk that way. I was raised upper middle class, lived in gorgeous homes all my childhood and teen life; married young (19) a guy from "south" of the tracks, lived on welfare with him for as long as I had to until I ran as fast as I could away from him, lived on welfare again, more in between and I now make the middle-class income by myself and with my husband we are upper middle class, or near enough to count. I have met women such as your wife and some, but few, have been "real." I have met women who address things "real" as I call it, and more are real. By real, I mean I am not absorbed with makeup, tee hees, and giggles all day, nor do I wish to have a most boring discussion about the failure of my man to please me, or the pinings of motherhood promises gone undone. I much more enjoy a discussion about things such as get discussed in this newsgroup, and frequently cut through the bullshit. It's not my job to impress you, nor to make you judge me as a "decent" person. But, I guarantee you that you have met the real, genuine, Kim Walker. Not to say your wife isn't real--but if she is, she is in the minority of women at her level. I am with the majority of women at my level. To me, and I am all that counts, my "behavior" is not offensive at all. How much can one loathe the truth? I don't know. I suppose as much as you loathe me...because at a minimum I am truthful, with myself and with anyone/everyone else.

Kim W5TIT

2807. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:14:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C084ABC.D93D0E7D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25704

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> > > Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > > > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> > > Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
> >
> > Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
> > Good luck on your quest.
>
> Ah, but Texas "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"
> are based on FCC issued callsigns. I suspect they would have > no choice except to issue Kim's ham callsign plates since the > feds apparently don't see anything wrong with it.

That sounds right. Then it becomes a local problem for folks down there to deal with.

Dave K8MN

2808. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:16:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C084B2B.61A4B3AD@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25705

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Look back at my statement. See the word "suffix". Did you address
> > "suffix"?
>
> A callsign suffix doesn't matter. It is just three letters, not a word.
> What you choose to make of it is all in your mind.

I wrote "suffix" and I maintain that it does matter.

> > You could probably find something dirty in your social security number.
> > It is simply your nature.
>
> My social security number does contain three sixes. :-) I might > be "The Beast".

Probably just "a beast".

Dave K8MN

2809. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:21:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c084d88_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25706

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk
like > > > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't hang > > > with the same type crowd.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> >
> > Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't know
why > > you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's for > > sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more comfortably than > > you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what gives me
> > the ability to be more flexible than you?
>
> I don't happen to believe that it is true, Kim. I doubt that you'd feel > very comfortable using the language which makes you "real" all the time > if you were in the company of people I associate with.
>

Dave, for goodness sake. I wouldn't be free and open in an inappropriate environment. And, before you go off on a tirade, I don't consider the ham radio venue as the improper venue. Sorry, but I don't and you're not going to convince me otherwise. However, even at a black tie dinner party there would be a certain air of realism about me. I would have no problem telling a stuffed shirt he is just that--but in a very, very nice way. (But, I would walk away in grace and hope he'd just let his crystal wine glass drop to the floor). And, the only person I would hope to do that with would be a callous bastard, or wimpy bitch.

>
> I'm certain that > you could use shock value to get some attention but I don't think it > would be the kind of attention you would appreciate.
>

I don't need attention, Dave. You don't seem to understand that. And, shock value. I am not so sure that I use "shock value" as you probably view it in the traditional sense. Here's an example, let's get back to the black tie dinner party. I am making rounds, wearing my fake smile and nodding at everyone, doing the usual perfunctory hellos and how-are-yous. Once the obligatory round is done, I seek out and find a somewhat charming discussion where men and women are politely picking on each other and what it really sums up to is they are all perfectly miserable with each other and none has the guts or wonder to confront their "loved ones" with their "real" feelings. You can be sure that before I left the group--after having made several comments about conflict resolution and well it works, mind you--I'd pick the most miserable woman of the group, or maybe even man, and whisper something like this in their ear as I walked away:

"You are one huge chicken shit of a human and until you can learn to deal with your own failures, how can you expect your spouse to live up to and fix theirs?" Ask me if I care that they would from then on have a pretty shitty opinion of me. You think I am going to care that someone like that doesn't like me????!!!! Give me a break! I've hardly got enough time for my own problems, I don't need theirs, also. AND, what IF the truth I just spoke in their ear gets them to thinking and they either make a committment to fixing themselves and their marriage, or they live up to the responsibility of ending what is a useless venture?

Shock value? I don't think so...because I am not doing it to shock anyone. Shock value would be if I said that out loud to someone as I walked away, and I would not embarrass my hosts like that.

>
> This is the first attempt I've seen to portray the tendency use coarse > language as some kind of virtue.
>
> Dave K8MN

Well, call it what you will. I consider the truth a virtue. Now, am I going to use the word "fuck" on the air? Hardly. A) I think it would be quite illegal. B) I think that is rather direct and much too open. C) A child may be listening. The WORD fuck leaves nothing to translation. What is, is. Yet, the callsign W5TIT, said as such (and it is), never used as name (and it is not), and never open for "fun" discussion on the air (I will not respond to conversation on the air about it--I won't even transmit); then a child is quite safe. As I've said in the past, if a child "picks up" on the TIT in my callsign and finds it vulgar, it is not I who taught that child to think that way.

Remember the character that Julia Roberts played in the movie with Richard Gere...her character is truly remarkable in my opinion. Dharma? Of Dharma and Greg? Another one I identify with. Rosanne's character on her show? Yep, another one. Mimi, from the Drew Carey show? Yep, another one. And, certainly the character in Julia Roberts' movie, Erin Brokovich(sp). I consider the reality that all of those characters play refreshing and meet people like that all the time that I instantly like. There's always room and time for the stuffed-shirt lifestyle. Me? I'd rather buy a $6,000.00 coffee table just to put my feet up on it. :)

Kim W5TIT

2810. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:26:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c084e9f_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25707

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0721B5.8452661E@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C046687.3F5C3C56@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C03AEB0.80A5178E@earthlink.net...
> > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Uhhhhhh Dave, W5PSY was issued by the FCC to Mr. Olsen > > > > > > of Duncanville, TX.
> > > > >
> > > > > Uhhhhh Cecil, I was referring to Kim's post, not Mr. Olsen's call.
> > > > > I don't believe Mr. Olson has the anatomical parts to reference in
the > > > > > manner Tugboat did.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > And, I submit that you are the one with the mind who deciphered my > > > > message--all with nothing but mere inuendo from me. Who is it, exactly,
> > > > with no class?
> > >
> > > Right, Kim. You not only provided the call, you provided the innuendo.
> > > I'll bet Mr. Olsen doesn't do that with his call. You did the same in > > > the selection of your vanity call.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> >
> > Once again, is there an echo online? I think I state above that I provided > > the innuendo. It is you, apparently, that picked up on it, Dave. Did you
```

> > pick up on it for the sheer misery of it, or did you enjoy it just a little?
> > Surely, you don't relish misery, do you?
>
> It must be quite difficult for you to understand that I am not a monk > nor do I live in a vacuum. Sure, I picked up on it (even though it > doesn't spell anything). It didn't make me miserable. I did not enjoy > it. I just felt it was as lacking in decorum as your choice of calls.
>
> I do feel kind of sorry for you though.
>
> Dave K8MN

I don't know why you'd spend the time "feeling sorry" for someone you don't even know. You do enjoy misery. At least a little. OH, here's one for ya. I imagine you as a proper and stuffed shirt sort of guy. Not too much on the stuffed shirt, but you're probably more impressed with a good wine as opposed to me who would be impressed with a bowl that allows a good slurp from the edge of it. You feel sorry for me, and I'll feel sorry for you. Because see, to each of us the other emulates a life that we'd find loathsome ourselves! Yeah, I feel sorry for you, too. How's that?

Kim W5TIT

Kim W5TIT

2811. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:28:39 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c084f24_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25708

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C072481.731E82C0@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all > > > > in your mind.
> > >
> > > ...and we strongly disagree on the point about the callsign.
> >
> > The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters
> > devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value > > system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.
>
> The callsign suffix spells a coarse term for a portion of female > anatomy. No one has a problem with calls like W6RCA or W5DXP.
> Oh--I forgot. You already knew that.
>
> Dave K8MN

<BIG EVIL GRIN> I think the callsign has the affect that one realizes they've thought up something "dirty" or "forbidden" and just don't want to accept the responsibility themselves. Ever think that might be a little bit of motivation for the callsign, too? Hmmmm???

Kim W5TIT

2812. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:38:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085164_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25709

I'm having way too much fun with all the topics and I only have to look up one thread...

My vote is it stays... I also acknowledge that this usually happens when a thread runs long. "We" also have a habit of completely being off topic from a posted thread header within a few posts of its creation.

Kim W5TIT

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:0FD2DED227008DE7.84F4938B7AFC6508.DD4EAC1A4BE5605E@lp.airnews.net...
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 07:10:09 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> > Dave is not at all like that, Rick. Based on the messages I've read > >over the last year or two, Dave seems like a fairly intelligent > >person, with viewpoints that often span the entire political spectrum > >(from conservative to liberal). In other words, because you're basing > >your opinion of him on what he has said about just a couple of issues, > >your characterization of him above is not at all accurate. Why don't > >you wait until you get to know him a little better before you start > >relating him to Hitler (and the other nonsense you said in your message).
>
> Dwight, when I entered this thread (because I honestly > felt--and still feel--that what Dick, Larry, Dave, and a few others > were doing with respect to Kim was wrong, vicious, cruel, and > completely at odds with the very arguments they were making about > giving a bad impression of ham radio) I did so politely. I didn't come > in calling Dick an idiot, Dave a radical and a fool, or Larry a loser.
> I stated a position in opposition to their own that was no more an > attack on them personally than is my reply to you right now. What I > was greeted with wasn't open and respectful discussion, it was > insults, put downs, and innuendos that I has an ulterior (read sexual) > motive in defending Kim's choice (which I didn't--and still > don't--find offensive).
>
> If I have a bad impression of Dave it's because he has given > me that impression in this thread. I can only base an opinion on > evidence, and the evidence I've seen is that the people I named above > have no desire to discuss this--or any other controversial topic--in a > way that demonstrates respect for those who disagree with them. That > being the case, I've been quite willing to respond in kind.
>
> I agree that this has become ridiculous--but at the same time
> the only reason the thread is continuing is because Larry Roll has > specifically insisted that it WILL continue until Kim is forced to > change her sign--and his attacks on her integrity and morality are > supported by the others I named above.

>
> I'm perfectly willing to let the thread drop and more useful > discussions take place--and I believe it would benefit > everyone--particularly the potential hams who may be reading it--if > that occurred. But it will only occur if that group of people agree to > disagree with those of us who don't share their views, and to let the > matter drop themselves.
>
> Comments?
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2813. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:46:36 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C085204.72DA5B20@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25710

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C071EF0.C57F8302@earthlink.net...

> > What you do as a radio amateur IS important to me. If my views are > > unimportant to you, I'm surprised you'd even bother to respond.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> To get under your skin, Dave. To get under your skin.

Well, there we have it.

> If you are so > smart, then why haven't you figured that out? This newsgroup is about > nothing to me but taking out a day's frustrations, and I actually enjoy the > exchanges--though I'd be abhorrent to have to deal with you on a personal > level of any kind each day... But, here in the newsgroup where I am in > control of whether I "deal" with you or not, I can handle it.
>
> Not to say that my opinions expressed here are not real. They certainly > are. For instance, your profession that your wife says she's never heard > women talk that way. I was raised upper middle class, lived in gorgeous > homes all my childhood and teen life; married young (19) a guy from "south" > of the tracks, lived on welfare with him for as long as I had to until I ran > as fast as I could away from him, lived on welfare again, more in between > and I now make the middle-class income by myself and with my husband we are > upper middle class, or near enough to count. I have met women such as your > wife and some, but few, have been "real." I have met women who address > things "real" as I call it, and more are real. By real, I mean I am not > absorbed with makeup, tee hees, and giggles all day, nor do I wish to have a > most boring discussion about the failure of my man to please me, or the > pinings of motherhood promises gone undone.

I can assure you that my wife is very "real". She just doesn't see the necessity of being as base as she can be. She never swore or used off color humor in Finnish and doesn't swear or use off color humor in English. You indicate you've met women like my wife. Other than the fact that she is Finnish and doesn't use coarse language, you don't know a thing about her. Given that, your comment about very few of "them" being real is kind of silly.

My mother and sister are "real" too. The neighbors are straight forward and comfortable as a favorite flannel shirt to be around. One is a church goer. One is not.

> I much more enjoy a discussion > about things such as get discussed in this newsgroup, and frequently > cut through the bullshit.

That's earthy. I can see why you'd rather be here discussing important things rather than chat about the faiure of your man to please you.

> It's not my job to impress you, nor to make you judge
> me as a "decent" person.

Your job? No I don't think that's your job. I do think you have a responsibility toward yourself so that others don't get the impression that you are not a decent person.

> But, I guarantee you that you have met the real,
> genuine, Kim Walker.

I never doubted that for a moment.

> Not to say your wife isn't real--but if she is, she is > in the minority of women at her level. I am with the majority of > women at my level.

Then dare to be above the crowd, Kim.

> To me, and I am all that counts, my "behavior" is not offensive > at all.

That is basically been the reason behind all of this. You are not all that counts. While your choice of calls is not offensive to you, you need to understand that it is offensive to some.

> How much can one loathe the truth? I don't know. I suppose > as much as you loathe me...because at a minimum I am truthful, with > myself and with anyone/everyone else.

I have never ever loathed you, Kim.

Dave K8MN

2814. Re: DID W4JYZ GET HIS DRUGS FROM TEW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:52:34 UTC
From: KT4TuRd <Drunk_Bobby@FakeAirplane.com> Message-ID: <9u9k1m$mq9$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 25711
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Ahhh Shuddup Youngblood!!!!! Belt down some vodka and go babble about your fake airplane. How hard did you have to beg Riley not to publish the sanctions he took on your license?

"af2yisbinladen" <hammer007@my-deja.com> wrote in message
news:e299bafd.0111301715.39f81204@posting.google.com...
> Now wait a minute, something is going on, and JYZ is sounding sedated.
> Riley pops the goof with another warning and he comes on the air and > denies any wrong doing. This "Goof", must be taking medication that he > got from TEW, the "TAMPA TURD". Now I realize that Jimmy must have a > lot of stuff in the medicine cabinet at this time and he could make a > few quick bucks, but how did "Dumbass" play into the equation ????? I > heard Dumbass a couple of weeks ago transmitting from the campgrounds > in north Fla, but could he have worked out a drugs for mows deal with > TEW????
> Now listen up all of you hams, W4NTI the Dumbass follower will soon > make his entry, but just wait a minue Dan, does Donnie Dumbass have > the MOH like Duane?Hammer

2815. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 03:58:45 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085631$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25712

I think a lot of folks "do" newsgroups for the same reason that they go to a wrestling, boxing, or other sporting match, or even the races.

Kim W5TIT

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C075C0C.A5715739@sccoast.net...
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > On the contrary, it's actually > > doubled activity. The newsgroups
> > now gets well over 100 posts a day.
> > A month or so ago it was only > > getting about 30 to 50. (Unless > > you're the type who prefers quality
> > over quantity.)
>
>
> The number of message varies greatly. Go back two or three months, > and you'll see numbers similar to today. Whatever the case, I don't > think the insults and stuff are responsible for any increased activity > at this particular moment.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2816. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:09:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <00C2A8CEB4B59C71.4B06E529E40F165D.600D8A7B623AFA87@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25713

On 29 Nov 2001 05:17:11 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> Somehow you and Cecil profess to "not get it" but I'm sure you do. I've >made the point repeatedly. All those biblical "threats" are very ancient >and have nothing whatever to do with modern Christian theology, theory >nor particularly practice. Nowhere do you see Christians determined to >kill all non-Christians, whatever history says about the Crusades, and >ancient Jewish teachings aside.

Try: http://www.wcotc.com/index.shtml

>Islam is definitely the religion of the >Islamic Jihad Terrorists, the true numbers of which we can only guess, >but we KNOW that there are many, and that a considerable number have >infiltrated our societey within the USA.

We know this HOW, Dick?

Through evidence (cite it)?

Through research (cite it)?

Through the Dick Carroll ouija board school of knowledge?

What is the SOURCE of this "revelation" Dick? Where can Cecil and I go to verify these claims that offers a legitimate source for it's data? If the claims are true, it should be easy to confirm it. If not, well that's YOUR problem, not ours.

>You may ignore all this as you >wish, but don't decieve yourself - if you happen to be in circumstances >where you are a part of a targeted entity, you die too, regardless of >your support to their cause. They don't hesitate to kill their own kind >in their zeal, it's considered a small necessary cost. You would give >them no pause whateveer.

Dick I live about 60 miles from the largest Islamic community in the United States (Dearborn, MI) and I have no fear at all of going there for dinner with my family.

Is it REALLY that hard for you to accept that--like ALL major religions--the focus of Islam is on peace, not violence? Sure, there are a few fanatics--as you can see from the site I provided the url for above, there are a number of them in Christianity as well. But a few people do NOT make up the majority of a people--as you seem to insist they do.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2817. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:11:57 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B03D250C6E02A3E2.E7F6462BC33BC54F.984E55F0B422449E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25714

On 29 Nov 2001 05:27:29 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> As you should know, that is largely a health issue, the Jewish practice >aside.

>There are studies which show that the wives of uncircumcised men >experience a higher rate of cervical cancer, and other studies show an >elevated rate of penile cancer in uncircumcised men.

Relax, Dick. I'm cut. Your great-grand daughters are safe.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2818. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:13:34 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7464ED77FB9AD7C8.F4CA736A411CB9CC.8D31CE1E07A218C7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25715

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal
>consent.

Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you are under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.

And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but that of the family involved.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2819. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:14:47 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FE3652CA7AA41D1A.68CB34725BC3BA20.F05C30877CEBF7AD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25716

On 29 Nov 2001 05:30:10 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> I would have wagered LARGE on it!

That I would have a 3/4 carat diamond earring that was the mate to the diamond in my wife's engagement ring?

Are you claiming to be psychic?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2820. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:15:44 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085a2e_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25718

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C07730C.CDB72B2C@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > You make it sound as though an offer
> > to have a meal or visit, Larry, was > > an offer of sex. Good grief.
>
>
> That brings up an interesting issue, Kim. Several years ago, a > television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a > male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering > their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member > of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person. What do you > think, Kim? Can a man truly be friends (not a co-worker, associate, or > an aquantance - a friend) with a woman without ever having thoughts > about sex? Can a woman? What about your male friends? Can you honestly > say they've never had sexual thoughts about you? Can you honestly say > that you've never had sexual thoughts about them?
>
> To answer my own question (it's not fair to ask a question like this > without being willing to answer it also), I think such a relationship > is possible, but it is extremely rare. Most people who have friends of > the opposite sex are sexually attracted to them.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Let me first say that I am truly not dodging the question. I am just going to give two different measurements of friendship.

Overall, yes, I believe that women and men can be friends without having sex. Note that I said without having sex. There will be few encounters with the opposite sex in which "sex" does not enter the minds of either--and a true friendship is capable of exploring that those thoughts and feelings are there. And, a true friendship will suffer through that (because it is strictly temporary) and get on to the real business of being friends.

Now, the situation which brings this whole topic up--that of Rick and I getting together at a Starbucks (I think it was) and Larry R. having such a vehement opposition to it (although I don't think he really did--half of the reactions Larry feels toward me any more are those that he feels he must live up to...if you understand what I am saying). Anyway, that two people such as Rick and I, or you and I, or whomever and I, could get together for coffee and conversation and have sex never enter our minds? I think that's entirely possible. It happens on my behalf lots and lots. There's several male hams I know and would consider at least acquaintances--and maybe even some as friends. But, sex? Nope, haven't given it even a first thought--let alone a second or third.

There is one man I am very, very good friends with. He happens to be my teen-age sweetheart and we actually had "toyed" around with the idea of getting married. But, we parted ways, and met up years later again as friends and are to this day. Last time I talked to him? Hmmmm, about four years ago and that was the first time in about 7-8 years. BUT, let something happen and I need him; all I gotta do is call. Same here for me to him. Why are we that liberal with our willingness to help each other? Because neither of us would ever abuse it, and neither of us will probably ever need that much help, where we'd feel the need to call.

I don't think there's anything wrong at all with "feeling" desirable, or with fantasizing about other people. I think it's quite healthy--and have been in situations where that part of a friendship is discussed, dealt with, and allowed to "go away" (because it will). I would think my husband was extremely weird if he told me that he only ever looks at me and doesn't feel a thing about other women. I also trust him not to act on his emotions--we have a monogamous relationship; though not a possessive or jealous one. <GIGGLE> Actually, his greatest dream is for me to bring him home another girl someday...a dream I eternally remind him will never happen :)

Yep, friendships--real friendships--between men and women get past the distractions of sex. I wouldn't be in the company of a man I did not trust. And, if I find myself having misjudged a man, I trust myself implicitly. I love and honor my husband far too much to let the distractions of a climax overrule the many years of trust and adoration we have built with each other. And, if ya'd think about it...all sex is, is a good climax. A few seconds here and there aren't worth a lifetime of commitment.

Kim W5TIT

2821. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:17:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0859C8.68454D49@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25717

Dave Heil wrote:
> That sounds right. Then it becomes a local problem for folks down there > to deal with.

Problem? One of the favorite songs around here is,
"Oh $hit, Would You Look At Them Tits". This is
C&W Honky Tonk country, Dave, at least down toward Houston. One of my favorite C&W places has topless waitresses.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2822. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:20:42 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085b58_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25720

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C078CDC.87A3EBFB@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> > THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
>
> That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

I've never had the W5TIT tags, though I'll be applying for them for my new truck. I just picked the tags (regular) up today, and don't know if I'll end up waiting until next year or will do it sooner.

I'll let you know how it comes out. I had KC5HQJ tags on my Golf. I like having the amateur radio tags for the reason that most rural cops have gotten the idea of who "we" are and won't try to shoo us from a good spotting location because they think we're some creep who's going to burglarize a place because we're parked near it. :) By the same token, the magnetic signs or stickers (Skywarn) work for that as well.

Kim W5TIT

2823. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:21:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C085ABA.EB0A4D9A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25719

Dave Heil wrote:
> I wrote "suffix" and I maintain that it does matter.

Maintain whatever makes you happy, Dave. In reality, Kim's callsign is like a fart in a hurricane, not like a turd in the punchbowl.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2824. Re: "...one step closer to trash"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:27:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085ce0_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25724

"K0HB" <k0hb@qwest.net> wrote in message news:0615cf25296d75ca34bf1feea8bff690.15732@mygate.mailgate.org...
> "Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote
>
> >
> > This is entirely about the effect of Kim's tasteless choice in a callsign
> > upon the image of the ARS.
> >
>
> Larry,
>
> Most of us have pretty much agreed that Kim's choice of call is trashy.
> We've also pretty much agreed that she probably isn't going to change > it. Thus this becomes a dead horse being uselessly beaten, and has the > additional negative effect of giving continued free visibility and > recognition to Mrs. Walkers piece of tastelessness. Perhaps only W5CAW > can influence her to discard the thing.
>

W5CAW was the most instrumental in goading me to get the callsign. :)

> Meanwhile, you need to speak to the FCC about two of my neighbors, N0OKY > and KB0OBS.
>
> 73, de Hans, K0HB
>

Kim W5TIT

2825. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:28:59 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DC841BA7789E9FFA.C6DA076A1010BABF.EE44EE5ECD101D0D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25721

On 30 Nov 2001 01:05:36 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>My sexual identity is not at issue here. I'm a heterosexual, and cannot >conceive of being anything else. I know this offends your liberal values, >but that's the way it is.

It doesn't offend me at all, Larry--because it makes my point exactly. You are heterosexual (or state yourself to be, the only evidence I have to go by). You are convinced (and RIGHT) that you couldn't be "recruited" to be a homosexual.

Why on earth would you believe that anyone else could be?

>Very well. In that case, why do books like "Heather Has Two Mommies"
>exist in our public schools?

For the same reason that books dealing with African-American families, Hispanic families, or Asian families are in those schools, Larry, because they represent families in the community.

There are over 2,000,000 children being raised in gay/lesbian households in the US right now (and, no, they do NOT have a higher likelihood of being gay than their peers raised in straight households, research has already confirmed that), don't those children have the right to be recognized as coming from happy households, too?

>I'm not claiming to be working your side of the street, Rick. I am just >reacting to what I've heard and read about the topic, and drawing my >own logical conclusions. Why would there be a book like "Heather >Has Two Mommies" unless someone with an agenda to normalize and >lend an aura of acceptability to homosexual behavior wanted young >children to be exposed to this concept? In other words, why are >homosexuals attempting to "recruit" young people to their lifestyle?

Larry, how can you possibly equate "recruit" with "inform?"

I don't care what your personal opinion is, the fact is that from any scientific perspective you care to identify, homosexuality IS normal. You don't have to "normalize" it any more than you have to "normalize" being an African-American. It happens to _already_ be completely normal.

The book isn't looking for the chance to "recruit"
people--it's looking for ACCEPTANCE and TOLERANCE from people. I'm sorry you can't accept this concept as valid--but most people can.

There is no "Homosexual Agenda" Larry. It's a figment in the mind of right wing extremists who can't stand the thought that others have rights too.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2826. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:29:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c085d77$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25725

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C07C66B.1B652AAD@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> > > THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
> >
> > That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> > Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> > Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
>
> Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
> Good luck on your quest.
>
> Dave K8MN

You mean a vanity "tag" or a vanity call. Your statement is that most states won't issue a vanity call. I am just wondering what other calls you're aware of that were not issued plates.

Kim W5TIT

2827. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:29:50 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c085c41.3337778@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 25722

On 30 Nov 2001 02:39:13 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>In article <18WM7.104$9d.19434@newshog.newsread.com>, "KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net>
>writes:
>
>>Is it legal to rent or lease ham gear? I was wondering about this one, say >>for instance, here in Michigan we have places called Rental King, >>Rent-a-Center etc. Not that we would want to have ham gear rented at a >>location like that, but if there were places that you could rent or lease >>equipment, in the short term, that may seem like a more feasable option for >>some who clearly cannot afford one of those way-overpriced, multi-band, >>do-everything rigs. (Between those and the "kit" radios, there is not much >>inbetween)
>>
>>Also, would it be legal to rent someone elses station? Since the FCC license >>does not state what gear you are operating, only that YOU are licensed, is >>this a loophole?
>>
>>Don't mean to start any arguments, just an honest question, looking for >>intelligent answers.
>
>Ryan:
>
>I can't see any legal problem with "renting" ham radio gear, aside from >the issue of taking steps to ensure that only licensed amateurs get to >do so.

Yet there's no requirement that one can or should ONLY rent (or sell) ham gear to licensed hams.

>However, it would seem to be impractical from a purely >financial standpoint.

Probably true.

>The money spent on rental fees would be better
>used to save up for the purchase of equipment. If all you want to do >is try out a top-of-the-line rig for a week or two, then "renting" would >be OK as a one-time or occasional practice.
>
>Some hams rent out their vacation properties, equipped with contest-
>capable ham radio stations, for visiting hams looking for a DXpedition >opportunity. There's obviously nothing wrong with it, as long as it's >right for you and your checkbook!

Agree too.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

2828. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:31:13 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <995C65F72365ACC2.2B83748EA4C17B8C.228A1AF98D02AA74@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25723

>As a matter of fact, she did! How did you know?

He asked your sister. She said it happened once.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2829. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:39:54 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c085d7c.3652520@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 25726

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 06:56:59 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> I've noticed the discussions in this newsgroup are getting really >nasty lately (personal insults, name calling, ridicule, harassment, >pettiness, and so forth). Is this what we really want? One of the best >aspects of this newsgroup has always been that the long-time members >have always tried to keep the discussions on a relatively decent >level. In other words, while we might argue, and even argue >fanatically, most have tended to back off before things got too >personal. But, lately, some of the messages here have turned into >nothing more than an insult-fest. Please, before you post that nasty >little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the >effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps >up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want >to participate in.
>
> I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, >Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on >this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent >here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same >when they get carried away. Thanks.
>Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

Dwight,

Well said. I read the group almost daily but haven't seen any reason to chime into most threads for the very reason you mention. While the newsgroup itself had a primary motivation of taking the code debate out of the .misc newsgroup, that is pretty much no longer an issue. Except for the "wait", the code test will (IMHO) be gone by the end of 2003. It is just a waiting period until WRC 2003 does its thing.

With the code debate over for all practical purposes,
the newsgroup would be great if it did get into true policy discussions (zoning restrictions, bandplans, or whatever) rather than the inane rantings that have constituted most of the posting for quite some time now.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

2830. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:49:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c086218_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25727

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C085204.72DA5B20@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
>
> I can assure you that my wife is very "real". She just doesn't see the > necessity of being as base as she can be. She never swore or used off > color humor in Finnish and doesn't swear or use off color humor in > English. You indicate you've met women like my wife. Other than the > fact that she is Finnish and doesn't use coarse language, you don't know > a thing about her. Given that, your comment about very few of "them" > being real is kind of silly.
>
> My mother and sister are "real" too. The neighbors are straight forward > and comfortable as a favorite flannel shirt to be around. One is a > church goer. One is not.
>

Dave, your idea of real, and my idea of real are probably two or three entirely different ideas.

> > I much more enjoy a discussion > > about things such as get discussed in this newsgroup, and frequently > > cut through the bullshit.
>
> That's earthy. I can see why you'd rather be here discussing > important things rather than chat about the faiure of your man to > please you.
>

One of the reasons I loathe discussions with women is it seems they inherrently complain about husbands and children. I have few complaints about either, and consider it whining to express it to other women who certainly have no power to change the situation for the one complaining.

> > It's not my job to impress you, nor to make you judge > > me as a "decent" person.
>
> Your job? No I don't think that's your job. I do think you have a > responsibility toward yourself so that others don't get the impression > that you are not a decent person.
>

Dave. I don't seek the approval of a mass majority. I am quite comfortable with myself. I have the few friends I seek, I have the fun in life I seek.
Tell me what rewards I would have by "general acceptance of a mass majority."

> > But, I guarantee you that you have met the real,
> > genuine, Kim Walker.
>
> I never doubted that for a moment.
>

Good.

> > Not to say your wife isn't real--but if she is, she is > > in the minority of women at her level. I am with the majority of > > women at my level.
>
> Then dare to be above the crowd, Kim.
>

That is apparently your game, Dave. It is not mine. Or, looking at it another way...perhaps I consider myself above the crowd. It's just that your "lower" crowd and my "lower" crowd may be measured differently.

> > To me, and I am all that counts, my "behavior" is not offensive > > at all.
>
> That is basically been the reason behind all of this. You are not all > that counts. While your choice of calls is not offensive to you, you > need to understand that it is offensive to some.
>

I understand it and acknowledge it. I even accept it. But, you are wrong that I am all that counts. I am all that counts. From my perspective, this is my world. From your perspective, this is your world. The hope is that the two meet somewhere in the middle, and yield to each other if they do not. That my call is offensive to some (the operative word there, by the way) is their problem to deal with, not mine. Not a philosophy you share? It's still my world, Dave.

> > How much can one loathe the truth? I don't know. I suppose > > as much as you loathe me...because at a minimum I am truthful, with > > myself and with anyone/everyone else.
>
> I have never ever loathed you, Kim.
>
> Dave K8MN

Really. I am surprised.

Kim W5TIT

2831. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 04:56:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0863d3_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25728

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message
news:3c085d7c.3652520@news.mindspring.com...
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 06:56:59 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> > I've noticed the discussions in this newsgroup are getting really > >nasty lately (personal insults, name calling, ridicule, harassment, > >pettiness, and so forth). Is this what we really want? One of the best > >aspects of this newsgroup has always been that the long-time members > >have always tried to keep the discussions on a relatively decent > >level.

I missed this from this evening's download, so I respond to it now. Dwight, you've noticed a different newsgroup than I have if the discussions here are kept at a "relatively decent level."

>
> In other words, while we might argue, and even argue > >fanatically, most have tended to back off before things got too > >personal. But, lately, some of the messages here have turned into > >nothing more than an insult-fest. Please, before you post that nasty > >little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the > >effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps > >up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want > >to participate in.
> >
> > I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, > >Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on > >this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent > >here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same > >when they get carried away. Thanks.
> >Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> Dwight,
>

I am not sure what messages you read that have illicited the above reaction, but I've pretty much seen nothing any different than normal when "heated" discussions have been taking place. It could be that my eyes generally glaze over when I get to the insults part and just scan for the points--so I'm not especially aware of anything any more insulting than usual.

> Well said. I read the group almost daily but haven't > seen any reason to chime into most threads for the very > reason you mention. While the newsgroup itself had > a primary motivation of taking the code debate out > of the .misc newsgroup, that is pretty much no longer

> an issue. Except for the "wait", the code test will (IMHO) > be gone by the end of 2003. It is just a waiting period > until WRC 2003 does its thing.
>
> With the code debate over for all practical purposes,
> the newsgroup would be great if it did get into true > policy discussions (zoning restrictions, bandplans, or whatever)
> rather than the inane rantings that have constituted most > of the posting for quite some time now.
>
> Cheers,
> Bill K2UNK
>

Then, for goodness sake, why not just start a thread up?! I just don't understand it when people start complaining about a thread in a newsgroup! START ANOTHER ONE! And, if you don't like a thread's topic(s), then DON'T READ IT.

Kim W5TIT

2832. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:04:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0864F0.777DF156@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25729

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk
> like > > > > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't > hang
> > > > with the same type crowd.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > >
> > > Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't know
> why > > > you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's for > > > sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more comfortably > than > > > you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what > gives me
> > > the ability to be more flexible than you?
> >
> > I don't happen to believe that it is true, Kim. I doubt that you'd feel > > very comfortable using the language which makes you "real" all the time > > if you were in the company of people I associate with.
> >
>
> Dave, for goodness sake. I wouldn't be free and open in an inappropriate > environment. And, before you go off on a tirade, I don't consider the ham > radio venue as the improper venue. Sorry, but I don't and you're not going > to convince me otherwise. However, even at a black tie dinner party there > would be a certain air of realism about me. I would have no problem telling > a stuffed shirt he is just that--but in a very, very nice way. (But, I > would walk away in grace and hope he'd just let his crystal wine glass drop > to the floor). And, the only person I would hope to do that with would be a > callous bastard, or wimpy bitch.
>
> >
> > I'm certain that
```

> > you could use shock value to get some attention but I don't think it > > would be the kind of attention you would appreciate.
> >
>
> I don't need attention, Dave. You don't seem to understand that. And, > shock value. I am not so sure that I use "shock value" as you probably view > it in the traditional sense. Here's an example, let's get back to the black > tie dinner party. I am making rounds, wearing my fake smile and nodding at > everyone, doing the usual perfunctory hellos and how-are-yous. Once the > obligatory round is done, I seek out and find a somewhat charming discussion > where men and women are politely picking on each other and what it really > sums up to is they are all perfectly miserable with each other and none has > the guts or wonder to confront their "loved ones" with their "real" > feelings. You can be sure that before I left the group--after having made > several comments about conflict resolution and well it works, mind you--I'd > pick the most miserable woman of the group, or maybe even man, and whisper > something like this in their ear as I walked away:
>
> "You are one huge chicken shit of a human and until you can learn to deal > with your own failures, how can you expect your spouse to live up to and fix > theirs?" Ask me if I care that they would from then on have a pretty shitty > opinion of me. You think I am going to care that someone like that doesn't > like me????!!!! Give me a break! I've hardly got enough time for my own > problems, I don't need theirs, also. AND, what IF the truth I just spoke > in their ear gets them to thinking and they either make a committment to > fixing themselves and their marriage, or they live up to the responsibility > of ending what is a useless venture?
>
> Shock value? I don't think so...because I am not doing it to shock anyone.
> Shock value would be if I said that out loud to someone as I walked away, > and I would not embarrass my hosts like that.
>
> >
> > This is the first attempt I've seen to portray the tendency use coarse > > language as some kind of virtue.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Well, call it what you will. I consider the truth a virtue. Now, am I > going to use the word "fuck" on the air? Hardly. A) I think it would be > quite illegal. B) I think that is rather direct and much too open. C) A > child may be listening. The WORD fuck leaves nothing to translation.
> What is, is. Yet, the callsign W5TIT, said as such (and it is), never used > as name (and it is not), and never open for "fun" discussion on the air (I > will not respond to conversation on the air about it--I won't even > transmit); then a child is quite safe. As I've said in the past, if a child > "picks up" on the TIT in my callsign and finds it vulgar, it is not I who > taught that child to think that way.
>
> Remember the character that Julia Roberts played in the movie with Richard > Gere...her character is truly remarkable in my opinion. Dharma? Of Dharma > and Greg? Another one I identify with. Rosanne's character on her show?

> Yep, another one. Mimi, from the Drew Carey show? Yep, another one. And, > certainly the character in Julia Roberts' movie, Erin Brokovich(sp). I > consider the reality that all of those characters play refreshing and meet > people like that all the time that I instantly like. There's always room > and time for the stuffed-shirt lifestyle. Me? I'd rather buy a $6,000.00
> coffee table just to put my feet up on it. :)

Kim, now that you've explained your views, I've changed my mind.
I've decided that you just don't know any better.

By the way, those folks you identify with--they aren't real. They're movie and television characters. This is real life.

Dave K8MN

2833. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:13:16 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0866EC.3067EF1A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25730

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C0721B5.8452661E@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C046687.3F5C3C56@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:3C03AEB0.80A5178E@earthlink.net...
> > > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > > > Just be glad I don't have the callsign W5PSY.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > This too is tacky and lacks class and decorum.*
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Uhhhhhh Dave, W5PSY was issued by the FCC to Mr. Olsen > > > > > > > of Duncanville, TX.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > Uhhhhh Cecil, I was referring to Kim's post, not Mr. Olsen's call.
> > > > > > I don't believe Mr. Olson has the anatomical parts to reference in
> the > > > > > > manner Tugboat did.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > >
> > > > > And, I submit that you are the one with the mind who deciphered my > > > > > message--all with nothing but mere inuendo from me. Who is it, > exactly,
> > > > > with no class?
> > > > >
> > > > Right, Kim. You not only provided the call, you provided the > innuendo.
> > > > I'll bet Mr. Olsen doesn't do that with his call. You did the same in > > > > the selection of your vanity call.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > >
> > > Once again, is there an echo online? I think I state above that I > provided
```

> > > the innuendo. It is you, apparently, that picked up on it, Dave. Did
> you > > > pick up on it for the sheer misery of it, or did you enjoy it just a > little?
> > > Surely, you don't relish misery, do you?
> >
> > It must be quite difficult for you to understand that I am not a monk > > nor do I live in a vacuum. Sure, I picked up on it (even though it > > doesn't spell anything). It didn't make me miserable. I did not enjoy > > it. I just felt it was as lacking in decorum as your choice of calls.
> >
> > I do feel kind of sorry for you though.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I don't know why you'd spend the time "feeling sorry" for someone you don't > even know. You do enjoy misery. At least a little.

Naw Kim. If I'd wanted to be miserable I could have married someone like you.

> OH, here's one for ya.
> I imagine you as a proper and stuffed shirt sort of guy. Not too much on > the stuffed shirt, but you're probably more impressed with a good wine as > opposed to me who would be impressed with a bowl that allows a good slurp > from the edge of it.

You've got me wrong again, Kim. I didn't wear a tie at the office unless some dignitary was arriving or unless I was invited to a (mandatory) reception. Back here I'm a flannel shirt and sweat pants guy unless I'm going into town. I usually skip the spats and top hat though.

I do like a good wine but I buy what's on sale. I'll have to admit that
I've never slurped from a bowl in my life.

You feel sorry for me, and I'll feel sorry for you.
> Because see, to each of us the other emulates a life that we'd find > loathsome ourselves! Yeah, I feel sorry for you, too. How's that?

I'm still trying to figure how we're each emulating a life that we would find loathsome. I don't emulate your life. Are you actually attempting to emulate mine?

You can feel sorry for me if you like. I don't mind.

Dave K8MN

2834. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:16:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0867B0.EB8B32E2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25731

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C072481.731E82C0@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > There aren't any trashy callsigns either, Dave. The trash is all > > > > > in your mind.
> > > > >
> > > > ...and we strongly disagree on the point about the callsign.
> > >
> > > The callsign enters your input system as five alpha-numeric characters
> > > devoid of trash. You convert it into trash internally within your value > > > system. That's your problem, Dave, not Kim's.
> >
> > The callsign suffix spells a coarse term for a portion of female > > anatomy. No one has a problem with calls like W6RCA or W5DXP.
> > Oh--I forgot. You already knew that.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> <BIG EVIL GRIN> I think the callsign has the affect that one realizes > they've thought up something "dirty" or "forbidden" and just don't want to > accept the responsibility themselves. Ever think that might be a little bit > of motivation for the callsign, too? Hmmmm???

Why would that be? It is your vanity call and you chose it.
I'd think most folks would just think the holder doesn't know the difference between good taste and poor taste.

Dave K8MN
```

2835. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:17:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0867FC.57D708A1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25732

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> I think a lot of folks "do" newsgroups for the same reason that they go to a > wrestling, boxing, or other sporting match, or even the races.
>
> Kim W5TIT

For the blood and accidents?

Dave K8MN

2836. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:22:12 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0869c3_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25735

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0864F0.777DF156@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk
> > like > > > > > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't > > hang
> > > > > with the same type crowd.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't know
> > why > > > > > you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's for > > > > > sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more comfortably
> > than > > > > > you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what > > gives me
> > > > > the ability to be more flexible than you?
> > > >
> > > I don't happen to believe that it is true, Kim. I doubt that you'd feel > > > very comfortable using the language which makes you "real" all the time
> > > if you were in the company of people I associate with.
> > >
> >
> > Dave, for goodness sake. I wouldn't be free and open in an inappropriate > > environment. And, before you go off on a tirade, I don't consider the ham > > radio venue as the improper venue. Sorry, but I don't and you're not
```

going > > to convince me otherwise. However, even at a black tie dinner party
there > > would be a certain air of realism about me. I would have no problem telling
> > a stuffed shirt he is just that--but in a very, very nice way. (But, I > > would walk away in grace and hope he'd just let his crystal wine glass drop > > to the floor). And, the only person I would hope to do that with would be a > > callous bastard, or wimpy bitch.
> >
> > >
> > > I'm certain that > > > you could use shock value to get some attention but I don't think it > > > would be the kind of attention you would appreciate.
> > >
> >
> > I don't need attention, Dave. You don't seem to understand that. And, > > shock value. I am not so sure that I use "shock value" as you probably view > > it in the traditional sense. Here's an example, let's get back to the black > > tie dinner party. I am making rounds, wearing my fake smile and nodding at > > everyone, doing the usual perfunctory hellos and how-are-yous. Once the > > obligatory round is done, I seek out and find a somewhat charming discussion > > where men and women are politely picking on each other and what it really > > sums up to is they are all perfectly miserable with each other and none has
> > the guts or wonder to confront their "loved ones" with their "real" > > feelings. You can be sure that before I left the group--after having made > > several comments about conflict resolution and well it works, mind
you--I'd > > pick the most miserable woman of the group, or maybe even man, and whisper
> > something like this in their ear as I walked away:
> >
> > "You are one huge chicken shit of a human and until you can learn to deal > > with your own failures, how can you expect your spouse to live up to and fix > > theirs?" Ask me if I care that they would from then on have a pretty shitty > > opinion of me. You think I am going to care that someone like that doesn't > > like me????!!!! Give me a break! I've hardly got enough time for my own > > problems, I don't need theirs, also. AND, what IF the truth I just spoke

> > in their ear gets them to thinking and they either make a committment to > > fixing themselves and their marriage, or they live up to the responsibility
> > of ending what is a useless venture?
> >
> > Shock value? I don't think so...because I am not doing it to shock anyone.
> > Shock value would be if I said that out loud to someone as I walked away,
> > and I would not embarrass my hosts like that.
> >
> > >
> > > This is the first attempt I've seen to portray the tendency use coarse > > > language as some kind of virtue.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Well, call it what you will. I consider the truth a virtue. Now, am I > > going to use the word "fuck" on the air? Hardly. A) I think it would be > > quite illegal. B) I think that is rather direct and much too open. C)
A
> > child may be listening. The WORD fuck leaves nothing to translation.
> > What is, is. Yet, the callsign W5TIT, said as such (and it is), never used > > as name (and it is not), and never open for "fun" discussion on the air
(I > > will not respond to conversation on the air about it--I won't even > > transmit); then a child is quite safe. As I've said in the past, if a child
> > "picks up" on the TIT in my callsign and finds it vulgar, it is not I who > > taught that child to think that way.
> >
> > Remember the character that Julia Roberts played in the movie with Richard
> > Gere...her character is truly remarkable in my opinion. Dharma? Of Dharma
> > and Greg? Another one I identify with. Rosanne's character on her show?
> > Yep, another one. Mimi, from the Drew Carey show? Yep, another one.
And,
> > certainly the character in Julia Roberts' movie, Erin Brokovich(sp). I > > consider the reality that all of those characters play refreshing and meet > > people like that all the time that I instantly like. There's always room

> > and time for the stuffed-shirt lifestyle. Me? I'd rather buy a $6,000.00
> > coffee table just to put my feet up on it. :)
>
> Kim, now that you've explained your views, I've changed my mind.
> I've decided that you just don't know any better.
>
> By the way, those folks you identify with--they aren't real. They're > movie and television characters. This is real life.
>
> Dave K8MN

Aw, Dave. So, you can't handle the truth? And, you don't have any movie heroes? Any depictions of characters that you respect and think about? How 'bout the character that Denzel Washington plays in "Remember the Titans?" How 'bout the character that is played by Mel Gibson in "The Patriot?" Sure, they're not real characters and, yeah, those were movies. OH!! And what about the characters played by Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding in "Men of Honor." But, you mean to tell me that you've never encountered a personal crisis such as theirs and applied what you learned in those movies to the struggles we live here in real life every day? NEVER?!! Wow. That sounds so empty.

By the way, the movies "Erin Brokovich"(sp), "Remember the Titans" and "Men of Honor" were all based on true stories, Dave. You know...real life. REAL life. Sure, I mentioned some additional ones from my original post. But, a tale to be told does not have to be real to learn something from it, Dave. Yeah, I know better. Lots better.

Kim W5TIT

2837. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:23:09 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C08693D.F1DEC86C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25733

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal > >consent.
>
> Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you are > under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive > procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.

Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done without their parents consent.

> And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but
> that of the family involved.

Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense, I won't worry at all about it.

Dave K8MN

2838. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:26:02 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0869EA.F908476B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25734

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > That sounds right. Then it becomes a local problem for folks down there > > to deal with.
>
> Problem? One of the favorite songs around here is,
> "Oh $hit, Would You Look At Them Tits". This is
> C&W Honky Tonk country, Dave, at least down toward > Houston. One of my favorite C&W places has topless > waitresses.

I don't have any favorite C&W places or songs.
As long as your place isn't here and doesn't do curb service, I could care less.

Dave K8MN

2839. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:26:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c086ad8$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25737

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0867FC.57D708A1@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > I think a lot of folks "do" newsgroups for the same reason that they go to a > > wrestling, boxing, or other sporting match, or even the races.
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> For the blood and accidents?
>
> Dave K8MN

Heck yeah. But, it's not "real life" so it's OK.

Kim W5TIT

2840. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:28:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C086A8A.1B669E18@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25736

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C07C66B.1B652AAD@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> > > > THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
> > >
> > > That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> > > Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > > > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> > > Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
> >
> > Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
> > Good luck on your quest.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You mean a vanity "tag" or a vanity call. Your statement is that most > states won't issue a vanity call. I am just wondering what other calls > you're aware of that were not issued plates.

Error noted. I meant vanity plate.

Dave K8MN

2841. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:32:21 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c086c25_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25738

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C08693D.F1DEC86C@earthlink.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal > > >consent.
> >
> > Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you are > > under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive > > procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.
>
> Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
> And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
> Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done > without their parents consent.
>
>
> > And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but > > that of the family involved.
>
> Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense, I > won't worry at all about it.
>
> Dave K8MN

He didn't get the "or" statement in your submission, Rick ("or the business that conducts it is liable").

Kim W5TIT

2842. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:36:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c086d1a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25739

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C086A8A.1B669E18@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C07C66B.1B652AAD@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > Kim's call is an amateur radio call, not a vanity automobile tag (now
> > > > > THERE is an ugly idea). It has plenty to do with amateur radio.
> > > >
> > > > That poses an interesting question. Will the state of Texas issue
> > > > Kim a set of "Mobile Amateur Radio Operator License Plates"? If > > > > so, seems your morality argument goes straight out the window.
> > > > Kim, I've got a spare application. Do you want it?
> > >
> > > Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
> > > Good luck on your quest.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > You mean a vanity "tag" or a vanity call. Your statement is that most > > states won't issue a vanity call. I am just wondering what other calls > > you're aware of that were not issued plates.
>
> Error noted. I meant vanity plate.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Well, we will see. It is my hope to get the tag W5TIT, because that is my callsign. My contention is that the state either issues amateur callsign license plates, or they do not. BUT, should the state choose not to issue a license plate with my callsign on it, then that's a done deal. It's not so important that I'm going to climb that mountain "just 'cuz."

Kim W5TIT

2843. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:48:19 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C086F1D.25B168C2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25740

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C0864F0.777DF156@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:3C0465CC.1897A3BF@earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Kim, I know it may be difficult for you to digest but I don't talk
> > > like > > > > > > that on the air or in public. Let's just say that you and I don't > > > hang
> > > > > > with the same type crowd.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > >
> > > > > >
> > > > > Not difficult at all for me to digest that, Dave. In fact, I don't > know
> > > why > > > > > you felt the impulse or need to tell me--it's a given. One thing's
> for > > > > > sure. I can hang with any type crowd much easier and more > comfortably
> > > than > > > > > you can, obviously. That's the difference between us. Know what > > > gives me
> > > > > the ability to be more flexible than you?
> > > >
> > > > I don't happen to believe that it is true, Kim. I doubt that you'd > feel > > > > very comfortable using the language which makes you "real" all the > time
> > > > if you were in the company of people I associate with.
> > > >
> > >
> > > Dave, for goodness sake. I wouldn't be free and open in an > inappropriate > > > environment. And, before you go off on a tirade, I don't consider the
```

> ham > > > radio venue as the improper venue. Sorry, but I don't and you're not > going > > > to convince me otherwise. However, even at a black tie dinner party
> there > > > would be a certain air of realism about me. I would have no problem > telling
> > > a stuffed shirt he is just that--but in a very, very nice way. (But, I > > > would walk away in grace and hope he'd just let his crystal wine glass > drop > > > to the floor). And, the only person I would hope to do that with would > be a > > > callous bastard, or wimpy bitch.
> > >
> > > >
> > > > I'm certain that > > > > you could use shock value to get some attention but I don't think it > > > > would be the kind of attention you would appreciate.
> > > >
> > >
> > > I don't need attention, Dave. You don't seem to understand that. And, > > > shock value. I am not so sure that I use "shock value" as you probably > view > > > it in the traditional sense. Here's an example, let's get back to the > black > > > tie dinner party. I am making rounds, wearing my fake smile and nodding > at > > > everyone, doing the usual perfunctory hellos and how-are-yous. Once the > > > obligatory round is done, I seek out and find a somewhat charming > discussion
> > > where men and women are politely picking on each other and what it > really > > > sums up to is they are all perfectly miserable with each other and none
> has
> > > the guts or wonder to confront their "loved ones" with their "real" > > > feelings. You can be sure that before I left the group--after having > made > > > several comments about conflict resolution and well it works, mind
> you--I'd > > > pick the most miserable woman of the group, or maybe even man, and > whisper
> > > something like this in their ear as I walked away:
> > >
> > > "You are one huge chicken shit of a human and until you can learn to > deal > > > with your own failures, how can you expect your spouse to live up to and > fix > > > theirs?" Ask me if I care that they would from then on have a pretty > shitty > > > opinion of me. You think I am going to care that someone like that > doesn't > > > like me????!!!! Give me a break! I've hardly got enough time for my > own > > > problems, I don't need theirs, also. AND, what IF the truth I just > spoke

> > > in their ear gets them to thinking and they either make a committment to > > > fixing themselves and their marriage, or they live up to the > responsibility
> > > of ending what is a useless venture?
> > >
> > > Shock value? I don't think so...because I am not doing it to shock > anyone.
> > > Shock value would be if I said that out loud to someone as I walked > away,
> > > and I would not embarrass my hosts like that.
> > >
> > > >
> > > > This is the first attempt I've seen to portray the tendency use coarse > > > > language as some kind of virtue.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > Well, call it what you will. I consider the truth a virtue. Now, am I > > > going to use the word "fuck" on the air? Hardly. A) I think it would > be > > > quite illegal. B) I think that is rather direct and much too open. C)
> A
> > > child may be listening. The WORD fuck leaves nothing to translation.
> > > What is, is. Yet, the callsign W5TIT, said as such (and it is), never > used > > > as name (and it is not), and never open for "fun" discussion on the air
> (I > > > will not respond to conversation on the air about it--I won't even > > > transmit); then a child is quite safe. As I've said in the past, if a > child
> > > "picks up" on the TIT in my callsign and finds it vulgar, it is not I > who > > > taught that child to think that way.
> > >
> > > Remember the character that Julia Roberts played in the movie with > Richard
> > > Gere...her character is truly remarkable in my opinion. Dharma? Of > Dharma
> > > and Greg? Another one I identify with. Rosanne's character on her > show?
> > > Yep, another one. Mimi, from the Drew Carey show? Yep, another one.
> And,
> > > certainly the character in Julia Roberts' movie, Erin Brokovich(sp). I > > > consider the reality that all of those characters play refreshing and > meet > > > people like that all the time that I instantly like. There's always > room

> > > and time for the stuffed-shirt lifestyle. Me? I'd rather buy a > $6,000.00
> > > coffee table just to put my feet up on it. :)
> >
> > Kim, now that you've explained your views, I've changed my mind.
> > I've decided that you just don't know any better.
> >
> > By the way, those folks you identify with--they aren't real. They're > > movie and television characters. This is real life.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Aw, Dave. So, you can't handle the truth?

What truth? It's MOVIES and TELEVISION.

> And, you don't have any movie > heroes? Any depictions of characters that you respect and think about? How > 'bout the character that Denzel Washington plays in "Remember the Titans?"
> How 'bout the character that is played by Mel Gibson in "The Patriot?" > Sure, they're not real characters and, yeah, those were movies. OH!! And > what about the characters played by Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding in "Men > of Honor." But, you mean to tell me that you've never encountered a > personal crisis such as theirs and applied what you learned in those movies > to the struggles we live here in real life every day? NEVER?!!

Probably not since I was ten or eleven.

> Wow. That sounds so empty.

Choosing reality over identifying with TV and movie characters is empty?

> By the way, the movies "Erin Brokovich"(sp), "Remember the Titans" and "Men > of Honor" were all based on true stories, Dave. You know...real life.

We all know what the words "based on" mean when used by movie makers.
Are you asking if I watch and enjoy TV shows or movies, the answer is
yes. If you are asking if I identify with movie characters, the answer is no.

> REAL life. Sure, I mentioned some additional ones from my original post.
> But, a tale to be told does not have to be real to learn something > from it, Dave.

Ever read a non-fiction book and then watch the movie made from it?
Ever notice that the movie version is always greatly imbellished and that sometimes the ending is completely different?

> Yeah, I know better. Lots better.

Can't prove it from what I've read here, either in the initial posting or your follow up.

Dave K8MN

2844. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:50:28 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C086FA4.A727DB03@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25741

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C08693D.F1DEC86C@earthlink.net...
> > Rick Adams wrote:
> > >
> > > On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > wrote:
> > >
> > > >You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal > > > >consent.
> > >
> > > Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you are > > > under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive > > > procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.
> >
> > Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
> > And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
> > Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done > > without their parents consent.
> >
> >
> > > And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but > > > that of the family involved.
> >
> > Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense, I > > won't worry at all about it.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> He didn't get the "or" statement in your submission, Rick ("or the business > that conducts it is liable").

Sure, I got it. The beer sellers, the drug dealers, the liquor sellers--they're all liable too. It doesn't seem to slow up many of 'em.

Dave K8MN

2845. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:40 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <382AA305F6CFB6DB.71E0BC3B8776B176.BFD3C38BE460C84F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25743

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:49:41 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Most states won't issue a vanity call with anything suggestive in it.
>Good luck on your quest.

There's a Chevy driven by an attractive woman in Lansing that has the license plate: "BIG 1S," a woman who works for a massage parlor in Wyandotte, MI has (according to her niece who was my student) the license number "CUM AGN," and according to the Secretary of State's office, "BIG ONE" is owned by a man in Detroit.

Most states have an Amateur Radio Plate form that allows hams to order license plates with their call sign on it and all they need do is confirm the call sign is valid (i.e., show their license) when they order them.

I don't think Kim would have the slightest bit of trouble getting them myself--after all, to see any harm in her call takes a dirty mind, and it's pretty hard to find ANY mind, dirty or not, in a bureaucracy like the DMV.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2846. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C3E9D5B375553A57.FB72067E786E6FDE.836A935E70A11243@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25742

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:30:26 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Gee, not many posts ago you admitted to being a radical.

For someone who insists on quote backs, you're remarkably unwilling to use them yourself.

Show me where I identified myself as a "RADICAL." Not where I accepted someone else's definition of me as a "sixties radical," which tends to imply only dissatisfaction with the existent political system, but as a "stand-alone" _radical_.

>I like the new >definition of "radical" you've come up with. All this time I thought >that anyone could be a radical over any number of issues.

Perhaps if you took a political science class, you wouldn't demonstrate such a lack of knowledge. A radical is DEFINED as an individual who seeks to implement an extreme left-wing political structure, usually by violent overthrow of the current system. In contrast, btw, a reactionary is the same thing to the far RIGHT end of the political spectrum (i.e., a fascist).

>Why should I have to include the others? Many of your perceived >supressed "rights" have to do with sex. Maybe you'd like to known as >the "Drug libertarian".

Would you like to be known as the earthlink ham, dave? Or the www ham? How about the moralistic ham? No? Then why would you think I would want to be limited to one form of libertarianism myself?

You choose to attack Kim's choice of a call sign here--does that mean that the only area of ham radio you feel needs "cleaning up" is in the area of call signs? Is your interest in ham radio limited to the letters in the call signs of other hams?

I list sexual and drug issues because they are the most obvious examples in our society--but I could as easily make a case for prohibiting the government from banning alternative medicine, abortion, polygamy, or any other private issue. The ones I used, however, are the most obvious example in our society and thus the best to use, from my perspective.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2847. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <327A50B838B940DA.92B82270B3D057C5.C3133FEFCC503FAD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25744

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 07:55:53 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>I've often wondered how something could have been so right back >then and so wrong now.

Back then people valued their freedom and rights. Now their only concern is protectionism and job security.

Besides, that was before the religious revival of the early 19th. Century

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2848. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <868DF2626E76634E.6AF43579E279E1FF.4CB3DC9CB1BD985F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25746

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:36:54 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:36:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
>> wrote:
>>
>> >To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.
>>
>> Yum, yum, let's eat mud pies.
>>
>> Sounds pretty disgusting to me!
>>
>> BTW, ever seen some of the flavors of Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream?
>
>You really want to head off on another diversion?

Er, Dave.

YOU made the statement about "trashy ice cream flavor names"
not existing, not me.

I merely demonstrated that you are wrong.

I guess every time I do that you find it easier to claim I'm trying to "head off on another diversion," right?

>> >I'm a >> >radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue >> >relating to amateur radio.
>>
>> No you aren't. You're a radio amateur posting in an amateur >> radio newsgroup about an issue involving the private personal decision >> of a fellow ham--and insulting or offending everyone who doesn't share >> your view. Would you consider that appropriate behavior on the air? If >> not then it has no place here, either.
>
>Your writing of the dismissive "No you aren't" doesn't negate my >statement.

No it doesn't. I disputes it. But it doesn't negate it.

>It looks like you are another of those folks who tries to >make the perpetrator look like a victim.

Sure, Dave. Every one is picking on you and you're just defending yourself by attacking Kim, right?

>Kim isn't a victim.

Would you tell that to rape and DV victims, too?

>She chose >to do what she did and she has outlined, on a number of occasions, why >she did it.

Yup.

She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she
did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.

>Now she's taking her lumps for it from those who >disapprove.

No, she's being unfairly attacked and ridiculed by people who can't stand to mind their own business and are so moralistic they insist that only THEY know what is best for the ARS, and for Kim.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2849. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:42 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <32BB5A302881536D.9B99749C19EF4CE3.A31CD85F148C2CB3@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25745

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 05:54:41 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Just to be certain, I asked my wife. Not only does she not use the >language you earlier ascribed to all women and later to most women. She >assures me that that she has never heard my mother, my sister, the >neighbors or any of her friends use such language in an "all woman"
>situation.

Funny, I asked my own wife (age 46, so she's not a member of a more liberal modern generation) and she said the language was VERY normal among women--including those in colleges and universities.

I also commented on this to some friends of ours who are blue collar and younger (on the theory that perhaps we're from a more "liberated" period) and they agreed with Chris (my wife) and couldn't imagine that a term such as "tit" could possibly offend anyone in the modern era (that was the consensus of about 7 people, 3 men and 4 women, aged from 34 to 45).

Considering the fact that I live in one of the more conservative parts of the US (the midwest) in a rural area, you must live in a VERY conservative community if your wife isn't an exception to the rule in your area (which she may well be, of course).

>I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male >group. I guess that makes you "real".

A "male" group, Dave?

It's an _amateur radio_ group!

What a sexist statement to make!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2850. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 05:53:42 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <434D993DC066CFAA.F37727D2777A3684.57DF22A41986A01B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25747

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:43:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>...not to mention that you must have been one of the youngest freedom >riders ever. You must have been what--seventeen in '63?

18--I was born on VE Day in 1945.

And, to be honest, one of the most attractive things about the freedom riders at the time (apart from the fact that as someone who lived for years on the East side of Detroit--one of VERY few whites in my neighborhood--I honestly didn't understand why anyone would discriminate against blacks) was the fact that when you were on the busses or in the Southern towns you were provided a place to eat and sleep--and I was homeless from my 13th birthday until I joined the Navy at 19.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2851. ARNewsline 1268 - Nov 30 2001

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 06:39:23 UTC
From: radionews@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011201013923.22419.00000324@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 25748

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1268 - NOV 30, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1268 with a release date of Friday, November 30th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T. A enforcement issue involving a contest station and lots of news on ham radio in space are first on this weeks Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1268 coming your way right now.

(Billboard Cart Here)

**

ENFORCEMENT: SPLIT FREQUENCY OPERATION BRINGS INTERFERENCE WARNING NOTICE FROM THE FCC

If you are operating split frequency and another ham calls you on the phone to tell you that you are interfering with his QSO, listen to what he or she says. It could save you from getting a citation from the FCC. This advice comes from many operators after the FCC’s chief ham radio rules enforcer Riley Hollingsworth says he's letting stand a Warning Notice he sent to a Pennsylvania radio amateur after receiving allegations of deliberate interference that took place during a contest.

--
Hollingsworth: “We reaffirmed our Warning Letter to Joseph Brue, K3NM, of Pennsylvania in the case of interference he caused when operating split on 40 meters during a recent contest.”
--

The background on this story is quite complicated and will take a few minutes to explain it in detail. This is because it is very important to any ham who operates spit frequency in a contest or while chasing D-X.

The issues involves Joseph Brue, K3NM. He was sent the Warning Notice on September 12th after a Louisiana ham named John King, K5PGW, officially complained about a September 9 incident on 40 meter SSB. King claims that K3NM was operating split mode on during the Worked All Europe Contest. King says that during part of that contest period he was in QSO with Roy Ezell, K9ROY, in Kentucky when K3NM came on frequency. King says that K3NM did not bother to ask if the frequency was clear before beginning to call C-Q contest.

King says that he and K9ROY attempted to contact the operator at K3NM and alert him about the QRM. Unfortunately. he was listening outside the US phone band. Since neither King or Ezell could reach K3NM by radio, K9ROY reverted to an older form of communication. He telephoned Brue, to let him know that his station was interfering with his contact and asking him to move. In fact, King claims that there were two calls made to K3NM but that station never did change frequency.

And here is where it all gets a bit more complex. You see, the person operating K3NM’s station at the time of the incident was not Joseph Brue. Rather a guest in the person of the Matt Vanni, callsign LU9AY. And it was Vanni who first responded to the FCC. He said that he could not hear K5PGW or K9ROY. So, even though he acknowledged the phone calls, he continued operating the station on the same transmit frequency. He also told the FCC that he always monitors his transmit frequency whenever he operates split frequency. Brue later confirmed Vanni's version of what happened to the FCC. But he also acknowledged receiving the two telephone calls from the complaining hams.

So why issue a warning letter? Hollingsworth explains it in the reaffirmation message itself. His key words to Brue are these:

"The fact remains, however, that both you and Vanni had notice, directly from the complainant operator in two separate telephone calls, that your station was indeed interfering with specific ongoing communications."

Hollingsworth added that based on the phone calls from Ezell that it was not good Amateur practice for the K3NM operators to ignore the complainant and continue operating the station. At least not without a good faith attempt at compromise or taking corrective action.

And the bottom line for all hams may be what Hollingsworth wrote in the original September 12th letter to Brue. There he said that Amateurs are responsible for taking steps to make sure they do not interfere with ongoing communications, and contest participants have no greater rights to any specific frequency than other hams. (RAIN, FCC)

**

RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11 meter C-B operators from using non-FCC certified transmitting equipment. Adopted last September 12th but only now becoming widely known, Tacoma City Ordinance 26851 amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways. First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of non-approved radio equipment by CB’ers. And if a CB’er breaks the new law he or she is subject to Section

8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a misdemeanor punishable to a fine of up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.

Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an earlier amendment to the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which was adopted by Congress a couple of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, not an FCC action, any challenges by C-B operators to the new Tacoma local law would have to go through the federal courts. As far as we can determine, the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators and no other radio operators in the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)

**

LEGAL ISSUES: ANTENNA LAWS WILL BITE SOUTH AFRICAN AMATEURS

Ham radio operators in South Africa have something new to worry about. Expensive antenna regulation and added costs for evaluating an antenna installation. Q-News Graham Kemp has the details:

--

Following a lecture on Antenna regulation and planning, South African Clubs in many provinces have been urged to meet and appoint a mutual provincial representative to work in this field.

Tim Ellam, a Telecommunications lawyer, sketched the situation in Canada but the hams in ZS land soon discovered they are worse off! Amateurs there could soon be paying in access of Rand 10 000 to have a scooping study done before submitting plans for approval.

That is the reason the SARL installed the CPAS committee, a body with members representing each province to monitor development so that timely intervention can put the case for Amateur Radio Towers. This was successfully accomplished in the KwaZulu-Natal.

CPAS now has KZN and Eastern Cape and Western Cape represented. Will the rest of the country wait till it is too late?

--

According to Kemp, Tim Ellam put forward many useful suggestions and dealt extensively the South African situation. For our listeners in South Africa, C.P.A.S. itself is on e-mail at cpas@intekom.co.za (SARL via Q-News)

**

BREAK 1

This is ham radio news coming to you from the United States of America. we are the Amateur Radio Newsline, heard on great bulletin stations around the world, including the 145.21 MHz repeater serving Andover Minnesota.

(5 sec pause here)

**

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: EXPEDITION 4 CREW ON ITS WAY TO THE ISS

A new crew is headed to the International Space Station and could be there by the time this newscast goes to air. This time a Russian is in command of two Americans and all three have an interest in ham radio. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Roy Neal, K6DUE, gives us some insight into the Expedition 4 crew and what to expect while they are on board the I-S-S.

--

The new crew board the International Space Station plan to work in some hamming between work sessions of their sixteen hour daily schedule. Astronauts Dan Bursch and Carl Walz, both Flight Engineers are KD5PNU and KC5TIE and their commander, Cosmonaut Yuri Onufrienko once spent 193 days on the Mir Space

Station and was on the radio a lot.

They plan to use NA1SS, the amateur station on board the ISS, whenever they get a chance. If they come close to the records set by Frank Culbertson and Susan Helms of the last two station crews, it will be surprising. That's because they have a very ambitious work schedule.

Among other things, they are charged with delivering and installing a huge 356 foot long girder-like truss. They plan at least eight space walks, two of which will be used to install new ham radio antennas outside the space stations crew quarters.

Add a few such things as changing out the stations command and control computers with new, solid state memory units and playing host to two visiting shuttle flights and a Russian Progress taxi mission, plus more than 400 hours of carrying out scientific experiments, and you begin to get the idea. When the Expedition 4 crew comes back to Earth next May..they'll need a rest. Meanwhile, we hams look forward to at least a few contacts with them on 2 meters, via NA1SS, the ham radio station on board.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Roy Neal. K6DUE.

--

A new crew is not the only ham radio change taking place on board the International Space Station. According to ARISS Chairman Frank Bauer, KA3HDO the new ham radio antenna system mentioned in Roy's report has been approved for flight and manifested to be flown on the STS-108 flight. Once installed around the perimeter of the Russian Service Module early next year, the new I-S-S ham radio antennas will cover the H-F, VHF, UHF and microwave bands up to 2.4 Gigahertz.

**

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: AMSAT THANKS DONAHUE

Newly elected ARRL Southeastern Division Vice Director Sandy Donahue, W4RU, has received his first award. In fact he got it before the ballots had even been counted.

The recognition came at the recent 2001 AMSAT Symposium awards which included a presentation to in grateful appreciation for work as the ARRL Liaison for the event. W4RU's dedicated service and hard work in this role was also well noted.

**

CONVENTIONS AND HAMFESTS: RSGB STOPS ORGANIZING TRADE SHOWS

The Radio Society of Great Britain says that its no longer going to organize ham radio trade shows. Instead it will participate at conventions organized on a local level. That a major change in policy as we hear from Jeramy Boot, G4NJH:

--

With the continuing success of the RSGB Regional organization it is becoming possible for the RSGB to have a presence at an increasing number of amateur radio events, rallies and trade shows around the country. In view of this enhanced activity, the RSGB has decided that it will no longer itself organize amateur radio trade shows.

The RSGB believes that there is a need for more convention-style meetings where radio amateurs can discuss new techniques and other innovations in seminar-like events and that such events represent a better use of the RSGB's resources.

Jeramy Boot, G4NJH.

--

In other words, the moneys saved can go into other projects aimed at furthering the cause of ham radio in the U-K. (RSGB)

**

CONVENTIONS AND HAMFESTS: GREENFIELD INDIANA

Things are a lot better here in the USA where there’s a hamfest almost every weekend. And Brad Hewson KB9VZL tells Amateur Radio Newsline that the Hancock County Amateur Radio Club Hamfest December 9th from 8 am to 2 p.m. It all happens at the Greenfield Indiana at the Greenfield Central High School with talk-in on the 145.33 MHz W9ATG repeater. For more information please contact Brad by e-mail to kb9vzl@excite.com. (KB9VZL)

**

CONVENTIONS AND HAMFESTS: HAM RADIO UNIVERSITY 2002

New Yorkers attention. Mark down Sunday, January 20, 2002, for the next Ham Radio University session. The first 2002 session will be a part of the ARRL’s New York City and Long Island Section Convention. Sponsored by the Great South Bay Amateur Radio Club, both events will be held at the Babylon Town Hall Annex in North Babylon, Long Island. Ham Radio University 2002 will be a technical education forum featuring twenty one-hour presentations along with special forums geared to the non-ham as well as the experienced Amateur Radio operator. The focus will be hands on, with many demonstrations including emergency communications. For more information, contact Chairman Phil Lewis N2MUN or New York City Long Island Section Manager George Tranos, N2GA at their callbook address. (K2DO)

**

RADIO AT WAR: SHORTWAVE RETURNS TO AFGHANISTAN

A new shortwave radio station is broadcasting to Afghanistan. According to the Media Network e-newsletter, the arrival of Radio Voice of Afghanistan seemed to surprise just about everyone except those behind it. Who are they? As of airtime, they have chosen not to reveal their identity.

It was Glenn Hauser's DX Listening Digest that broke the news to the world. Then a Mexican listener to Radio Netherlands Spanish service, Adolfo Murrieta González, claimed credit for the first logging on November 17th. Clandestine Radio Watch was soon on the chase as well with Takuya Hirayama of it's Japan Bureau listening in. Hirayama understands Pashto and Dari. He wrote a summary of the broadcast on November 22nd. Read more in the Media Network Afghanistan media dossier at http://www.rnw.nl/realradio/html/afghanistan.html. If you want to listen to the audio sample go to http://www.omroep.nl/cgi-bin/streams?/rnw/medianetwork/rvoa011123.rm (Media Network)

**

RADIO IN THE USA: CLEAR CHANNEL BUYING ACKERLY

The United States largest radio broadcaster, is getting a lot bigger. This as Clear Channel Communications Inc., announces that it is buying the Ackerley Group, which owns billboards and other outdoor advertising as well as radio and television stations.

Clear Channel, operates about 1,180 radio and 18 TV stations in the United States, already is involved in events promotion and billboard advertising. It is paying about $500 million in stock to acquire Ackerly. (Broadcast Weekly)

**

NOAA WEATHER RADIO: CRAIG AND DONNA NOT MUCH BETTER THAN PERFECT PAUL

Two well respected broadcasters who also happen to be ham radio operators have voiced their opinions on the new voices tapped by the National Weather Service to replace the not so perfect -- Perfect Paul. For those not aware, Perfect Paul is the nickname given to that mechanical sounding computerized voice that currently voices NOAA Weather Radio. Take a listen:

--
Perfect Paul Audio Here
--

The closest thing to it our world of Amateur Radio are the automated voices heard on many repeaters. You know, those announcements that say this is the W-A-3-such and such repeater. The ones that users are always complaining about.

In the case of Perfect Paul, the NOAA Radio received so many complaints that he will soon be replaced by two new and far less computer sounding voices named Craig and Donna. This came after months of evaluating voice technologies and receiving public input, including over 19,000 Internet survey comments. Based on this input, NOAA awarded Siemens Information and Communication Network a $633,615 contract for the voice improvement software product, known as Speechify. Siemens teamed with SpeechWorks International of Boston to provide software that combines phonetic sounds with natural language modeling. Heres a sample:

--
Audio Here
--

A lot better than Perfect Paul? Some say yes but Richard Rudman, W6TIA, is not that enthusiastic. Rudman is the chairman of the EAS National Advisory Committee and the Los Angeles County local emergency committee. He is quoted in the November 21st issue of the trade publication Radio World as saying he wished that the committee choosing the new voices for NOAA Weather Radio would have waited for something better to come along. W6TIA says that the new voices chosen are an improvement, but still have major shortcomings with regard to quality and inflection issues that bother him.

Also quoted in the Radio World article is Chris Boone, WB5ITT. He says that the voices still sound computer-like and canned. Boone says he can hear the digital artifacts in them and would not put them on a broadcast station. Even so, the computerized Craig and Donna would be a welcome change to the automatic I-D voices used on most ham radio repeaters today. (Radio World, NOAA, NWS, others)

**

BREAK 2

By telephone, satellite and the World Wide Web, we are the amateur Radio Newsline with links to the world at our only official website - www.arnewsline.org.

**

HAM RADIO ON THE BOOKSHELF: TUNE IN THE UNIVERSE

“Tune In The Universe” is a new book on CD-ROM by SETI League Director H. Paul Shuch, N6TX. The book is unique in that it is both interactive with the reader and because it can be read using any web browser. No special reader software is required.

Why a book now? N6TX tells Amateur Radio Newsline that its kind of overdue:

--
Shuch: “Ive been on the lecture circuit for SETI for the past seven years and everywhere I go people ask if I have a book about all of this. Well, we have a website but not everybody has an Internet connection and some other peoples download speeds are a bit slow. So I took the best material from seven years of running the SETI League and tried to put it together in one convenient place.”
--

And that’s exactly what Dr. Shuch has done. Called a ham radio operators guide to the search for extraterrestrial intelligence, the book is divided into six sections that cover every aspect of ham radio’s involvement in SETI as well as the ongoing search itself. Also included are a mix of photos and even some songs that Dr. Shuch says should educate as well as entertain. Why music you ask? N6TX says that its a fun way to learn about anything:

--

Shuch: “As any teacher knows, memory is enhanced and multiple learning styles are accommodated by invoking as many different sensory pathways as possible. That is, we educators try to stimulate the students auditory, visual and tactile systems all at once to maximize the learning experience. Why do you think we are always writing on a chalk-board and asking you to take notes while we drone on in a monotone?

Somewhere along the line in my teaching career I figured out that music was another sensory pathway worth stimulating. And, just maybe would make my lectures a tad less monotonous. So I began introducing songs as learning aids.

--

Tune In The Universe" is published by the American Radio Relay League and is priced at under $25. For more information visit the League's website at www.arrl.org. More about the SETI League is also to be found in cyberspace. It's at www.setileague.org. (N6TX, SETI League, ARNewsline(tm))

**

HAM RADIO AND EDUCATION: FAR ANNOUNCES SCHOLARSHIPS

Speaking of education, the Foundation for Amateur Radio, in Washington, D.C. says that it plans to administer 62 scholarships for the 2002 through 2003 academic year. The foundation, which is made up of more than seventy-five Amateur Radio Clubs fully funds seven of these scholarships using the income from grants and its annual hamfest. The remaining fifty-five are administered without cost to the donors. For more information or an application, please contact the F-A-R Scholarships, PO Box 831, Riverdale, Maryland. The zipcode is 20783. You can also check the website at www.amateurradio-far.org (FAR elease)

**

HAM RADIO ON THE INTERNET: NEW FLYING HAMS REMAILER

Joe Della Barba, N3HGB says that he has started a new Internet mailing list for anyone interested in airmobile ham radio. In a web posting, Joe says that he has been operating 2 meter airmobile for years now and finds it to be lot of fun. Joe notes that A-P-R-S adds a whole new dimension to airmobile operations these days as well. To become a part of that discussion and lots more you sign up by sending an e-mail to cqairmobile-subscribe@yahoogroups.com. (CQAIRMOBILE)

**

INTERNATIONAL - CANADA: DISABLED EXAMS

On the international front, word that an Industry Canada document pertaining to the examination of disabled candidates will be ready for incorporation into rules by January 31, 2002. This document, based on a proposal from Radio Amateurs of Canada, will provide guidance to medical doctors when asked to justify an exemption for disabled candidates for the Canadian Amateur Radio examination process. (RAC)

**

INTERNATIONAL NEW ZEALAND: RADIO EDUCATION TRUST

Amateur Radio Newsline’s South Pacific Bureau correspondent Jim Meachan, ZL2BHF reports that a charitable foundation called the NZART Radioscience Education Trust, founded in January 1998 is taking root. Jim explains that the trust was formed to help and encourage persons wishing to further their education in the science of radio. ZL2BHF says that the trust is financed from income produced from invested donations. More information can be obtained from the NZART web page at http://www.nzart.org.nz/nzart/nzart/trustweb.html (NZART)

**

DX

In the DX department, K5OE reports that OM5CM in the Slovak Republic has been active the AMSAT Oscar 10 satellite. Also, ZS2ACP in South Africa recently created a weekend pile-up on AO-40, operating when both Europe and North America were in his window. (GB2RS)

Meantime, a little bit lower in frequency, well, take a listen:

--
6 m audio here
--

That was N0JK portable HC8 working the world the weekend of November 24th. And he was not the only D-X being heard. The VHF Reflector was loaded with reports from around the world of unexpected F 2 openings as more and more hams buy radio gear and discover the magic of the Magic Band. (VHF Reflector - audio supplied by KC6WFS)

And an Internet posting from the ARRL’s Wayne Mills N7NG says that an operation from war torn Afghanistan has been approved for DXCC credit. Mills post says that The DXCC Desk has received acceptable documentation for YA5T operated by ON4WW, ON6TT, S53R or SM7PKK. The documentation is for QSOs made November 20, 2001 and after. No other callsigns or operations have been approved as of this date. (VHF Reflector, OPDX, other DX remailers)

**

THAT FINAL ITEM: A REPEATER CONTACT CONTEST?

And finally this week, while we here in the United States frown on contesters interfering with repeater contacts, down-under its a different story. Can you believe that Australia has a contest where only contacts made over repeaters count toward the final score? Well they do and Q-News Graham Kemp, VK4BB, is back again with the details:

--

Westlakes unique CQ Repeater Contest where amateurs are encouraged to put a little life into usually quiet repeaters. The aim of all contests is to promote good will between amateurs and to encourage on air activity. The big difference with this CQ Repeater contest is that all contacts MUST be made on repeaters.

The rules have been even simpler. Contest numbers do not have to be exchanged - just keep a record of the station spoken to and on which repeater and at what time the contact was made.

Contest Period is from 0001 local from 1st of January 2002 to 2359 local on the 7th January. The bands are 10 Meters, 6 Meters, 2 Meters and 70 centimeters. The mode is FM only ad scoring is 1 point for each contact. It doesn't get any simpler than that!

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Graham Kemp, VK4BB, of Q-News Australia.
--

Could such a contest be successful in North America? Maybe, but we do not know of any repeater owners who really want to find out. (Q-News)

**

NEWSCAST CLOSE

With thanks to Alan Labs, Amateur News Weekly, AMSAT, the ARRL, the CGC Communicator, CQ Magazine, the FCC, the Ohio Penn DX Bulletin, Radio Netherlands, Rain, the RSGB and Australia's Q-News, that's all from the Amateur Radio Newsline(tm). Our e-mail address is newsline@arnewsline.org. More information is available at Amateur Radio Newsline's(tm) only official website located at www.arnewsline.org. You can also write to us or support us at Amateur Radio Newsline(tm), P.O. Box 660937, Arcadia, California 91066.

All amateurs Novice through Extra are eligible. Awards are decided by the Awards Committee, based partially upon the information received. Magazine articles, newsletters, newspaper clippings, videos and the like are appreciated but cannot be returned. The deadline for nominations is January 31, 2002. Nominations can be submitted by US Mail to Post Office Box 964, Dayton Ohio 45401 or by completing the convenient e-form on the web at www.hamvention.org.

For now, with Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, at the editors desk, I'm Jeff Clark, K8JAC, saying God Bless America, 73, and we thank you for listening."
Amateur Radio Newsline(tm) is Copyright 2001. All rights reserved.

2852. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 06:44:10 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C087C3A.B328170@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25749

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:30:26 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Gee, not many posts ago you admitted to being a radical.
>
> For someone who insists on quote backs, you're remarkably > unwilling to use them yourself.
>
> Show me where I identified myself as a "RADICAL." Not where I > accepted someone else's definition of me as a "sixties radical," which > tends to imply only dissatisfaction with the existent political > system, but as a "stand-alone" _radical_.

What's a "stand along" radical? You did accept the term "sixties radical".

> >I like the new > >definition of "radical" you've come up with. All this time I thought > >that anyone could be a radical over any number of issues.
>
> Perhaps if you took a political science class, you wouldn't > demonstrate such a lack of knowledge. A radical is DEFINED as an > individual who seeks to implement an extreme left-wing political > structure, usually by violent overthrow of the current system. In > contrast, btw, a reactionary is the same thing to the far RIGHT end of > the political spectrum (i.e., a fascist).

Neat. So a "sixties radical" would be a guy who is, according to your definition, a sixties communist. Have I got it right now? And a man who has developed radical new cancer treatment is using leftist treatment?

> >Why should I have to include the others? Many of your perceived > >supressed "rights" have to do with sex. Maybe you'd like to known as > >the "Drug libertarian".
>
> Would you like to be known as the earthlink ham, dave? Or the > www ham? How about the moralistic ham? No? Then why would you think I > would want to be limited to one form of libertarianism myself?

You know, Rick; you could use any of those to describe me and it wouldn't particularly chafe me.

> You choose to attack Kim's choice of a call sign here--does > that mean that the only area of ham radio you feel needs "cleaning up"
> is in the area of call signs? Is your interest in ham radio limited to > the letters in the call signs of other hams?

For purposes of my argument, you may assume that it is the issue I am dealing with here and now. As to the last part, you must not spend much time on the air.

> I list sexual and drug issues because they are the most > obvious examples in our society--but I could as easily make a case for > prohibiting the government from banning alternative medicine, > abortion, polygamy, or any other private issue. The ones I used, > however, are the most obvious example in our society and thus the best > to use, from my perspective.

I don't happen to think that the examples you used are the most obvious example. I enjoy seeing your other examples though. It helps me to understand what kind of man you are.

Dave K8MN

2853. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 06:48:13 UTC
From: Rickhit@att.net
Message-ID: <3c087cd2.116957501@netnews.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25750

On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 21:54:56 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
>news:20011129213914.10701.00003821@nso-mv.aol.com...
>> In article
><7DA18F9749B0FD30.ACC2E8591B765D9E.C41133D55EC5843D@lp.airnews.net>,
>> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>>
>> >
>> > Give it up--according to the resident "experts" here the FCC
>> >has far more serious problems to consider--like Kim's call sign.
>> >You'll just have to wait your turn.
>> >
>> > Rick
>>
>> Rick:
>>
>> I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to >> consider. It is her problem to consider!
>>
>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>>
>
>Larry, Larry, Larry. When ya gonna get this right? My callsing is not my >problem! It's yours.
>
>Kim W5TIT
>
Don't worry Kim, I like your call letters :-)

The other Rick, KC2ESD

2854. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 06:57:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C087F43.1A3D438F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25851

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:36:54 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 13:36:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> >> wrote:
> >>
> >> >To my knowledge, there aren't any trashy ice cream flavor names.
> >>
> >> Yum, yum, let's eat mud pies.
> >>
> >> Sounds pretty disgusting to me!
> >>
> >> BTW, ever seen some of the flavors of Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream?
> >
> >You really want to head off on another diversion?
>
> Er, Dave.
>
> YOU made the statement about "trashy ice cream flavor names"
> not existing, not me.

Preposterous. Cecil Moore got us on the ice cream wagon. I used my comment as dismissive and irrelevant.

> I merely demonstrated that you are wrong.

How did you do that?

> I guess every time I do that you find it easier to claim I'm > trying to "head off on another diversion," right?

You haven't yet done it. I'll let you know my view when that takes place.

> >> >I'm a > >> >radio amateur posting in an amateur radio newsgroup about an issue > >> >relating to amateur radio.
> >>
> >> No you aren't. You're a radio amateur posting in an amateur > >> radio newsgroup about an issue involving the private personal decision > >> of a fellow ham--and insulting or offending everyone who doesn't share > >> your view. Would you consider that appropriate behavior on the air? If > >> not then it has no place here, either.
> >

> >Your writing of the dismissive "No you aren't" doesn't negate my > >statement.
>
> No it doesn't. I disputes it. But it doesn't negate it.

Then, whoopty doooo.

> >It looks like you are another of those folks who tries to > >make the perpetrator look like a victim.
>
> Sure, Dave. Every one is picking on you and you're just > defending yourself by attacking Kim, right?
>
> >Kim isn't a victim.
>
> Would you tell that to rape and DV victims, too?

Do those now apply to Kim's situation? You're really up on your soapbox now.

>
> >She chose
> >to do what she did and she has outlined, on a number of occasions, why > >she did it.
>
> Yup.
>
> She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she > did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, > or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call > sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.

None of us who do something stupid, issue an invitation to be rebuked for it but it is certainly difficult to dodge responsibility.

> >Now she's taking her lumps for it from those who > >disapprove.
>
> No, she's being unfairly attacked and ridiculed by people who > can't stand to mind their own business and are so moralistic they > insist that only THEY know what is best for the ARS, and for Kim.

Naw, I think she's first taken shots for her choice. I think she takes additional shots for her brassiness in being so flip about her reasons for her choice. She has made it clear that she doesn't care what anybody thinks. That has become obvious.

I'd rather accept my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the view of her most frequent libertarian defender. I'm not bound to accept your "libertarian-with-attitude" view any more than I'm bound to accept Kim's choice as appropriate.

Dave K8MN

2855. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 07:04:57 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25852

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 05:54:41 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Just to be certain, I asked my wife. Not only does she not use the > >language you earlier ascribed to all women and later to most women. She > >assures me that that she has never heard my mother, my sister, the > >neighbors or any of her friends use such language in an "all woman" > >situation.
>
> Funny, I asked my own wife (age 46, so she's not a member of a > more liberal modern generation) and she said the language was VERY > normal among women--including those in colleges and universities.
>
> I also commented on this to some friends of ours who are blue > collar and younger (on the theory that perhaps we're from a more > "liberated" period) and they agreed with Chris (my wife) and couldn't > imagine that a term such as "tit" could possibly offend anyone in the > modern era (that was the consensus of about 7 people, 3 men and 4 > women, aged from 34 to 45).
>
> Considering the fact that I live in one of the more > conservative parts of the US (the midwest) in a rural area, you must > live in a VERY conservative community if your wife isn't an exception > to the rule in your area (which she may well be, of course).

This is a conservative area. My folks live in the Cincinnati area. My sister lives in Los Angeles. Cincinnati is a pretty conservative town
but L.A.?

> >I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems > >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male > >group. I guess that makes you "real".
>
> A "male" group, Dave?
>
> It's an _amateur radio_ group!
>
> What a sexist statement to make!

I wrote "a mostly male group" which you translate to "a 'male' group".

Of course it is an amateur radio group!

What a silly and deliberately false translation you've made!

Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the contradiction didn't you understand?

Dave K8MN

2856. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 07:52:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <071FFE7033086E72.CC839EE20C0807F3.E0040A8A1A8450B7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25855

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 07:35:32 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Except with a debit card, I can't float an interest free loan.

Use a PayPal MC/Debit card.

They pay you interest on the money you deposit in the account and you receive a 1.5% rebate on all MC purchases.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2857. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 07:52:17 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <32659EB8AA38FECE.E4EDDFF4A96811FE.C6B53CCCBC6FA706@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25853

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 06:53:37 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> That brings up an interesting issue, Kim. Several years ago, a >television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a >male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering >their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member >of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person. What do you >think, Kim? Can a man truly be friends (not a co-worker, associate, or >an aquantance - a friend) with a woman without ever having thoughts >about sex? Can a woman? What about your male friends? Can you honestly >say they've never had sexual thoughts about you? Can you honestly say >that you've never had sexual thoughts about them?
>
> To answer my own question (it's not fair to ask a question like this >without being willing to answer it also), I think such a relationship >is possible, but it is extremely rare. Most people who have friends of >the opposite sex are sexually attracted to them.

I've found just the opposite to be true, Dwight. I have a number of friends who are women, and my wife has several friends who are men. In NONE of those cases has the thought of a sexual relationship ever entered into either of our heads. They are _friends_ not potential bed mates. Perhaps there are men who are incapable of viewing a woman as a friend and equal w/o the concept of going to bed with her occurring (certainly that seems to be the case for Larry, given his views on the subject), but neither I, nor any of my friends (to my knowledge) are among that group.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2858. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 07:52:17 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <5682A69BB31F28A9.0FF225ABE6ECABBA.683F1C557363050C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25854

On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 10:33:43 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>And some people enjoy yanking other people's chains. :-)

Immensely!!! ;-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2859. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 08:19:52 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C089287.A470B5EE@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25856

CAM wrote:
>
> You implied that the Libertarian Party > is a dead horse while it is in fact > more successful than it ever has been > before. The Libertarian Party is > probably the largest third party in > the US.

But their stated goal is to be a national political party, not just a party that wins a few local elections (and, yes, 67 is a few when you consider the total number of local elections), so my statement still stands. On a national basis, they have had almost no success after decades of trying. What else would you call that other than a dead horse?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2860. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 08:33:17 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0895AA.A0DBD95F@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25857

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> I simply disagree that my wife having > a one on one conversation with another > man in a coffeshop is anything that > would (or should) even slightly > undermine my trust in her.

Well, I'm glad you feel that way in your relationship, Sean. What I said, and I think what Larry was saying, is not rule or law that all relationships have to comply with. It is instead a basic concept of two individuals fostering trust in a relationship, and doing nothing to undermine that trust. If your relationship is different (that type of incident would not undermine trust), it still does nothing to change the basic concept. There are other situations in your relationship where that concept still applies, isn't there?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2861. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 08:51:11 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0899D9.5A5E12E5@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25858

CAM wrote:
>
> Sean G Gilley wrote:
> > Adults spend time with other adults,
> > and if I can't trust my wife enough
> > to trust her to spend time alone
> > with another man, then my relationship > > isn't very good to begin with.
>
> And that relationship definitely certainly
> is NOT based on trust.

Are you arguing that total trust is what you believe in, Cecil? That you would trust your wife alone with another man in any situation, and that any man who doesn't is simply insecure and doesn't trust his wife? Nonsense. If you caught your wife alone with a man in a hotel room, I seriously doubt "trust" would be the first thing you thought of. The same is true if you caught your nude wife alone in a hottub with another man. For every couple, including you and your wife, there are limits to trust. And it is up to each partner in that relationship to know what those limits are and not cross them. True, one dinner with a male companion is not likely to break up most relationships. But I would darn sure what to know why that occured and why I wasn't invited (and I think most others would too).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2862. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 08:56:10 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C089B03.FA5B5D31@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25859

CAM wrote:
>
> Not true of me, Dwight. For months,
> I have been dating a lady with > absolutely no thought of sex on my mind.
> We just enjoy socializing together
> as a couple.

Absolutely no thought of sex, Cecil? I find that very hard to believe that you date a woman that you're not attracted to.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2863. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 08:59:33 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C089BCC.4B3AA098@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25860

N2EY wrote:
>
> Just because a person feels something > doesn't mean they must act on it. People > can be highly attracted to each other and > yet keep things at a platonic level.

You missed the point, Jim. We're not talking about acting on it.
We're talking about what a person thinks. The question is whether they are sexually attracted to each other, not whether they have sex.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2864. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 09:09:38 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3A8752873212E302.9F0A046DBAD0FC87.1F772500E045BE0B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25861

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:13:16 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Naw Kim. If I'd wanted to be miserable I could have married someone >like you.

Excuse me Dave,

You have a typo there that someone is bound to jump on you
for.

It shouldn't be "wanted to be miserable . . ." It should be
"wanted to make someone miserable . . ."

Hope that helps.

>I do like a good wine but I buy what's on sale. I'll have to admit that
>I've never slurped from a bowl in my life.

One of our all time great experiences (and one that I suspect Kim would approve of completely) was when Chris and I bought a bottle of Chateau Lafite Rothchild 1977 (that was in the 80s--today the price would be astronomical) and drank it from a paper bag in Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!

Life is meant to be lived, not regulated by convention. Try slurping from a bowl someday--if the contents are good enough you'll probably enjoy it.

>I'm still trying to figure how we're each emulating a life that we would >find loathsome. I don't emulate your life. Are you actually attempting >to emulate mine?

Why--is it loathsome?

>You can feel sorry for me if you like. I don't mind.

Neither do Larry and Dick,

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2865. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 09:09:39 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0762E7A21CAD6096.CDD2D488FD0153BF.7B084DA67E28EED4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25862

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 07:04:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> Considering the fact that I live in one of the more >> conservative parts of the US (the midwest) in a rural area, you must >> live in a VERY conservative community if your wife isn't an exception >> to the rule in your area (which she may well be, of course).
>
>This is a conservative area. My folks live in the Cincinnati area. My >sister lives in Los Angeles. Cincinnati is a pretty conservative town
>but L.A.?

One of the colleges I attended is in Cincinnati--conservative doesn't "exactly" describe it. Reactionary would be a lot closer.

L.A. on the other hand is a melting pot. It's perfectly possible to live within a very small, exclusive, community of conservatives where Midwestern values are the norm--it's just a lot more probable that a person will live among far more modern residents.
If you sister was being honest with you (knowing your attitudes and values, you HAVE to consider the possibility that others are not being totally honest on the question because they don't want to upset you or incur your wrath), she obviously is NOT part of the L.A. mainstream society.

>> >I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems >> >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male >> >group. I guess that makes you "real".
>>
>> A "male" group, Dave?
>>
>> It's an _amateur radio_ group!
>>
>> What a sexist statement to make!
>
>I wrote "a mostly male group" which you translate to "a 'male' group".

Does it make it any less sexist if you refer to discussion group as a "mostly male" group instead of as a "male" group? The fact still remains that it discounts the value of the women present in the NG.

>Of course it is an amateur radio group!

No, actually it's a Usenet group created for the discussion of amateur radio policy issues. If it were an amateur radio group, people wouldn't keep telling me that what is said here has no effect on the amateur radio service.

And AS a Usenet group, it is subject not to amateur radio rules, but to Usenet conventions and Netiquette. Among those rules, incidently, is to trim your attributions--something you are loathe to do, apparently, since your messages contain several messages worth of quote backs which have nothing to do with your immediate comments.

I'm sure if we were on the air and I violated standard operating conventions out of ignorance or lack of consideration you would take the time to inform me of the fact, and would expect me to respect the ARS and change my behavior.

Consider yourself informed that in THIS venue you are violating standard operating conventions and it would be considered very courteous of you if you were to adhere to them more closely.

>What a silly and deliberately false translation you've made!

Sure.

>Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed >group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the >contradiction didn't you understand?

But, Dave, you yourself stated that it is "a mostly male group." Thus, her comments were made primarily for a male audience who, presumably, are accustomed to frank language (and if you claim MEN don't use that language in conversation among themselves there isn't a person in this group who would believe you even THOUGHT that was true).

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2866. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 09:09:39 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <526506E0740482AD.CDBC60026471AC4C.74C547EA7CF89B58@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25863

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:23:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
>And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
>Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done >without their parents consent.

Dave, kids may get beer or cigarettes, but they usually don't do so from the store itself--they have too much to lose selling to them. Usually, kids (unless they are older teens--and frankly if an older teen wants a tattoo or piercing, that's not the issue that it is if a young teen or pre-teen wants one) have other kids buy FOR them.

When it comes to tattoos and piercings, however, you CAN'T have someone over 21 go in and "buy it for you." You have to go to the store or tattoo parlor personally. This means that the parents have plenty of grounds for suit against the business and the community (ever seen a community that SUPPORTED a tattoo parlor or a piercing salon?) has plenty of grounds for having it closed in the "public interest."

No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?

>> And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but >> that of the family involved.
>
>Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense, I >won't worry at all about it.

Dave if a teenager wants something legal and his or her parents agree to it, it really isn't your business or anyone else's.
You may call it a matter of common sense, but not everyone views piercings or tattoos the same way you do. I know some women who have exceptionally attractive tattoos and more than a few who have body jewelry (including some piercings NO teen would be able to have done with or without parental consent) and are very happy with the result--as are their spouses or significant others.

Your values apply only to yourself, not to others.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2867. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 10:41:37 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B3A3.177A0394@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25864

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> Overall, yes, I believe that women > and men can be friends without having > sex. Note that I said without having > sex. There will be few encounters > with the opposite sex in which "sex"
> does not enter the minds of either--
> and a true friendship is capable of > exploring that those thoughts and > feelings are there. And, a true > friendship will suffer through that > (because it is strictly temporary) > and get on to the real business of > being friends.

Thanks for noticing the difference between to the two (sexual attraction and having sex). True, obviously many people can have relations with the opposite sex without actually having sex, but I do think it is difficult to have such without at least the thought of sex entering the minds of those involved at some point. We are very sexual creatures and there are few interactions with the opposite sex where the thought of sex doesn't come up.

> Now, the situation which brings this > whole topic up--that of Rick and I > getting together at a Starbucks (I > think it was) and Larry R. having > such a (snip)

I wasn't adding this as a part of that conversation. This was just something that popped into my head and I decided to add another branch off the existing discussions.

> I don't think there's anything wrong
> at all with "feeling" desirable, or
> with fantasizing about other people.
> I think it's quite healthy--and have > been in situations where that part of > a friendship is discussed, dealt with,
> and allowed to "go away" (because it > will). I would think my husband was > extremely weird if he told me that he > only ever looks at me and doesn't feel > a thing about other women. I also > trust him not to act on his emotions--

> we have a monogamous relationship;
> though not a possessive or jealous one.
> <GIGGLE> Actually, his greatest dream > is for me to bring him home another > girl someday...a dream I eternally > remind him will never happen :)

Well said. You raised so many topics that it will be difficult to address each. To simplify, I think most of what you said is not uncommon (right down to your husband's dream). We all seem to live in two worlds - the real world that exists around us and our made up fantasy world where anything is possible and everything works out exactly like we want. Many people "experiment" with bringing the fantasy world into the real world, but few find it as satisfying as they thought it would be (often because it's too contrived, too planned). In other words, the most satisfying sexual experimentation is when it simply happens without prior planning. Of course, that is very hard to do when it involves two, three, or more, people. And, obviously, certain fantasies should clearly remain exactly that.

One of these days we have to talk about fantasies and the thoughts behind them. After talking to a good number of people, reading, being married for 25+ years, and looking at my own, I've come up with some interesting observations (about the types of fantasies each sex has and why). Perhaps I could get a government grant - I would love the opportunity to research this further. :-)

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2868. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 10:48:15 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B52F.B3FC970A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25865

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> I've found just the opposite to be > true, Dwight. I have a number of > friends who are women, and my wife > has several friends who are men. In > NONE of those cases has the thought > of a sexual relationship ever entered > into either of our heads.

Then I would say you've convinced yourself (or are trying to convince me) that you're not human. I would find it very difficult to believe that you have a number of female friends, and thoughts of sex has never entered your mind with any of them.

> They are _friends_ not potential bed mates.

We're not talking about "bed mates," Rick. We're talking about being sexually attracted, in your mind, to that other person. That does not have to be just thoughts about how to get her (assuming "Rick" is a male's name in this case) into bed.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2869. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 10:52:17 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B620.E7F93E01@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25866

Krell wrote:
>
> Everyone likes controversy, especially > when they have passionate beliefs about > things (snip)

Kim's callsign is a passionate belief? Oh, come on. If we're going to argue that fanatically, argue over something that matters. Or don't get so fanatical about it.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2870. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 11:00:43 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B818.1F25571@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25867

Bill Sohl wrote:
>
> With the code debate over for all > practical purposes, the newsgroup > would be great if it did get into > true policy discussions (zoning > restrictions, bandplans, or whatever) > rather than the inane rantings that > have constituted most of the posting > for quite some time now.

I don't really mind the off topic discussions, Bill. There are plenty of other threads that do stay fairly well on topic. What concerns me is when the participants seem to be going out of their way to draw blood over a seemingly minor issue (Kim's callsign, for example). There it little sense in it and it does have a lasting effect (just look at r.r.a.m to see that - no sane person goes there anymore).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2871. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 11:02:11 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B86F.8279CBF4@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25868

CAM wrote:
>
> And some people enjoy yanking other > people's chains. :-)

Well, then go for it - I've put in my two cents worth.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2872. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 11:07:28 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C08B9AB.7949ADAD@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25869

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> I am not sure what messages you read > that have illicited the above reaction, > but I've pretty much seen nothing any > different than normal when "heated" > discussions have been taking place.
> It could be that my eyes generally > glaze over when I get to the insults > part and just scan for the points--so > I'm not especially aware of anything > any more insulting than usual.

Well, I've been seriously voted down (the majority seems to enjoy things as they are), so just forget I ever said anything (my two cents added with no change).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2873. Re: DID W4JYZ GET HIS DRUGS FROM TEW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 11:44:12 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uak41$k8o$1@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 25871
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"KT4TuRd" <Drunk_Bobby@FakeAirplane.com> wrote in message news:9u9k1m$mq9$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> Ahhh Shuddup Youngblood!!!!! Belt down some vodka > and go babble about your fake airplane. How hard did you have > to beg Riley not to publish the sanctions he took on your license?

Something was mentioned in QST about a ham from Vero Beach got something for reading police and credit reports over the air.

> "af2yisbinladen" <hammer007@my-deja.com> wrote in message
> news:e299bafd.0111301715.39f81204@posting.google.com...
> > Now wait a minute, something is going on, and JYZ is sounding sedated.
> > Riley pops the goof with another warning and he comes on the air and > > denies any wrong doing. This "Goof", must be taking medication that he > > got from TEW, the "TAMPA TURD". Now I realize that Jimmy must have a > > lot of stuff in the medicine cabinet at this time and he could make a > > few quick bucks, but how did "Dumbass" play into the equation ????? I > > heard Dumbass a couple of weeks ago transmitting from the campgrounds > > in north Fla, but could he have worked out a drugs for mows deal with > > TEW????
> > Now listen up all of you hams, W4NTI the Dumbass follower will soon > > make his entry, but just wait a minue Dan, does Donnie Dumbass have > > the MOH like Duane?Hammer
>
>

2874. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 12:46:34 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <Ki4O7.204417$3d2.8939437@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25870

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message
news:3c085d7c.3652520@news.mindspring.com...
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 06:56:59 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> > I've noticed the discussions in this newsgroup are getting really > >nasty lately (personal insults, name calling, ridicule, harassment, > >pettiness, and so forth). Is this what we really want? One of the best > >aspects of this newsgroup has always been that the long-time members > >have always tried to keep the discussions on a relatively decent > >level. In other words, while we might argue, and even argue > >fanatically, most have tended to back off before things got too > >personal. But, lately, some of the messages here have turned into > >nothing more than an insult-fest. Please, before you post that nasty > >little message, with the hateful little comments, think about the > >effect you're having on this newsgroup and it's members. If this keeps > >up, this newsgroups will degrade into something none of us will want > >to participate in.
> >
> > I'm especially asking the long-time members (Rick, Cecil, Dave, Kim, > >Larry, Richard, Jim, Bill, Bob, Phil, and others) to back me up on > >this. Lets all (and that includes me - I'm not completely innocent > >here) watch our own messages and politely remind others to do the same > >when they get carried away. Thanks.
> >Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> Dwight,
>
> Well said. I read the group almost daily but haven't > seen any reason to chime into most threads for the very > reason you mention. While the newsgroup itself had > a primary motivation of taking the code debate out > of the .misc newsgroup, that is pretty much no longer
> an issue. Except for the "wait", the code test will (IMHO) > be gone by the end of 2003. It is just a waiting period > until WRC 2003 does its thing.
>
> With the code debate over for all practical purposes,
> the newsgroup would be great if it did get into true > policy discussions (zoning restrictions, bandplans, or whatever)
> rather than the inane rantings that have constituted most > of the posting for quite some time now.
>
> Cheers,

> Bill K2UNK
>

Some do it, some talk about it.

2875. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:14:13 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08d865_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25872

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C086F1D.25B168C2@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Aw, Dave. So, you can't handle the truth?
>
> What truth? It's MOVIES and TELEVISION.
>

Oh, we'll just forget about the whole rest of the post. I meant the truth about me.

> >
> > And, you don't have any movie > > heroes? Any depictions of characters that you respect and think about?
How
> > 'bout the character that Denzel Washington plays in "Remember the Titans?"
> > How 'bout the character that is played by Mel Gibson in "The Patriot?"
> > Sure, they're not real characters and, yeah, those were movies. OH!!
And > > what about the characters played by Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding in
"Men > > of Honor." But, you mean to tell me that you've never encountered a > > personal crisis such as theirs and applied what you learned in those movies
> > to the struggles we live here in real life every day? NEVER?!!
>
> Probably not since I was ten or eleven.
>

You'd be an incredibly difficult person to decide on a movie for then. Do ya have any heroes at all? I mean, other than the dad, the mom, the grandpa, etc. I think those folks are heroes to most of us.

> >
> > Wow. That sounds so empty.
>
> Choosing reality over identifying with TV and movie characters is empty?
>

Dave, you're incapable of applying traits that are found in powerful movies and applying them to real life situations. I am not. There is a difference. "The Patriot" allowed me to reflect, for the very first time, on the "personal" aspects that living during such time must have had on regular, every day people. Made me appreciate those from that time a little more.

> >
> > By the way, the movies "Erin Brokovich"(sp), "Remember the Titans" and
"Men > > of Honor" were all based on true stories, Dave. You know...real life.
>
> We all know what the words "based on" mean when used by movie makers.
> Are you asking if I watch and enjoy TV shows or movies, the answer is > yes. If you are asking if I identify with movie characters, the answer > is no.
>

Well then, there we have it.

> >
> > REAL life. Sure, I mentioned some additional ones from my original post.
> > But, a tale to be told does not have to be real to learn something > from it, Dave.
>
> Ever read a non-fiction book and then watch the movie made from it?
> Ever notice that the movie version is always greatly imbellished and > that sometimes the ending is completely different?
>

Are you suggesting just a teency bit that books (????!!!!) are more to base real life on than movies? Sure, I've read books then watched the movie and been disappointed every time. BUT, aren't they both the same in terms of reality, to you? I suppose if you find yourself identifying more with a book, it's a matter of media then.

> >
> > Yeah, I know better. Lots better.
>
> Can't prove it from what I've read here, either in the initial posting > or your follow up.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Returning back to the last "bottom line" of this branch of this thread; the one where I asked you do you know why I could "mingle" better with all groups of people than you could? You never answered. The reason, in my opinion, that I have more flexibility with people than you, Dave, is because I believe I am far more appreciative of peoples' different points of view.
You base my approach to reality now, completely on the fact that I mentioned some movies and you completely ignore the rest of a real honest submission to you about myself.

To each his own. I can accept your statement for what it is. You cast a judgement on mine. (Except for the part where I do say that it sounds very empty that your emotions are not stirred by a good movie).

Kim W5TIT

2876. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:17:42 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08d93b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25873

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C086FA4.A727DB03@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C08693D.F1DEC86C@earthlink.net...
> > > Rick Adams wrote:
> > > >
> > > > On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > > wrote:
> > > >
> > > > >You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal > > > > >consent.
> > > >
> > > > Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you are
> > > > under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive > > > > procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.
> > >
> > > Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
> > > And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
> > > Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done
> > > without their parents consent.
> > >
> > >
> > > > And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern
but
> > > > that of the family involved.
> > >
> > > Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense,
I
> > > won't worry at all about it.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > He didn't get the "or" statement in your submission, Rick ("or the business
> > that conducts it is liable").
>
> Sure, I got it. The beer sellers, the drug dealers, the liquor > sellers--they're all liable too. It doesn't seem to slow up many of > 'em.
>
```

> Dave K8MN

And, it doesn't slow up the kids looking to buy. And, it doesn't slow up the parents who don't get more aggressive to do something about indicators that their kids are into things like that. You want all to keep from being able to avail themselves of something because of those who are too lazy to restrict themselves from doing wrong?

Kim W5TIT

2877. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:19:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08d991$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25874

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:382AA305F6CFB6DB.71E0BC3B8776B176.BFD3C38BE460C84F@lp.airnews.net...
>
> I don't think Kim would have the slightest bit of trouble > getting them myself--after all, to see any harm in her call takes a > dirty mind, and it's pretty hard to find ANY mind, dirty or not, in a > bureaucracy like the DMV.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

ROFLMAO....!!! Oh, so true, so true!

Kim W5TIT

2878. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:40:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08dea4_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25875

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:868DF2626E76634E.6AF43579E279E1FF.4CB3DC9CB1BD985F@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 17:36:54 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >She chose
> >to do what she did and she has outlined, on a number of occasions, why > >she did it.
>
> Yup.
>
> She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she > did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, > or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call > sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.
>
> >Now she's taking her lumps for it from those who > >disapprove.
>

Oh, good grief. Now you're dangerously close to sounding like Larry Roll.
You don't honestly believe your statement, above, do you, Dave? Naw, you couldn't. No way. "Taking her lumps"???!!! Is that a barometer for how affected you think I feel about your attitude towards a callsign? Hardly.
Puhleeze!

>
> No, she's being unfairly attacked and ridiculed by people who > can't stand to mind their own business and are so moralistic they > insist that only THEY know what is best for the ARS, and for Kim.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Hmmm. Rick? I would contend with the statement above, but I know what your intention was/is. I don't think I am being unfairly attacked at all. The issue, to me, with the debate over my callsign isn't that it is my callsign (necessarily), but more the whole concept of freedom of choice, being within the confines of legality, the moralistic values we expect to be delivered to us from others, etc.--that whole ball of wax.

The folks who are most adamant (I would usually have only included Larry Roll in that group of one--but it appears that Dave also is as stirred by a callsign issue) about my callsign--I add the blanket statement "a callsign" because if mine, then others) don't understand that about the debate. I am completely unaffected about their opinions of "me" because I don't look at it as a "me" issue.

My callsign is not the issue. I enjoy the debate that my callsign stirs--in fact, could never have dreamed of inspiring such debate. But, to look at myself as a "victim" of attack from other people? First, I would have to in some way feel wrong or responsible for my callsign. See what I mean? I feel neither. Well, OK, I was responsible for picking it.

That's why, when the value statements start in, I approach the point of view being expressed on a much broader level than a callsign. To me, there is not an angst against me--there is an angst against people who do things a little differently. Or, in some cases, a lot. That is how wrong Larry Roll is about me liking my callsign because it draws attention to myself. How wrong he is. However, that I like my callsign because it nearly instantly creates family-style debate (the ones famous for cutting through all the polite bullshit and just getting to the meat of the issue?) Yep, I love that. :)

Oh, but I do agree with you on the basis that it is a defense to change the minds of those who think so strictly (on both sides of the fence, even) :). If a debate about my callsign can lead to another branch of a debate about the rights and wrongs of racism, politics, government, society, raising children, education in our schools, and more, and if we can begin to understand each others' points of view (or, heck, even learn the way each other thinks and use that as a strategy for an argument front of City Hall or our boss), then I am all for it. And, in my opinion, the issue of my callsign has done more to stir debate in this newsgroup than anything else. From the beginnings of each time my callsign is brought up, we come to threads such as this right now.

Oh. That it has nothing to do with ham radio? I beg to differ. Whenever we each pick up a microphone, and certainly when one touches a key, or tunes up for digital communications, most of us are not thinking about "what ham radio related topic can I bring up today?". Most of us are looking to join or induce conversation. And, if someone doesn't believe that free expression, exchanges of ideas, etc., is not ham radio related, I don't know what they think it's all about. The policy of a valid callsign is a policy that the FCC regulates. And, everything it represents, good and bad, is about policy in ham radio.

Kim W5TIT

2879. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:46:33 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08dff8_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25876

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:32BB5A302881536D.9B99749C19EF4CE3.A31CD85F148C2CB3@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 05:54:41 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems > >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male > >group. I guess that makes you "real".
>
> A "male" group, Dave?
>
> It's an _amateur radio_ group!
>
> What a sexist statement to make!
>
> Rick
>
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Heh heh heh. I'd seen that. I wasn't going to make any observations about it. Uh, I still won't...don't even get me going...LOL

OH, OK....hehehehehe Ya bent my arm. One woman, one newsgroup, on callsign. Brings nearly an entire group of men to their knees with expressing more than they usually would...uh, OK, I'll stop. :^

Kim W5TIT

2880. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:49:32 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e0ab_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25877

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C087C3A.B328170@earthlink.net...
>
> I don't happen to think that the examples you used are the most obvious > example. I enjoy seeing your other examples though. It helps me to > understand what kind of man you are.
>
> Dave K8MN

Yeah, Rick. Dave likes to get straight to the judging. SIGH

Kim W5TIT

2881. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 13:59:01 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e2e4_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25878

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C087F43.1A3D438F@earthlink.net...
> >
> > She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she > > did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, > > or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call > > sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.
>
> None of us who do something stupid, issue an invitation to be rebuked > for it but it is certainly difficult to dodge responsibility.
>

Oh, contraire. Contraire. I wholeheartedly welcome and invite anyone to "rebuke" (if that's what you wish to call it) my callsign! Prove to me that it's wrong, that it's going to bring the ARS "one step closer to extinction," that all children entering ham radio are harmed, that it's not a family radio service any more, that I offer nothing of positive value to the ARS, and on and on.

Prove it. Make one, just one, logical argument that it does. Remember, logic is that which is very personal.

>
> I'd rather accept my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the > view of her most frequent libertarian defender. I'm not bound to accept > your "libertarian-with-attitude" view any more than I'm bound to accept > Kim's choice as appropriate.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

NOW, we get to something we agree on! No name calling, Dave. Let's make it as pure and simple as we can get: I absolutely understand that you do not believe my callsign is good for amateur radio. I also absolutely agree that you are not bound to accept my choice as appropriate.

I wholeheartedly understand, but disagree. Here you go: I'd rather accept my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the view of a most conservative man such as yourself. I'm not bound to accept your conservative attitude any more than I'm bound to believe that my choice of a callsign is inappropriate.

Kim W5TIT

2882. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:00:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e33b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25879

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
>
> Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > contradiction didn't you understand?
>
> Dave K8MN

Man, you are stretching now, Dave. You're really stretching.

Kim W5TIT

2883. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:02:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e3b3_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25880

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0899D9.5A5E12E5@sccoast.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Sean G Gilley wrote:
> > > Adults spend time with other adults,
> > > and if I can't trust my wife enough
> > > to trust her to spend time alone
> > > with another man, then my relationship > > > isn't very good to begin with.
> >
> > And that relationship definitely certainly > > is NOT based on trust.
>
>
> Are you arguing that total trust is what you believe in, Cecil? That > you would trust your wife alone with another man in any situation, and > that any man who doesn't is simply insecure and doesn't trust his > wife? Nonsense. If you caught your wife alone with a man in a hotel > room, I seriously doubt "trust" would be the first thing you thought > of. The same is true if you caught your nude wife alone in a hottub > with another man. For every couple, including you and your wife, there > are limits to trust. And it is up to each partner in that relationship > to know what those limits are and not cross them. True, one dinner > with a male companion is not likely to break up most relationships.
> But I would darn sure what to know why that occured and why I wasn't > invited (and I think most others would too).
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Trust is trust. Insecurity is insecurity.

Kim W5TIT

2884. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:03:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e3db_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25881

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C089B03.FA5B5D31@sccoast.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Not true of me, Dwight. For months,
> > I have been dating a lady with
> > absolutely no thought of sex on my mind.
> > We just enjoy socializing together
> > as a couple.
>
>
> Absolutely no thought of sex, Cecil? I find that very hard to > believe that you date a woman that you're not attracted to.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

WHY does an attraction have to be physical or sexual?

Kim W5TIT

2885. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:08:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e523_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25882

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:3A8752873212E302.9F0A046DBAD0FC87.1F772500E045BE0B@lp.airnews.net...
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:13:16 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Naw Kim. If I'd wanted to be miserable I could have married someone > >like you.
>
> Excuse me Dave,
>
> You have a typo there that someone is bound to jump on you
> for.
>
> It shouldn't be "wanted to be miserable . . ." It should be
> "wanted to make someone miserable . . ."
>
> Hope that helps.
>

DOH!!!!

> >
> >I do like a good wine but I buy what's on sale. I'll have to admit that > >I've never slurped from a bowl in my life.
>
> One of our all time great experiences (and one that I suspect > Kim would approve of completely) was when Chris and I bought a bottle > of Chateau Lafite Rothchild 1977 (that was in the 80s--today the price > would be astronomical) and drank it from a paper bag in Golden Gate > Park in San Francisco.
>

Oh, I love it! I would have added a collection hat to see if I could make my money back...LOL

> A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd > enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, > Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!
>
> Life is meant to be lived, not regulated by convention. Try > slurping from a bowl someday--if the contents are good enough you'll > probably enjoy it.
>

Oh, gosh! Absolutely! And, the flavor! Much more enhanced with breath...and renewed with every bounce on the taste buds.

> >I'm still trying to figure how we're each emulating a life that we would > >find loathsome. I don't emulate your life. Are you actually attempting > >to emulate mine?
>
> Why--is it loathsome?
>
> >You can feel sorry for me if you like. I don't mind.
>
> Neither do Larry and Dick,
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Kim W5TIT

2886. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:12:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e62a$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25883

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C08B620.E7F93E01@sccoast.net...
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > Everyone likes controversy, especially > > when they have passionate beliefs about > > things (snip)
>
>
> Kim's callsign is a passionate belief? Oh, come on. If we're going > to argue that fanatically, argue over something that matters. Or don't > get so fanatical about it.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Ah, but Dwight. It's not about the callsign. It's about the issues around my callsign.

Kim W5TIT

2887. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:15:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08e6c2_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25884

"Rick KC2ESD" <Rickhit@att.net> wrote in message news:3c087cd2.116957501@netnews.worldnet.att.net...
> On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 21:54:56 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
> >"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
> >news:20011129213914.10701.00003821@nso-mv.aol.com...
> >> In article
> ><7DA18F9749B0FD30.ACC2E8591B765D9E.C41133D55EC5843D@lp.airnews.net>,
> >> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
> >>
> >> >
> >> > Give it up--according to the resident "experts" here the FCC > >> >has far more serious problems to consider--like Kim's call sign.
> >> >You'll just have to wait your turn.
> >> >
> >> > Rick
> >>
> >> Rick:
> >>
> >> I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to > >> consider. It is her problem to consider!
> >>
> >> 73 de Larry, K3LT
> >>
> >
> >Larry, Larry, Larry. When ya gonna get this right? My callsing is not my > >problem! It's yours.
> >
> >Kim W5TIT
> >
> Don't worry Kim, I like your call letters :-)
>
> The other Rick, KC2ESD

ahem :)

Kim W5TIT

2888. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 14:46:47 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c08ee1b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25885

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > On Fri, 30 Nov 2001 05:54:41 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >Just to be certain, I asked my wife. Not only does she not use the > > >language you earlier ascribed to all women and later to most women.
She
> > >assures me that that she has never heard my mother, my sister, the > > >neighbors or any of her friends use such language in an "all woman" > > >situation.
> >
> > Funny, I asked my own wife (age 46, so she's not a member of a > > more liberal modern generation) and she said the language was VERY > > normal among women--including those in colleges and universities.
> >
> > I also commented on this to some friends of ours who are blue > > collar and younger (on the theory that perhaps we're from a more > > "liberated" period) and they agreed with Chris (my wife) and couldn't > > imagine that a term such as "tit" could possibly offend anyone in the > > modern era (that was the consensus of about 7 people, 3 men and 4 > > women, aged from 34 to 45).
> >
> > Considering the fact that I live in one of the more > > conservative parts of the US (the midwest) in a rural area, you must > > live in a VERY conservative community if your wife isn't an exception > > to the rule in your area (which she may well be, of course).
>
> This is a conservative area. My folks live in the Cincinnati area. My > sister lives in Los Angeles. Cincinnati is a pretty conservative town
> but L.A.?
>
> > >I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems > > >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male > > >group. I guess that makes you "real".
> >
> > A "male" group, Dave?
> >
> > It's an _amateur radio_ group!
> >
> > What a sexist statement to make!
>

> I wrote "a mostly male group" which you translate to "a 'male' group".
>
> Of course it is an amateur radio group!
>
> What a silly and deliberately false translation you've made!
>
> Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > contradiction didn't you understand?
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not use inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in a mixed group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound like I did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is that I would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This newsgroup is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but I will to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.

At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...

I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even more that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you truly feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have no problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy being proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be placed upon yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make allowances. I live for me.

Kim W5TIT

2889. Re: MORE TWISTEDHED the NUTTY CBER

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 15:08:55 UTC
From: Leland KC8LD0 <Leland_member@newsguy.com>
Message-ID: <9uarq70177q@drn.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25887

Leland KC8LDO
>
>On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 21:54:56 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
>wrote:
>
>>"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
>>news:20011129213914.10701.00003821@nso-mv.aol.com...
>>> In article
>><7DA18F9749B0FD30.ACC2E8591B765D9E.C41133D55EC5843D@lp.airnews.net>,
>>> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>>>
>>> >
>>> > Give it up--according to the resident "experts" here the FCC >>> >has far more serious problems to consider--like Kim's call sign.
>>> >You'll just have to wait your turn.
>>> >
>>> > Rick
>>>
>>> Rick:
>>>
>>> I have never suggested that Kim's call sign is the FCC's problem to >>> consider. It is her problem to consider!
>>>
>>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>>>
>>
>>Larry, Larry, Larry. When ya gonna get this right? My callsing is not my >>problem! It's yours.
>>
>>Kim W5TIT
>>
> Don't worry Kim, I like your call letters :-)
>
> The other Rick, KC2ESD
>
I wonder if Kim has big hooters as her callsign implies?
Hey Kim,what's your cup size?

"You ask w

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LDO

2890. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 15:32:55 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C08F828.7B5DFF9E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25886

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:13:16 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Naw Kim. If I'd wanted to be miserable I could have married someone > >like you.
>
> Excuse me Dave,
>
> You have a typo there that someone is bound to jump on you
> for.
>
> It shouldn't be "wanted to be miserable . . ." It should be
> "wanted to make someone miserable . . ."
>
> Hope that helps.

I think I got it right the first time.

> >I do like a good wine but I buy what's on sale. I'll have to admit that > >I've never slurped from a bowl in my life.
>
> One of our all time great experiences (and one that I suspect > Kim would approve of completely) was when Chris and I bought a bottle > of Chateau Lafite Rothchild 1977 (that was in the 80s--today the price > would be astronomical) and drank it from a paper bag in Golden Gate > Park in San Francisco.

Maybe you should have tried using a bowl. It allows the wine to breathe properly.

> A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd > enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, > Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!

I don't have a problem with what your "friend" does when he is alone or with you folks. I wouldn't want him as a dinner guest. Does he drink from your bottles?

> Life is meant to be lived, not regulated by convention. Try > slurping from a bowl someday--if the contents are good enough you'll > probably enjoy it.

There's no need for me to do so. I've already mastered the use of cutlery and this allows much enhancement to the life I'm living.

> >I'm still trying to figure how we're each emulating a life that we would > >find loathsome. I don't emulate your life. Are you actually attempting > >to emulate mine?
>
> Why--is it loathsome?

Ask Kim. "Loathsome" is her word. It didn't make any sense to me
either.

> >You can feel sorry for me if you like. I don't mind.
>
> Neither do Larry and Dick,

How do you know?

Dave K8MN

2891. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 15:53:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C08FCAA.BC6B744D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25888

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 07:04:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> Considering the fact that I live in one of the more > >> conservative parts of the US (the midwest) in a rural area, you must > >> live in a VERY conservative community if your wife isn't an exception > >> to the rule in your area (which she may well be, of course).
> > >
> > >This is a conservative area. My folks live in the Cincinnati area. My > > >sister lives in Los Angeles. Cincinnati is a pretty conservative town
> > >but L.A.?
> >
> > One of the colleges I attended is in Cincinnati--conservative > > doesn't "exactly" describe it. Reactionary would be a lot closer.
> >
> > L.A. on the other hand is a melting pot. It's perfectly > > possible to live within a very small, exclusive, community of > > conservatives where Midwestern values are the norm--it's just a lot > > more probable that a person will live among far more modern residents.
> > If you sister was being honest with you (knowing your attitudes and > > values, you HAVE to consider the possibility that others are not being > > totally honest on the question because they don't want to upset you or > > incur your wrath), she obviously is NOT part of the L.A. mainstream > > society.

I think my sister is one of the most independent people I've ever met.
She has never hesitated to disagree with me nor has she ever been quiet on an issue she feels strongly about. She was a New Yorker for over fifteen years before moving to L.A.

> >> >I believe you are "real" --that to you, there is no time when it seems > >> >improper to be coarse. You've used the terms here in a mostly male > >> >group. I guess that makes you "real".
> >> >
> >> A "male" group, Dave?
> >> >
> >> It's an _amateur radio_ group!
> >> >
> >> What a sexist statement to make!
> > >
> > >I wrote "a mostly male group" which you translate to "a 'male' group".
> >
> > Does it make it any less sexist if you refer to discussion > group as a "mostly male" group instead of as a "male" group? The fact > still remains that it discounts the value of the women present in the > NG.

Sure it does. If you leave out a modifier, it changes what the statement means. If someone states a reality, how is the statement sexist? There are, by far, more males posting here than females. There are, by far, more male radio amateurs than female. Those statements are simple reality.

> >Of course it is an amateur radio group!
>
> No, actually it's a Usenet group created for the discussion of > amateur radio policy issues. If it were an amateur radio group, people > wouldn't keep telling me that what is said here has no effect on the > amateur radio service.

Did you have a real point to make?

> And AS a Usenet group, it is subject not to amateur radio > rules, but to Usenet conventions and Netiquette. Among those rules, > incidently, is to trim your attributions--something you are loathe to > do, apparently, since your messages contain several messages worth of > quote backs which have nothing to do with your immediate comments.

Don't read 'em if it bothers you. Only a fool would trim the things to which he was responding.

> I'm sure if we were on the air and I violated standard > operating conventions out of ignorance or lack of consideration you > would take the time to inform me of the fact, and would expect me to > respect the ARS and change my behavior.

Let's be honest. You don't know for a fact, what I would do.

> Consider yourself informed that in THIS venue you are > violating standard operating conventions and it would be considered > very courteous of you if you were to adhere to them more closely.

Always a pleasure to hear from the newsgroup police. What makes it funnier is that you are a guy who often trims relevant info in an apparent effort to make it appear that someone has said something he has
not.

> >What a silly and deliberately false translation you've made!
>
> Sure.
>
> >Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > >group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > >contradiction didn't you understand?
>
> But, Dave, you yourself stated that it is "a mostly male > group." Thus, her comments were made primarily for a male audience > who, presumably, are accustomed to frank language (and if you claim > MEN don't use that language in conversation among themselves there > isn't a person in this group who would believe you even THOUGHT that > was true).

Kim isn't male. There are some other females who read the group.
Kim explains that she wouldn't use that kind of language in a mixed group. If Kim uses such language in a group of males, the group is a mixed group.

Not all men use the same or similar language in conversation, Rick.
Of those who do, not many would use the language in the presence of a woman. Good luck with your latest baseless rant.

Oh yeah, the netiquette version of this post appears below:

* * * * * * * * * * *

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 07:04:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:

I think my sister is one of the most independent people I've ever met.
She has never hesitated to disagree with me nor has she ever been quiet on an issue she feels strongly about. She was a New Yorker for over fifteen years before moving to L.A.

Sure it does. If you leave out a modifier, it changes what the statement means. If someone states a reality, how is the statement sexist? There are, by far, more males posting here than females. There are, by far, more male radio amateurs than female. Those statements are simple reality.

Did you have a real point to make?

Don't read 'em if it bothers you. Only a fool would trim the things to which he was responding.

Let's be honest. You don't know for a fact, what I would do.

Always a pleasure to hear from the newsgroup police. What makes it funnier is that you are a guy who often trims relevant info in an apparent effort to make it appear that someone has said something he has
not.

Kim isn't male. There are some other females who read the group.
Kim explains that she wouldn't use that kind of language in a mixed group. If Kim uses such language in a group of males, the group is a mixed group.

Not all men use the same or similar language in conversation, Rick.
Of those who do, not many would use the language in the presence of a woman. Good luck with your latest baseless rant.

Dave K8MN

2892. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 16:10:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0900EB.FBBDB719@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25889

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:23:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
> >And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
> >Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing done > >without their parents consent.
>
> Dave, kids may get beer or cigarettes, but they usually don't > do so from the store itself--they have too much to lose selling to > them. Usually, kids (unless they are older teens--and frankly if an > older teen wants a tattoo or piercing, that's not the issue that it is > if a young teen or pre-teen wants one) have other kids buy FOR them.
>
> When it comes to tattoos and piercings, however, you CAN'T > have someone over 21 go in and "buy it for you." You have to go to the > store or tattoo parlor personally. This means that the parents have > plenty of grounds for suit against the business and the community > (ever seen a community that SUPPORTED a tattoo parlor or a piercing > salon?) has plenty of grounds for having it closed in the "public > interest."

Your view simply isn't borne out by what I found in the Sunday Wheeling News-Register just a couple of weeks back. Agents cited numerous establishments in the Ohio Valley for selling tobacco, beer and liquor to minors.

> No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting > tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?

Yes, I do.

> >> And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern but > >> that of the family involved.
> >
> >Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense, I > >won't worry at all about it.
>
> Dave if a teenager wants something legal and his or her > parents agree to it, it really isn't your business or anyone else's.
> You may call it a matter of common sense, but not everyone views > piercings or tattoos the same way you do.

For a parent to permit something which permanently defaces the human body such as piercings and tattooing sounds pretty irresponsible to me. We all know that people often participate in acts in youth which they come to regret as adults. That is one reason that courts try youthful offenders under different standards than adults.

> I know some women who have > exceptionally attractive tattoos and more than a few who have body > jewelry (including some piercings NO teen would be able to have done > with or without parental consent) and are very happy with the > result--as are their spouses or significant others.
>
> Your values apply only to yourself, not to others.
>

Ever hear of a term called "community values"? Its existence would refute your statement.

Do some school systems have dress codes?

Can you buy a copy of Hustler magazine in Hamilton County, Ohio?

On an FCC related topic:

Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?

Dave K8MN

2893. Tacoma Wash equipment ban

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 16:13:50 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c09002f.1269382@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 25890

This should prove interesting as to specific enforcement:

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1268 - NOV 30, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1268 with a release date of Friday, November 30th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.
.....

RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

>Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11
>meter C-B operators from using non-FCC certified >transmitting equipment. Adopted last >September 12th but only now becoming widely known,
>Tacoma City Ordinance 26851
>amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.
>First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of >non-approved radio equipment by CBers.

Does the ordinance LIST all approved equipment?
What does the ordinance say as to HOW FCC approval is determined?

>And if a CBer breaks the new law he or she is subject to >Section 8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a >misdemeanor punishable to a fine of >up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.

Same question(s) as above.

>Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an >earlier amendment to the Communications Act of 1934,
>as amended, which was adopted by Congress a couple >of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, >not an FCC action, any challenges by C-B operators >to the new Tacoma local law would have to go >through the federal courts. As far as we can determine, >the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators >and no other radio operators in >the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)

Can someone obtain and post the specific ordinance 26851 text?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

2894. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 16:18:34 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112010818.4dcf4152@posting.google.com>
Source record: 25891

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0895AA.A0DBD95F@sccoast.net>...
> Well, I'm glad you feel that way in your relationship, Sean. What I > said, and I think what Larry was saying, is not rule or law that all > relationships have to comply with. It is instead a basic concept of > two individuals fostering trust in a relationship, and doing nothing > to undermine that trust. If your relationship is different (that type > of incident would not undermine trust), it still does nothing to > change the basic concept. There are other situations in your > relationship where that concept still applies, isn't there?

Yes and no.

Yes, there are things that would undermine my trust in my wife.

However, what Larry said in his postings were things that I believe really fall into another realm entirely. I work as a professional in a large corporation. Coworkers have lunch together. I don't believe (and it seems very few others believe) that having lunch with a coworker of the opposite sex brings up issues of trust.

Heck, at one point in my career, another woman and I spent about three months traveling together. Same flights, same hotels, we worked together during the day, had lunch together, and often had dinner together before going to our seperate hotel rooms. (In the same hotel.) Oh, the company only allowed us one car, so we drive places together.

That was my job.

Were their problems of trust from my wife? She never mentioned any.

I'm not saying that there are not things that men and women can do that would undermine trust in a spouse. I just believe that what Larry was saying (no lunches with other men, no professional contact alone with other men, no nothing alone with other men) goes so far as to be ludicrous.

Sean.

2895. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 16:48:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0909AC.B8F76DE6@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25892

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C086F1D.25B168C2@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > Aw, Dave. So, you can't handle the truth?
> > >
> > What truth? It's MOVIES and TELEVISION.
> > >
> >
> Oh, we'll just forget about the whole rest of the post. I meant the truth > about me.

> > >
> > > And, you don't have any movie > > > heroes? Any depictions of characters that you respect and think about?
> How
> > > 'bout the character that Denzel Washington plays in "Remember the > Titans?"
> > > How 'bout the character that is played by Mel Gibson in "The Patriot?"
> > > Sure, they're not real characters and, yeah, those were movies. OH!!
> And > > > what about the characters played by Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding in
> "Men > > > of Honor." But, you mean to tell me that you've never encountered a > > > personal crisis such as theirs and applied what you learned in those > movies
> > > to the struggles we live here in real life every day? NEVER?!!
> > >
> > Probably not since I was ten or eleven.
> > >
> >
> You'd be an incredibly difficult person to decide on a movie for then. Do > ya have any heroes at all? I mean, other than the dad, the mom, the > grandpa, etc. I think those folks are heroes to most of us.

I don't want anyone to decide on a movie for me. I'll decide on my own, thanks. I don't view movies in order to find a solution to a personal crisis. I view movies to be entertained.

My heroes are not movie or television characters, Kim. They aren't the current crop of athletes who sell their autographs to kids. My grandparents and parents were never heroes to me. They were (save for a couple of exceptions) role models. I think you might be confusing the two terms. I considered some of my school teachers and neighbors and folks in the community to be role models.

I have plenty of heroes. They come from history. In many of those cases, they sacrificed themselves for others. Some sacrificed for their country. Some risked their lives to save others (so my heroes didn't all die). Some heroes stood tall for principles.

> > >
> > > Wow. That sounds so empty.
> >
> > Choosing reality over identifying with TV and movie characters is empty?
> >
>
> Dave, you're incapable of applying traits that are found in powerful > movies and applying them to real life situations. I am not. There is > a difference.

Being incapable of doing something and choosing not to do it are different.

> "The Patriot" allowed me to reflect, for the very first time, > on the "personal" aspects that living during such time must have had on > regular, every day people. Made me appreciate those from that time a little > more.

While I enjoyed the movie (its purpose), I didn't have any difficulty understanding what kind of things that everyday people might have had back in those times even before the film was made.

> > >
> > > By the way, the movies "Erin Brokovich"(sp), "Remember the Titans" and
> "Men > > > of Honor" were all based on true stories, Dave. You know...real life.
> >
> > We all know what the words "based on" mean when used by movie makers.
> > Are you asking if I watch and enjoy TV shows or movies, the answer is > > yes. If you are asking if I identify with movie characters, the answer > > is no.
> >
>
> Well then, there we have it.
>
> > >
> > > REAL life. Sure, I mentioned some additional ones from my original > post.
> > > But, a tale to be told does not have to be real to learn something >
> from it, Dave.
> >
> > Ever read a non-fiction book and then watch the movie made from it?
> > Ever notice that the movie version is always greatly imbellished and > > that sometimes the ending is completely different?
> >

>
> Are you suggesting just a teency bit that books (????!!!!) are more to base > real life on than movies? Sure, I've read books then watched the movie and > been disappointed every time. BUT, aren't they both the same in terms of > reality, to you? I suppose if you find yourself identifying more with a > book, it's a matter of media then.

That'd be true if I hadn't written "non-fiction book" so it isn't a matter of the medium at all. Do you claim that a documentary film is not any diffent than a historical drama where liberties are taken with fact and where a team of writers put words in the mouth of a character which that person never uttered in life?

> > >
> > > Yeah, I know better. Lots better.
> >
> > Can't prove it from what I've read here, either in the initial posting > > or your follow up.
>
>
> Returning back to the last "bottom line" of this branch of this thread; the > one where I asked you do you know why I could "mingle" better with all > groups of people than you could? You never answered. The reason, in my > opinion, that I have more flexibility with people than you, Dave, is because > I believe I am far more appreciative of peoples' different points of view.

Now we have a conundrum. What proof do you offer that you are more flexible than me or that you are more appreciative of different points of view? Was the proof in the line about your "fake smile" at that cocktail party or in your detailed attributions to the thoughts and attitudes of other attendees?

> You base my approach to reality now, completely on the fact that I mentioned > some movies and you completely ignore the rest of a real honest submission > to you about myself.

I assuredly have not based my impression of you on your identification with movie characters. I've certainly based part of that impression on your statement about what you'd like to whisper to some woman you'd encountered at a cocktail party. The impression I came away with wasn't good.

> To each his own. I can accept your statement for what it is. You cast a > judgement on mine. (Except for the part where I do say that it sounds very > empty that your emotions are not stirred by a good movie).

My emotions can be stirred by a good movie. I just don't identify with a character and use that character in solving personal problems. What sets us apart in this instance is in choosing to identify with fantasy vs. reality.

Dave K8MN

2896. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 16:50:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C090A49.33E7229C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25893

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C086FA4.A727DB03@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C08693D.F1DEC86C@earthlink.net...
> > > > Rick Adams wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > On Thu, 29 Nov 2001 05:58:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > > > wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > >You forget that many of these kids aren't old enough to give legal > > > > > >consent.
> > > > >
> > > > > Then they can't get the piercing or tattooing done. If you
> are
> > > > > under age, a parent or guardian MUST consent to any such invasive > > > > > procedure or the business that conducts it is liable.
> > > >
> > > > Sure Rick... (quick nod to the guys with the jacket)
> > > > And underage kids can't buy beer or cigarettes or liquor either.
> > > > Yeah, those underage kids aren't having any piercings or tattooing
> done
> > > > without their parents consent.
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > > And if the parent DOES consent, it's no one else's concern
> but
> > > > > that of the family involved.
> > > >
> > > > Right again, Rick. Just because some parent is lacking common sense,
> I
> > > > won't worry at all about it.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > He didn't get the "or" statement in your submission, Rick ("or the
> business
> > > that conducts it is liable").
> >
> > Sure, I got it. The beer sellers, the drug dealers, the liquor > > sellers--they're all liable too. It doesn't seem to slow up many of
```

> > 'em.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> And, it doesn't slow up the kids looking to buy. And, it doesn't slow up > the parents who don't get more aggressive to do something about indicators > that their kids are into things like that. You want all to keep from > being able to avail themselves of something because of those who are too > lazy to restrict themselves from doing wrong?

Huh? I said nothing even close to the motivations you have attributed to me.

Dave K8MN

2897. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 17:06:37 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C090E12.E30A4DD2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25894

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> > Rick Adams wrote:
.
> > >
> > > A "male" group, Dave?
> > >
> > > It's an _amateur radio_ group!
> > >
> > > What a sexist statement to make!
> >
> > I wrote "a mostly male group" which you translate to "a 'male' group".
> >
> > Of course it is an amateur radio group!
> >
> > What a silly and deliberately false translation you've made!
> >
> > Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > > contradiction didn't you understand?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
>
> Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not use > inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in a mixed > group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound like I > did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is that I > would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This newsgroup > is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but I will > to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.

Thanks for straightening up that point. What difference is there between using the language at a black tie dinner and here? Is it in the apparel?

> At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...

You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go to the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?

> I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even more > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you truly > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have no > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy being > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be placed upon > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make allowances.

> I live for me.

What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward vulgarity and what society considers to be foul language? There are as many people who would be offended by your language at a football game as would be offended at that black-tie function.

It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.

Dave K8MN

2898. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 18:21:11 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ub71101seb@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25895

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c08e3db_2@newsa.ev1.net...
> WHY does an attraction have to be physical or sexual?
>
> Kim W5TIT

It's because, in most cases, a man's brain is directly connected to his penis.

As Red Green says, "We can't help it. We're men."

2899. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 18:33:31 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ub7n201tuk@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25897

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C08B620.E7F93E01@sccoast.net...

> Kim's callsign is a passionate belief? Oh, come on. If we're going > to argue that fanatically, argue over something that matters. Or don't > get so fanatical about it.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

So what are you complaining about? If you don't want to argue, don't respond.

2900. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 18:35:41 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ub7r401u6k@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25896

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0867FC.57D708A1@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > I think a lot of folks "do" newsgroups for the same reason that they go to a > > wrestling, boxing, or other sporting match, or even the races.
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> For the blood and accidents?
>
> Dave K8MN

Are you not entertained?! ARE YOU NOT ENTERTAINED!?!

2901. some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 20:10:23 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <POaO7.139177$WW.8801107@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25898

The World Bank defines adult illiteracy as the inability of someone 15 or older to read or write, with understanding, a short and simple statement about their everyday life. While the highest rates as one would expect are in Africa, when those are removed we come to this sequence:

Country Rate of Adult illiteracy

Pakistan 55%
Egypt 46%
India (second largest Muslim cty) 45%
Algeria 33%
Saudi Arabia 25%
China 18%
Brazil 17%
South Africa 17%
Turkey 16%
Indonesia 15%
Malaysia 13%

There has been a lot of discussion of Islam in this group so it is worth noting here that a huge proportion of the population gets its idea of Islam from the local imam. It is not an economic issue, Egypt and Ecuador have essentially the same income per head. South Africa may be excused for no better reason that the current regime' has not been in power for 15 years and replaced one where education was not a huge priority.

We have seen, in the USA for sure, what happens when the local imam's education is from the Schmellpell Institute of Pinochle, Religion, and Belles Lettres or is simply a money-raising fraud. When there is no hope, suicide bombers abound.

Dick NBK

2902. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 21:31:37 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7752ECFDC9939528.7C5E1635518C8755.483D57EBB25D190B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25899

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 15:32:55 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Maybe you should have tried using a bowl. It allows the wine to breathe >properly.

Not with a decent red Bordeaux!!!

Lacking the bell of the wine glass and expanding it's width/height ratio to that extent would cause the wine to lose its more subtle flavors. A young red needs to be allowed to breathe--but much more slowly than a bowl would cause--ideally in the wine glass itself, which is shaped appropriately for the task. A good vintage red shouldn't need time to breathe, it's already aged properly (the purpose of breathing a wine is to simulate the changes of aging, not to break up the wine), although with a very old wine you may need to decant it to address cork decomposition. In either case, however, a bowl wouldn't be suited to the use.

For a light aperitif wine, a fruity cordial, a rice wine (or a good sake) or a micro brewery beer, on the other hand, a bowl would be the perfect serving vessel, so long as it was glass or ceramic of course (a metal bowl imparts a taste to the contents that isn't appropriate to an alcoholic beverage). A bowl is also appropriate for a non-alcoholic beverage of course.

Don't be stodgy, Dave. Try something slightly different--and perhaps a bit "wacky" once in a while, it doesn't hurt anyone and you might find it adds something to your life.

>> A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd >> enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, >> Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!
>
>I don't have a problem with what your "friend" does when he is alone or >with you folks. I wouldn't want him as a dinner guest. Does he drink >from your bottles?

Hardly, that would represent bad manners. And, to ease your mind, he doesn't do so as a dinner guest either (although he seldom gets to enjoy sitting down to dinner himself--he's the executive chef and part owner of a top restaurant in Chicago, and he prefers to entertain than to eat out when he's with friends, so he tends to end up cooking the meal himself [according to her, she's never cooked a meal since they married--their kitchen is HIS territory--and she doesn't mind it a bit!]).

>> Life is meant to be lived, not regulated by convention. Try >> slurping from a bowl someday--if the contents are good enough you'll >> probably enjoy it.
>
>There's no need for me to do so. I've already mastered the use of >cutlery and this allows much enhancement to the life I'm living.

Try something new.

Do you eat with chop sticks? If not, you are losing an addition to the experience of eating Asian foods. Do you eat with your fingers? If not, you can't enjoy buffalo wings, or other "finger foods" to your detriment. Do you like to try new foods and beverages?
New restaurants? New cuisines? Many cuisines DO have dishes meant to be "slurped from the bowl." If you aren't willing to try that, you'll lose the opportunity to experience an entire range of wonderful flavors--or you'll end up consuming them inappropriately and be viewed by the restaurant staff as a "stodgy American" who rejects their cultural practices.

>Ask Kim. "Loathsome" is her word. It didn't make any sense to me
>either.

A loathsome life, to me, is one that is wasted, Dave. It's one in which bitterness, self-righteousness, materialism, jingoism, or other negative experiences have prevented the full enjoyment of all the riches that a healthy approach to life has to offer. It's the life of the miser, the criminal, the prude, or the dour doom-sayer--all of whom have far more in common than they would like to think they have.

It's a life to be pitied, Dave. And one it is very clear Kim doesn't live.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2903. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 21:56:05 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0951F6.4686B619@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25900

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C087F43.1A3D438F@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she > > > did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, > > > or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call > > > sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.
> > >
> > None of us who do something stupid, issue an invitation to be rebuked > > for it but it is certainly difficult to dodge responsibility.
> > >
>
> Oh, contraire. Contraire. I wholeheartedly welcome and invite anyone to > "rebuke" (if that's what you wish to call it) my callsign! Prove to me that > it's wrong, that it's going to bring the ARS "one step closer to > extinction," that all children entering ham radio are harmed, that it's not > a family radio service any more, that I offer nothing of positive value to > the ARS, and on and on.

Oh oh au contraire. It doesn't matter what you have to offer the ARS if folks can't get past your call. All children don't have to be harmed.
How about if one child is offended? How about if one woman who doesn't see your poke at ham radio is upset by it? How about if one man finds your call an unpleasant embarrassment? In those cases, you are responsible and your choice reflects badly upon amateur radio and upon your judgement.

You don't need to take a leap toward the extinction of amateur radio. A small step at a time will do it.

> Prove it. Make one, just one, logical argument that it does. Remember, > logic is that which is very personal.

Would it make any difference if I could offer sound proof, Kim?
You've already indicated that your nose thumbing at humanity is your way of telling us that all that matters to you is what you want. It is, after all, your life and no one can tell you how to live it.

> >
> > I'd rather accept my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the > > view of her most frequent libertarian defender. I'm not bound to accept > > your "libertarian-with-attitude" view any more than I'm bound to accept > > Kim's choice as appropriate.

> NOW, we get to something we agree on! No name calling, Dave. Let's make it > as pure and simple as we can get: I absolutely understand that you do not > believe my callsign is good for amateur radio. I also absolutely agree that > you are not bound to accept my choice as appropriate.
>
> I wholeheartedly understand, but disagree. Here you go: I'd rather accept > my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the view of a most > conservative man such as yourself. I'm not bound to accept your > conservative attitude any more than I'm bound to believe that my choice of a > callsign is inappropriate.

No you aren't bound, Kim. It is your legal right to retain your call and to continue to thumb your nose at society. You've already claimed that you don't care how you are perceived by others. You haven't learned a thing.

Dave K8MN

2904. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 21:57:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C095242.6EFF7ED8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25951

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > > contradiction didn't you understand?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Man, you are stretching now, Dave. You're really stretching.

In what way, Kim?

Dave K8MN

2905. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 22:08:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0954D6.7CB26508@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25952

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 15:32:55 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:

>
> >Ask Kim. "Loathsome" is her word. It didn't make any sense to me > >either.
>
> A loathsome life, to me, is one that is wasted, Dave. It's one > in which bitterness, self-righteousness, materialism, jingoism, or > other negative experiences have prevented the full enjoyment of all > the riches that a healthy approach to life has to offer. It's the life > of the miser, the criminal, the prude, or the dour doom-sayer--all of > whom have far more in common than they would like to think they have.
>
> It's a life to be pitied, Dave. And one it is very clear Kim > doesn't live.

Then account for her loathing my lifestyle. Maybe she lives it after all and perhaps Cecil is indeed compulsive/obsessive. You have to stop issuing denials for the claims of others.

I guess you've gotten used to that self-righteous, libertarian chip on your shoulder and have managed to come to terms with the self-loathing it has induced. Maybe you can turn it around before you have to consider your life wasted.

Dave K8MN

2906. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 22:24:02 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <081D8B9BD400AE59.4DF1746E7CAABF0F.1D04DB6A64040C9C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25953

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 15:53:24 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Sure it does. If you leave out a modifier, it changes what the >statement means. If someone states a reality, how is the statement >sexist? There are, by far, more males posting here than females. There >are, by far, more male radio amateurs than female. Those statements are >simple reality.

But does that mean that this is a primarily male news group--or that the majority of the posters here are male? There are tens of thousands of READERS of this group, Dave (I already cited the source)--and there is absolutely no possible way to justify assuming that a majority are male.

In classrooms it isn't at all uncommon for the males to speak out while the women sit back and listen. Some of us who teach end up encouraging the women to participate more actively--but if we don't do so we invariably end up in a male-dominated classroom. Even in a class that is 3/4 women a listener in the hall would be convinced there were no women present--or at most only about one woman for every five men.
Precisely the same thing could be true of this news group--OR of those who listen to (versus talk on) the ham bands as well.

I _do_ know that more women listen to short wave radio than men (a statistic published in, as I recall, Science magazine). Given that they already have radios capable of doing so, is it unlikely that they are listening to ham conversations as well?

Obviously, they aren't licensed hams--but the concept of government regulation of the airways doesn't imply that hams are to be the only ones to receive enjoyment from the ARS--only that they are to be the only ones permitted to transmit in those bands.

>> >Of course it is an amateur radio group!
>>
>> No, actually it's a Usenet group created for the discussion of >> amateur radio policy issues. If it were an amateur radio group, people >> wouldn't keep telling me that what is said here has no effect on the >> amateur radio service.
>
>Did you have a real point to make?

Sure.

You--and others such as Larry and Dick--insist that people should respect the practices that form the guidelines for amateur radio communications when on the air--even when those guidelines (i.e., they should use the appropriate sideband for the band in which they are operating, show respect for traffic nets by not occupying their regular frequency when it is known they will begin operations soon, take the time to encourage new hams instead of snubbing them, etc.) are NOT matters of law, but strictly conventions.

Fine. I agree with that, as (I'm sure) do most of the people in this newsgroup.

But, by the same standard, the Usenet has it's own guidelines that users are expected to follow. Those guidelines include such practices as trimming attributions severely, providing sources for statements claimed to be facts rather than opinion, dropping a thread when it is clear that nothing new is left to say about the subject, etc.

As someone who legitimately insists that those who want to participate in his hobby (amateur radio) should adhere to the guidelines for that area of interest, you have an obligation to respect the guidelines for the hobbies of others in which you choose to participate as well.

That, Dave, is the point. You don't do so. Larry and Dick don't do so (although both tend to be more effective in trimming their attributions than you are). Yet all three of you argue here that your only reason for participating in this thread is because you are offended by actions you perceive to be harmful to the ARS. If that is the case, you--more than others--have an absolute obligation not to act in a manner that is likely to offend those who participate in hobby computing, and thus may be harmful to the Usenet community.

You claim to believe in fairness, Dave. Yet in this area you do not demonstrate that conviction.

>Don't read 'em if it bothers you. Only a fool would trim the things to >which he was responding.

Isn't that like saying "only a fool would restrict or restrain his language on the air when making a point?"

Sorry, Dave, but if the guidelines for proper behavior on the Usenet aren't important enough to you to show respect for them, then your opinions concerning the way events may affect the ARS are totally unimportant to anyone else. It simply demonstrates that you are unwilling to demonstrate fairness in your behavior.

>> I'm sure if we were on the air and I violated standard >> operating conventions out of ignorance or lack of consideration you >> would take the time to inform me of the fact, and would expect me to >> respect the ARS and change my behavior.
>
>Let's be honest. You don't know for a fact, what I would do.

No, I don't.

I presented that response as the most polite, respectful, and courteous way in which an amateur radio operator could reasonably be expected to behave under those conditions.

If you feel that you would be less courteous, respectful, or polite on the air I certainly won't dispute your word on that issue.

>Always a pleasure to hear from the newsgroup police. What makes it >funnier is that you are a guy who often trims relevant info in an >apparent effort to make it appear that someone has said something he has
>not.

No, Dave, I do not.

What I trim is either: (1) material addressing subjects to which I am not responding (there's no logical reason to quote-back an entire message when you are only responding to part of it) and; (2) quotes from previous messages. I NEVER trim your own statements (if I am responding to them)--only the statements you are replying TO.

It's appropriate behavior Dave. It makes efficient use of the medium and does NOT distort the meaning of the quote being replied to.
I'm sorry if you can't remember what you replied to or don't use a good enough news reader to refer back to your posts yourself--but there simply isn't any reason to waste bandwidth quoting extensive material that the intelligent reader will simply skip over to reach the new material anyway.

>> But, Dave, you yourself stated that it is "a mostly male >> group." Thus, her comments were made primarily for a male audience >> who, presumably, are accustomed to frank language (and if you claim >> MEN don't use that language in conversation among themselves there >> isn't a person in this group who would believe you even THOUGHT that >> was true).
>
>Kim isn't male.

You mean that different rules of speech apply to women than to
men?

Dave, there is no way you can define that statement other than as sexism.

>There are some other females who read the group.

Again, so what?

Unless you view women as incapable of dealing with language that a man can deal with (which is likewise sexism) that makes no difference what-so-ever.

>Kim explains that she wouldn't use that kind of language in a mixed >group.

I suspect it would depend on the group in Kim's case--as it would in my own.

Around a group of people who did not use frank language I have no doubt she would not do so either by choice. And around a group who DID commonly use frank language, I can't see any reason why she wouldn't--or shouldn't!

> If Kim uses such language in a group of males, the group is a >mixed group.

Then your argument boils down, essentially, to the point that a woman shouldn't use language that is common among men unless she is only speaking to a woman?

Want to explain how it is possible that your view is anything at all but sexism?

>Not all men use the same or similar language in conversation, Rick.

Of course not. More importantly, men tend to use different language in different settings. What you may say in a military barracks, for example, is certainly different from what you would be likely to say at a church supper.

>Of those who do, not many would use the language in the presence of a >woman.

And here is where we break company.

If a man (or woman) is going to use a given term it is the SETTING, not the sex of the listeners, that should be the sole criteria. Precisely why is it that language appropriate for men is not appropriate for women? Try to justify that claim on the basis of logic, not sexism and stereotypes.

> Good luck with your latest baseless rant.

I'll let you know if I start one someday.

>Oh yeah, the netiquette version of this post appears below:

If you believe that is proper attributions, you demonstrate the same level of knowledge of appropriate behavior that a cb 'er would demonstrate by using a 2K linear and 150% modulation on 11m.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2907. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 22:53:09 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C095F55.1B1757C1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25954

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Are you arguing that total trust is what you believe in, Cecil?

A wife who would violate my trust is not worth having as a wife. Better to find that out sooner than later.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2908. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:01:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09614C.6E54FF7F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25955

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > You implied that the Libertarian Party
> > is a dead horse while it is in fact > > more successful than it ever has been > > before. The Libertarian Party is > > probably the largest third party in > > the US.
>
> ... so my statement still stands.

How can I be any clearer? The part of your statement to which I objected was the "dead horse" part. The Libertarian Party is growing every year and is not a "dead horse". It is a grass roots organization that just won more elections than at any other time in its short history. It is strong in a few states and weak in many others. That's why nothing is happening at a national level yet. From little acorns, might oaks grow.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2909. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:04:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0961F2.5A8AF7BB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25956

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote:
> >Gee, not many posts ago you admitted to being a radical.
>
> For someone who insists on quote backs, you're remarkably > unwilling to use them yourself.
>
> Show me where I identified myself as a "RADICAL."

Maybe Dave means that you are radically straight forward and honest. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2910. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:07:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DC17EF6C76FEAB88.9B5A70A7C08FC1D7.5D7897612278BACC@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25957

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 16:10:39 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Your view simply isn't borne out by what I found in the Sunday Wheeling >News-Register just a couple of weeks back. Agents cited numerous >establishments in the Ohio Valley for selling tobacco, beer and liquor >to minors.

Yup!

And how many tattoo parlors or piercing salons were providing services to kids?

The very fact that "sting" operations ARE regularly conducted to catch shops selling tobacco and alcohol to youths demonstrates that a risk is involved in doing so. And the risk to a firm that performs an act that is _permanent_ (i.e., a tattoo or a piercing) versus one that can be claimed to have been made accidently (thought s/he was old enough, new employee, etc.) and has no long term affect (based on the specific incident--tobacco, obviously, has a long term effect when used on a regular basis) is vastly more liable to damages.

If, for example, my son were 16 (he just turned 18), and he purchased a six pack of beer at a local store I would have grounds to prosecute and could possibly even sue for putative damages. Neither the prosecution nor the law suit, however, would result in enough damages to seriously harm the business (although either or both might discourage further sales to minors). But if, instead, he went to a piercing salon and had his tongue pierced (a permanent piercing) or went to a tattoo parlor and had a picture of a bloody knife tattooed on his forearm, I would have grounds for a law suit that would probably put the firm out of business. That's a LOT more risk for a firm than the simple offense of selling beer to a teen.

>> No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting >> tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?
>
>Yes, I do.

Then document your source for the information. Unless, of course, it is purely opinion with no basis in demonstrable fact.

>For a parent to permit something which permanently defaces the human >body such as piercings and tattooing sounds pretty irresponsible to me.

ONLY if piercings or tattoos are viewed as "defacing" rather than as "enhancing." That isn't a question of general values, Dave,

it's one that is cultural--and if the youth culture of today finds them attractive (which it appears they do), why shouldn't they have the same right to set their standards of beauty that you and I have to set our own?

Many cultures world wide use piercings, tattoos, or scarification to (from their perspective) enhance beauty. In the US until the feminist movement caught on, women spent literally hours putting on elaborate makeup before going in public--again to enhance their beauty according to the standards of the current culture. To treat such accoutrements as "defacing" simply indicates that you believe your personal standards of beauty are the only ones that have validity, a patent absurdity.

>We all know that people often participate in acts in youth which they >come to regret as adults. That is one reason that courts try youthful >offenders under different standards than adults.

True.

But one of the greatest problems we have with juveniles in our nation today is the combination of justification and repression. Justification in that we tend to minimize the degree of their own responsibility for an offense and blame the act on society, and repression because we refuse to accept what are often very legitimate values and standards because they differ from our own generation's and are held by youths rather than adults.

By limiting teens (pre-pubescent kids are a different matter--from a psychological perspective they have not as yet fully matured mentally, where adolescents have done so) in ways that adults are not limited, we simply make it clear that they are "children" from our perspective--and then we wonder why they ACT like children on occasion.

>> I know some women who have >> exceptionally attractive tattoos and more than a few who have body >> jewelry (including some piercings NO teen would be able to have done >> with or without parental consent) and are very happy with the >> result--as are their spouses or significant others.
>>
>> Your values apply only to yourself, not to others.
>>
>
>Ever hear of a term called "community values"? Its existence would >refute your statement.

Only if you can demonstrate that the community: (1) has a RIGHT to impose values on a given matter and; (2) has better or more relevant values than the individuals affected.

Your "Community values" when carried to any reasonable extent would define such behavior as piercing as totally inappropriate in some communities--and completely acceptable in others. What if the person who is pierced in, for example, Santa Cruz California, where it is accepted, travels to Cincinnati where it is not well accepted? Are they obligated to remove their jewelry and have the piercing surgically closed? Or is it unreasonable for the new community to impose its values on those who don't share them?

Community values can only refute my statement if you can demonstrate community values that are absolutes rather than subjective decisions based on current stereotypes and political influences. So far, I have yet to see someone do that.

>Do some school systems have dress codes?

Sure.

In any private school you care to pay tuition for.

But in a public school?

Whose standards do you enforce with those codes? It can't be that of the parents--they aren't asked their opinion, which would be expressed by the clothing they permitted their children to wear to school anyway. It can't be that of the kids themselves, since it restricts those choices directly. And since the parents and the kids, together REPRESENT the community of interest (it isn't ANYONE'S business what the dress code is if he or she has no connection with the school or kids in the first place), it can't be the community's codes, either. The only thing left is an arbitrary set of values that have no justification what-so-ever.

A girl in a Michigan school was recently suspended for wearing a t-shirt with a pentagram on it (symbolic of Wicca). Yet a girl wearing a t-shirt with a religious icon (a picture of Jesus with a halo) on it was permitted to attend classes. According to the school, the pentagram violated the dress code. It sounds to me like the school was the one who committed a violation--of the religious rights of the student. But "community standards" supported the dress code and since the parents didn't have the money (or desire) to fight the case to the SC, the school won.

It was a public school.

>Can you buy a copy of Hustler magazine in Hamilton County, Ohio?

Nope. Which has nothing to do with "community standards" and has everything to do with suppression of freedom of speech and freedom of choice.

It is also the direct result of concentrated campaigns by the religious right that have thrust what should be religious issues into the legal process. The same holds true for Ft. Wayne, IN, and other extremist, bible-thumping, communities.

>On an FCC related topic:
>
>Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?

It doesn't.

The dish network doesn't produce or show movies, Dave, it merely provides a satellite downlink for the broadcasters such as HBO, Showtime, etc.--at least if it works the same as DirecTV, as I understand it does.

If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.

Let me reverse the question: If there's something wrong with using those words--why are the present in a movie in the first place to REQUIRE anyone to "bleep" them?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2911. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:07:44 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0962C0.6F38A886@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25958

Dave Heil wrote:
> How about if one child is offended?

Oh dear God, another "It takes a village" person.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2912. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:13:58 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0D8D991B72A34E78.54270F3EF82B0C73.9384415D0FFD4EA4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25959

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 05:48:15 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Then I would say you've convinced yourself (or are trying to >convince me) that you're not human. I would find it very difficult to >believe that you have a number of female friends, and thoughts of sex >has never entered your mind with any of them.

On the contrary, Dwight, I'm very human. And in the right settings, I'm (obviously) attracted to women on a sexual basis. But the difference is, when the setting is NOT right I don't feel any such attraction at all. I'm sorry if you can't relate to that experience, but I can very definitely state that it is one that many men share.

> We're not talking about "bed mates," Rick. We're talking about being >sexually attracted, in your mind, to that other person. That does not >have to be just thoughts about how to get her (assuming "Rick" is a >male's name in this case) into bed.

It's a male name.

And I still maintain that sexual attraction is NOT a necessary part of an interaction between a man and a woman unless the setting is appropriate to that reaction.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2913. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:15:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09648B.95C1860F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25960

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Not true of me, Dwight. For months, I have been dating a lady with > > absolutely no thought of sex on my mind. We just enjoy socializing together > > as a couple.
>
> Absolutely no thought of sex, Cecil? I find that very hard to > believe that you date a woman that you're not attracted to.

The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2914. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:26:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09673F.BAAF7C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25961

Rick Adams wrote:
> On the contrary, Dwight, I'm very human. And in the right > settings, I'm (obviously) attracted to women on a sexual basis. But > the difference is, when the setting is NOT right I don't feel any such > attraction at all.

Dwight is obviously one of those Homo sapiens who hasn't yet evolved to the stage where he is in control of and responsible for his own feelings. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2915. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:32:02 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C3B23BABE838F00E.C11572E24CD16671.EA017BED2E0680EF@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25962

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 21:56:05 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Oh oh au contraire. It doesn't matter what you have to offer the ARS if >folks can't get past your call. All children don't have to be harmed.
>How about if one child is offended? How about if one woman who doesn't >see your poke at ham radio is upset by it? How about if one man finds >your call an unpleasant embarrassment? In those cases, you are >responsible and your choice reflects badly upon amateur radio and upon >your judgement.

Then by the same standard, if your last name reminds a Jewish ham of the experience his or her parents underwent at the hands of the Nazis ("Heil Hitler!") shouldn't you have your name changed or refrain from making your last name known to amateurs on the air or on your QSL cares?

>You don't need to take a leap toward the extinction of amateur radio. A >small step at a time will do it.

That's ok, Dave.

After all, both of your supporters (Dick Carroll and Larry Roll) believe that the people entering ham radio since the restructuring aren't "real" hams anyway and will only damage the ARS.
So if Kim's call sign choice makes one or more of them stay out of the hobby (as you all claim it has the potential to do) she will actually be helping to PRESERVE the ARS through her choice rather than damage it. In fact, it could be argued that if YOU refuse to change your sign to one that could offend potential hams (perhaps W8DIK???) it is YOU, not Kim, who is bringing the ARS "...one step closer to extinction."

>Would it make any difference if I could offer sound proof, Kim?

I believe it would make a difference. If you could actually PROVE to Kim that her call sign was harming the ARS, I would be VERY surprised if she wouldn't change it.

>You've already indicated that your nose thumbing at humanity is your way >of telling us that all that matters to you is what you want. It is, >after all, your life and no one can tell you how to live it.

One has nothing to do with the other. Kim DOES have a right to live her life in the manner she chooses--as we ALL do--but at the same time she has a sense of responsibility and would be very unlikely to make a choice she KNEW would hurt others who hadn't first invited that harm. She IS dedicated to ham radio, and unlike those who would demean and ridicule new hams because they didn't have to go through the same now pointless hazing rituals we had to undergoes (code testing), she actually seems to care about people's feelings--so long as they don't invite her disdain by pretending to be more moral than she herself.

>> NOW, we get to something we agree on! No name calling, Dave. Let's make it >> as pure and simple as we can get: I absolutely understand that you do not >> believe my callsign is good for amateur radio. I also absolutely agree that >> you are not bound to accept my choice as appropriate.
>>
>> I wholeheartedly understand, but disagree. Here you go: I'd rather accept >> my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the view of a most >> conservative man such as yourself. I'm not bound to accept your >> conservative attitude any more than I'm bound to believe that my choice of a >> callsign is inappropriate.
>
>No you aren't bound, Kim. It is your legal right to retain your call >and to continue to thumb your nose at society.

Not at society, Dave. At those in society who she feels (rightly, in my opinion) are unreasonable in their demands.

>You've already claimed >that you don't care how you are perceived by others. You haven't learned >a thing.

From you?

What was she supposed to learn? How to attack others for disagreeing with her? Why would she need to learn that from someone who generally loses when he attempts to do so himself?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2916. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-01 23:36:05 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <09FE07A34AAC864E.C638CD63629A4537.94B627A7E840F203@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25963

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 22:08:22 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> A loathsome life, to me, is one that is wasted, Dave. It's one >> in which bitterness, self-righteousness, materialism, jingoism, or >> other negative experiences have prevented the full enjoyment of all >> the riches that a healthy approach to life has to offer. It's the life >> of the miser, the criminal, the prude, or the dour doom-sayer--all of >> whom have far more in common than they would like to think they have.
>>
>> It's a life to be pitied, Dave. And one it is very clear Kim >> doesn't live.
>
>Then account for her loathing my lifestyle. Maybe she lives it after >all and perhaps Cecil is indeed compulsive/obsessive. You have to stop >issuing denials for the claims of others.

Perhaps she simply sees your life as wasted, Dave.

That would be a pretty good reason to loathe your lifestyle, wouldn't it?

>I guess you've gotten used to that self-righteous, libertarian chip on >your shoulder and have managed to come to terms with the self-loathing >it has induced. Maybe you can turn it around before you have to consider >your life wasted.

I don't have any self-loathing, Dave. Like Kim and Cecil (and,
I'm sure, most others) I come here for recreation not because I expect to influence anyone to change his views.

Of course, wasted is in the mind of the beholder, and while you may consider my life wasted, I find the freedom that has formed its core a LOT more positive and worthwhile than the hate and superstition that obviously forms your own. I'll leave it up to others to decide which of us has had a "wasted" life on that basis.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2917. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:01:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c096e91_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25964

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C08B3A3.177A0394@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Overall, yes, I believe that women
> > and men can be friends without having > > sex. Note that I said without having > > sex. There will be few encounters > > with the opposite sex in which "sex"
> > does not enter the minds of either--
> > and a true friendship is capable of > > exploring that those thoughts and > > feelings are there. And, a true > > friendship will suffer through that > > (because it is strictly temporary)
> > and get on to the real business of > > being friends.
>
>
> Thanks for noticing the difference between to the two (sexual > attraction and having sex). True, obviously many people can have > relations with the opposite sex without actually having sex, but I do > think it is difficult to have such without at least the thought of sex > entering the minds of those involved at some point. We are very sexual > creatures and there are few interactions with the opposite sex where > the thought of sex doesn't come up.
>

Hmmmm. I think I'd tend to agree if the "friendship" is a true friendship and, by that, I mean a friendship outside of those acquaintances we make at work and even many we hams make. If I were to have a friendship in which a man and I have many situations to be with each other, there is high liklihood that at some point I may feel sexually to him. But, feeling sexually attracted to male friends at work, casual friends from ham radio, etc., is pretty nil. At least, I've never felt a sexual attraction to someone I would consider a casual friend. I am not a very sexual creature--quite different from many women I've been told (by the women :)). By your definition of "few interactions with the opposite sex where the thought of sex doesn't come up" I am not so sure about that for me; or from the perspective of women in general. Not being sexist here, I hope, but I think men are much more likely to be sexually attracted to a casual acquaintence than women are.

What's your opinion of that?

>
> > Now, the situation which brings this > > whole topic up--that of Rick and I
> > getting together at a Starbucks (I > > think it was) and Larry R. having > > such a (snip)
>
>
> I wasn't adding this as a part of that conversation. This was just > something that popped into my head and I decided to add another branch > off the existing discussions.
>
>
> > I don't think there's anything wrong
> > at all with "feeling" desirable, or
> > with fantasizing about other people.
> > I think it's quite healthy--and have > > been in situations where that part of > > a friendship is discussed, dealt with,
> > and allowed to "go away" (because it > > will). I would think my husband was > > extremely weird if he told me that he > > only ever looks at me and doesn't feel
> > a thing about other women. I also > > trust him not to act on his emotions--
> > we have a monogamous relationship;
> > though not a possessive or jealous one.
> > <GIGGLE> Actually, his greatest dream
> > is for me to bring him home another > > girl someday...a dream I eternally > > remind him will never happen :)
>
>
> Well said. You raised so many topics that it will be difficult to > address each. To simplify, I think most of what you said is not > uncommon (right down to your husband's dream). We all seem to live in > two worlds - the real world that exists around us and our made up > fantasy world where anything is possible and everything works out > exactly like we want. Many people "experiment" with bringing the > fantasy world into the real world, but few find it as satisfying as > they thought it would be (often because it's too contrived, too > planned). In other words, the most satisfying sexual experimentation > is when it simply happens without prior planning. Of course, that is > very hard to do when it involves two, three, or more, people. And, > obviously, certain fantasies should clearly remain exactly that.
>
> One of these days we have to talk about fantasies and the thoughts > behind them. After talking to a good number of people, reading, being > married for 25+ years, and looking at my own, I've come up with some > interesting observations (about the types of fantasies each sex has > and why). Perhaps I could get a government grant - I would love the > opportunity to research this further. :-)

>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

My fantasy is simply a never-ending body rub--no sex involved...LOL

Kim W5TIT

2918. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:07:38 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c096ffa_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25965

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C08F828.7B5DFF9E@earthlink.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd > > enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, > > Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!
>
> I don't have a problem with what your "friend" does when he is alone or > with you folks. I wouldn't want him as a dinner guest. Does he drink > from your bottles?
>

The friend would likely "behave" as a guest at your dinner table. In fact, unless you both had the opportunity to really get to know each other, you'd probably never realize or learn about the "wild" side.

As to drinking from each others' bottles, that was quite common among us at mountain get-togethers when I was younger. It's a little difficult to carry wine glasses and carafs on snow mobiles and when hiking in the snow! Our "joke" with each other was that alcohol would kill anything... :)

Kim W5TIT

2919. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:30:44 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097562_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25967

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C08FCAA.BC6B744D@earthlink.net...
> >
> >
> > >Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a mixed > > >group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > > >contradiction didn't you understand?
> >

Wrong, Dave. I never used the words "mixed group." At least not that I could find. The reason I took the time to look is because "mixed company" and "mixed group" are not phrases I like, so couldn't believe I would have used them. I don't think I used the term "mixed group." I used the phrase "inappropriate environment" (see quotes from post below).

> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > But, Dave, you yourself stated that it is "a mostly male > > group." Thus, her comments were made primarily for a male audience > > who, presumably, are accustomed to frank language (and if you claim > > MEN don't use that language in conversation among themselves there > > isn't a person in this group who would believe you even THOUGHT that > > was true).
>
> Kim isn't male. There are some other females who read the group.
> Kim explains that she wouldn't use that kind of language in a mixed > group. If Kim uses such language in a group of males, the group is a > mixed group.
>

Dave, WHERE are you getting that I stated I wouldn't use that kind of language in a mixed group (emphasis yours)!!?? I DID NOT say a mixed group. I simply said "inappropriate environment."

In the message posted by you, "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C07204E.1DCDEF3A@earthlink.net..., posted 11/30/01 at 9:21PM, here are my two quotes, copied and pasted directly out of the post:
****
FIRST (and this one doesn't even reference a term meaning group):
Well, call it what you will. I consider the truth a virtue. Now, am I going to use the word "fuck" on the air? Hardly. A) I think it would be quite illegal. B) I think that is rather direct and much too open. C) A child may be listening. The WORD fuck leaves nothing to translation. What is, is. Yet, the callsign W5TIT, said as such (and it is), never used as name (and it is not), and never open for "fun" discussion on the air (I will not respond to conversation on the air about it--I won't even transmit); then a child is quite safe. As I've said in the past, if a child "picks up" on the TIT in my callsign and finds it vulgar, it is not I who taught that child to think that way.

THEN THIS (and here is where I mention the environment):
Dave, for goodness sake. I wouldn't be free and open in an inappropriate environment. And, before you go off on a tirade, I don't consider the ham radio venue as the improper venue. Sorry, but I don't and you're not going to convince me otherwise. However, even at a black tie dinner party there would be a certain air of realism about me. I would have no problem telling a stuffed shirt he is just that--but in a very, very nice way. (But, I would walk away in grace and hope he'd just let his crystal wine glass drop to the floor). And, the only person I would hope to do that with would be a callous bastard, or wimpy bitch.
****

Now, where have I said "mixed group?" That is your interpretation of what I said. I also not only said it the way I said it, I clarified further and said that I don't consider that ham radio is an improper venue. It should therefore stand that I SURELY don't consider this forum an improper venue! It is not. This is the internet, usegroup, and anyone is invited to download or not the posts.

>
> Not all men use the same or similar language in conversation, Rick.
> Of those who do, not many would use the language in the presence of a > woman. Good luck with your latest baseless rant.
>

And, not all women use the same or similar language, but many do. Many will not use the language in the presence of a man. Aren't we all just grand at being a bunch of fakes with each other?

Kim W5TIT

2920. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:31:44 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnoojch.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 25966

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 17:15:23 -0600, CAM wrote:

>The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of >the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have >a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school >and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.

What a waste.

On a more serious note, I have several very close lifelong women friends towards whom I suppress my sexual attraction (and vice versa) because I'm very married and intend to stay that way and that's how they remain friends of my wife as well.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

2921. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:34:42 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c09764f_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25968

"Sean G Gilley" <uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org> wrote in message news:ff37aa44.0112010818.4dcf4152@posting.google.com...
>
> I'm not saying that there are not things that men and women can do that > would undermine trust in a spouse. I just believe that what Larry was > saying (no lunches with other men, no professional contact alone with > other men, no nothing alone with other men) goes so far as to be > ludicrous.
>
> Sean.

DITTO.... But then, Larry also displays a huge deal (not just great deal) of insecurity in his posts, so being constantly suspicious of "his woman" would be his nature.

Kim W5TIT

2922. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:38:33 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097738_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25969

You are so blase, Dave. So very blase.

Kim W5TIT

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0909AC.B8F76DE6@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C086F1D.25B168C2@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Aw, Dave. So, you can't handle the truth?
> > >
> > > What truth? It's MOVIES and TELEVISION.
> > >
> >
> > Oh, we'll just forget about the whole rest of the post. I meant the truth > > about me.
>
> > > >
> > > > And, you don't have any movie > > > > heroes? Any depictions of characters that you respect and think about?
> > How
> > > > 'bout the character that Denzel Washington plays in "Remember the > > Titans?"
> > > > How 'bout the character that is played by Mel Gibson in "The Patriot?"
> > > > Sure, they're not real characters and, yeah, those were movies.
OH!!
> > And > > > > what about the characters played by Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding in
> > "Men > > > > of Honor." But, you mean to tell me that you've never encountered
a > > > > personal crisis such as theirs and applied what you learned in those > > movies
> > > > to the struggles we live here in real life every day? NEVER?!!
> > >
> > > Probably not since I was ten or eleven.
> > >
> >

> > You'd be an incredibly difficult person to decide on a movie for then.
Do
> > ya have any heroes at all? I mean, other than the dad, the mom, the > > grandpa, etc. I think those folks are heroes to most of us.
>
> I don't want anyone to decide on a movie for me. I'll decide on my own, > thanks. I don't view movies in order to find a solution to a personal > crisis. I view movies to be entertained.
>
> My heroes are not movie or television characters, Kim. They aren't the > current crop of athletes who sell their autographs to kids. My > grandparents and parents were never heroes to me. They were (save for a > couple of exceptions) role models. I think you might be confusing the > two terms. I considered some of my school teachers and neighbors and > folks in the community to be role models.
>
> I have plenty of heroes. They come from history. In many of those > cases, they sacrificed themselves for others. Some sacrificed for their > country. Some risked their lives to save others (so my heroes didn't > all die). Some heroes stood tall for principles.
>
> > > >
> > > > Wow. That sounds so empty.
> > >
> > > Choosing reality over identifying with TV and movie characters is empty?
> > >
> >
> > Dave, you're incapable of applying traits that are found in powerful > > movies and applying them to real life situations. I am not. There is > a difference.
>
> Being incapable of doing something and choosing not to do it are > different.
>
>
> > "The Patriot" allowed me to reflect, for the very first time, > > on the "personal" aspects that living during such time must have had on > > regular, every day people. Made me appreciate those from that time a little > > more.
>
> While I enjoyed the movie (its purpose), I didn't have any difficulty > understanding what kind of things that everyday people might have had > back in those times even before the film was made.
>
> > > >
> > > > By the way, the movies "Erin Brokovich"(sp), "Remember the Titans"
and
> > "Men

> > > > of Honor" were all based on true stories, Dave. You know...real life.
> > >
> > > We all know what the words "based on" mean when used by movie makers.
> > > Are you asking if I watch and enjoy TV shows or movies, the answer is > > > yes. If you are asking if I identify with movie characters, the answer > > > is no.
> > >
> >
> > Well then, there we have it.
> >
> > > >
> > > > REAL life. Sure, I mentioned some additional ones from my original > > post.
> > > > But, a tale to be told does not have to be real to learn something >
> > from it, Dave.
> > >
> > > Ever read a non-fiction book and then watch the movie made from it?
> > > Ever notice that the movie version is always greatly imbellished and > > > that sometimes the ending is completely different?
> > >
> >
> > Are you suggesting just a teency bit that books (????!!!!) are more to base > > real life on than movies? Sure, I've read books then watched the movie
and > > been disappointed every time. BUT, aren't they both the same in terms
of > > reality, to you? I suppose if you find yourself identifying more with a > > book, it's a matter of media then.
>
> That'd be true if I hadn't written "non-fiction book" so it isn't a > matter of the medium at all. Do you claim that a documentary film is > not any diffent than a historical drama where liberties are taken with > fact and where a team of writers put words in the mouth of a character > which that person never uttered in life?
>
> > > >
> > > > Yeah, I know better. Lots better.
> > >
> > > Can't prove it from what I've read here, either in the initial posting > > > or your follow up.
> >
> >
> > Returning back to the last "bottom line" of this branch of this thread;
the > > one where I asked you do you know why I could "mingle" better with all > > groups of people than you could? You never answered. The reason, in my > > opinion, that I have more flexibility with people than you, Dave, is because > > I believe I am far more appreciative of peoples' different points of view.

>
> Now we have a conundrum. What proof do you offer that you are more > flexible than me or that you are more appreciative of different points > of view? Was the proof in the line about your "fake smile" at that > cocktail party or in your detailed attributions to the thoughts and > attitudes of other attendees?
>
> > You base my approach to reality now, completely on the fact that I mentioned > > some movies and you completely ignore the rest of a real honest submission
> > to you about myself.
>
> I assuredly have not based my impression of you on your identification > with movie characters. I've certainly based part of that impression on > your statement about what you'd like to whisper to some woman you'd > encountered at a cocktail party. The impression I came away with wasn't > good.
>
> > To each his own. I can accept your statement for what it is. You cast
a > > judgement on mine. (Except for the part where I do say that it sounds very > > empty that your emotions are not stirred by a good movie).
>
> My emotions can be stirred by a good movie. I just don't identify with > a character and use that character in solving personal problems. What > sets us apart in this instance is in choosing to identify with fantasy > vs. reality.
>
> Dave K8MN

2923. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:46:52 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <0SeO7.205038$3d2.9001391@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25970

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C09648B.95C1860F@IEEE.org...
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Not true of me, Dwight. For months, I have been dating a lady with > > > absolutely no thought of sex on my mind. We just enjoy socializing together
> > > as a couple.
> >
> > Absolutely no thought of sex, Cecil? I find that very hard to > > believe that you date a woman that you're not attracted to.
>
> The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Still leading them on, eh Cecil?

Reek, the way you throw away women.

Born Kewl

2924. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:54:33 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097af7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25971

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C090E12.E30A4DD2@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not use > > inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in a mixed > > group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound like
I > > did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is that I > > would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This newsgroup > > is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but I
will
> > to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.
>
> Thanks for straightening up that point. What difference is there > between using the language at a black tie dinner and here? Is it in the > apparel?
>

Certainly not (clothes do not make the person). Although a formal affair is likely not a function where hosts would appreciate their guests taking a chance that there are not people in attendance who would be offended by terse language, cursing, off-color jokes, etc. In this newsgroup there is no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much chance I am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here and, if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from newsgroups
in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or co-worker read the language of people you "hang out" with online.

What's that you say? You aren't "hanging out" with us? I don't know what else to call it. You are certainly free to abstain from interaction in these posts. But you have not. I am not in control of what you or your neighbors, or family, etc., do online in a computer environment. I am in control of my actions for the benefit of a host at a gathering of people whom I don't know, and don't mind "behaving" on their turf. This venue is "anyone's" turf.

>
> > At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...
>
>
> You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go to > the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?

>

Have no idea who that person is. This must be another "Dave's world" person, right?

> >
> > I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even more > > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you truly
> > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have no > > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy being > > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be placed upon > > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make allowances.
> > I live for me.
>
> What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which > includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward vulgarity > and what society considers to be foul language?
>

To me, yes. I acknowledge the sensitivities of others, but also make decisions as to my tolerance level. If I am at a formal affair, a friend's house with people I don't know, etc., then I am more likely to be much more demure than at a football game.

>
> There are as many > people who would be offended by your language at a football game as > would be offended at that black-tie function.
>

Well, I am only willing to "give up" so much for society. If I want to curse at a football game, I will. And, if there's someone offended by that, then it is between me and them--NOT my host, hostess...or whatever.

>
> It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Absolutely. And, whether you wish to acknowledge it or believe it, you do also (live life only for you). If you don't, then you've cheated yourself and others of the greatest you can be. By living life for ourselves, it is by virtue that we live life for the rest of the world.

Kim W5TIT

2925. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:56:09 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097b56$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25972

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9ub71101seb@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> news:3c08e3db_2@newsa.ev1.net...
> > WHY does an attraction have to be physical or sexual?
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
>
> It's because, in most cases, a man's brain is directly connected to his > penis.
>
> As Red Green says, "We can't help it. We're men."
>

Ah, so true. So true. BUT I have known one (only one) ... oh, what's that called...when a woman is insatiable!!! Anyway, I've only known one in my life. The flashing light on her forehead said "STAY AWAY" "STDs LIKELY" LOL

Kim W5TIT

2926. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 00:56:57 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097b87_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25973

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9ub7n201tuk@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message > news:3C08B620.E7F93E01@sccoast.net...
>
> > Kim's callsign is a passionate belief? Oh, come on. If we're going > > to argue that fanatically, argue over something that matters. Or don't > > get so fanatical about it.
> >
> >
> > Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> So what are you complaining about? If you don't want to argue, don't > respond.
>
>

The "issues" around my callsign are quite passionate.

Kim W5TIT

2927. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 01:07:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c097df5_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25974

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:7752ECFDC9939528.7C5E1635518C8755.483D57EBB25D190B@lp.airnews.net...
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 15:32:55 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Maybe you should have tried using a bowl. It allows the wine to breathe > >properly.
>
> Not with a decent red Bordeaux!!!
>
> Lacking the bell of the wine glass and expanding it's > width/height ratio to that extent would cause the wine to lose its > more subtle flavors. A young red needs to be allowed to breathe--but > much more slowly than a bowl would cause--ideally in the wine glass > itself, which is shaped appropriately for the task. A good vintage red > shouldn't need time to breathe, it's already aged properly (the > purpose of breathing a wine is to simulate the changes of aging, not > to break up the wine), although with a very old wine you may need to > decant it to address cork decomposition. In either case, however, a > bowl wouldn't be suited to the use.
>
> For a light aperitif wine, a fruity cordial, a rice wine (or a > good sake) or a micro brewery beer, on the other hand, a bowl would be > the perfect serving vessel, so long as it was glass or ceramic of > course (a metal bowl imparts a taste to the contents that isn't > appropriate to an alcoholic beverage). A bowl is also appropriate for > a non-alcoholic beverage of course.
>
> Don't be stodgy, Dave. Try something slightly different--and > perhaps a bit "wacky" once in a while, it doesn't hurt anyone and you > might find it adds something to your life.
>
> >> A friend of ours would probably also be someone she'd > >> enjoy--he drinks only top quality liqours (Grand Mariner, XO Cognac, > >> Chartreuse, etc.)--but ONLY from the bottle!
> >
> >I don't have a problem with what your "friend" does when he is alone or > >with you folks. I wouldn't want him as a dinner guest. Does he drink > >from your bottles?
>
> Hardly, that would represent bad manners. And, to ease your > mind, he doesn't do so as a dinner guest either (although he seldom > gets to enjoy sitting down to dinner himself--he's the executive chef > and part owner of a top restaurant in Chicago, and he prefers to > entertain than to eat out when he's with friends, so he tends to end > up cooking the meal himself [according to her, she's never cooked a > meal since they married--their kitchen is HIS territory--and she > doesn't mind it a bit!]).

>
> >> Life is meant to be lived, not regulated by convention. Try > >> slurping from a bowl someday--if the contents are good enough you'll > >> probably enjoy it.
> >
> >There's no need for me to do so. I've already mastered the use of > >cutlery and this allows much enhancement to the life I'm living.
>
> Try something new.
>
> Do you eat with chop sticks? If not, you are losing an > addition to the experience of eating Asian foods. Do you eat with your > fingers? If not, you can't enjoy buffalo wings, or other "finger > foods" to your detriment. Do you like to try new foods and beverages?
> New restaurants? New cuisines? Many cuisines DO have dishes meant to > be "slurped from the bowl." If you aren't willing to try that, you'll > lose the opportunity to experience an entire range of wonderful > flavors--or you'll end up consuming them inappropriately and be viewed > by the restaurant staff as a "stodgy American" who rejects their > cultural practices.
>
> >Ask Kim. "Loathsome" is her word. It didn't make any sense to me > >either.
>
> A loathsome life, to me, is one that is wasted, Dave. It's one > in which bitterness, self-righteousness, materialism, jingoism, or > other negative experiences have prevented the full enjoyment of all > the riches that a healthy approach to life has to offer. It's the life > of the miser, the criminal, the prude, or the dour doom-sayer--all of > whom have far more in common than they would like to think they have.
>
> It's a life to be pitied, Dave. And one it is very clear Kim > doesn't live.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

One of my favorite, favorite, favorite people is Leo Buscaglia. Now, I am near certain that Leo would not approve of my blatant disregard for the English language (as he'd probably put it). But, I know he'd appreciate slurping...LOL I absolutely adored his story of putting all the beautiful Fall leaves inside his living room. He kept his neighbor happy by having a clean, pristine yard devoid of the givings of God (the beautiful Fall colors blanketed across a sleeping yard), yet still was able to enjoy the colors, smell, and sounds of leaves after a life of living.

Kind thoughts to one of the wonderful people of this world, greatly missed by many...

Kim W5TIT

2928. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 01:21:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c09815f_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25975

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0951F6.4686B619@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C087F43.1A3D438F@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > She chose to change her call sign. That's IT. That's ALL she > > > > did. She didn't invite people to slam her, insult her, ridicule her, > > > > or even defend her here for that matter. She just changed her call > > > > sign to another LEGAL call sign she preferred.
> > > >
> > > None of us who do something stupid, issue an invitation to be rebuked > > > for it but it is certainly difficult to dodge responsibility.
> > > >
> > >
> > Oh, contraire. Contraire. I wholeheartedly welcome and invite anyone
to > > "rebuke" (if that's what you wish to call it) my callsign! Prove to me that > > it's wrong, that it's going to bring the ARS "one step closer to > > extinction," that all children entering ham radio are harmed, that it's not > > a family radio service any more, that I offer nothing of positive value
to
> > the ARS, and on and on.
>
> Oh oh au contraire. It doesn't matter what you have to offer the ARS if > folks can't get past your call.
>

I know this is going to sound calloused...maybe it even is. If there is not room for anyone and everyone in ham radio, then I want no part of it. I believe there is room for everyone.

>
> All children don't have to be harmed.
> How about if one child is offended?
>

As I've said in the past, if a child is "offended" by a callsign, even by a concept (callsigns aside), then they need not join the rest of humanity.
Ham radio is a venue for all--not mutually exclusive for just the "good guys." If a kid's going to grow up and be in this world, he'll have an excellent start in ham radio.
```

>
> How about if one woman who doesn't > see your poke at ham radio is upset by it?
>

A grown woman? She needs to get over it, and herself.

>
> How about if one man finds > your call an unpleasant embarrassment?
>

See above.

>
> In those cases, you are > responsible and your choice reflects badly upon amateur radio and upon > your judgement.
>

If you believe that, there is nothing I can do to change your mind.

>
> You don't need to take a leap toward the extinction of amateur radio. A > small step at a time will do it.
>

As I said, I don't believe my callsign is going to bring the ARS even a teency step toward extinction. I don't believe the HF gangs that people talk about bring it closer. I don't even believe that someone saying "10-4 good buddy" does it.

> >
> > Prove it. Make one, just one, logical argument that it does. Remember, > > logic is that which is very personal.
>
> Would it make any difference if I could offer sound proof, Kim?
>

In all honesty? Yes, it would. But, I don't believe it will.

>
> You've already indicated that your nose thumbing at humanity is your way > of telling us that all that matters to you is what you want. It is, > after all, your life and no one can tell you how to live it.
>

That is correct. And if that kind of thought threatens you in any way, then you truly aren't universally minded enough to understand what liberty that truly implies.

> > >
> > > I'd rather accept my own view of what's best for amateur radio than
the > > > view of her most frequent libertarian defender. I'm not bound to accept > > > your "libertarian-with-attitude" view any more than I'm bound to accept > > > Kim's choice as appropriate.

>
> > NOW, we get to something we agree on! No name calling, Dave. Let's make it > > as pure and simple as we can get: I absolutely understand that you do
not > > believe my callsign is good for amateur radio. I also absolutely agree
that > > you are not bound to accept my choice as appropriate.
> >
> > I wholeheartedly understand, but disagree. Here you go: I'd rather accept
> > my own view of what's best for amateur radio than the view of a most > > conservative man such as yourself. I'm not bound to accept your > > conservative attitude any more than I'm bound to believe that my choice of a > > callsign is inappropriate.
>
> No you aren't bound, Kim. It is your legal right to retain your call > and to continue to thumb your nose at society. You've already claimed > that you don't care how you are perceived by others. You haven't learned > a thing.
>
> Dave K8MN

Whatever, Dave. As I said, if you are threatened in any way by my philosophy of life, then you don't truly look beyond the nose on your face and contemplate exactly what it is I am saying. By the way, I believe it is the combination of some Eastern philosophy, along with some Christianity and my own possibly demented views, that my beliefs are founded. There's a single philosophy out there called self-realization--but I don't completely subscribe to it. Maybe you'll understand if you ever understand any of that.

Kim W5TIT

2929. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 01:23:20 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0981b5$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25976

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C095242.6EFF7ED8@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a
mixed
> > > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > > > contradiction didn't you understand?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Man, you are stretching now, Dave. You're really stretching.
>
> In what way, Kim?
>
> Dave K8MN

Well, I don't wish to make value judgements for you, Dave. Suffice it to say that a newsgroup is far from a place where proper-ness is the rule. (Plus, I never used the term "mixed group"). Gads, I hate that term.

Kim W5TIT

2930. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 02:47:19 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C09960F.394202A0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25977

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 16:10:39 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Your view simply isn't borne out by what I found in the Sunday Wheeling > >News-Register just a couple of weeks back. Agents cited numerous > >establishments in the Ohio Valley for selling tobacco, beer and liquor > >to minors.
>
> Yup!
>
> And how many tattoo parlors or piercing salons were providing > services to kids?

We don't have a single such place in operation on this side of the river. I don't know whether any are located on the Ohio side.

> The very fact that "sting" operations ARE regularly conducted > to catch shops selling tobacco and alcohol to youths demonstrates that > a risk is involved in doing so. And the risk to a firm that performs > an act that is _permanent_ (i.e., a tattoo or a piercing) versus one > that can be claimed to have been made accidently (thought s/he was old > enough, new employee, etc.) and has no long term affect (based on the > specific incident--tobacco, obviously, has a long term effect when > used on a regular basis) is vastly more liable to damages.

Right, Rick. No kid ever produces a fake I.D. and uses it to do anything illegal. No kid ever obtains a "homemade" tattoo or does a homebrew job of piercing.

> If, for example, my son were 16 (he just turned 18), and he > purchased a six pack of beer at a local store I would have grounds to > prosecute and could possibly even sue for putative damages. Neither > the prosecution nor the law suit, however, would result in enough > damages to seriously harm the business (although either or both might > discourage further sales to minors). But if, instead, he went to a > piercing salon and had his tongue pierced (a permanent piercing) or > went to a tattoo parlor and had a picture of a bloody knife tattooed > on his forearm, I would have grounds for a law suit that would > probably put the firm out of business. That's a LOT more risk for a > firm than the simple offense of selling beer to a teen.

I've learned a lot from the above. Your first reaction is to think about prosecution or a suit rather than dealing with your kid's misdeeds.

> >> No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting > >> tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?
> >
> >Yes, I do.
>
> Then document your source for the information. Unless, of > course, it is purely opinion with no basis in demonstrable fact.

Document it yourself. I'm taking no homework assignments today, Prof.
You asked what I thouhgt and I told you.

> >For a parent to permit something which permanently defaces the human > >body such as piercings and tattooing sounds pretty irresponsible to me.
>
> ONLY if piercings or tattoos are viewed as "defacing" rather > than as "enhancing." That isn't a question of general values, Dave, > it's one that is cultural--and if the youth culture of today finds > them attractive (which it appears they do), why shouldn't they have > the same right to set their standards of beauty that you and I have to > set our own?

No. They don't have those rights until they reach their majority by which time it is hoped that they'll have developed enough common sense to avoid something which could become a lifelong regret for them.

> Many cultures world wide use piercings, tattoos, or > scarification to (from their perspective) enhance beauty. In the US > until the feminist movement caught on, women spent literally hours > putting on elaborate makeup before going in public--again to enhance > their beauty according to the standards of the current culture. To > treat such accoutrements as "defacing" simply indicates that you > believe your personal standards of beauty are the only ones that have > validity, a patent absurdity.

Are you a Mauri too?

> >We all know that people often participate in acts in youth which they > >come to regret as adults. That is one reason that courts try youthful > >offenders under different standards than adults.
>
> True.
>
> But one of the greatest problems we have with juveniles in our > nation today is the combination of justification and repression.
> Justification in that we tend to minimize the degree of their own > responsibility for an offense and blame the act on society, and > repression because we refuse to accept what are often very legitimate > values and standards because they differ from our own generation's and > are held by youths rather than adults.
>
> By limiting teens (pre-pubescent kids are a different > matter--from a psychological perspective they have not as yet fully > matured mentally, where adolescents have done so) in ways that adults > are not limited, we simply make it clear that they are "children" from > our perspective--and then we wonder why they ACT like children on > occasion.

We do that because they ARE children. They have not yet matured. Such is the natural order of things. They act like children because they are children. I don't wonder about that at all.

> >> I know some women who have > >> exceptionally attractive tattoos and more than a few who have body > >> jewelry (including some piercings NO teen would be able to have done > >> with or without parental consent) and are very happy with the > >> result--as are their spouses or significant others.
> >>
> >> Your values apply only to yourself, not to others.
> >>
> >
> >Ever hear of a term called "community values"? Its existence would > >refute your statement.
>
> Only if you can demonstrate that the community: (1) has a > RIGHT to impose values on a given matter and; (2) has better or more > relevant values than the individuals affected.

Check out Hamilton County. You'll find your proof there in the existence of such laws. Let me know what you find out.

> Your "Community values" when carried to any reasonable extent > would define such behavior as piercing as totally inappropriate in > some communities--and completely acceptable in others. What if the > person who is pierced in, for example, Santa Cruz California, where it > is accepted, travels to Cincinnati where it is not well accepted? Are > they obligated to remove their jewelry and have the piercing > surgically closed? Or is it unreasonable for the new community to > impose its values on those who don't share them?

I brought up ways that group values can limit individual values.
I don't care if an individual is pierced in Poughkeepsie and moves to Cuyahoga Falls. You can work out the details later.

> Community values can only refute my statement if you can > demonstrate community values that are absolutes rather than subjective > decisions based on current stereotypes and political influences. So > far, I have yet to see someone do that.

Call it what you want, Rick. If you choose to deny that there are places with laws on the books based on community values, I don't care.

> >Do some school systems have dress codes?
>
> Sure.
>
> In any private school you care to pay tuition for.

>
> But in a public school?
>
> Whose standards do you enforce with those codes? It can't be > that of the parents--they aren't asked their opinion, which would be > expressed by the clothing they permitted their children to wear to > school anyway. It can't be that of the kids themselves, since it > restricts those choices directly. And since the parents and the kids, > together REPRESENT the community of interest (it isn't ANYONE'S > business what the dress code is if he or she has no connection with > the school or kids in the first place), it can't be the community's > codes, either. The only thing left is an arbitrary set of values that > have no justification what-so-ever.

You say that the parents aren't asked their opinions. I don't know that to be true. Taxpayers foot the bill for schools whether they have children in the schools. I think he who pays, says. I take it that you think that dress codes are a bad idea.

> A girl in a Michigan school was recently suspended for wearing > a t-shirt with a pentagram on it (symbolic of Wicca). Yet a girl > wearing a t-shirt with a religious icon (a picture of Jesus with a > halo) on it was permitted to attend classes. According to the school, > the pentagram violated the dress code. It sounds to me like the school > was the one who committed a violation--of the religious rights of the > student. But "community standards" supported the dress code and since > the parents didn't have the money (or desire) to fight the case to the > SC, the school won.

> It was a public school.

...and I gather that you have a problem with this one too.

> >Can you buy a copy of Hustler magazine in Hamilton County, Ohio?
>
> Nope. Which has nothing to do with "community standards" and > has everything to do with suppression of freedom of speech and freedom > of choice.

Hamilton County disagrees with you.

> It is also the direct result of concentrated campaigns by the > religious right that have thrust what should be religious issues into > the legal process. The same holds true for Ft. Wayne, IN, and other > extremist, bible-thumping, communities.

Hamilton County disagrees with you. Apparently Ft. Wayne disagrees too.

> >On an FCC related topic:
> >
> >Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?
>
> It doesn't.

It does. Starz movies are bleeped.

> The dish network doesn't produce or show movies, Dave, it > merely provides a satellite downlink for the broadcasters such as HBO, > Showtime, etc.--at least if it works the same as DirecTV, as I > understand it does.

You're getting as bad as Lenny at stating the obvious. I know what it is; I have it in my home.

> If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a > good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is > allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.

I don't agree with you at all. I find it kind of refreshing.

> Let me reverse the question: If there's something wrong with > using those words--why are the present in a movie in the first place
> to REQUIRE anyone to "bleep" them?

Oh, you haven't come up with a good reason for them either, huh?
I'd guessed that it was obligatory to insert a good sex scene (whether or not it had any real relevance to the story line) and to throw in a few good swear words or you wouldn't get many kids to attend the flick.

Dave K8MN

2931. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 02:48:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C099687.84F54739@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25978

CAM wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Not true of me, Dwight. For months, I have been dating a lady with > > > absolutely no thought of sex on my mind. We just enjoy socializing together > > > as a couple.
> >
> > Absolutely no thought of sex, Cecil? I find that very hard to > > believe that you date a woman that you're not attracted to.
>
> The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.

You'd better hope she doesn't read this newsgroup or there goes your standing date.

Dave K8MN

2932. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 02:56:01 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c099903_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25979

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gnoojch.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 17:15:23 -0600, CAM wrote:
>
> >The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > >the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > >a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > >and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
>
> What a waste.
>
> On a more serious note, I have several very close lifelong women > friends towards whom I suppress my sexual attraction (and vice > versa) because I'm very married and intend to stay that way and > that's how they remain friends of my wife as well.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
>
>

So well put, Phil!

Kim W5TIT

2933. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 03:02:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c099aa2_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25981

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C099687.84F54739@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
>
> You'd better hope she doesn't read this newsgroup or there goes your > standing date.
>
> Dave K8MN

That would discount that this woman may be very content with such relationship. I know an older co-worker (lady) who is a ballroom dancer and enjoys it very much. While she "has a man" (as she puts it), she says there are many women who have "gotten" fellas that are younger and are not a whole lot more than decorations on their arms.

The women are quite happy to have a man to escort them, dance with them, and be competition mates. The men are quite happy to be receiving the "favors" of these older and, often, affluent women.

Cecil? Been doing any two-steppin'? ;)

Kim W5TIT

2934. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 03:03:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0999F2.16EAAC0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25980

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 22:08:22 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> A loathsome life, to me, is one that is wasted, Dave. It's one > >> in which bitterness, self-righteousness, materialism, jingoism, or > >> other negative experiences have prevented the full enjoyment of all > >> the riches that a healthy approach to life has to offer. It's the life > >> of the miser, the criminal, the prude, or the dour doom-sayer--all of > >> whom have far more in common than they would like to think they have.
> >>
> >> It's a life to be pitied, Dave. And one it is very clear Kim > >> doesn't live.
> >
> >Then account for her loathing my lifestyle. Maybe she lives it after > >all and perhaps Cecil is indeed compulsive/obsessive. You have to stop > >issuing denials for the claims of others.
>
> Perhaps she simply sees your life as wasted, Dave.

See? I said she didn't know any better.

> That would be a pretty good reason to loathe your lifestyle,
> wouldn't it?

If their was a grain of truth to your wild guesses, that could be.

> >I guess you've gotten used to that self-righteous, libertarian chip on > >your shoulder and have managed to come to terms with the self-loathing
> >it has induced. Maybe you can turn it around before you have to consider > >your life wasted.
>
> I don't have any self-loathing, Dave. Like Kim and Cecil (and,
> I'm sure, most others) I come here for recreation not because I expect > to influence anyone to change his views.

It isn't too late to develop some, Rick. I suppose the last part is uplifting to you in some manner, given the liklihood of your success in doing so.

> Of course, wasted is in the mind of the beholder, and while > you may consider my life wasted, I find the freedom that has formed > its core a LOT more positive and worthwhile than the hate and > superstition that obviously forms your own. I'll leave it up to others > to decide which of us has had a "wasted" life on that basis.

There isn't any hate or superstition in my life, Rick. You fabricated your statement. It must come from your obvious bias toward anyone who doesn't share your hedonistic views. I find your views to be mostly made up of things which most of us have already rejected as impractical.

Dave K8MN

2935. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 03:34:28 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011201223428.12427.00003870@nso-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 25982

In article <cuvyxnansvbet.gnmr2zb.pminews@or.news.verio.net>, "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> writes:

>
> Weren't the Benton Harbor LunchBoxes products of Heath?
>
> I'm talking 1958......

Phil:

My YL "Elmer" had a 2-meter "Lunch Box," and it was, in fact, a Heathkit. It used the AM mode; I've always wondered why that mode has been largely abandoned on the VHF bands?

73 de Larry, K3LT

2936. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 03:34:30 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011201223430.12427.00003871@nso-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 25983

In article <ff37aa44.0111300800.71601dfa@posting.google.com>,
uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org (Sean G Gilley) writes:

>> I've endured several messages worth of your immature, misguided >> rantings, now I must reply.
>
>Then we're even. I find you immature and misguided as well.

Sean:

You're entitled to your own opinion; I can't do your thinking for you.

>As for enduring, well, I'd much rather you reply. You completely >ignored articles where I was a lot more forgiving than I am now.

Actually, I merely ignored articles which wern't worth my time to compose a reply.

>Guess it takes slightly more anger to get you to say something.
>
>> I have absolutely no desire to "control" Kim's actions. All throughout >> my past and present discussions on that subject in this newsgroup,
>> I have made it clear that Kim is the only person who can act to make >> a change, and the choice whether or not to do so is entirely hers to >> make. I have no way to "control" Kim's actions other than to point out >> the potentially harmful effects her callsign, which reflects very poor >> taste and judgment on her part.
>
>I never said you could control her callsign, I said you wanted to >control her callsign. Completely different things.

Well, that's where you demonstrate your immaturity. I'm mature enough to know that it is foolish to *want*to control something like a person's callsign. I would prefer that radio amateurs choose their callsigns in a responsible manner, one which doesn't call their good taste and judgement into question. Unfortunately, Kim didn't do that -- and thus is the topic of what is now one of the largest threads ever seen on this newsgroup!

>Let me repeat what I said in an earlier post: If you feel that her >callsign is as bad as you seem to feel, then you should be lobbying to >change the rules.

Why would I do that? My quarrel is not with the FCC's rules on call sign assignment. Under the Vanity Call Sign program, the selection of a call sign is now the individual amateur's choice, and that choice reflects their good taste and judgement; or, in Kim's case, the lack thereof. The FCC is not acting as an arbiter of such taste and judgement, and I don't think it should be.

>Kim's call sign is a symptom of something much >bigger, and to attempt to torment her is useless. It's obvious she >won't voluntarily change her call, so the only way it's going to happen
>is if the FCC changes its rules.

Pardon me, Sean, but to say that, you are not giving Kim any credit for being able to change her mind, and do the right thing. In spite of whatever I've said about her, I do recognize the fact that as an intelligent human being, she could, possibly, be influenced to change her mind, and her call sign. Kim is human, and I will never overlook the human element in any equation. Why would YOU?

>Further, even if she does change her >callsign, someone else is likely to have or create another that is just >as, or more, offensive to you.

There are literally dozens of hams with call signs which are just as offensive as Kim's, but they aren't participating in this newsgroup, and Kim is. I can only work with the tools at my disposal.

>It's futile and senseless to rant about
>Kim's callsign. Lobby the FCC if you feel that strongly. Find others >who share your feelings and get them to lobby the FCC.

Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.

>What you are doing in this group does nothing to promote your cause, >and does, in fact, more strongly ally people against you -- possibly >for you as well, but I've seen little evidence of that while I see >plenty of evidence for the former.

Are you saying you have access to my E-mail? How do you know how many people agree or disagree with me? The visible participants in this newsgroup are not the only source of feedback I receive on what I post here.

>Just what good do you think you are doing? Do you actually think you are >implementing change by taunting people and making them angry here?

Oh, I get it. Another liberal, who wants to shut me up for speaking the truth. Yawn!

>Do you actually think that rec.radio.amateur.policy will be >an instrument of change in the ARS and FCC?

I don't see why it couldn't -- do you think it can't be?

>> I am merely
>> exercising my right to state my objections to her callsign.
>
>Okay. We got it. You don't like her callsign, you don't believe it's >family oriented, and you don't believe it's right for amateur radio.

Well, at least you seem to have a higher level of reading comprehension than some others I've dealt with in this newsgroup.
(Sorry about that, Cecil!)

>You've stated your objections. And I think you had a perfect right to >do so. But you're putting a lot of effect into continually stating >those objects, over and over and over. And any worth it might once have >had is now gone.

I'm not restating things "over and over" in a vacuum -- I am replying to postings which have challenged my statements, and I am supporting what I have said by a point/counterpoint debate. This is what Usenet newsgroups are for -- and if you don't care for it, why waste your time reading it?

>A long time ago I took a two weekend class. Between the two weekends, >one of the assignments was not to complain to anyone who can't or won't >help solve the problem.

I'd like to hear more about that class -- care to give a more detailed description?

>That's exactly what you're doing. Kim can't >solve the problem, only the FCC can. No one reading or posting on this >newsgroup can solve the problem. Only the FCC can.

Just the exact opposite is true. The FCC is not the answer to this problem -- only Kim can choose to change her call sign, and only she can take action to do so. The FCC doesn't care about the effect of her call sign, or anyone else's, on the image of the ARS. That's not their function. Kim's call sign does not violate any FCC rules, and if it did, they wouldn't have issued it. This point has been driven home repeatedly by myself and others. Perhaps you should have done some research on Google before wading into this debate with your emotional responses.

>You want to solve the problem? Get the FCC to change the rules. You >aren't ever going to solve the problem here.

This is getting monotonous.

>And I simply can't understand why you seem so angry specifically at Kim.

She's the one who choose a call sign which is sexually provocative, is in poor taste, reflects poor judgment on her part, and reflects poorly on the overall image of amateur radio operators. I thought you said you understood?

>Maybe it's because she's posting on this group and is completely uncontrite.
>Why aren't you as angry about other off-color callsigns? Are you simply >not aware of them? They are out there, and there are calls that I'd believe >are more offensive that her's.

Asked and answered. You're repeating yourself.

>Go ahead. Explain why you've centered your anger on Kim. Explain to us >all what good you are doing here.
>
>Sean.

Go back and read this thread from the beginning, and you'll have your answers.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2937. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:05:48 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnoz11i.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 25984

On 02 Dec 2001 03:34:28 GMT, Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

>> Weren't the Benton Harbor LunchBoxes products of Heath?
>
>My YL "Elmer" had a 2-meter "Lunch Box," and it was, in fact, a >Heathkit. It used the AM mode;

I operated 2-m AM (tunable receiver, xtal transmitter) from 1958 thru 1964 when I went overseas. When I returned in 1967 FM was starsing to take hold (see my comments below).

I've always wondered why that >mode has been largely abandoned on the VHF bands?

The availability of old two-way radios, retired for several reasons.

In the late 1960s, the FCC mandated that all 15 kHz-deviation radios be narrow-banded to 5 kHz, and about that time better radios came out which didn't use dynamotors or vibrators for transmitter power supplies. Most of the first-generation radios and some of the second-generation radios made their way to the ham market. In the mid-70s, fully transistorized radios hit the commercial market and the older hybrid radios went ham-ward.

The "rice box" craze came about as a by-product of the VHF-FM Marine Radio development a few years later.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

2938. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:23:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09ACA9.746CEC44@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25985

Richard McCollum wrote:
> Still leading them on, eh Cecil?
> Reek, the way you throw away women.

I trust that she is enjoying herself as she has never indicated otherwise.
She hates to go to the party alone. I hate to stay at home while others are having a party. We are perfectly compatible.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2939. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:27:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09ADA5.FF7C87BF@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25986

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
>
> You'd better hope she doesn't read this newsgroup or there goes your > standing date.

She doesn't even own a computer. But that leads me to another question.
I am not sexually attracted to 99% of females, i.e. I am very choosy. I gather that you are attracted to virtually every female you lay eyes on,
i.e. you are not very choosy?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2940. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:29:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C09AE2A.C6DE6080@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25987

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> Cecil? Been doing any two-steppin'? ;)

Actually, I'm a lot better at square dancing but I haven't been doing much of that since I blew out my knee.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2941. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:43:04 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011201234304.12427.00003954@nso-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 25988

In article <3c085c41.3337778@news.mindspring.com>, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl) writes:

>>Ryan:
>>
>>I can't see any legal problem with "renting" ham radio gear, aside from >>the issue of taking steps to ensure that only licensed amateurs get to >>do so.
>
>Yet there's no requirement that one can or should ONLY >rent (or sell) ham gear to licensed hams.

Bill:

True enough; however, I would think that asking to see a valid license would be a reasonable precaution, to prevent the possibility of harmful interference arising from irresponsible use by an unlicensed person. I see this as any ham's responsibility. Of course, misuse is possible in the hands of licensed amateurs, but that is not as likely as it would be if unlicensed hams were to gain access to ham gear by renting it out.

>>However, it would seem to be impractical from a purely >>financial standpoint.
>
>Probably true.
>
>>The money spent on rental fees would be better
>>used to save up for the purchase of equipment. If all you want to do >>is try out a top-of-the-line rig for a week or two, then "renting" would >>be OK as a one-time or occasional practice.
>>
>>Some hams rent out their vacation properties, equipped with contest-
>>capable ham radio stations, for visiting hams looking for a DXpedition >>opportunity. There's obviously nothing wrong with it, as long as it's >>right for you and your checkbook!
>
>Agree too.

And if the deal were a rental of a "ham property," I would be even more concerned with making sure a licensed ham were the rentor, in order to reduce possible financial liability for RFI problems. It's a simple, logical, and reasonable precaution, and the decision not to take that precaution would be difficult to defend in a court of law.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2942. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 04:43:06 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011201234306.12427.00003955@nso-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 25989

In article <DC841BA7789E9FFA.C6DA076A1010BABF.EE44EE5ECD101D0D@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>Very well. In that case, why do books like "Heather Has Two Mommies" >>exist in our public schools?
>
> For the same reason that books dealing with African-American >families, Hispanic families, or Asian families are in those schools, >Larry, because they represent families in the community.

Rick:

Speaking only for myself, I don't see anything out of the ordinary with families of American Hispanics, American Asians, or Americans of African descent. I do find something highly unusual in a family where the "parents" are two lesbians or gay men.

> There are over 2,000,000 children being raised in gay/lesbian >households in the US right now (and, no, they do NOT have a higher >likelihood of being gay than their peers raised in straight >households, research has already confirmed that), don't those children >have the right to be recognized as coming from happy households, too?

I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any influence on their sexual "identity." Right.

>>I'm not claiming to be working your side of the street, Rick. I am just >>reacting to what I've heard and read about the topic, and drawing my >>own logical conclusions. Why would there be a book like "Heather >>Has Two Mommies" unless someone with an agenda to normalize and >>lend an aura of acceptability to homosexual behavior wanted young >>children to be exposed to this concept? In other words, why are >>homosexuals attempting to "recruit" young people to their lifestyle?
>
> Larry, how can you possibly equate "recruit" with "inform?"

I don't know why young children in elementary school need to be "informed" about abnormal sexual relationships -- or any other sexual relationships, for that matter -- unless someone is trying to, as I said,
make it appear to be normal and acceptable.

> I don't care what your personal opinion is, the fact is that
>from any scientific perspective you care to identify, homosexuality IS >normal. You don't have to "normalize" it any more than you have to >"normalize" being an African-American. It happens to _already_ be >completely normal.

Well, I've never considered being black to be abnormal; but a simple examination of human male/female comparative anatomy seems to suggest that heterosexuality is the intended norm.

> The book isn't looking for the chance to "recruit"
>people--it's looking for ACCEPTANCE and TOLERANCE from people. I'm >sorry you can't accept this concept as valid--but most people can.

I don't think any intelligent person has a problem "tolerating" or "accepting" homosexuals. I acknowledge their existance as part of the whole of humanity, albeit as an abnormality. I feel no hatred or animosity toward homosexuals, and have no personal need to increase the suffering in what must already be miserable, confused lives. However, I cannot in clear conscience consider them to be "normal," simply because they are not. People with various developmental disabilities are not "normal" either, but I don't hate them, or lack "tolerance" of them. I make my living working with them every day, and I take very good care of them. I bear no prejudice against homosexuals or anyone else who does not fall within the conventional definition of "normal," but I believe that they must accept their abnormality, and be as "tolerant" of the need of normal people to be assured that they are not going to attempt to win over their children to their "alternative" lifestyle as a means of gaining greater political power. If gays and lesbians are, indeed, "normal" as you claim, then they shouldn't seek to be venerated for their lifestyle, and keep their sex lives as private as most heterosexuals do.

> There is no "Homosexual Agenda" Larry. It's a figment in the >mind of right wing extremists who can't stand the thought that others >have rights too.

No, it is an attempt to gain greater political privilege based on the fact of their abnormality. They want nothing to do with equality -- they seek the comfort of victim status in order to strengthen their claim to membership in the elite ruling class of the New World Order. If this were not true, then militant Gay/Lesbian "rights" groups would not exist.

73 de Larry, K3LT

2943. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 05:10:35 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ucd2l019gj@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25990

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:POaO7.139177$WW.8801107@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> The World Bank defines adult illiteracy as the inability of someone 15 or > older to read or write, with understanding, a short and simple statement > about their everyday life. While the highest rates as one would expect
are
> in Africa, when those are removed we come to this sequence:

The World Bank defined the criteria. Are they also the source of these numbers?

2944. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 05:39:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c09bf50_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25991

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011201223430.12427.00003871@nso-cg.aol.com...
>
> >It's futile and senseless to rant about > >Kim's callsign. Lobby the FCC if you feel that strongly. Find others > >who share your feelings and get them to lobby the FCC.
>
> Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.
>

Larry. Let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: it is no problem for me. If there is a problem, and I don't think there is, then it is yours.

Kim W5TIT

2945. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 05:50:34 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C09C121.DA4489A8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25992

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of > > > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have > > > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school > > > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
> >
> > You'd better hope she doesn't read this newsgroup or there goes your > > standing date.
>
> She doesn't even own a computer. But that leads me to another question.
> I am not sexually attracted to 99% of females, i.e. I am very choosy. I > gather that you are attracted to virtually every female you lay eyes on,
> i.e. you are not very choosy?

My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you compose the answer.

I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.

Dave K8MN

2946. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 06:00:05 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C09C35C.E314477E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25993

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> You are so blase, Dave. So very blase.

You write this in response to the fact that I prefer identifying with reality rather than movies. I prefer to get excited about having sundowners at the beach on Zanzibar or seeing the sunrise over the hill across the way from my place. You, on the other hand, can rent the video.

Dave K8MN

2947. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 06:14:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C09C6C2.8E6122B8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25994

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C090E12.E30A4DD2@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not use > > > inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in a > mixed > > > group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound like
> I > > > did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is that > I > > > would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This > newsgroup > > > is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but I
> will
> > > to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.
> >
> > Thanks for straightening up that point. What difference is there > > between using the language at a black tie dinner and here? Is it in the > > apparel?
> >
>
> Certainly not (clothes do not make the person). Although a formal affair > is likely not a function where hosts would appreciate their guests taking a > chance that there are not people in attendance who would be offended by > terse language, cursing, off-color jokes, etc.

But if the black tie crowd is seated around you at the football game, you wouldn't mind shouting the "eff" word at the top of your lungs?

> In this newsgroup there is > no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much chance I > am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here and, > if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from newsgroups
> in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or co-worker
> read the language of people you "hang out" with online.

That may be the most convoluted attempt at rationalizing behavior that I've yet seen here.

>
> What's that you say? You aren't "hanging out" with us? I don't know what > else to call it. You are certainly free to abstain from interaction in > these posts. But you have not.

Kim, We don't hang out. We aren't buddies. We simply post messages on an electronic bulletin board. This isn't even real time.

> I am not in control of what you or your > neighbors, or family, etc., do online in a computer environment. I am in > control of my actions for the benefit of a host at a gathering of people > whom I don't know, and don't mind "behaving" on their turf. This venue is
> "anyone's" turf.

What was that thing you whisper to one of the female guests after you've wandered about glad handing with your "fake smile". Was that for the benefit of the host or hostess? What of the obvious disgust you expressed for the other attendees and the attributes which you gave them?

> >
> > > At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...
> >
> >
> > You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go to > > the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?
> >
>
> Have no idea who that person is. This must be another "Dave's world" > person, right?

It's two people. Karolyn Rose is Pete Rose's ex. She used to be the foul language queen of Cincinnati until Marge Schott bought the Reds.

> > >
> > > I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even > more > > > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you > truly
> > > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have no > > > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy > being > > > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be placed > upon > > > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make > allowances.
> > > I live for me.
> >
> > What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which > > includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward vulgarity > > and what society considers to be foul language?
> >
>
> To me, yes. I acknowledge the sensitivities of others, but also make > decisions as to my tolerance level. If I am at a formal affair, a > friend's house with people I don't know, etc., then I am more likely to be > much more demure than at a football game.

You mean you can only behave for just so long? I notice that your good behavior would be more likely at a formal affair but not guaranteed.

> >
> > There are as many > > people who would be offended by your language at a football game as > > would be offended at that black-tie function.
> >
>
> Well, I am only willing to "give up" so much for society. If I want to > curse at a football game, I will. And, if there's someone offended by that, > then it is between me and them--NOT my host, hostess...or whatever.

You mean that you can't sit through a football game without uttering a curse word? You equate that with "giving up" something for society?

> >
> > It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.
>
> Absolutely. And, whether you wish to acknowledge it or believe it, you do > also (live life only for you). If you don't, then you've cheated yourself > and others of the greatest you can be. By living life for ourselves, it is > by virtue that we live life for the rest of the world.

That's one of the biggest pieces of touchy-feely nonsense I've seen in ages. I share my life with my wife, with my aging parents, with my friends, with my neighbors and with my community. I don't feel I've cheated myself or others by giving away my time.

Your last line sounds like it was cribbed from a Rod McKuen book.

Dave K8MN

2948. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 06:24:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C09C92D.EA7F1C9A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25995

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C095242.6EFF7ED8@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a
> mixed
> > > > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of the > > > > contradiction didn't you understand?
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > Man, you are stretching now, Dave. You're really stretching.
> >
> > In what way, Kim?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Well, I don't wish to make value judgements for you, Dave. Suffice it to > say that a newsgroup is far from a place where proper-ness is the rule.
> (Plus, I never used the term "mixed group"). Gads, I hate that term.

Okay, "formal affair". I'd guess you don't go to many of those so that lets you off the hook for most of your time. How about the grocery store? the hair salon? on a bike path?

Why does something have to be formal in order for you not to curse? What is it about this newsgroup which makes it okay for cursing. What's not proper about the newsgroup?

Would it bother you if the same folks you met at the formal affair read some of your earthier stuff here?

Dave K8MN

2949. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 12:18:21 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <h_oO7.246100$W8.8769535@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25996

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C09C121.DA4489A8@earthlink.net...
>
> My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you > compose the answer.
>
> I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
>
> Dave K8MN

And there were some good ones. Felt a bit sorry for the Texas QB who was victimized more than incompetant by some defensive strategy I recognized from my coaching days (the bandit made famous by Dick Butkus and the back-and-out style I taught my backers) but the yoyo that got the roughing the kicker penalty should be eating his meals off the stove after the butt-kicking he has coming is delivered unto him. On most days, Texas would win on talent but on this particular day, Texas was flat out-coached.

The Colorado coach did it at of all places Northwestern so we are going to hear a bit more from them. While Nebraska does run a class act as well as as fine a demonstration of football from the wax museum you are likely to see it did my heart good to see the Cornhuskers get their plow cleaned last week; the expected mass suicide did not occur.

Dick N BK

2950. 14313 Comes Full Circle

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 14:53:26 UTC
From: Herbie <Herbie@BARFforever.net> Message-ID: <9udf4o$117$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 25997
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

With the return of NR5T full time to 14313, the controversial frequency has almost come full circle.
KV4FZ is all that is now needed to complete the circle and for 14313 to return to its pre-Riley Hollingsworth days.

All the old familiar calls are back on 14313, up to their
same old habits, all day, every day: K9GOR, WA2EXQ,
W1BWV (WB1BWV), W4AMP (KD4CDB), W4JYZ
(KF4JYZ), K3QAM, W2OOQ, KB1EVE (KC1ZQ), just
to name of few of the high-profile operators.

The situation begs the questions, Just what has Riley Hollingsworth really accomplished? Does he ever hope to accomplish anything? Is Riley Hollingsworth even relevant anymore to ham radio? Just what is Riley Hollingsworth's true purpose in life? Riley Hollingsworth failed to permanently remove from ham radio many of the most violative ham operators in the history of ham radio, and that has directly contributed to the return of 14313 to its old state of affairs.

Respectfully,

Rod Johnson

2951. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 15:24:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0a486a_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25998

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C35C.E314477E@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > You are so blase, Dave. So very blase.
>
> You write this in response to the fact that I prefer identifying with > reality rather than movies. I prefer to get excited about having > sundowners at the beach on Zanzibar or seeing the sunrise over the hill > across the way from my place. You, on the other hand, can rent the > video.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

For you to compare the reality of nature as opposed to the big screen v. finding admirable traits in a depicted character and trying to apply that to every struggles emphasizes that you are simply happy being so blase.

By the way, I don't like travel, nor do I have the money or time for it. So, if it takes a damned video for me to experience something of what beauty is offered on this great Earth, then so beit. I have the capability, Dave, to close my eyes and imagine. That's something you might want to work on...or not, for your reality is your reality.

Kim W5TIT

2952. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 15:45:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0a4d3a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26000

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C6C2.8E6122B8@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C090E12.E30A4DD2@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not use > > > > inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in a
> > mixed > > > > group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound like
> > I > > > > did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is that
> > I > > > > would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This > > newsgroup > > > > is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but I
> > will
> > > > to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.
> > >
> > > Thanks for straightening up that point. What difference is there > > > between using the language at a black tie dinner and here? Is it in
the > > > apparel?
> > >
> >
> > Certainly not (clothes do not make the person). Although a formal affair > > is likely not a function where hosts would appreciate their guests taking a > > chance that there are not people in attendance who would be offended by > > terse language, cursing, off-color jokes, etc.
>
> But if the black tie crowd is seated around you at the football game, > you wouldn't mind shouting the "eff" word at the top of your lungs?
>
```

Not at all. The football game is a different venue altogether, and if the black tie crowd can't handle roudiness, high emotion, etc., at a football game, then they don't need to be there. Would I holler FUCK YOU in a movie theater, restaraunt, library, museum, opera, symphony, office? NO.

> > In this newsgroup there is > > no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much chance I > > am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here and, > > if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from newsgroups
> > in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or co-worker > > read the language of people you "hang out" with online.
>
> That may be the most convoluted attempt at rationalizing behavior that > I've yet seen here.
>

Very well. To me, that just means it made more sense to you than you wanted it to. If you can't understand that I have the finesse to give honor to a host, then you're beyond my ability to help you understand.

> >
> > What's that you say? You aren't "hanging out" with us? I don't know what > > else to call it. You are certainly free to abstain from interaction in > > these posts. But you have not.
>
> Kim, We don't hang out. We aren't buddies. We simply post messages on > an electronic bulletin board. This isn't even real time.
>

Uh huh. I could use your "convoluted" sentence, but that would be bringing myself to your level. You call interaction in this newsgroup whatever you like, Dave. Online is a venue for anything and everything. If I get to some newsgroup that is discussing or posting things vehemently opposed to the way I think or believe the word I use is "Unsubscribe."

> >
> > I am not in control of what you or your > > neighbors, or family, etc., do online in a computer environment. I am in > > control of my actions for the benefit of a host at a gathering of people > > whom I don't know, and don't mind "behaving" on their turf. This venue is > > "anyone's" turf.
>
> What was that thing you whisper to one of the female guests after you've > wandered about glad handing with your "fake smile". Was that for the > benefit of the host or hostess? What of the obvious disgust you > expressed for the other attendees and the attributes which you gave > them?

>

Uh, Dave? That would have been a--what did you call it: "real time"--situation. This, however, and the comment I made above is from the perspective of online. The WHISPER I would give someone personally would be between myself and that person--no one else unless they chose to share it with whomever. Oh, I also see you don't like my "fake smile" comments. You really think that everyone you encounter at a formal affair is tickled to death to be there, and relishes the close proximity to everyone who is there? You're delusional if so. One of the greatest agonies about weddings, funerals, and christenings are the family members and friends that show up that would rather be seen on the exit bus. But, due to something called protocol and civility, Dave, for the benefit of the function, we (or those of us with finesse) resist our urges. Now, have someone walk up to me (I don't know that everyone is this honest) and begin trying to lean forward with one of those incessant pecks on the cheek? Or "just to chat"?
Uh uh...I stand there and politely and quietly tell them to get lost.

> > >
> > > > At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...
> > >
> > >
> > > You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go
to
> > > the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?
> > >
> >
> > Have no idea who that person is. This must be another "Dave's world" > > person, right?
>
> It's two people. Karolyn Rose is Pete Rose's ex. She used to be the > foul language queen of Cincinnati until Marge Schott bought the Reds.
>
>

Whatever. Do they curse? Then include me in that "school" if you must.

> > > >
> > > > I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even
> > more > > > > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you > > truly > > > > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have no > > > > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy > > being > > > > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be placed > > upon > > > > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make > > allowances.

> > > > I live for me.
> > >
> > > What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which > > > includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward vulgarity
> > > and what society considers to be foul language?
> > >
> >
> > To me, yes. I acknowledge the sensitivities of others, but also make > > decisions as to my tolerance level. If I am at a formal affair, a > > friend's house with people I don't know, etc., then I am more likely to be > > much more demure than at a football game.
>
> You mean you can only behave for just so long? I notice that your good > behavior would be more likely at a formal affair but not guaranteed.
>

Yeah, Dave. That's it. Uh huh.

> > >
> > > There are as many > > > people who would be offended by your language at a football game as > > > would be offended at that black-tie function.
> > >
> >
> > Well, I am only willing to "give up" so much for society. If I want to > > curse at a football game, I will. And, if there's someone offended by
that,
> > then it is between me and them--NOT my host, hostess...or whatever.
>
> You mean that you can't sit through a football game without uttering a > curse word? You equate that with "giving up" something for society?
>

Well, actually, truth be known, I wouldn't be seen at a football game. If I choose to watch a game, I like the television crews who do all the work to get me the best seats in "the house." But, in the right environment, if I'm prone to curse, I'll curse. Sure will. And, yeah, if I am at an affair that requires elite behavior, say visting the Queen of England, I can be the best of the best. What they do, and what I do, on our own time outside the venue of the Queen is of no concern to the Queen. If she thinks it is, that's her problem, not mine.

> > >
> > > It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.
> >
> > Absolutely. And, whether you wish to acknowledge it or believe it, you do

> > also (live life only for you). If you don't, then you've cheated yourself > > and others of the greatest you can be. By living life for ourselves, it is
> > by virtue that we live life for the rest of the world.
>
> That's one of the biggest pieces of touchy-feely nonsense I've seen in > ages. I share my life with my wife, with my aging parents, with my > friends, with my neighbors and with my community. I don't feel I've > cheated myself or others by giving away my time.
>
> Your last line sounds like it was cribbed from a Rod McKuen book.
>
> Dave K8MN

Then, you are different from me. That brings us full circle back to the point originally being made that began this whole exchange. I am far more willing and capable of conforming to and understanding the needs and desires of others than you are, Dave. You are more prone to having things only on your own terms. You were far more offended and demonstrative toward me, than I was toward you. If you will objectively go back and read over this exchange between you and I, you'll learn and see (if your truthful with yourself) that I was far more flexible than you. I share my life--truthfully--with the entire world.

Kim W5TIT

2953. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 15:47:46 UTC
From: "N0VFP, Lloyd" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com>
Message-ID: <f7cf91e0da8ea11776a80d8126aa6118@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 25999

Screw these other countries!

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:POaO7.139177$WW.8801107@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> The World Bank defines adult illiteracy as the inability of someone 15 or > older to read or write, with understanding, a short and simple statement > about their everyday life. While the highest rates as one would expect
are > in Africa, when those are removed we come to this sequence:
>
> Country Rate of Adult illiteracy
>
> Pakistan 55%
> Egypt 46%
> India (second largest Muslim cty) 45%
> Algeria 33%
> Saudi Arabia 25%
> China 18%
> Brazil 17%
> South Africa 17%
> Turkey 16%
> Indonesia 15%
> Malaysia 13%
>
> There has been a lot of discussion of Islam in this group so it is worth > noting here that a huge proportion of the population gets its idea of Islam
> from the local imam. It is not an economic issue, Egypt and Ecuador have > essentially the same income per head. South Africa may be excused for no > better reason that the current regime' has not been in power for 15 years > and replaced one where education was not a huge priority.
>
> We have seen, in the USA for sure, what happens when the local imam's > education is from the Schmellpell Institute of Pinochle, Religion, and > Belles Lettres or is simply a money-raising fraud. When there is no hope, > suicide bombers abound.
>
> Dick N[illegible]BK
>
>
>

2954. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:04:13 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0a51b6_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25901

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C92D.EA7F1C9A@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C095242.6EFF7ED8@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C088119.DB36D38D@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > Kim made the point that she wouldn't use (expletive deleted) in a
> > mixed > > > > > group and then does just that by posting it here. What part of
the > > > > > contradiction didn't you understand?
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > Man, you are stretching now, Dave. You're really stretching.
> > >
> > > In what way, Kim?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Well, I don't wish to make value judgements for you, Dave. Suffice it
to > > say that a newsgroup is far from a place where proper-ness is the rule.
> > (Plus, I never used the term "mixed group"). Gads, I hate that term.
>
>
> Okay, "formal affair". I'd guess you don't go to many of those so that > lets you off the hook for most of your time. How about the grocery > store? the hair salon? on a bike path?
>

You're wrong, Dave. I go to formal affairs quite often. The grocery store, no. The hair salon, no. (Though I've heard some of the best off-color jokes at the hair salon). (Oh, and I go to a hair salon far less than I do formal affairs). The bike path, damned straight I'd have no problem cursing...unless a small kid is around.

>
> Why does something have to be formal in order for you not to curse?
> What is it about this newsgroup which makes it okay for cursing. What's > not proper about the newsgroup?
```

>

There's absolutely NOTHING proper about this newsgroup, Dave. As to the situations in which I choose to curse. Have you ever ever ever let your hair down? When someone you are greeting leans over to kiss you on the cheek, you aren't one of those types that just seriously stiffens up, are you?!

>
> Would it bother you if the same folks you met at the formal affair read > some of your earthier stuff here?
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Not at all. And, while I don't know how this could be proved, I'd imagine that most of them wouldn't find it all that surprising, either. I've met and gotten to know many folks in a formal situation that we've been pleasantly surprised by one another later--due to finding out how "earthy" (that's great how you put it) we are. I'll never forget standing in the middle of a hallway while I heard the word "fu__" uttered from the most demure, wonderfully delightful, professional woman I'd known. She had uttered the word in a moment of anger and frustration, and hadn't realized that she'd said it. When she was done, I grinned at her, and I said, "But, you didn't just say the word fu__, did you?" She reviewed her memory banks, got this horribly shocked look on her face, turned red and said, "I did didn't I?"

The same folks at the formal affair, by the way, would realize that I'd paid honor to my hosts by "behaving" and I think that's all they'd see out of it. Your mileage, though, may vary. I have known people who are very offended by their perceived notion of the quality of a person just because they may choose to swear, tell a dirty joke, use some kind of risque behavior. Some people believe folks like that are akin to heathens. Some people are so very staunch and stern in their life, that they choose not to see the humor, not to see the satire, not to see the beauty. It is those I feel the most sorry for. They'll never know the wonder people like myself have known.

Oh, and if you don't like the new-agey stuff, I suggest you never try to get to know me any better. I subscribe to a lot of the principles of new age thought, though I am even risque in that tradition. I walk to the beat of a different drummer, Dave. You march in a parade. ;)

Kim W5TIT

2955. Re: 14313 Comes Full Circle

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:05:38 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0a5209$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25902

"Herbie" <Herbie@BARFforever.net> wrote in message
news:9udf4o$117$0@pita.alt.net...
> With the return of NR5T full time to 14313, the > controversial frequency has almost come full circle.
> KV4FZ is all that is now needed to complete the circle
> and for 14313 to return to its pre-Riley Hollingsworth > days.
>
> All the old familiar calls are back on 14313, up to their
> same old habits, all day, every day: K9GOR, WA2EXQ,
> W1BWV (WB1BWV), W4AMP (KD4CDB), W4JYZ
> (KF4JYZ), K3QAM, W2OOQ, KB1EVE (KC1ZQ), just
> to name of few of the high-profile operators.
>
> The situation begs the questions, Just what has Riley > Hollingsworth really accomplished? Does he ever hope to > accomplish anything? Is Riley Hollingsworth even > relevant anymore to ham radio? Just what is Riley > Hollingsworth's true purpose in life? Riley Hollingsworth > failed to permanently remove from ham radio many of the > most violative ham operators in the history of ham radio, > and that has directly contributed to the return of 14313 to > its old state of affairs.
>
> Respectfully,
>
> Rod Johnson
>

You must be quite busy listening, so I don't imagine Riley will accomplish much.

2956. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:15:40 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0A53AD.6AAE5B04@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25903

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C09C121.DA4489A8@earthlink.net...
> >
> > My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you > > compose the answer.
> >
> > I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> And there were some good ones. Felt a bit sorry for the Texas QB who was > victimized more than incompetant by some defensive strategy I recognized > from my coaching days (the bandit made famous by Dick Butkus and the > back-and-out style I taught my backers) but the yoyo that got the roughing > the kicker penalty should be eating his meals off the stove after the > butt-kicking he has coming is delivered unto him. On most days, Texas would > win on talent but on this particular day, Texas was flat out-coached.
>
> The Colorado coach did it at of all places Northwestern so we are going to > hear a bit more from them. While Nebraska does run a class act as well as > as fine a demonstration of football from the wax museum you are likely to > see it did my heart good to see the Cornhuskers get their plow cleaned last > week; the expected mass suicide did not occur.
>
> Dick Nï¿½BK

There were some outstanding games. I loved the outcome of the Tennessee-Florida match. I pity the "goat" who dropped the ball on the 2 point try for Virginia Tech. He couldn't have had it easier after the defender fell and he was all alone in that end zone.

Colorado looks tremendous.

Now for today's pro games...

Dave K8MN

2957. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:20:35 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9udk9t06if@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25905

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C92D.EA7F1C9A@earthlink.net...
> Okay, "formal affair". I'd guess you don't go to many of those so that > lets you off the hook for most of your time. How about the grocery > store? the hair salon? on a bike path?
>
> Why does something have to be formal in order for you not to curse?
> What is it about this newsgroup which makes it okay for cursing. What's > not proper about the newsgroup?
>
> Would it bother you if the same folks you met at the formal affair read > some of your earthier stuff here?
>
> Dave K8MN

People act differently in given situations. Factory workers behave differently around co-workers than they do around their families. Teenagers behave differently around their friends than they do when a parent is around.

It's just human nature. Whether we want to admit to it or not, we all have multiple personalities.

2958. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:21:55 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9udkce06o4@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25906

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C6C2.8E6122B8@earthlink.net...
> > In this newsgroup there is > > no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much chance I > > am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here
and, > > if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from newsgroups
> > in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or co-worker
> > read the language of people you "hang out" with online.
>
> That may be the most convoluted attempt at rationalizing behavior that > I've yet seen here.

Just because you refuse to accept the explanation, doesn't mean that it isn't true.

2959. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:24:53 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9udkhv06vt@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25907

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C09C121.DA4489A8@earthlink.net...
> My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you > compose the answer.
>
> I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
>
> Dave K8MN

GO STEELERS!

2960. Re: 14313 Comes Full Circle

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:27:03 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9udkm10759@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 25908
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Herbie" <Herbie@BARFforever.net> wrote in message
news:9udf4o$117$0@pita.alt.net...
> With the return of NR5T full time to 14313, the > controversial frequency has almost come full circle.
> KV4FZ is all that is now needed to complete the circle
> and for 14313 to return to its pre-Riley Hollingsworth > days.
>
> All the old familiar calls are back on 14313, up to their
> same old habits, all day, every day: K9GOR, WA2EXQ,
> W1BWV (WB1BWV), W4AMP (KD4CDB), W4JYZ
> (KF4JYZ), K3QAM, W2OOQ, KB1EVE (KC1ZQ), just
> to name of few of the high-profile operators.

Not quite full circle...

No one has yet to apply for the vanity call of KA4MUJ

2961. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 16:43:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0A5A36.4348F6B7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 25904

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C09C6C2.8E6122B8@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C090E12.E30A4DD2@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave, I hope you'll remember that I don't think I said I would not > use > > > > > inappropriate language at the wrong times. I don't think I said "in > a
> > > mixed > > > > > group" and didn't mean to imply that way if I did or made it sound > like
> > > I > > > > > did. What I meant, and here's the example I think I presented, is > that
> > > I > > > > > would not use inappropriate language at a black tie dinner. This > > > newsgroup > > > > > is far from a black tie dinner. Here, I won't generally curse, but > I
> > > will
> > > > > to make a point--as I did in the example in the post.
> > > >
> > > > Thanks for straightening up that point. What difference is there > > > > between using the language at a black tie dinner and here? Is it in
> the > > > > apparel?
> > > >
> > >
> > > Certainly not (clothes do not make the person). Although a formal > affair
> > > is likely not a function where hosts would appreciate their guests > taking a > > > chance that there are not people in attendance who would be offended by > > > terse language, cursing, off-color jokes, etc.
> >
> > But if the black tie crowd is seated around you at the football game, > > you wouldn't mind shouting the "eff" word at the top of your lungs?
> >
```

>
> Not at all. The football game is a different venue altogether, and if the > black tie crowd can't handle roudiness, high emotion, etc., at a football > game, then they don't need to be there. Would I holler FUCK YOU in a movie > theater, restaraunt, library, museum, opera, symphony, office? NO.

I'm 53. I've never in my life heard anyone shout that particular offensive remark at a high school, college or professional football game and I've attended many of them. I'd consider it in extremely poor taste as I find your use of it here.

> > > In this newsgroup there is > > > no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much > chance I > > > am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here
> and,
> > > if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from > newsgroups
> > > in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or > co-worker
> > > read the language of people you "hang out" with online.
> >
> > That may be the most convoluted attempt at rationalizing behavior that > > I've yet seen here.
> >
>
> Very well. To me, that just means it made more sense to you than you wanted > it to. If you can't understand that I have the finesse to give honor to a > host, then you're beyond my ability to help you understand.

How is it possible that you read what I've written and come to believe that it means the opposite? Why would you "honor" a host or hostess and not give the same "honor" to those sitting around you in a football game? Why wouldn't you "honor" those who read this newsgroup?

> > >
> > > What's that you say? You aren't "hanging out" with us? I don't know > what > > > else to call it. You are certainly free to abstain from interaction in > > > these posts. But you have not.
> >
> > Kim, We don't hang out. We aren't buddies. We simply post messages on > > an electronic bulletin board. This isn't even real time.
> >
>
> Uh huh. I could use your "convoluted" sentence, but that would be bringing > myself to your level.

Look up the word "convoluted". My sentences were direct and simple.

> You call interaction in this newsgroup whatever you > like, Dave. Online is a venue for anything and everything. If I get to > some newsgroup that is discussing or posting things vehemently opposed to > the way I think or believe the word I use is "Unsubscribe."

So you idea of liberty for all is that when you show up here and start writing on the restroom walls, I should go away. I've got a better idea. How about if you behave yourself?

> > > I am not in control of what you or your > > > neighbors, or family, etc., do online in a computer environment. I am
> in > > > control of my actions for the benefit of a host at a gathering of people > > > whom I don't know, and don't mind "behaving" on their turf. This venue > is
> > > "anyone's" turf.
> >
> > What was that thing you whisper to one of the female guests after you've > > wandered about glad handing with your "fake smile". Was that for the > > benefit of the host or hostess? What of the obvious disgust you > > expressed for the other attendees and the attributes which you gave > > them?
> >
>
> Uh, Dave? That would have been a--what did you call it: "real > time"--situation. This, however, and the comment I made above is from the > perspective of online. The WHISPER I would give someone personally would > be between myself and that person--no one else unless they chose to share it > with whomever. Oh, I also see you don't like my "fake smile" comments. You > really think that everyone you encounter at a formal affair is tickled to > death to be there, and relishes the close proximity to everyone who is > there? You're delusional if so. One of the greatest agonies about > weddings, funerals, and christenings are the family members and friends that > show up that would rather be seen on the exit bus. But, due to something > called protocol and civility, Dave, for the benefit of the function, we > (or those of us with finesse) resist our urges. Now, have someone walk up > to me (I don't know that everyone is this honest) and begin trying to lean > forward with one of those incessant pecks on the cheek? Or "just to chat"?
> Uh uh...I stand there and politely and quietly tell them to get lost.

So you just haven't learned any manners at all. I see.

> > > > > At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go
> to
> > > > the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?
> > > >
> > >
> > > Have no idea who that person is. This must be another "Dave's world" > > > person, right?
> >

> > It's two people. Karolyn Rose is Pete Rose's ex. She used to be the > > foul language queen of Cincinnati until Marge Schott bought the Reds.
> >
> >
>
> Whatever. Do they curse? Then include me in that "school" if you must.

You've been enrolled.

> > > > >
> > > > > I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even
> > > more > > > > > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you > > > truly > > > > > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have > no > > > > > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy > > > being > > > > > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be > placed > > > upon > > > > > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make > > > allowances.
> > > > > I live for me.
> > > > >
> > > > What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which > > > > includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward > vulgarity
> > > > and what society considers to be foul language?
> > > >
> > >
> > > To me, yes. I acknowledge the sensitivities of others, but also make > > > decisions as to my tolerance level. If I am at a formal affair, a > > > friend's house with people I don't know, etc., then I am more likely to > be > > > much more demure than at a football game.
> >
> > You mean you can only behave for just so long? I notice that your good > > behavior would be more likely at a formal affair but not guaranteed.
> >
>
> Yeah, Dave. That's it. Uh huh.
>
> > > >
> > > > There are as many > > > > people who would be offended by your language at a football game as > > > > would be offended at that black-tie function.
> > > >
> > >
> > > Well, I am only willing to "give up" so much for society. If I want to > > > curse at a football game, I will. And, if there's someone offended by

> that,
> > > then it is between me and them--NOT my host, hostess...or whatever.
> >
> > You mean that you can't sit through a football game without uttering a > > curse word? You equate that with "giving up" something for society?
> >
>
> Well, actually, truth be known, I wouldn't be seen at a football game. If I > choose to watch a game, I like the television crews who do all the work to > get me the best seats in "the house." But, in the right environment, if I'm > prone to curse, I'll curse. Sure will. And, yeah, if I am at an affair > that requires elite behavior, say visting the Queen of England, I can be the > best of the best. What they do, and what I do, on our own time outside the > venue of the Queen is of no concern to the Queen. If she thinks it is, > that's her problem, not mine.

Give her my regards.

> > > >
> > > > It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.
> > >
> > > Absolutely. And, whether you wish to acknowledge it or believe it, you > do > > > also (live life only for you). If you don't, then you've cheated > yourself
> > > and others of the greatest you can be. By living life for ourselves, it > is
> > > by virtue that we live life for the rest of the world.
> >
> > That's one of the biggest pieces of touchy-feely nonsense I've seen in > > ages. I share my life with my wife, with my aging parents, with my > > friends, with my neighbors and with my community. I don't feel I've > > cheated myself or others by giving away my time.
> >
> > Your last line sounds like it was cribbed from a Rod McKuen book.

> Then, you are different from me.

Anyone reading this exchange would have realized that by now.

> That brings us full circle back to the > point originally being made that began this whole exchange. I am far more > willing and capable of conforming to and understanding the needs and desires > of others than you are, Dave. You are more prone to having things only on > your own terms.

I don't think that is what your comments have told us, Kim. I think you have a social problem. When I attend a social function, I don't stand around attributing motivation to the other attendees. If someone want to give me a peck on the cheek, I accept it graciously and I don't harbor ill will toward the individual bestowing it. I participate in small talk realizing that some folks are likely to be as uncomfortable as I am in a room full of people who are attempting to find some common ground. I don't whisper something out of a Stephen King novel into anyone's ear.

> You were far more offended and demonstrative toward me, > than I was toward you. If you will objectively go back and read over this > exchange between you and I, you'll learn and see (if your truthful with > yourself) that I was far more flexible than you. I share my > life--truthfully--with the entire world.

I've gone back over the exchange and vigorously disagree with your statement.

It isn't necessary for you to share everything with me or the entire world. There are some things that I just don't need to know.

Dave K8MN

2962. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 17:26:57 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0a6398_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25909

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C0A5A36.4348F6B7@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> >
> > Not at all. The football game is a different venue altogether, and if
the > > black tie crowd can't handle roudiness, high emotion, etc., at a football > > game, then they don't need to be there. Would I holler FUCK YOU in a movie > > theater, restaraunt, library, museum, opera, symphony, office? NO.
>
> I'm 53. I've never in my life heard anyone shout that particular > offensive remark at a high school, college or professional football game > and I've attended many of them. I'd consider it in extremely poor taste > as I find your use of it here.
>

Are you thinking I wouldn't understand that some people would find it poor taste? Is that what you're thinking? I am quite aware that people may find it in extremely poor taste. I ask why do I yield, rather than they, Dave?

> > > >
> > > > In this newsgroup there is > > > > no host, and it certainly is not a formal affair. There's not much > > chance I > > > > am going to have some affect on your personal life by my actions here
> > and,
> > > > if there is, then it is you who are in control to keep away from > > newsgroups
> > > > in the event that you have a neighbor, friend, family member, or > > co-worker
> > > > read the language of people you "hang out" with online.
> > >
> > > That may be the most convoluted attempt at rationalizing behavior that > > > I've yet seen here.
> > >
> >
> > Very well. To me, that just means it made more sense to you than you wanted > > it to. If you can't understand that I have the finesse to give honor to
a > > host, then you're beyond my ability to help you understand.

>
> How is it possible that you read what I've written and come to believe > that it means the opposite? Why would you "honor" a host or hostess and > not give the same "honor" to those sitting around you in a football > game? Why wouldn't you "honor" those who read this newsgroup?
>

Because they're different venues, Dave.

> > > >
> > > > What's that you say? You aren't "hanging out" with us? I don't know
> > what > > > > > else to call it. You are certainly free to abstain from interaction
in > > > > > these posts. But you have not.
> > > >
> > > > Kim, We don't hang out. We aren't buddies. We simply post messages
on > > > > an electronic bulletin board. This isn't even real time.
> > > >
> > >
> > Uh huh. I could use your "convoluted" sentence, but that would be bringing > > myself to your level.
>
> Look up the word "convoluted". My sentences were direct and simple.
>

How arrogantly sinister of you, to think I don't understand the meaning of the word convoluted.

>
> > You call interaction in this newsgroup whatever you > > like, Dave. Online is a venue for anything and everything. If I get to > > some newsgroup that is discussing or posting things vehemently opposed
to > > the way I think or believe the word I use is "Unsubscribe."
>
> So you idea of liberty for all is that when you show up here and start > writing on the restroom walls, I should go away. I've got a better > idea. How about if you behave yourself?
>

No. You needn't go away at all. In fact, I'd personally prefer you stay.
But you need to realize that you'll apparently be putting yourself through some very negative experiences since you won't "appreciate" me being around.
Do I need to go away, for you, Dave? How 'bout instead of me "behaving," you get down and dirty with me? Why do you want me to do all the character adjustments for you?

> > > > I am not in control of what you or your > > > > neighbors, or family, etc., do online in a computer environment. I am
> > in > > > > control of my actions for the benefit of a host at a gathering of people > > > > whom I don't know, and don't mind "behaving" on their turf. This venue
> > is
> > > > "anyone's" turf.
> > >
> > > What was that thing you whisper to one of the female guests after you've > > > wandered about glad handing with your "fake smile". Was that for the > > > benefit of the host or hostess? What of the obvious disgust you > > > expressed for the other attendees and the attributes which you gave > > > them?
> > >
> >
> > Uh, Dave? That would have been a--what did you call it: "real > > time"--situation. This, however, and the comment I made above is from
the > > perspective of online. The WHISPER I would give someone personally would > > be between myself and that person--no one else unless they chose to share it > > with whomever. Oh, I also see you don't like my "fake smile" comments.
You > > really think that everyone you encounter at a formal affair is tickled
to > > death to be there, and relishes the close proximity to everyone who is > > there? You're delusional if so. One of the greatest agonies about > > weddings, funerals, and christenings are the family members and friends
that > > show up that would rather be seen on the exit bus. But, due to something > > called protocol and civility, Dave, for the benefit of the function, we > > (or those of us with finesse) resist our urges. Now, have someone walk up > > to me (I don't know that everyone is this honest) and begin trying to lean > > forward with one of those incessant pecks on the cheek? Or "just to chat"?
> > Uh uh...I stand there and politely and quietly tell them to get lost.
>
> So you just haven't learned any manners at all. I see.
>

I certainly have. AND I know when and where they must be applied.

> > > > > > At a football game, you bet I'll generally be cursing...
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > > You would? Why would you be cursing at a football game? Did you go
> > to
> > > > > the Karolyn Rose-Marge Schott School of Etiquette?
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > Have no idea who that person is. This must be another "Dave's world"
> > > > person, right?
> > >
> > > It's two people. Karolyn Rose is Pete Rose's ex. She used to be the > > > foul language queen of Cincinnati until Marge Schott bought the Reds.
> > >
> > >
> >
> > Whatever. Do they curse? Then include me in that "school" if you must.
>
> You've been enrolled.
>

Grand! Are you paying?

> > > > > >
> > > > > > I think your interpretation of what you read points up the fact even > > > > more > > > > > > that I know when behaviors are appropriate or inappropriate. If you
> > > truly > > > > > > feel like being that "proper" all the time, then by all means I have > > no > > > > > > problem. But, if you feel like you "have to" but don't really enjoy > > > being > > > > > > proper at all times--then I ask why you allow such demands to be > > placed > > > > upon > > > > > > yourself. I don't live my life for others--though I will make > > > allowances.
> > > > > > I live for me.
> > > > >
> > > > > What is being proper, Kim? Is it in living your life in a way which > > > > > includes acknowledgement of the sensitivities of others toward > > vulgarity
> > > > > and what society considers to be foul language?
> > > > >
> > > >

> > > > To me, yes. I acknowledge the sensitivities of others, but also make > > > > decisions as to my tolerance level. If I am at a formal affair, a > > > > friend's house with people I don't know, etc., then I am more likely to
> > be > > > > much more demure than at a football game.
> > >
> > > You mean you can only behave for just so long? I notice that your good > > > behavior would be more likely at a formal affair but not guaranteed.
> > >
> >
> > Yeah, Dave. That's it. Uh huh.
> >
> > > > > >
> > > > > There are as many > > > > > people who would be offended by your language at a football game as > > > > > would be offended at that black-tie function.
> > > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > Well, I am only willing to "give up" so much for society. If I want
to > > > > curse at a football game, I will. And, if there's someone offended by
> > that,
> > > > then it is between me and them--NOT my host, hostess...or whatever.
> > >
> > > You mean that you can't sit through a football game without uttering a > > > curse word? You equate that with "giving up" something for society?
> > >
> >
> > Well, actually, truth be known, I wouldn't be seen at a football game.
If I > > choose to watch a game, I like the television crews who do all the work
to > > get me the best seats in "the house." But, in the right environment, if I'm
> > prone to curse, I'll curse. Sure will. And, yeah, if I am at an affair > > that requires elite behavior, say visting the Queen of England, I can be
the > > best of the best. What they do, and what I do, on our own time outside
the > > venue of the Queen is of no concern to the Queen. If she thinks it is, > > that's her problem, not mine.
>
> Give her my regards.
>

> > > > >
> > > > > It is quite apparent that you live your life only for you.
> > > > >
> > > > > Absolutely. And, whether you wish to acknowledge it or believe it, you
> > do
> > > > > also (live life only for you). If you don't, then you've cheated > > yourself > > > > > and others of the greatest you can be. By living life for ourselves, it > > is
> > > > > by virtue that we live life for the rest of the world.
> > > >
> > > That's one of the biggest pieces of touchy-feely nonsense I've seen in > > > ages. I share my life with my wife, with my aging parents, with my > > > friends, with my neighbors and with my community. I don't feel I've > > > cheated myself or others by giving away my time.
> > >
> > > Your last line sounds like it was cribbed from a Rod McKuen book.
>
> > Then, you are different from me.
>
> Anyone reading this exchange would have realized that by now.
>
> > That brings us full circle back to the > > point originally being made that began this whole exchange. I am far more > > willing and capable of conforming to and understanding the needs and desires > > of others than you are, Dave. You are more prone to having things only on > > your own terms.
>
> I don't think that is what your comments have told us, Kim. I think you > have a social problem. When I attend a social function, I don't stand > around attributing motivation to the other attendees. If someone want > to give me a peck on the cheek, I accept it graciously and I don't > harbor ill will toward the individual bestowing it. I participate in > small talk realizing that some folks are likely to be as uncomfortable > as I am in a room full of people who are attempting to find some common > ground. I don't whisper something out of a Stephen King novel into > anyone's ear.
>

I've actually never had the opportunity myself.

> >
> > You were far more offended and demonstrative toward me, > > than I was toward you. If you will objectively go back and read over this > > exchange between you and I, you'll learn and see (if your truthful with > > yourself) that I was far more flexible than you. I share my > > life--truthfully--with the entire world.

>
> I've gone back over the exchange and vigorously disagree with your > statement.
>

And that is exactly as I had thought you would see it.

>
> It isn't necessary for you to share everything with me or the entire > world. There are some things that I just don't need to know.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Oh, yes you do. You just don't realize it.

Kim W5TIT

2963. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 19:26:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0A8059.59118CFE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25910

Dave Heil wrote:
> There are some things that I just don't need to know.

Apparently, human psychology is one of those things. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2964. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 19:29:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0A810E.E3C28739@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25911

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any > influence on their sexual "identity." Right.

Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a homosexual?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2965. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 19:32:00 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0A81B0.EDCC689A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 25912

Dave Heil wrote:
> I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.

The context is sexual attraction, Dave. Does "every televised football game this day" equate to multiple orgasms for you?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

2966. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 19:41:47 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnq5rwm.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 25913

On 02 Dec 2001 04:43:06 GMT, Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

>No, it is an attempt to gain greater political privilege based on the >fact of their abnormality. They want nothing to do with equality -- >they seek the comfort of victim status in order to strengthen their >claim to membership in the elite ruling class of the New World >Order. If this were not true, then militant Gay/Lesbian "rights" groups >would not exist.

I'll pass your analysis on to a very close friend's stepdaughter who is the chair of such a group. Her partner, BTW, is (or at least was) on the White House staff handling issues that had no relationship to sexual orientation.

Perhaps they can explain the reality to you in simple and non-accusatory terms.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

2967. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:01:39 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnq794n.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 25914

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 13:29:18 -0600, CAM wrote:

>> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any >> influence on their sexual "identity." Right.
>
>Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a >homosexual?

I have a very close friend who has two children of her own and raised two stepchildren almost from infancy. All four were raised together and were of roughly equal ages.

Her two children turned out to be "straight". Her two stepchildren turned out to be "gay" although both she and their father were
"straight".

At the same time one of her co-workers turned out to be "gay" but his children are "straight". All the "gay" or "bi" people whom I know had "straight" parents.

Can Larry explain his claims of parents' orientation transferring to childrens' orientation.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

2968. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:08:52 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <023D79A87CF502EB.EBE1CA7B2AF3BC92.C67D13A7293CE1DA@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25915

On Sat, 1 Dec 2001 18:56:57 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>The "issues" around my callsign are quite passionate.

Careful, Kim.

You'll turn the god squad on with statements like that!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2969. Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:14:44 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> Message-ID: <e02358f67ea6c52f7c42ba0f221dc153.47899@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 25916
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to tell me. Help me!

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

Saw this on a Tee-shirt:

"I am a bomb technician. If you see me running, try to keep up. "

--
Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2970. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:24:13 UTC
From: Kent <kwinrich@wi.rr.com>
Message-ID: <N5wO7.1287651$si5.61567286@typhoon.kc.rr.com>
Source record: 25917
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Yes!! We ARE trying to get you. It is out way of communicating with each other. We do it to confuse you small minded Hu-Mans.

Dah da di di dit Di di dit da dah

Kent, K9EZ
President - Little Green Men that support Beep Beeps
Member - B0ZO Amateur Radio Fraternity
Member - CW 4-EVER Club

You should see how it feels after a weekend contest (i.e. Field Day, CQWW, etc.)!!

"Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:e02358f67ea6c52f7c42ba0f221dc153.47899@mygate.mailgate.org...
> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see > me running, try to keep up. "
>
>
> --
> Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2971. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:24:35 UTC
From: JJ&A <w7ls@blarg.net>
Message-ID: <3C0A8EF1.2BAC5592@blarg.net>
Source record: 25918
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

No problem. Make up a little hat out of aluminum foil and wear it. That will shield you from alien transmissions getting into your head. Jim

"Leland C. Scott" wrote:

> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see > me running, try to keep up. "
>
> --
> Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2972. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:31:03 UTC
From: migrant of <copypro50@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <bcwO7.14236$Ao6.1226985@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 25919

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> reproduced
WB data in message news:POaO7.139177$WW.8801107@

> Country Rate of Adult illiteracy
>
> Pakistan 55%
> India (second largest Muslim cty) 45%

Know what's REALLY AMUSING about all of this ??
The two Countries above (both of which are in the top 3) have nuclear weapons and innorant dipshits who make up paper-mache and cardboard tube mockups of ICBM's
they ride atop in parades atop flatbed trucks. Let's HOPE that the Pakis and the DotHeads do have themselves
a limited NUCLEAR EXCHANGE in the not too distant future !! They both breed like freakin rabbits on Viagra
and they come over to this country to suck-off the welfare system and sell watered-down gasoline or operate Motel-6 fleabag rent-by-the-hour rooms. Yeah! I say let them NUKE
each other so as to reduce the already-overburdened world population a couple of million in just 5 minutes. That'll leave more food and resources for the rest of us.

DO IT !! DO IT !!!

BOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

2973. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:42:54 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <inwO7.246848$W8.8814028@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25920

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011201234306.12427.00003955@nso-cg.aol.com...
> In article
<DC841BA7789E9FFA.C6DA076A1010BABF.EE44EE5ECD101D0D@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any > influence on their sexual "identity." Right.
>
> >>I'm not claiming to be working your side of the street, Rick. I am just > >>reacting to what I've heard and read about the topic, and drawing my > >>own logical conclusions. Why would there be a book like "Heather > >>Has Two Mommies" unless someone with an agenda to normalize and > >>lend an aura of acceptability to homosexual behavior wanted young > >>children to be exposed to this concept? In other words, why are > >>homosexuals attempting to "recruit" young people to their lifestyle?
> >
"
>
> I don't know why young children in elementary school need to be > "informed" about abnormal sexual relationships -- or any other sexual > relationships, for that matter -- unless someone is trying to, as I said,
> make it appear to be normal and acceptable.
>
> Well, I've never considered being black to be abnormal; but a simple > examination of human male/female comparative anatomy seems to > suggest that heterosexuality is the intended norm.
>
> I don't think any intelligent person has a problem "tolerating" or "accepting" > homosexuals. I acknowledge their existance as part of the whole of > humanity, albeit as an abnormality. I feel no hatred or animosity toward > homosexuals, and have no personal need to increase the suffering in > what must already be miserable, confused lives. However, I cannot in > clear conscience consider them to be "normal," simply because they > are not. People with various developmental disabilities are not "normal" > either, but I don't hate them, or lack "tolerance" of them. I make my > living working with them every day, and I take very good care of them.
> I bear no prejudice against homosexuals or anyone else who does not > fall within the conventional definition of "normal," but I believe that they > must accept their abnormality, and be as "tolerant" of the need of > normal people to be assured that they are not going to attempt to win > over their children to their "alternative" lifestyle as a means of gaining > greater political power. If gays and lesbians are, indeed, "normal" as > you claim, then they shouldn't seek to be venerated for their lifestyle, > and keep their sex lives as private as most heterosexuals do.

>
>
> No, it is an attempt to gain greater political privilege based on the > fact of their abnormality. They want nothing to do with equality -- > they seek the comfort of victim status in order to strengthen their > claim to membership in the elite ruling class of the New World > Order. If this were not true, then militant Gay/Lesbian "rights" groups > would not exist.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

We have been around about this before but let's review. I can certainly agree about political privlege, read money. The NWO has zip to do with it. I would remind you that the whole gay rights schtick got started when the NYPD pulled one of its usual gay bashes - literally - and got the crap beat out of it. A lot of Indian reservations have similar atmospheres out here where Phil Sheridan's Maxim still holds, the only good Indian is a dead one. Can't say as I particularly blame them for being a little pissy about it; I am an _____ so wtf you gonna do about it is a lot of things but not anti-American by any means.

I have marveled at the ability of the Black community to take the worst features of Anglo existence and make them their own. When I drive the inter-campus shuttle at Nebroma over 90 % of the idiots parked in the bus lane are blacks. Now this is the behavior of animals running in packs playing status games and I am sorely tempted to apply the advice I got as a dachshund owner about pack behavior: when he sleeps in the hallway to gain status by making you walk around him, insert foot under belly and bounce him off both walls. But I also drove a national golf tournament shuttle and got a hell of a charge out of the yuppies towing off each other's luxoboats and Sport Pukes when their parking regs were ignored; there is something about a Lincoln Mortifier on the hook that is a thing of beauty. When every mistake or misunderstanding is a racial incident I think I might prefer gays. Whether this is racism or social observation I will leave to Mark.

But at bottom, our disagreement is on the causes of homosexuality more than anything else. In females it is apparently a birth accident because there are a lot of characteristics (ring finger length for one) that would indicate an over-exposure to testosterone during the first of the two hormone baths humans take. So raising a child, while indeed odd, is not likely to cause homosexuality or even behavior for that matter and the proper emphasis is on the well-being of the child not its nannies. In males, it appears to be part of the same brain-wiring process that produces left handedness and the general extremes of behavior that males appear to be prone to given prison and looney bin stats. The same process that produces extremely beneficial capabilities and behaviors is the one that produces some gut-rumbling ones. The unraveling of the human genome is about 2% of what it will take to understand the process but there is enough evidence available to at least influence the way a gambler will bet.

One of Robert Heinlein's novels contained the good advice not to confuse the rumbling of one's stomach with the immutable laws of God. I haven't been cruised in years but it was revolting to say the least; but then my wife and I agreed not to be in the bathroom when the other was fiddling with their contact lenses: her popping her hard lenses and me re-arranging the soft ones resulted in a mutual stomach churn.

In the long run of things, what the gays are doing is demanding a place in society of relative equality in spite of not being in engineering terms 'design center'. Compared to some racial minorities trying to live in three centuries at once, their approach is irritating but not all that irrational and in fact somewhat understandable. Takes about three generations or some well-placed coronaries and always has. It is just too new for some.

But yeah, status games in general give me gas.

Dick NBK

2974. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 20:51:49 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <FvwO7.246878$W8.8814737@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25921
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

How's tings in Wi-scons-in der hey?

Judging from the address, I think poor Leland is being forged again.

"Kent" <kwinrich@wi.rr.com> wrote in message news:N5wO7.1287651$si5.61567286@typhoon.kc.rr.com...
> Yes!! We ARE trying to get you. It is out way of communicating with each > other. We do it to confuse you small minded Hu-Mans.
>
> Dah da di di dit Di di dit da dah
>
> Kent, K9EZ
> President - Little Green Men that support Beep Beeps
> Member - B0ZO Amateur Radio Fraternity
> Member - CW 4-EVER Club
>
> You should see how it feels after a weekend contest (i.e. Field Day, CQWW, > etc.)!!
>
>
> "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote in message > news:e02358f67ea6c52f7c42ba0f221dc153.47899@mygate.mailgate.org...
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
> to > > tell me. Help me!
> >
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
> > KC8LD0
> >
> > Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
> >
> > "I am a bomb technician. If you see > > me running, try to keep up. "
> >
> >
> > --
> > Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> > via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG
>

2975. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 21:06:14 UTC
From: n7ws@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <3c0a96ac.16388531@news.triconet.org>
Source record: 25922
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com>
wrote:

|Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from
|those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its
|haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to
|tell me. Help me!

How do you figure two meters is supposed to be "codeless?"

All the serious two meter operators use CW. Trust me, I didn't get my two meter Worked All Continents using FM and neither did the guys with WAS and DXCC.

Wes N7WS

2976. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 21:21:49 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8D7BBE8EFA537F7B.3B70D36534F45C63.E5ABCD5CFDE2A1D9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25923

On 02 Dec 2001 03:34:30 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>You're entitled to your own opinion; I can't do your thinking for you.

Then why do you try to do Kim's thinking for her?

Oh, I forgot.

In you're universe, women can't think as well as men, that's why they have to be told what they can or can't do (including, obviously, choosing a call sign), right?

>Actually, I merely ignored articles which wern't worth my time to >compose a reply.

That defines a good portion of your own posts, Larry. At least we know you won't be talking to yourself here in the news group (although you're probably muttering to yourself right now).

>Well, that's where you demonstrate your immaturity. I'm mature >enough to know that it is foolish to *want*to control something like a >person's callsign.

And you prove it by creating a thread you insist will continue regardless of the desires of others until she capitulates to your
will?

Sounds a bit strange to me.

>I would prefer that radio amateurs choose their >callsigns in a responsible manner,

She did.

She considered her options, no doubt checked the list of available call signs, and applied following FCC regulations. She undoubtedly earned the $12 to pay for the vanity call herself instead of stealing it from the corner "Stop & Frisk," and she was able to successfully pay for it w/o bouncing a check or being turned down by her credit card company.

Sounds like a responsible way to choose and obtain a vanity call to me. Which part of that did you assume she irresponsibly skipped?

>one which doesn't call their good >taste and judgement into question.

She didn't call her good taste and judgement into question, Larry, you did. And to the best of our knowledge here in the news group, it wasn't her week to watch you at the time.

> Unfortunately, Kim didn't do that --

Really?

Looks to most everyone here as though she did.

>and thus is the topic of what is now one of the largest threads ever >seen on this newsgroup!

Larry--if I chose to act like you have I could start a thread on "CW...the mode for losers" and keep it alive as long as this news group exists (for that matter, the same topic HAS been alive since the news group has existed--just with a changing name). YOU chose to create a thread for the sole purpose of attacking a member of the news group and attempting to ridicule and harass her into changing her call sign. That's behavior that would be considered obnoxious in any news group but alt.flame. Don't blame Kim for the existence and continuation of this thread--that was YOUR responsibility.

>>Let me repeat what I said in an earlier post: If you feel that her >>callsign is as bad as you seem to feel, then you should be lobbying to >>change the rules.

>Why would I do that?

Because it would be the appropriate and mature response.

Oops, that's why you WOULDN'T do it, isn't it?

>My quarrel is not with the FCC's rules on >call sign assignment.

No--it's with someone who exercised her freedom of choice.

> Under the Vanity Call Sign program, the >selection of a call sign is now the individual amateur's choice,

See!

There's that nasty word. Choice. You really hate that one don't you Larry? It keeps everything from being orderly, regulated, and compartmentalized into little cubby-holes where you know exactly what to expect at any given moment.

Choice is like that monster you still fear is under your bed, Larry. If you give it the chance to grab you, that orderly, boring, life will be unavoidably changed.

> and
>that choice reflects their good taste and judgement;

Actually, it just represents their personal choice.

> or, in Kim's >case, the lack thereof.

In your not-so-mainstream opinion.

Larry, even YOU have admitted that the majority of hams in this news group support her choice. Doesn't that begin to hint at which one of you is the one with poor taste--her for choosing a unique call sign or you for harassing her publicly for her choice?

It does to me--and many others. And it isn't Kim we see demonstrating poor taste and judgement.

> The FCC is not acting as an arbiter of >such taste and judgement, and I don't think it should be.

Then why in hell do you think YOU have the right to do so?

Are you really so full of yourself (or, at least, full of something) that you believe you have the right to speak for others or to regulate the taste and judgement of other adults? Who elected you god of the airways?

>There are literally dozens of hams with call signs which are just as >offensive as Kim's, but they aren't participating in this newsgroup, and >Kim is. I can only work with the tools at my disposal.

And since in a news group those are intellectual tools, you really ARE at a disadvantage, aren't you?

>Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.

No, actually, it's yours. Kim--and the FCC--are both perfectly satisfied with her call sign.

>>What you are doing in this group does nothing to promote your cause, >>and does, in fact, more strongly ally people against you -- possibly >>for you as well, but I've seen little evidence of that while I see >>plenty of evidence for the former.
>
>Are you saying you have access to my E-mail? How do you know >how many people agree or disagree with me? The visible >participants in this newsgroup are not the only source of feedback I >receive on what I post here.

But they ARE the only valid one.

Besides, why on earth should we believe you when you claim to be receiving supportive email? You could just as easily (and far more believably) be receiving "Knock off the vendetta, jerk!" messages instead. We certainly have no reason to trust or believe you Larry, you give the impression of being willing to do anything to "prove" Kim is wrong, and if that includes lying we have no reason to assume you wouldn't do that as well. After all, you make it clear from your arguments about trust that even your own wife (if you had one) couldn't trust you behind her back--why should we trust you here?

>Oh, I get it. Another liberal, who wants to shut me up for speaking >the truth. Yawn!

Is everyone who thinks your are a jerk who is carrying this FAR to far a liberal, Larry?

There must be a LOT of them in this group!

>I don't see why it couldn't -- do you think it can't be?

Sure it could--it could disgust potential hams and discourage growth of the ARS. But, hey, if they aren't going to learn 20WPM code you don't want them in the ARS anyway, do you?

>Well, at least you seem to have a higher level of reading >comprehension than some others I've dealt with in this newsgroup.
>(Sorry about that, Cecil!)

Larry, I don't happen to like mushrooms. I find the concept of eating fungus in poor taste and offensive to my palate. By your standards, I have the right--and perhaps the obligation--to start a thread and demand that the production of mushrooms end, and that anyone who eats them recognize that they are doing something disgusting.

Sound stupid?

Of course it is--but no more so than your OWN insistence that Kim change her call sign because YOU object to it!

>>You've stated your objections. And I think you had a perfect right to >>do so. But you're putting a lot of effect into continually stating >>those objects, over and over and over. And any worth it might once have >>had is now gone.

>I'm not restating things "over and over" in a vacuum

You mean you don't think before you post?

>-- I am replying >to postings which have challenged my statements,

See what I meant about our not being able to trust you not to lie, Larry?

You stated in this group that you would NOT let this thread die until she changed her sign. You didn't say that you would not let it die as long as people responded to your posts--you stated that it didn't matter WHAT other people thought, you would not let it die personally.

That, Larry, is the kind of obcessive/compulsive behavior that people have accused Cecil of displaying in this news group--and in your case, unlike his, it really IS excessive enough to be legitimately diagnostic.

> and I am supporting >what I have said by a point/counterpoint debate. This is what >Usenet newsgroups are for -- and if you don't care for it, why waste >your time reading it?

But, Larry, you state yourself that you will not let the thread die no matter what (unless Kim changes her call sign, of course). Now you claim that you are continuing because you are responding to others. Which is it? If people stop responding to you will you allow the thread to end and quit harassing Kim or pontificating about her call sign? Or is that just another Larry Rollism, to be read but not taken seriously?

>Just the exact opposite is true. The FCC is not the answer to this >problem -- only Kim can choose to change her call sign, and only she >can take action to do so.

IF she wants to, Larry. IF she wants to.

That's the part you hate--you can't badger, harass, or ridicule her to the point that she will do so to soothe YOUR ego.

> The FCC doesn't care about the effect of >her call sign, or anyone else's, on the image of the ARS. That's not >their function.

It's not yours either, you idiot. You are just another ham, no more, no less. Your opinion is worth no more than mine, Kim's, Cecil's, or anyone else's that holds a license--including the no-code group and post-restructuring licensees. What on earth gives YOU the right to speak for the rest of us on this--or any OTHER matter?

There IS an organization that exists to promote the ARS and its image, Larry. It's called the ARRL, and most (not all) of us are members of it. If Kim's call sign is something that can cause damage to the ARS, they--not you--should be the ones to address the issue and encourage her (as an ARRL member) to change it for the good of the ARS. That they are NOT doing so should give you a hint that it is not a major concern of anyone but you and a few others in this group--and that they are not doing so should be a VERY clear sign that you have no justification in doing so yourself. The ARRL, in a limited sense, can speak for most US hams (at least those of us who are members) on issues related to the enhancement of the ARS--we give them that right (with limits) when we join the ARRL. But no one in this news group has joined the "Larry Roll Amateur Radio Association" and granted YOU that same right.

There are ARRL officials and employees in this news group.
That they haven't jumped in to support your position should send you at least a hint of a suggestion that they don't consider it their business. And Larry, if it isn't the business of the ARRL, it sure as hell isn't yours!

> Kim's call sign does not violate any FCC rules, and if >it did, they wouldn't have issued it.

Which, of course, should close the issue once and for all.

>>And I simply can't understand why you seem so angry specifically at Kim.
>
>She's the one who choose a call sign which is sexually provocative,

This, of course, answers it.

The thought of sex is at once so exciting for him and so unattainable that he can't help striking out at anyone or anything who might make him think of it even more than he normally does.

Larry, let your hair down (if you have any), take your tie off, have a leisurely glass of a nice Medoc, then go get laid. It will do you a world of good!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2977. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 22:11:22 UTC
From: KA2CTN <radio@spillett.com>
Message-ID: <eGxO7.72362$8C6.13614472@typhoon.nyroc.rr.com>
Source record: 25924
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Instructions for the aluminum foil hat are here.....

http://zapatopi.net/afdb.html

"JJ&A" <w7ls@blarg.net> wrote in message news:3C0A8EF1.2BAC5592@blarg.net...
> No problem. Make up a little hat out of aluminum foil and wear it. That will > shield you from alien transmissions getting into your head. Jim
>
> "Leland C. Scott" wrote:
>
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away
from > > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
to > > tell me. Help me!
> >
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
> > KC8LD0
> >
> > Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
> >
> > "I am a bomb technician. If you see > > me running, try to keep up. "
> >
> > --
> > Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> > via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG
>

2978. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 22:28:09 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ZVxO7.140745$WW.8939502@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25925
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

And another Hotmail forgery exposes a new generation of largemouth bass.

"Wes Stewart" <n7ws@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:3c0a96ac.16388531@news.triconet.org...
> On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com>
> wrote:
>
> |Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away
from > |those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and
its > |haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
to
> |tell me. Help me!
>
> How do you figure two meters is supposed to be "codeless?"
>
> All the serious two meter operators use CW. Trust me, I didn't get my two meter
> Worked All Continents using FM and neither did the guys with WAS and DXCC.
>
> Wes N7WS

2979. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 22:32:43 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <f_xO7.140750$WW.8939556@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25926

Strikes me that blowing that popsicle stand takes more balls than an anonymous posting in a newsgroup.

"migrant of" <copypro50@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:bcwO7.14236$Ao6.1226985@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
>
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> reproduced
> WB data in message news:POaO7.139177$WW.8801107@
>
> > Country Rate of Adult illiteracy
> >
> > Pakistan 55%
> > India (second largest Muslim cty) 45%
>
> Know what's REALLY AMUSING about all of this ??
> The two Countries above (both of which are in the top 3)
> have nuclear weapons and innorant dipshits who make > up paper-mache and cardboard tube mockups of ICBM's
> they ride atop in parades atop flatbed trucks. Let's HOPE > that the Pakis and the DotHeads do have themselves
> a limited NUCLEAR EXCHANGE in the not too distant > future !! They both breed like freakin rabbits on Viagra
> and they come over to this country to suck-off the welfare > system and sell watered-down gasoline or operate Motel-6 > fleabag rent-by-the-hour rooms. Yeah! I say let them NUKE
> each other so as to reduce the already-overburdened world > population a couple of million in just 5 minutes. That'll leave more > food and resources for the rest of us.
>
> DO IT !! DO IT !!!
>
> BOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
>
>

2980. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 22:37:24 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <E2yO7.140754$WW.8940964@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25927

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gnq794n.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 13:29:18 -0600, CAM wrote:
>
> >> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any > >> influence on their sexual "identity." Right.
> >
> >Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a > >homosexual?
>
> I have a very close friend who has two children of her own and > raised two stepchildren almost from infancy. All four were raised > together and were of roughly equal ages.
>
> Her two children turned out to be "straight". Her two stepchildren > turned out to be "gay" although both she and their father were > "straight".
>
> At the same time one of her co-workers turned out to be "gay" but > his children are "straight". All the "gay" or "bi" people whom I > know had "straight" parents.
>
> Can Larry explain his claims of parents' orientation transferring to > childrens' orientation.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
>
>

Didn't Stalin have a commissar who held that socially-acquired characteristics would find their way into the gene pool and produce a race of good Communists? I think he set Russian biological science back a century all by himself.

Beer Keg

2981. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 23:00:13 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011202180013.08945.00000488@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 25928

>Subject: Re: some sobering numbers
>From: "N0VFP, Lloyd" lloyd_vfp@msn.com
>Date: 12/2/2001 9:47 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <f7cf91e0da8ea11776a80d8126aa6118@spamfreenews.com>

>Screw these other countries

Not that I ever doubted that you incapable of comprehending, Lloyd, but every once in a while you make it real easy to understand just how simple you really are.

The LACK of literacy in those "other countries" makes it real easy for religious fanatics to manipulate the masses. It's the same everywhere. Take ignorant, hungry people, feed them bull!@#$ and they think they have steak.

Read down that list of "other countries" and you will see that it's a "Who's who" of terrorism. And who leads these people? Well educated, zealots on a mission. Pig Laden couldn't muster the numbers of followers that he does, save for the numbers of people "educated" in the schools of the fundamentalists. THEY don't have the "luxury" of multiple channels of news, international opinion and the basic premise that individual thought is a RIGHT that they have.

They ARE taught that only the clerics are right, and that failure to follow THIER interpretation of Islam is a direct ticket to hell. Just like most of the CHRISTIAN zealots that we seem to be forgetting about lately.

These people are rasied believeing that America is the sole cause of thier plight in life, and that we have some dark motive for wanting to seem them subjugated. A study of thier history, however, will show that the middle eastern peoples have been at war with "someone" for centuries...certainly many MANY centuries before the United States ever existed.

The one constant in all of this warfare and servitude has been ignorance and religious fervor. It's just amazing what some literacy and compassion could do for world peace.

But you go ahead with your "screw them" attitude and the hate and the fighting will continue. Just like it always has.

Steve, K4YZ

2982. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 23:13:43 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <51C0BB45AA004DA6.F4C8ACE841E16D59.C33129394D048E45@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25929

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 02:47:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>We don't have a single such place in operation on this side of the >river. I don't know whether any are located on the Ohio side.

It doesn't surprise me.

It takes an open minded community to allow people to make their own decisions--many DO ban tattoo parlors or piercing salons to prevent that from happening.

>Right, Rick. No kid ever produces a fake I.D. and uses it to do >anything illegal. No kid ever obtains a "homemade" tattoo or does a >homebrew job of piercing.

You were speaking about parents allowing their kids to get a tattoo or piercing, not about kids doing so in their rooms. Precisely how is THAT the parent's fault--they didn't install spy cameras in the bathrooms and bedrooms?

I repeat--fake I.D. or not, no shop would risk the lawsuit that would result from providing those services to a younger teen w/o the parent's consent. And as far as older teens go--if the law says they are old enough to try as adults (which, in most states, it does),
that they are old enough to make decisions about sexual activities,
and that they are old enough to quit school, don't you think they are likewise old enough to make decisions about body ornamentation?

>> If, for example, my son were 16 (he just turned 18), and he >> purchased a six pack of beer at a local store I would have grounds to >> prosecute and could possibly even sue for putative damages. Neither >> the prosecution nor the law suit, however, would result in enough >> damages to seriously harm the business (although either or both might >> discourage further sales to minors). But if, instead, he went to a >> piercing salon and had his tongue pierced (a permanent piercing) or >> went to a tattoo parlor and had a picture of a bloody knife tattooed >> on his forearm, I would have grounds for a law suit that would >> probably put the firm out of business. That's a LOT more risk for a >> firm than the simple offense of selling beer to a teen.
>
>I've learned a lot from the above. Your first reaction is to think >about prosecution or a suit rather than dealing with your kid's >misdeeds.

What makes you think I would REGARD them as "misdeeds?"

By the time my son was 16 if Chris and I hadn't instilled a sound set of values in him then we would have ALREADY failed as parents and whether he bought alcohol or had a tattoo would be the least of our worries.

On the other hand, if sound values were instilled, and I believe they were, then by the time he was 16 he was old enough TO make an intelligent decision about those matters. Did he drink at 16?
No--but he knew that if he did so he would not be in trouble (I did, nearly everyone else I've ever met did, I expect there's a very good chance YOU did as well--so why should I be a hypocrite and tell him HE couldn't?). As it happens, he tried alcohol, didn't care for the taste and _still_ doesn't drink, despite the fact that most of his friends from college (who, in most cases, are old enough to buy alcohol legally) do drink. The same holds true for drugs (he tried pot once and didn't care for it--and yes, he DID tell us openly that he had tried it). If he had chosen at 16 to get a tattoo or a piercing I might have advised him against it (depending on the nature--his ear has been pierced since he asked to have it done in childhood and I probably wouldn't have objected to a small, inoffensive, tattoo at that age if he wanted one), but I wouldn't have told him no unless the procedure were extensive or medically risky. I happen to respect his freedom of choice.

>> >> No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting >> >> tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?
>> >
>> >Yes, I do.
>>
>> Then document your source for the information. Unless, of >> course, it is purely opinion with no basis in demonstrable fact.
>
>Document it yourself. I'm taking no homework assignments today, Prof.
>You asked what I thouhgt and I told you.

Let me get this straight.

You claim that many early teens are getting tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent and when I ask you for sources to confirm that absurd claim you tell me to document it myself?

I'll just assume that it's nonsense instead--if you had any evidence to support your ridiculous claims you would cite it.

>> >For a parent to permit something which permanently defaces the human >> >body such as piercings and tattooing sounds pretty irresponsible to me.
>>
>> ONLY if piercings or tattoos are viewed as "defacing" rather >> than as "enhancing." That isn't a question of general values, Dave,
>> it's one that is cultural--and if the youth culture of today finds >> them attractive (which it appears they do), why shouldn't they have >> the same right to set their standards of beauty that you and I have to >> set our own?

>
>No. They don't have those rights until they reach their majority by >which time it is hoped that they'll have developed enough common sense >to avoid something which could become a lifelong regret for them.

Or a lifelong pleasure--haven't you ever met people with tattoos or piercings who were glad they had them?

It's funny, Dave. People like you would permit 17 year olds to enlist in the service and risk (or lose) their lives fighting in a war, but you won't let them get a tattoo or a piercing. I suppose if your son joined the Navy and wanted a USN tattoo on his forearm (VERY common among sailors) you would tell him he wasn't old enough for one, right?

To me, if a person is old enough to die for his country, he's old enough to portray that patriotism (or anything else, for that matter) on his skin.

>> Many cultures world wide use piercings, tattoos, or >> scarification to (from their perspective) enhance beauty. In the US >> until the feminist movement caught on, women spent literally hours >> putting on elaborate makeup before going in public--again to enhance >> their beauty according to the standards of the current culture. To >> treat such accoutrements as "defacing" simply indicates that you >> believe your personal standards of beauty are the only ones that have >> validity, a patent absurdity.
>
>Are you a Mauri too?

No--are you?

>> But one of the greatest problems we have with juveniles in our >> nation today is the combination of justification and repression.
>> Justification in that we tend to minimize the degree of their own >> responsibility for an offense and blame the act on society, and >> repression because we refuse to accept what are often very legitimate >> values and standards because they differ from our own generation's and >> are held by youths rather than adults.
>>
>> By limiting teens (pre-pubescent kids are a different >> matter--from a psychological perspective they have not as yet fully >> matured mentally, where adolescents have done so) in ways that adults >> are not limited, we simply make it clear that they are "children" from >> our perspective--and then we wonder why they ACT like children on >> occasion.
>
>We do that because they ARE children. They have not yet matured. Such >is the natural order of things. They act like children because they are >children. I don't wonder about that at all.

Perhaps you should.

Until the Industrial revolution there WAS no such thing as "adolescence" in the sense we use it today. A person was a child until they passed puberty, then they were an adult. The system worked fine because it WAS based on physiological fact--a teen is a mature adult physically (and, from a developmental perspective, mentally). Of course he or she still has much to learn and needs to mature emotionally--but so do many adults.

Once the Industrial Revolution came along, however, we needed a better educated citizenry. The eight years of school that was formerly the most the majority of people achieved simply wasn't enough for success in a more modern and complex world. But if a person was an adult, you couldn't REQUIRE him or her to continue in school, and since the nation was primarily agrarian at the time most kids had to start working on the family farm as soon as they finished the (compulsory) eighth grade instead of attending high school (farming is also the reason we have a Summer vacation in our educational system, of course, as it allowed kids to be home working on the farm during the busiest season). By defining a person as a "child" until he or she was 18, however, it became possible to make attendance in school mandatory, at least to the age of 16 (at which age most young women--and many young men--were married in those days).

What's my point? Simply because the law DEFINES someone as a child, does NOT mean they will behave immaturely or make childish decisions. The chances are very high that at least one of your great grandparents (if not more) had given birth to your grandparent before they were 16 years of age. Are you willing to argue that a person who is old enough to raise a family isn't old enough to make a decision about body decoration, or were your great grandparents child molesters?

>> >Ever hear of a term called "community values"? Its existence would >> >refute your statement.
>>
>> Only if you can demonstrate that the community: (1) has a >> RIGHT to impose values on a given matter and; (2) has better or more >> relevant values than the individuals affected.
>
>Check out Hamilton County. You'll find your proof there in the >existence of such laws. Let me know what you find out.

Why?

A few religious zealots managed to create repressive laws and you use THAT as justification for community values?

Dave, there is a small town in Georgia (population is under 2500) that passed an ordinance against the sales or rentals of any movie rated higher than PG (i.e., PG-13, R, NC-17, etc.). One of the residents had a satellite receiver and paid a subscription rate to receive and descramble the Tuxedo Network (which shows adult shows and soft core adult films). When the local prosecutor (who was a neighbor) learned about it, he filed criminal charges against the Tuxedo network (headquartered and broadcasting in NYC, btw, where such shows are considered perfectly acceptable by the "community values")--and he WON! It was ruled that the Tuxedo network had violated the law in that community by delivering content ruled "unacceptable" by the community values of that town in violation of its laws.

The case is currently on its way to the SC. If the decision is upheld there, you will see a considerable change in television programming--the Networks (public and subscription such as HBO, etc.) will be forced to limit their broadcasts to movies acceptable anywhere in the USA--and there's at least ONE town (in Texas) where the limit is "G" rated!

Do you REALLY think that a community has the right to limit our entertainment to Disney movies? More to the point, do you sincerely believe that the community has the right to limit the nature of entertainment we view in the privacy of our homes at all?

In Cincinnati, your favorite city to cite, the curator of the museum of art was prosecuted for presenting an exhibition of art that no one even attempted to claim was not legitimately of artistic merit, and which would have lent prestige to the Cincinnati museum. The art, however, included images that violated Cincinnati's intrusive "Community Values" and the curator was convicted. To me, that's completely reprehensible behavior and no one with a shred of respect for the Constitution of the United States would even consider a community where such a travesty of law occurred to be worthy of any respect whatever--let alone a suitable place to cite as an example of "community values."

>> Your "Community values" when carried to any reasonable extent >> would define such behavior as piercing as totally inappropriate in >> some communities--and completely acceptable in others. What if the >> person who is pierced in, for example, Santa Cruz California, where it >> is accepted, travels to Cincinnati where it is not well accepted? Are >> they obligated to remove their jewelry and have the piercing >> surgically closed? Or is it unreasonable for the new community to >> impose its values on those who don't share them?
>
>I brought up ways that group values can limit individual values.
>I don't care if an individual is pierced in Poughkeepsie and moves to >Cuyahoga Falls. You can work out the details later.

Correction. You brought up ways that groups values can limit individual rights and freedom of choice, not ways they can limit values.

Sorry, but to me that smacks way too much of fascism and censorship.

Incidently, have you noticed that there are groups in Cincinnati right now working to ban both the "Harry Potter" movie and series of books because they feel they violate "Community Values?"

I'll bet you're proud of your old community in it's fight against children's literature, aren't you?

>> Community values can only refute my statement if you can >> demonstrate community values that are absolutes rather than subjective >> decisions based on current stereotypes and political influences. So >> far, I have yet to see someone do that.
>
>Call it what you want, Rick. If you choose to deny that there are >places with laws on the books based on community values, I don't care.

There are places with laws on the books that restrict the rights of minority members, too (try Kuwait or Iran). That doesn't mean I have to either respect those places (and laws) or that the fact they exist makes them any less offensive to a free society.

>You say that the parents aren't asked their opinions. I don't know that >to be true. Taxpayers foot the bill for schools whether they have >children in the schools. I think he who pays, says. I take it that you >think that dress codes are a bad idea.

I think ANY restriction that can't be shown to prevent harm and that circumvents the role of the family in deciding a child's manner of dress is wrong.

Don't you?

>> Nope. Which has nothing to do with "community standards" and >> has everything to do with suppression of freedom of speech and freedom >> of choice.
>
>Hamilton County disagrees with you.

Show me where "Hamilton County" has stated that community standards are NOT ways to suppress speech. Otherwise, you can't claim they "disagree with me."

>> It is also the direct result of concentrated campaigns by the >> religious right that have thrust what should be religious issues into >> the legal process. The same holds true for Ft. Wayne, IN, and other >> extremist, bible-thumping, communities.
>
>Hamilton County disagrees with you. Apparently Ft. Wayne disagrees too.

How about citing the United States Constitution instead of the views of a few religious zealots in the bible-belt, Dave? Or are those zealots the only support you can find for your absurd claims?

>> >Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?
>>
>> It doesn't.

>
>It does. Starz movies are bleeped.

Really?

I can _guarantee_ they don't with CineMAX--we were at the home of some friends Thursday night and while I was working on their computers (the reason we went over), Chris was watching an "R-Rated" movie with Linda (the wife in the couple) on MAX--and it was NOT bleeped.

I just sent an IM to them asking them to check Starz and let me know if it is "bleeped" but off hand, I'm pretty sure they'll say it isn't. It would make no sense for the Dish network to "bleep" one channel and not others.

Perhaps you just live in such a conservative, AFA dominated community (as Cincinnati and Ft. Wayne are) that Dish is protecting itself by bleeping content to your area. Sorry to hear that you are subject to censorship instead of being allowed freedom of choice as the rest of us are--but it meets your needs so it should be no problem.

You DO prefer Disney class entertainment, right?

Incidently, what do they do about the closed captions--bleep
the offending words there, too?

>You're getting as bad as Lenny at stating the obvious. I know what it >is; I have it in my home.

IF you are telling the truth (you provide no evidence of that in other areas of this debate/discussion/flame war), which has yet to be proven, and IF it is done by Dish rather than some parental control setting in your own receiver, frankly you deserve the censorship you receive (you DO support censorship, right?). In my home--and I expect in the homes of the other members of this news group who have satellite services such as Dish & DirecTV--we neither have nor want someone else deciding what we should be permitted to hear.

>> If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a >> good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is >> allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.
>
>I don't agree with you at all. I find it kind of refreshing.

Why? Does it keep you from having to think?

What do they do when there is nudity or strongly sexual content (also part of an "R" rating) Dave? Put "CENSORED BY FASCISTS" banners across the screen?

Must be relaxing for you not to have to watch tv and decide for yourself about the adult parts & language; it's so much easier to allow the American Family Association to do your thinking for you, isn't it?

>> Let me reverse the question: If there's something wrong with >> using those words--why are the present in a movie in the first place
>> to REQUIRE anyone to "bleep" them?
>
>Oh, you haven't come up with a good reason for them either, huh?

Try "Freedom of speech" Dave--I know that one hurts you censorship fanatics, but some of us not only believe in it--but actually fought for it in Vietnam.

Out of curiosity, as I recall you claim to have been in the Foreign Service of the US. Since that's a part of the Department of State, didn't you have to swear to uphold the Constitution of the United States (as do other State Department officials both domestically and abroad--and as the US military are required to do)? I'll bet that pesky Bill of Rights was a real pain to pretend to support wasn't it--or is that why you're no longer a Foreign Service employee?

>I'd guessed that it was obligatory to insert a good sex scene (whether >or not it had any real relevance to the story line) and to throw in a >few good swear words or you wouldn't get many kids to attend the flick.

Dave, what is so difficult about choosing to vote with your viewership? If you don't care for the content of a movie, don't watch, rent, or purchase it. Is that REALLY so difficult to understand? Don't you have any will power at all?

I've always suspected (and I have no idea if research would support my suspicion or not--I haven't looked to see if it does) that those who most strongly support limitations on adult content are the same people who can't be trusted to exercise good judgement with respect to their reading/viewing habits. From everything I read in this news group I have no reason to change that view.

Let adults make their decisions, Dave. Stop trying to claim that the "community" has the right to make those choices for them. It didn't have the right with segregation laws (which, although immoral from any reasonable perspective, WERE legal until the 1960s), and it doesn't (legal or not) with respect to censorship today.

I don't care for explicit films or porn personally. Not because they are "offensive" or "immoral," simply because I find them superficial, poorly plotted and acted, and representative of some of the most distorted stereotypes of sexual roles (as well as the worst sexual techniques--yuck!) found anywhere. As a result, I don't watch or read porn. I don't subscribe to the Playboy channel (even though the documentary "Sexcetera" has some very redeeming values in that it documents what is going on in the more extreme sexual cultures in the world--something of obvious interest to me as a sociologist and psychologist); I don't view PPV movies on the adult channels; I don't watch the "Mature" (and no-star) rated shows on MoMAX at night, and I don't rent adult movies (I _do_ own a couple classics such as "Cafe Flesh" and the soft-core classic "Barbarella" but that is because they actually have a real story, competent acting, and an interesting plot line--which is, of course, why they ARE classics). But unlike you, and those communities you rave about, I don't feel that my personal values should be used to limit the interests of others. If you, Cecil, Larry, Kim, or anyone else in this group choose to watch "X-Rated" films that is YOUR right and I not only respect it, I will defend it with my freedom and with my life--even though I would NOT make the same choice.

THAT, Dave, is an American value, not the "Community Values" crap you and the AFA try to shove down our throats.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2983. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 23:24:09 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AB7FA.19D0556@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25930

CAM wrote:
>
> How can I be any clearer? The part > of your statement to which I objected > was the "dead horse" part. The > Libertarian Party is growing every > year and is not a "dead horse".

Oh, you were very clear, just not making any sense. When exactly do you expect this "national" political party to have any success at the "national" level? After 30 years of little or no success at it's stated goal (to be a "national" political party), isn't it about time to give it up?

> From little acorns, might oaks grow.

LOL. I don't want to sound mean, but, after 30 years, an acorn has already grown into a tree. During that same time period, the Libertarian Party, with it's 67 local offices, is still nothing more than a tiny twig. At this rate of growth, it is going to be a very long time before the Libertarian Party turns into that mighty oak you're talking about (and we'll probably both be dead of old age by then). That is assuming the Party ever turns into a mighty oak, which I'm not convinced at this point will ever happen.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2984. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 23:45:26 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C0ABCBD.FF3EAAF2@spam.me.not>
Source record: 25931
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

nice forge

-SSB

"Leland C. Scott" wrote:
>
> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see > me running, try to keep up. "
>
> --
> Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

2985. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-02 23:55:11 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ABF35.20A86F13@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25932

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> Trust is trust. Insecurity is insecurity.

Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure about not being foolish).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2986. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:07:31 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3FE45F020CC27DF8.D0AE985B2198BF8D.EEFBEEA8CF61FB68@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25933

On 02 Dec 2001 04:43:06 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Speaking only for myself, I don't see anything out of the ordinary with >families of American Hispanics, American Asians, or Americans of >African descent. I do find something highly unusual in a family where >the "parents" are two lesbians or gay men.

Larry, for a change, I'll try to respond to your post w/o flames and to discuss the issue rationally (I haven't read the rest of your message yet--I tend to respond on a paragraph by paragraph basis to long posts) since it appears you are willing to do so.

I know that this is a major point of contention for many Americans--but it IS one that has been very extensively researched. As a person with a degree in science (I believe you commented that you have a BSEE, although I could be wrong--if so, I apologize for the error), you are--or can reasonably be expected to be--a person for whom scientific evidence is both valid and acceptable as a grounds for belief.

>> There are over 2,000,000 children being raised in gay/lesbian >>households in the US right now (and, no, they do NOT have a higher >>likelihood of being gay than their peers raised in straight >>households, research has already confirmed that), don't those children >>have the right to be recognized as coming from happy households, too?
>
>I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any >influence on their sexual "identity." Right.

Not according to research on the subject.

The University of Washington and the University of Chicago (a Jesuit Institution, btw), among other institutions, have done very extensive research into this issue and the results indicate that while kids raised in homosexual parented households hold fewer prejudices against homosexuals (why does that seem reasonable? :-), the are NO MORE LIKELY to become or identify as homosexuals than those raised in straight households--even very religious ones where homosexuality is viewed as "sinful" and "evil" or "degenerate."

According to the best scientific evidence, homosexuality as an orientation is NOT influenced by attitudes toward homosexuality or by role models.

Ask yourself, honestly, if your parents were lesbians (the more usual homosexual household to raise kids) or gay men (more common in cases where the man has gained custody of his child through the death of a spouse or her voluntary relinquishment of custody) would YOU be a homosexual today?

If so, you already have homosexual interests--and you are aware of them. If not (which is MUCH more likely), why do you believe others would?

>> Larry, how can you possibly equate "recruit" with "inform?"
>
>I don't know why young children in elementary school need to be >"informed" about abnormal sexual relationships -- or any other sexual >relationships, for that matter -- unless someone is trying to, as I said,
>make it appear to be normal and acceptable.

Here we have to look at the issue in an unbiased (from BOTH our perspectives) manner if we are to establish any degree of accuracy.

Should we "inform" children about sexual relationships? That depends on what you consider informing them. If you mean discussing the sexual aspects of the relationship, then outside of a sex education class I agree completely--we have no need to (or benefit from) discussing these issues with children in the common classroom. That's up to the parent, not the school.

But--and it's an important but--if you are referring to the act of acknowledging that M-M or F-F households exist, and that kids raised in those households (and the households themselves) are just as "Normal," if less prevalent, as M-F or single-parent households, then I have to disagree with you.

There ARE kids in our schools--lots of them--from gay households or from other minority households (including single parent ones). To teach children that these kids are just as normal and have just as successful of family lives as those from M-F households is not only appropriate, it benefits everyone. The kids from the gay households because they are being unfairly ostracized and ridiculed in most schools over their families (which, to ANYONE'S way of thinking in unfair to the kids). The parents of those kids themselves, because they are being discriminated against and their children ridiculed for being exactly what they are. The other kids, because they learn to judge people as individuals not as members of a minority. And the community because prejudice and discrimination is being reduced for future generations. There ARE no losers in that situation.

Larry, and this is not meant as a put-down, only a legitimate question, since you cite "Heather has two Mommies," have you actually READ the book or are you going by what you have read ABOUT it? I _have_ read it (and the male version, Daddy's Roommate) and it has NOTHING even slightly sexual or offensive in nature (to me) in it at all. It simply presents the image of a household in which a child is loved, cared for, supported emotionally, intellectually, and economically and encouraged to feel pride in herself and her family.

Are those values you DON'T want presented in children's books?

If you're going by the opinion of others, I encourage you to read them for yourself, Larry. We BOTH know that the opinions of others are not our own, and despite the fact that I disagree with many of your values I can't believe you are the kind of person who lets other people make his decisions for him--Dave, yes but you no.

>> I don't care what your personal opinion is, the fact is that
>>from any scientific perspective you care to identify, homosexuality IS >>normal. You don't have to "normalize" it any more than you have to >>"normalize" being an African-American. It happens to _already_ be >>completely normal.
>
>Well, I've never considered being black to be abnormal; but a simple >examination of human male/female comparative anatomy seems to >suggest that heterosexuality is the intended norm.

Actually, it only suggests that heterosexuality is the majority orientation--something I've never disputed. There ARE very sound reasons illustrated by anthropology and evolutionary psychology why the development of a minority group of homosexuals would be a positive for society, but those are irrelevant to the conversation.

The fact that homosexuality is NOT the majority orientation does, statistically, make it abnormal. But PRECISELY the same is true of being black, hispanic, or left-handed for that matter. The "Norm" is the mean or median of a group--and the median value for sexual orientation is heterosexual, just as the median value for race in the United States is caucasian. Thus it is just as "abnormal" to be black or hispanic as it is to be homosexual.

>I don't think any intelligent person has a problem "tolerating" or "accepting" >homosexuals.

I wish you were right, Larry. But too many religious extremists dispute that. You only need to look at the published statements of Anita Bryant, Fred Phelps, Jerry Falwell, Pat Robertson, or any other so-styled Christian leader to know that there is an enormous amount of homophobia in our society.

> I acknowledge their existance as part of the whole of >humanity, albeit as an abnormality.

But abnormal only in that they are a relatively small (10% +/- 3%) minority, I hope.

> I feel no hatred or animosity toward >homosexuals, and have no personal need to increase the suffering in >what must already be miserable, confused lives.

I wouldn't support the "confused" part--but I know many homosexuals who DO suffer a great deal at the hands of an unaccepting and self-righteous society--including more than a few who have been victims of gay-bashing.

Actually, if there was ever a need for "proof" that homosexuals don't "Choose" to be gay, that's it. Who would even consider making the choice of a lifestyle that would result in ostracism, prejudice, intolerance, oppression, and physical danger over one that was safe, secure, and totally accepted by their society?

> However, I cannot in >clear conscience consider them to be "normal," simply because they >are not.

From the perspective of statistics, they are not (nor are blacks or hispanics).

From the perspective of science and behaviorism, they are totally normal as even the briefest recourse to scientific evidence or research will immediately demonstrate.

> People with various developmental disabilities are not "normal" >either, but I don't hate them, or lack "tolerance" of them.

People with developmental disabilities are not "normal" from a scientific perspective, either. There IS a difference.

Instead of relying on personal opinion or religious indoctrination, try to present arguments that represent scientific thinking on this subject, Larry. You'll have a great deal of difficulty making a convincing case using that evidence--and that's the best evidence we have available.

> I make my >living working with them every day, and I take very good care of them.

But, of course, homosexuals have no need to be "taken care of."

>I bear no prejudice against homosexuals or anyone else who does not >fall within the conventional definition of "normal," but I believe that they >must accept their abnormality, and be as "tolerant" of the need of >normal people to be assured that they are not going to attempt to win >over their children to their "alternative" lifestyle as a means of gaining >greater political power.

Larry, that sounds incredibly paranoid.

The desire to be accepted as a part of the community, to receive the same respect from others that you and I expect (and receive) automatically as heterosexuals, and to be permitted by the community to live their own lives and raise their children free of the threat of violence or ridicule isn't asking for greater political powere--it's asking for acceptance and tolerance, something every human has the right to expect of society.

> If gays and lesbians are, indeed, "normal" as >you claim, then they shouldn't seek to be venerated for their lifestyle, >and keep their sex lives as private as most heterosexuals do.

Do heterosexuals hide the fact that they are married? Do they hide the fact that the love their partners? I don't--and I don't know any other heterosexuals who do, either. All homosexuals ask is the same privilege that has always been available to heterosexuals. They don't ask the schools to teach about their sexual behavior (any more than you do as a heterosexual), they merely want to be accepted as a FAMILY. Is that so wrong in our "family oriented" society?

>> There is no "Homosexual Agenda" Larry. It's a figment in the >>mind of right wing extremists who can't stand the thought that others >>have rights too.
>
>No, it is an attempt to gain greater political privilege based on the >fact of their abnormality. They want nothing to do with equality -- >they seek the comfort of victim status in order to strengthen their >claim to membership in the elite ruling class of the New World >Order. If this were not true, then militant Gay/Lesbian "rights" groups >would not exist.

Show me some proof of that.

All every gay/lesbian group I have ever encountered has asked for is equal treatment under law and the protection of the law against discrimination and violence--precisely the same things the Black community (and women for that matter) have asked for and been granted.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2987. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:13:01 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <BAE6B175982853CA.08329041B5F3FC8B.0DC5530FCCBA084A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25935

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 02:47:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> >Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?
>>
>> It doesn't.
>
>It does. Starz movies are bleeped.
>
>> The dish network doesn't produce or show movies, Dave, it >> merely provides a satellite downlink for the broadcasters such as HBO, >> Showtime, etc.--at least if it works the same as DirecTV, as I >> understand it does.
>
>You're getting as bad as Lenny at stating the obvious. I know what it >is; I have it in my home.

Dave, if you claim this is a universal for the Dish network, you are a liar!. I just heard back from our friends with Dish and she deliberately tuned the Starz network and listened for an hour. The show was NOT "bleeped."

I'm sure there are many readers here who, likewise, receive the Dish network. I _encourage_ them to turn on Starz and determine for themselves whether you are an honest man or not--and when they find that you have lied deliberately about this to evaluate your other statements in this news group on that basis.

If you can't make your point without lying, Dave, don't bother to make it at all. You'll understand if, from now on, I don't accept ANYTHING you say without proof--you've demonstrated that there is no reason to do so and every reason not to.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2988. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:13:32 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AC37D.60F55B20@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25934

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> However, what Larry said in his > postings were things that I believe > really fall into another realm > entirely. I work as a professional > in a large corporation. Coworkers > have lunch together. I don't > believe (and it seems very few > others believe) that having lunch > with a coworker of the opposite > sex brings up issues of trust.

Perhaps that attitude is why so many illicit relationships begin in the workplace. I also work in a professional environment and I do not have lunches with female co-workers unless there were other employees present. I respect my wife, my co-workers, and my own professional reputation. Because of that, I don't do things that might reflect badly on any of those. And I have worked in the real world long enough to know that if one has "lunches" with female co-workers on a regular basis, that is exactly what is going to happen.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

2989. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:16:34 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AD5A96A2189CCD8A.2B18D9C5643479C4.D57076F228FD7731@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25936

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 20:01:39 GMT, "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
wrote:

> Can Larry explain his claims of parents' orientation transferring to > childrens' orientation.

Want a REALLY scary concept to think about, Phil?

Thanks to a voter initiative begun by (and with the petitions circulated IN) the churches, in the State of Washington not only do gay parents lose custody of their children, but children who are gay are removed from the family home (by law) and placed in foster care facilities because the parents are deemed unfit.

Minnesota, on the other hand, permits gay adoption--and has a LOWER rate of homosexuality than does Washington State.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2990. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:18:49 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <05F3A3B61443CD4E.EB61411CDCE4DF3A.7A419F5C0BE916E1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25937

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 22:27:17 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Dave Heil wrote:
>>
>> CAM wrote:
>> > The purpose of dating my current lady friend is she is a member of >> > the country club and invites me to the monthly party where I have >> > a lot of fun. But I wasn't sexually attracted to her in high school >> > and, 46 years later, I'm still not sexually attracted to her.
>>
>> You'd better hope she doesn't read this newsgroup or there goes your >> standing date.
>
>She doesn't even own a computer. But that leads me to another question.
>I am not sexually attracted to 99% of females, i.e. I am very choosy. I >gather that you are attracted to virtually every female you lay eyes on,
>i.e. you are not very choosy?

If you were Dave Heil, would (or COULD) you be?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2991. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:24:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6555F07B7C3B8EA6.50C71BF84F401D35.6250A240EEB73AAE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25938

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 05:50:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you >compose the answer.

I'll help out and do it for him, Dave.

He's not choosy, Cecil, he'll screw any woman that can't outrun him.

Just thought I'd help Dave out a bit.

>I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.

Just remember: Football is a "sport" in which to large groups of body builders, all dressed in skin-tight silky pants, gather in groups with their arms around each other, whispering intimately, reach between each other's legs, grab each other's balls, pile on top of each other, and try to penetrate each other's end zones.

And that attracts you, right?

Hmmm . . .

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2992. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:26:19 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2616EACE2EF8BD01.285403B24F6DF03C.4D8AA4F8F9F8DC7F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25939

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 13:32:00 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Dave Heil wrote:
>> I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
>
>The context is sexual attraction, Dave. Does "every televised football >game this day" equate to multiple orgasms for you?

Only if they provide close-ups of the quarterbacks or interviews in the locker rooms.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2993. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:27:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FB36C58BC3586752.89A84B04E9C25036.95188363063B487A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25940

On 02 Dec 2001 03:34:28 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>My YL "Elmer" had a 2-meter "Lunch Box," and it was, in fact, a >Heathkit. It used the AM mode; I've always wondered why that >mode has been largely abandoned on the VHF bands?

Excuse me?

You had a YL for an Elmer?

Did you have a chaperone, or was her husband or father present?

I DO assume you would never have allowed yourself to be compromised by being alone with her, would you?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2994. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:30:22 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2013D90C8178A230.C54937D00E9D24AB.B3358D878351B0CC@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25942

On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 09:47:46 -0600, "N0VFP, Lloyd" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com>
wrote:

>Screw these other countries!

Spoken like a true jingoist with no concept of humanity.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2995. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:31:09 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0ac887_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25945

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0ABF35.20A86F13@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Trust is trust. Insecurity is insecurity.
>
>
> Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a > relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, > blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure > about not being foolish).
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

In terms of health I'd rather blindly trust and be wrong, than trust a little and turn my worry into ulcers or worse. Think about it. :)

Kim W5TIT

2996. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:31:40 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <MJzO7.247162$W8.8836706@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 25943
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

No, you just don't read the thread before replying to a forgery.

"DBN" <dnicholson@socket.net> wrote in message news:u0lht1r28ehl95@corp.supernews.com...
> 2 meters is a codeless band? when did this happen? CW is used by the weak > signal guys at the bottom end of the band all the time. And a lot of > repeaters have CW ID's and as far as I know the FCC has not said code was > illegal to use for repeater ID's. hmmm.....maybe I was asleep when that > rule was made....
>
> Dan
>
>

2997. Re: 14313 Comes Full Circle

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:32:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <80F74ACBDBF7AF1C.32B1ADE29AC209D8.BB1ECA1C3B6E1149@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25944

On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 09:53:26 -0500, "Herbie" <Herbie@BARFforever.net>
wrote:

> The situation begs the questions, Just what has Riley >Hollingsworth really accomplished? Does he ever hope to >accomplish anything? Is Riley Hollingsworth even >relevant anymore to ham radio? Just what is Riley >Hollingsworth's true purpose in life? Riley Hollingsworth >failed to permanently remove from ham radio many of the >most violative ham operators in the history of ham radio, >and that has directly contributed to the return of 14313 to
>its old state of affairs.

He's too busy finding imaginary threats to the ARS in call signs to bother with real ones in on-the-air behaviors.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

2998. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:39:06 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0aca63_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 25947

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0AC37D.60F55B20@sccoast.net...
> Sean G Gilley wrote:
> >
> > However, what Larry said in his > > postings were things that I believe > > really fall into another realm > > entirely. I work as a professional > > in a large corporation. Coworkers > > have lunch together. I don't > > believe (and it seems very few > > others believe) that having lunch
> > with a coworker of the opposite > > sex brings up issues of trust.
>
>
> Perhaps that attitude is why so many illicit relationships begin in > the workplace. I also work in a professional environment and I do not > have lunches with female co-workers unless there were other employees > present. I respect my wife, my co-workers, and my own professional > reputation. Because of that, I don't do things that might reflect > badly on any of those. And I have worked in the real world long enough > to know that if one has "lunches" with female co-workers on a regular > basis, that is exactly what is going to happen.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Dwight! I am so surprised at your above response. You are saying that you would not have lunch with a female co-worker, right? And you are saying that continued lunches with a female co-worker will absolutely lead to a bad reputation? In what way, Dwight?

There are men and women coworkers who who travel alone every day. And, I am talking every day for up to a month and a half at a time.

Wow. I wonder what you'd think of me going to lunch with 9, 10, 15 men who are co-workers! I wonder what you'd think of me going to dinner with a bunch of male hams after work or on a Saturday night! Wow. I learn more reasons every day why the man I married is so wonderful...

Kim W5TIT

2999. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:39:11 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AC978.3014CCD4@sccoast.net>
Source record: 25946

CAM wrote:
>
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > I see. And their gay/lesbian > > parents are not going to have > > any influence on their sexual > > "identity." Right.
>
> Larry, if you were raised by > homosexuals, would you be a > homosexual?

That's not what Larry said, Cecil. He said it would "influence" sexual identity, not define it. One can be influenced by something, but choose something entirely different. The same with a child who is influenced by the parent's sexual identity. But that is not saying influence has no affect - children often grow up to be very similar to their parents.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3000. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:44:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <28C5F6BAC23D177F.E420E9ADD8167C6D.202C3FF9DFB3E096@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25948

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 18:24:09 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Oh, you were very clear, just not making any sense. When exactly do >you expect this "national" political party to have any success at the >"national" level? After 30 years of little or no success at it's >stated goal (to be a "national" political party), isn't it about time >to give it up?

Cecil probably isn't going to like this (particularly since I identify myself as a libertarian) but I agree with you to some extent.

The Libertarian party goes well beyond the concept of personal freedom implicit in libertarian philosophy to one of complete independence from any form of government regulation. It seeks to eliminate taxes (I've never been clear on how Libertarians expect to finance governmental operations), to remove all restrictions on big business (including environmental controls, OSHA requirements, minimum wage, and safety requirements) replacing them with a free market control and civil action, and does NOT identify children as being incapable of giving informed consent, but instead views them as the "property" of their parents.

I agree with MANY Libertarian principles, but the emphasis on property as the central issue (Libertarians view property as the core of law, with the individual defined to be his or her own property, btw) instead of focusing exclusively on rights and freedoms--which WOULD propel the party to the forefront.

No third party has much chance for quite some time in our system--it's stacked in favor of a two-party system--but if the Libertarians hope to grow significantly, they really are going to have to alter some of these stands to meet with the needs of both society as a whole and those of us who view social concerns (in terms of free education and universal health care, hate crime legislation, etc.) as being as nearly as important as rights and freedoms.

> LOL. I don't want to sound mean, but, after 30 years, an acorn has >already grown into a tree. During that same time period, the >Libertarian Party, with it's 67 local offices, is still nothing more >than a tiny twig. At this rate of growth, it is going to be a very >long time before the Libertarian Party turns into that mighty oak >you're talking about (and we'll probably both be dead of old age by >then). That is assuming the Party ever turns into a mighty oak, which >I'm not convinced at this point will ever happen.

Right now we have effectively ONE party--the Republicrats.
Both so-called parties have moved so close to center (actually to the right of center by a considerable margin) that they are indistinguishable. Despite the extreme views of the Libertarian party, at least it can be said to consist of honest people who sincerely believe in what they are promoting, as a whole--and that's a LOT more than can be said for the Democrats or the Republicans with their many hidden agendas and election debts to special interest groups.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3001. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:47:37 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D37EE14C152DBD09.B710A8811A785601.44841C401466A004@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25949

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 18:55:11 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a >relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, >blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure >about not being foolish).

Gee, that sounds like an argument in favor of swinging or open marriage, not one in favor of a repressive relationship.

If people are cheating on their spouses, either they need to re-negotiate their relationships or they need to end them. Cheating isn't about opportunity--it's about integrity. There's nothing wrong with having sex outside your marriage--there's EVERYTHING wrong with doing so behind your partner's back instead of with their agreement and ability to do the same if they choose. Marriage isn't about control, it's about partnership, equality, friendship and most of all love and trust.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3002. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:54:36 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <CAA71E3FDC83920C.20CFCEA8E9054238.DCE33B7F7504A175@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 25950

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 20:31:03 GMT, "migrant of" <copypro50@yahoo.com>
wrote:

>Know what's REALLY AMUSING about all of this ??
>The two Countries above (both of which are in the top 3)
>have nuclear weapons and innorant dipshits who make >up paper-mache and cardboard tube mockups of ICBM's
>they ride atop in parades atop flatbed trucks. Let's HOPE >that the Pakis and the DotHeads do have themselves
>a limited NUCLEAR EXCHANGE in the not too distant >future !! They both breed like freakin rabbits on Viagra
>and they come over to this country to suck-off the welfare >system and sell watered-down gasoline or operate Motel-6 >fleabag rent-by-the-hour rooms. Yeah! I say let them NUKE
>each other so as to reduce the already-overburdened world >population a couple of million in just 5 minutes. That'll leave more >food and resources for the rest of us.

And if they nuke US instead?

Idiot!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3003. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 00:56:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <968BC6F71D7D0120.B890163CC2F063B4.6B62320384D2A393@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26001
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote:

>Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from >those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its >haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to >tell me. Help me!

Nice troll--but the fact is, 2m isn't "codeless" at all--it has cw segments.

Don't like them--don't tune there.

Is that REALLY so difficult to understand?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3004. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:02:16 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ACF13.309D3751@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26002

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C09C92D.EA7F1C9A@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> > Okay, "formal affair". I'd guess you don't go to many of those so that > > lets you off the hook for most of your time. How about the grocery > > store? the hair salon? on a bike path?
> >
>
> You're wrong, Dave. I go to formal affairs quite often. The grocery store, > no. The hair salon, no. (Though I've heard some of the best off-color > jokes at the hair salon). (Oh, and I go to a hair salon far less than I do > formal affairs). The bike path, damned straight I'd have no problem > cursing...unless a small kid is around.

Why let a little kid mess up good thing?

> >
> > Why does something have to be formal in order for you not to curse?
> > What is it about this newsgroup which makes it okay for cursing. What's > > not proper about the newsgroup?
> >
>
> There's absolutely NOTHING proper about this newsgroup, Dave.

What makes you think so, Kim? Other than your recent stuff, this place has been pretty calm.

> As to the > situations in which I choose to curse. Have you ever ever ever let > your hair down?

My hair is no longer long enough to have to worry about letting it down.
I can be perfectly at ease and having a great time without once uttering the big "eff".

When someone you are greeting leans over to kiss you on the > cheek, you aren't one of those types that just seriously stiffens up, are > you?!

You're going in circles. You were the individuals who hates that peck on the cheek stuff. Make up your mind.

> >
> > Would it bother you if the same folks you met at the formal affair read

> > some of your earthier stuff here?
>
> Not at all. And, while I don't know how this could be proved, I'd imagine > that most of them wouldn't find it all that surprising, either. I've met > and gotten to know many folks in a formal situation that we've been > pleasantly surprised by one another later--due to finding out how "earthy" > (that's great how you put it) we are. I'll never forget standing in the > middle of a hallway while I heard the word "fu__" uttered from the most > demure, wonderfully delightful, professional woman I'd known. She had > uttered the word in a moment of anger and frustration, and hadn't realized > that she'd said it. When she was done, I grinned at her, and I said, "But, > you didn't just say the word fu__, did you?" She reviewed her memory > banks, got this horribly shocked look on her face, turned red and said, "I > did didn't I?"

In that case, you might as well let out all the stops and go for it at the next big social event.

> The same folks at the formal affair, by the way, would realize that I'd paid > honor to my hosts by "behaving" and I think that's all they'd see out of it.
> Your mileage, though, may vary. I have known people who are very offended > by their perceived notion of the quality of a person just because they may > choose to swear, tell a dirty joke, use some kind of risque behavior. Some > people believe folks like that are akin to heathens.

Depending on where it is done and with whom, yeah some people do believe something like that.

> Some people are so > very staunch and stern in their life, that they choose not to see the humor, > not to see the satire, not to see the beauty. It is those I feel the most > sorry for. They'll never know the wonder people like myself have known.

That's right. People who don't talk like sailors can't possibly have fun, enjoy a joke, appreciate satire or see beauty. You may have the makings of a good book there, Kim. You might be 47 but you have the mouth of a 20-year-old.

>
> Oh, and if you don't like the new-agey stuff, I suggest you never try to get > to know me any better.

Agreed.

> I subscribe to a lot of the principles of new age > thought, though I am even risque in that tradition. I walk to the beat of a > different drummer, Dave. You march in a parade. ;)

I'd guess your drummer is paradiddling along in waltz time and you're stepping along in 4/4.

Dave K8MN

3005. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:03:38 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0ace9c_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26004

ROFLMAO....^5 Rick.

Kim W5TIT

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:FB36C58BC3586752.89A84B04E9C25036.95188363063B487A@lp.airnews.net...
> On 02 Dec 2001 03:34:28 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >My YL "Elmer" had a 2-meter "Lunch Box," and it was, in fact, a > >Heathkit. It used the AM mode; I've always wondered why that > >mode has been largely abandoned on the VHF bands?
>
> Excuse me?
>
> You had a YL for an Elmer?
>
> Did you have a chaperone, or was her husband or father > present?
>
> I DO assume you would never have allowed yourself to be > compromised by being alone with her, would you?
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3006. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:07:55 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AD066.B067F689@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26003

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > There are some things that I just don't need to know.
>
> Apparently, human psychology is one of those things. :-)

I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.

Dave K8MN

3007. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:09:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AD0C3.906DDE58@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26005

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
>
> The context is sexual attraction, Dave. Does "every televised football > game this day" equate to multiple orgasms for you?

Is that the context you placed on my sentence?
Shame on you.

Dave K8MN
```

3008. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:13:12 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0ad0de_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26007

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C0ACF13.309D3751@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C09C92D.EA7F1C9A@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > > Okay, "formal affair". I'd guess you don't go to many of those so
that > > > lets you off the hook for most of your time. How about the grocery > > > store? the hair salon? on a bike path?
> > >
> >
> > You're wrong, Dave. I go to formal affairs quite often. The grocery store, > > no. The hair salon, no. (Though I've heard some of the best off-color > > jokes at the hair salon). (Oh, and I go to a hair salon far less than I do > > formal affairs). The bike path, damned straight I'd have no problem > > cursing...unless a small kid is around.
>
> Why let a little kid mess up good thing?
>

That would actually be me messing up, Dave.

> > >
> > > Why does something have to be formal in order for you not to curse?
> > > What is it about this newsgroup which makes it okay for cursing.
What's
> > > not proper about the newsgroup?
> > >
> >
> > There's absolutely NOTHING proper about this newsgroup, Dave.
>
> What makes you think so, Kim? Other than your recent stuff, this place > has been pretty calm.
>

You must read only my posts.

> >
> > As to the > > situations in which I choose to curse. Have you ever ever ever let > > your hair down?

>
> My hair is no longer long enough to have to worry about letting it down.
> I can be perfectly at ease and having a great time without once uttering > the big "eff".
>

How 'bout the big dee? Or the squiggly ess?

>
> When someone you are greeting leans over to kiss you on the > > cheek, you aren't one of those types that just seriously stiffens up, are > > you?!
>
> You're going in circles. You were the individuals who hates that peck > on the cheek stuff. Make up your mind.
>

I'll accept a peck from someone I like. I'll stiffen up if it's someone I don't.

> > >
> > > Would it bother you if the same folks you met at the formal affair read
> > > some of your earthier stuff here?
> >
> > Not at all. And, while I don't know how this could be proved, I'd imagine > > that most of them wouldn't find it all that surprising, either. I've met > > and gotten to know many folks in a formal situation that we've been > > pleasantly surprised by one another later--due to finding out how "earthy"
> > (that's great how you put it) we are. I'll never forget standing in the > > middle of a hallway while I heard the word "fu__" uttered from the most > > demure, wonderfully delightful, professional woman I'd known. She had > > uttered the word in a moment of anger and frustration, and hadn't realized > > that she'd said it. When she was done, I grinned at her, and I said,
"But,
> > you didn't just say the word fu__, did you?" She reviewed her memory > > banks, got this horribly shocked look on her face, turned red and said,
"I > > did didn't I?"
>
> In that case, you might as well let out all the stops and go for it at > the next big social event.
>

Whatever the Hell you mean by that.

> >
> > The same folks at the formal affair, by the way, would realize that I'd paid > > honor to my hosts by "behaving" and I think that's all they'd see out of
it.
> > Your mileage, though, may vary. I have known people who are very offended > > by their perceived notion of the quality of a person just because they may > > choose to swear, tell a dirty joke, use some kind of risque behavior.
Some
> > people believe folks like that are akin to heathens.
>
> Depending on where it is done and with whom, yeah some people do believe > something like that.
>
> > Some people are so > > very staunch and stern in their life, that they choose not to see the humor, > > not to see the satire, not to see the beauty. It is those I feel the most > > sorry for. They'll never know the wonder people like myself have known.
>
>
> That's right. People who don't talk like sailors can't possibly have > fun, enjoy a joke, appreciate satire or see beauty. You may have the > makings of a good book there, Kim. You might be 47 but you have the > mouth of a 20-year-old.
>

You sound like you lead such a protected life, yet I know that isn't so.

> >
> > Oh, and if you don't like the new-agey stuff, I suggest you never try to get > > to know me any better.
>
> Agreed.
>
> > I subscribe to a lot of the principles of new age > > thought, though I am even risque in that tradition. I walk to the beat
of a > > different drummer, Dave. You march in a parade. ;)
>
> I'd guess your drummer is paradiddling along in waltz time and you're > stepping along in 4/4.
>
> Dave K8MN

Yep, and your parade has less attendees every day. They're all hearing that drummer! ;)

Kim W5TIT

3009. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:15:52 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202201552.12427.00004071@nso-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 26006

In article <3c09bf50_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.
>>
>
>Larry. Let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: it is no problem for >me. If there is a problem, and I don't think there is, then it is yours.
>
>Kim W5TIT

Kim, let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: Riley Hollingsworth's words were true. That makes this YOUR problem. I haven't seen him send me any E-mails stating that my callsign had the potential to take the ARS "...one step closer to extinction." To use a pop-culture phrase which I'm sure you will recognize and appreciate, you are spending your life floating in denial, which is not a river in Egypt!

73 de Larry, K3LT

3010. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:17:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD2AA.BA5AFE02@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26008

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > There are some things that I just don't need to know.
> >
> > Apparently, human psychology is one of those things. :-)
>
> I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.

How about a secondary school counselor?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3011. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:19:16 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0ad245_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26010

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
ews:20011202201552.12427.00004071@nso-cg.aol.com...
> In article <3c09bf50_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >> Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.
> >>
> > >Larry. Let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: it is no problem
for > >me. If there is a problem, and I don't think there is, then it is yours.
> > >
> >Kim W5TIT
>
> Kim, let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: Riley Hollingsworth's > words were true. That makes this YOUR problem. I haven't seen him > send me any E-mails stating that my callsign had the potential to take > the ARS "...one step closer to extinction." To use a pop-culture phrase > which I'm sure you will recognize and appreciate, you are spending your life
> floating in denial, which is not a river in Egypt!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Oh, sure Riley said what he said. I don't negate that at all. However, I have no problems with my callsign...at all. The problems Riley has with it are his, the problems you have with it are yours. And so on. I like it.
I'll keep it. The ARS will not go into extinction, and that can be proven.

Sorry, you're wrong. As usual. And notice I didn't have to use any worn out cliches to make my point...

Kim W5TIT

3012. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:19:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD33A.4BE2200E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26009

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Trust is trust. Insecurity is insecurity.
>
> Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a > relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, > blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure > about not being foolish).

"Total" is not the problem. "Blind" is the problem. There are about a dozen people in the world that I would trust to safely store 100 Gold Eagles for me.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3013. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:31:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD5FA.688BD826@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26011

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Oh, you were very clear, just not making any sense. When exactly do > you expect this "national" political party to have any success at the > "national" level? After 30 years of little or no success at it's > stated goal (to be a "national" political party), isn't it about time > to give it up?

Nope, we've only begun to fight. Every year we have a fight on our hands with the entrenched political parties in about 20 states that try to keep Libertarians off the national ballots and try to keep us from getting "matching funds" from the government. What do you think they are afraid of? Why should they even bother about such a small unimportant third party?

> > From little acorns, might oaks grow.
>
> LOL. I don't want to sound mean, but, after 30 years, an acorn has > already grown into a tree.

If a business' profits grew percentage wise exactly as fast as the Libertarian party membership, you would say it was a very successful business. We are growing percentage wise faster than the Republican and Democratic parties.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3014. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:38:16 UTC
From: jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu
Message-ID: <9uel28$bm8$1@news.hawaii.edu>
Source record: 26015
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

In article <9udon60mf3@enews4.newsguy.com>, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:

>"Shane Minor" <Shane0319@hotmail.com> wrote in message
>> HI HI.

>HI HI is intended for use on CW to indicate something humorous. When spoken >or written in a message, however, it makes you look like an idiot. Maybe you >should tell Santa that you need a clue for Christmas.

Krell: "CQ" and "73" and other prosigns originated on the landline telegraph and carried over to wireless telegraphy, yet they're both welcome and used on phone; if you had HF privileges you yourself would even be using them on phone, yet no one would dare call you an idiot for saying them.

Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
Post your reply to the NG; we're all waiting...

73, Jeff KH6O

--
Telecommunication Specialist Mathematics Lecturer
U.S. Coast Guard University of Hawaii System
jherman @ d14.uscg.mil jeffreyh @ hawaii.edu

3015. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:38:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD7AF.31F8AE02@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26012

Rick Adams wrote:
> The Libertarian party goes well beyond the concept of personal > freedom implicit in libertarian philosophy to one of complete > independence from any form of government regulation.

Nope, you're wrong, Rick. Libertarians are for laws prohibiting force or threat of force in human relationships. We are for armed forces to protect us from foreign criminals, police to protect us from domestic criminals, and a court system to administer the law. For instance, most Libertarians believe in the death penalty for murder.

Libertarians do believe that just as there is separation of religion and state, that there should be separation of economics and state. Most people don't realize that it took the Federal Reserve 15 years to engineer the crash and depression of 1929.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3016. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:41:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD84A.244411C6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26013

Phil Kane wrote:
> Can Larry explain his claims of parents' orientation transferring to > childrens' orientation?

Larry probably believes that two left-handed parents will have left-handed children.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3017. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:45:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0AD940.C9090831@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26014

```
Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > > I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have > > > any influence on their sexual > > > "identity." Right.
> >
> > Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a > > homosexual?
>
> That's not what Larry said, Cecil.

I know that's not what he said, Dwight, which prompted me to ask a question. Isn't that what you do when not enough information is forthcoming?

Incidentally Dwight, would you please set your editor to wrap at 80 characters instead of wrapping at 40 characters?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3018. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:50:47 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0ADA77.C6630477@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26016

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
> > >
> > The context is sexual attraction, Dave. Does "every televised football > > game this day" equate to multiple orgasms for you?
>
> Is that the context you placed on my sentence?
> Shame on you.

Well, the context was "sexual attraction" and you have gone on record condemning others for changing the context. So I assumed you were sticking to the context because changing the context would make you a hypocrite.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3019. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 01:55:00 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0ADB74.F79FCF7A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26017

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >I am not sexually attracted to 99% of females, i.e. I am very choosy. I > >gather that you are attracted to virtually every female you lay eyes on,
> >i.e. you are not very choosy?
>
> If you were Dave Heil, would (or COULD) you be?

You're right, Rick. If I were rolypoly like Dave Heil, I guess I couldn't afford to be choosy.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3020. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:00:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ADC61.BE3A1684@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26018

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 02:47:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >We don't have a single such place in operation on this side of the > >river. I don't know whether any are located on the Ohio side.
>
> It doesn't surprise me.
>
> It takes an open minded community to allow people to make > their own decisions--many DO ban tattoo parlors or piercing salons to > prevent that from happening.

Your thinking is so skewed that any person or group disagreeing with you is somehow close-minded.

> >Right, Rick. No kid ever produces a fake I.D. and uses it to do > >anything illegal. No kid ever obtains a "homemade" tattoo or does a > >homebrew job of piercing.
>
> You were speaking about parents allowing their kids to get a > tattoo or piercing, not about kids doing so in their rooms. Precisely > how is THAT the parent's fault--they didn't install spy cameras in the > bathrooms and bedrooms?

Not really. My initial comment was simply that we could wait until they were older and they'd mutilate themselves. It was in response to statements about child circumcision. You began this particular tangent.

> I repeat--fake I.D. or not, no shop would risk the lawsuit
> that would result from providing those services to a younger teen w/o
> the parent's consent. And as far as older teens go--if the law says > they are old enough to try as adults (which, in most states, it does),
> that they are old enough to make decisions about sexual activities,
> and that they are old enough to quit school, don't you think they are > likewise old enough to make decisions about body ornamentation?

There's some sound logic for you. "If they are old enough to quite school..."

> >> If, for example, my son were 16 (he just turned 18), and he > >> purchased a six pack of beer at a local store I would have grounds to > >> prosecute and could possibly even sue for putative damages. Neither > >> the prosecution nor the law suit, however, would result in enough > >> damages to seriously harm the business (although either or both might > >> discourage further sales to minors). But if, instead, he went to a > >> piercing salon and had his tongue pierced (a permanent piercing) or > >> went to a tattoo parlor and had a picture of a bloody knife tattooed > >> on his forearm, I would have grounds for a law suit that would > >> probably put the firm out of business. That's a LOT more risk for a > >> firm than the simple offense of selling beer to a teen.

> >
> >I've learned a lot from the above. Your first reaction is to think > >about prosecution or a suit rather than dealing with your kid's > >misdeeds.
>
> What makes you think I would REGARD them as "misdeeds?"

Because what he did would have been illegal. Don't you think you might bring that up?

> >> >> No, Dave, I _don't_ think very many early teens are getting > >> >> tattoos and piercings w/o their parent's consent. Do you?
> >> >
> >> >Yes, I do.
> >>
> >> Then document your source for the information. Unless, of > >> course, it is purely opinion with no basis in demonstrable fact.
> >
> >Document it yourself. I'm taking no homework assignments today, Prof.
> >You asked what I thouhgt and I told you.
>
> Let me get this straight.
>
> You claim that many early teens are getting tattoos and > piercings w/o their parent's consent and when I ask you for sources to > confirm that absurd claim you tell me to document it myself?
>
> I'll just assume that it's nonsense instead--if you had any > evidence to support your ridiculous claims you would cite it.

Let's DO get it straight. You asked me if I thought many kids were getting piercings or tattoos without consent. I said , "yes".
I'm not going to write you a term paper.

> >> >For a parent to permit something which permanently defaces the human > >> >body such as piercings and tattooing sounds pretty irresponsible to me.
> >>
> >> ONLY if piercings or tattoos are viewed as "defacing" rather > >> than as "enhancing." That isn't a question of general values, Dave,
> >> it's one that is cultural--and if the youth culture of today finds > >> them attractive (which it appears they do), why shouldn't they have > >> the same right to set their standards of beauty that you and I have to > >> set our own?
> >
> >No. They don't have those rights until they reach their majority by > >which time it is hoped that they'll have developed enough common sense > >to avoid something which could become a lifelong regret for them.

>
> Or a lifelong pleasure--haven't you ever met people with > tattoos or piercings who were glad they had them?

Not many. My wife's older sister got some in her teens and later had them removed. It caused some scarring. A number of old WWII vets have told me that they wished they had never gotten tattoos.

> It's funny, Dave. People like you would permit 17 year olds to > enlist in the service and risk (or lose) their lives fighting in a > war, but you won't let them get a tattoo or a piercing. I suppose if > your son joined the Navy and wanted a USN tattoo on his forearm (VERY > common among sailors) you would tell him he wasn't old enough for one,
> right?
>
> To me, if a person is old enough to die for his country, he's > old enough to portray that patriotism (or anything else, for that > matter) on his skin.

You tell 'em Rick. If one is old enough to die, he is old enough to do something else silly. People like you are often people who say, "People like you...".

> >> By limiting teens (pre-pubescent kids are a different > >> matter--from a psychological perspective they have not as yet fully > >> matured mentally, where adolescents have done so) in ways that adults > >> are not limited, we simply make it clear that they are "children" from > >> our perspective--and then we wonder why they ACT like children on > >> occasion.
> >
> >We do that because they ARE children. They have not yet matured. Such > >is the natural order of things. They act like children because they are > >children. I don't wonder about that at all.
>
> Perhaps you should.

Perhaps I shouldn't.

> What's my point? Simply because the law DEFINES someone as a > child, does NOT mean they will behave immaturely or make childish > decisions. The chances are very high that at least one of your great > grandparents (if not more) had given birth to your grandparent before > they were 16 years of age. Are you willing to argue that a person who > is old enough to raise a family isn't old enough to make a decision > about body decoration, or were your great grandparents child > molesters?

Sorry, the house pays 18. You lose. None of my great-grandparents had a child at 16 or earlier.

> >> >Ever hear of a term called "community values"? Its existence would > >> >refute your statement.
> >>
> >> Only if you can demonstrate that the community: (1) has a > >> RIGHT to impose values on a given matter and; (2) has better or more > >> relevant values than the individuals affected.
> >
> >Check out Hamilton County. You'll find your proof there in the > >existence of such laws. Let me know what you find out.
>
> Why?
>
> A few religious zealots managed to create repressive laws and > you use THAT as justification for community values?

No use trying to reason with (smirk) sound facts like those.

> Dave, there is a small town in Georgia (population is under > 2500) that passed an ordinance against the sales or rentals of any > movie rated higher than PG (i.e., PG-13, R, NC-17, etc.). One of the > residents had a satellite receiver and paid a subscription rate to > receive and descramble the Tuxedo Network (which shows adult shows and > soft core adult films). When the local prosecutor (who was a neighbor) > learned about it, he filed criminal charges against the Tuxedo network > (headquartered and broadcasting in NYC, btw, where such shows are > considered perfectly acceptable by the "community values")--and he > WON! It was ruled that the Tuxedo network had violated the law in that > community by delivering content ruled "unacceptable" by the community > values of that town in violation of its laws.

Gee, I think I see how they won.

> The case is currently on its way to the SC. If the decision is > upheld there, you will see a considerable change in television > programming--the Networks (public and subscription such as HBO, etc.)
> will be forced to limit their broadcasts to movies acceptable anywhere > in the USA--and there's at least ONE town (in Texas) where the limit > is "G" rated!

You mean there is hope that the networks will be cleaned up?

> Do you REALLY think that a community has the right to limit > our entertainment to Disney movies? More to the point, do you > sincerely believe that the community has the right to limit the nature > of entertainment we view in the privacy of our homes at all?

Do you really think that the only good entertainment contains gratuitious sex, violence and the so-called "adult" language?

> In Cincinnati, your favorite city to cite, the curator of the > museum of art was prosecuted for presenting an exhibition of art that > no one even attempted to claim was not legitimately of artistic merit, > and which would have lent prestige to the Cincinnati museum. The art, > however, included images that violated Cincinnati's intrusive

> "Community Values" and the curator was convicted. To me, that's > completely reprehensible behavior and no one with a shred of respect > for the Constitution of the United States would even consider a > community where such a travesty of law occurred to be worthy of any > respect whatever--let alone a suitable place to cite as an example of
> "community values."

Maplethorpe as I recall. There's lots more to it than you've outlined.
Wonder why that conviction was never overturned?

> >
> >I brought up ways that group values can limit individual values.
> >I don't care if an individual is pierced in Poughkeepsie and moves to > >Cuyahoga Falls. You can work out the details later.
>
> Correction. You brought up ways that groups values can limit > individual rights and freedom of choice, not ways they can limit > values.

Correction accepted.

> Sorry, but to me that smacks way too much of fascism and > censorship.

...and your view strikes me as being hedonism unchained.

> Incidently, have you noticed that there are groups in > Cincinnati right now working to ban both the "Harry Potter" movie and > series of books because they feel they violate "Community Values?"
>
> I'll bet you're proud of your old community in it's fight > against children's literature, aren't you?

I'll bet I don't know a thing about it.

> >> Community values can only refute my statement if you can > >> demonstrate community values that are absolutes rather than subjective > >> decisions based on current stereotypes and political influences. So > >> far, I have yet to see someone do that.
> >
> >Call it what you want, Rick. If you choose to deny that there are > >places with laws on the books based on community values, I don't care.
>
> There are places with laws on the books that restrict the > rights of minority members, too (try Kuwait or Iran). That doesn't > mean I have to either respect those places (and laws) or that the fact > they exist makes them any less offensive to a free society.

We're not in Kuwait or Iran. Take your issues up with the respective governments.

> >You say that the parents aren't asked their opinions. I don't know that > >to be true. Taxpayers foot the bill for schools whether they have > >children in the schools. I think he who pays, says. I take it that you > >think that dress codes are a bad idea.

>
> I think ANY restriction that can't be shown to prevent harm
> and that circumvents the role of the family in deciding a child's > manner of dress is wrong.
>
> Don't you?

Only to a point. I don't think kids should wear clothing (i.e. T-shits) with any religious or political statements on them.

> >> Nope. Which has nothing to do with "community standards" and > >> has everything to do with suppression of freedom of speech and freedom > >> of choice.
> >
> >Hamilton County disagrees with you.
>
> Show me where "Hamilton County" has stated that community > standards are NOT ways to suppress speech. Otherwise, you can't claim > they "disagree with me."

The onus is on you to prove that Hamilton County has restricted free speech. Maybe you'd like to try a court challenge.

> >> It is also the direct result of concentrated campaigns by the > >> religious right that have thrust what should be religious issues into > >> the legal process. The same holds true for Ft. Wayne, IN, and other > >> extremist, bible-thumping, communities.
> >
> >Hamilton County disagrees with you. Apparently Ft. Wayne disagrees too.
>
> How about citing the United States Constitution instead of the > views of a few religious zealots in the bible-belt, Dave? Or are those > zealots the only support you can find for your absurd claims?

Please explain why the courts have not overturned the laws in those communities.

> >> >Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?
> >>
> >> It doesn't.
> >
> >It does. Starz movies are bleeped.
>
> Really?
>
> I can _guarantee_ they don't with CineMAX--we were at the home > of some friends Thursday night and while I was working on their > computers (the reason we went over), Chris was watching an "R-Rated" > movie with Linda (the wife in the couple) on MAX--and it was NOT > bleeped.

I don't subscribe to Cinemax.

> I just sent an IM to them asking them to check Starz and let > me know if it is "bleeped" but off hand, I'm pretty sure they'll say > it isn't. It would make no sense for the Dish network to "bleep" one > channel and not others.
>
> Perhaps you just live in such a conservative, AFA dominated > community (as Cincinnati and Ft. Wayne are) that Dish is protecting > itself by bleeping content to your area. Sorry to hear that you are > subject to censorship instead of being allowed freedom of choice as > the rest of us are--but it meets your needs so it should be no > problem.

It isn't a problem.

> You DO prefer Disney class entertainment, right?

I don't believe I've said that.

> Incidently, what do they do about the closed captions--bleep
> the offending words there, too?

I have no need for closed captions.

> >You're getting as bad as Lenny at stating the obvious. I know what it > >is; I have it in my home.
>
> IF you are telling the truth (you provide no evidence of that > in other areas of this debate/discussion/flame war), which has yet to > be proven, and IF it is done by Dish rather than some parental control > setting in your own receiver, frankly you deserve the censorship you > receive (you DO support censorship, right?). In my home--and I expect > in the homes of the other members of this news group who have > satellite services such as Dish & DirecTV--we neither have nor want > someone else deciding what we should be permitted to hear.

I don't have a parental control setting on my receiver.

> >> If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a > >> good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is > >> allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.
> > >
> > >I don't agree with you at all. I find it kind of refreshing.
> >
> > Why? Does it keep you from having to think?

When did one have to start thinking to watch TV? An article a few years back stated that one burn more calories while sleeping than while watching TV. How does hearing an oath cause my brain cell activity to pick up?

> What do they do when there is nudity or strongly sexual > content (also part of an "R" rating) Dave? Put "CENSORED BY FASCISTS" > banners across the screen?

They run the video portion unedited to my knowledge.

> Must be relaxing for you not to have to watch tv and decide
> for yourself about the adult parts & language; it's so much easier to > allow the American Family Association to do your thinking for you, > isn't it?

Do you have a point?

> >> Let me reverse the question: If there's something wrong with > >> using those words--why are the present in a movie in the first place
> >> to REQUIRE anyone to "bleep" them?
> >
> >Oh, you haven't come up with a good reason for them either, huh?
>
> Try "Freedom of speech" Dave--I know that one hurts you > censorship fanatics, but some of us not only believe in it--but > actually fought for it in Vietnam.

Stow the Vietnam stuff, Rick. You no more went to Vietnam to fight for freedom of speech than I did. We went because they sent us. One of the huge differences between us is that I don't wear Vietnam as an excuse. You don't get to play the Vietnam card with me.

> Out of curiosity, as I recall you claim to have been in the > Foreign Service of the US. Since that's a part of the Department of > State, didn't you have to swear to uphold the Constitution of the > United States (as do other State Department officials both > domestically and abroad--and as the US military are required to do)?
> I'll bet that pesky Bill of Rights was a real pain to pretend to > support wasn't it--or is that why you're no longer a Foreign Service > employee?

I don't claim to have been in the Foreign Service. I was in the Foreign Service. I resent your cheap accusations.

Dave K8MN

3021. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:00:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0ADCBA.49DC4701@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26019

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Kim, let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: Riley Hollingsworth's > words were true. That makes this YOUR problem.

Actually, it is not Kim's problem at all. The Constitution protects people like Kim from people like you and Riley.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3022. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:03:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0ADD82.79BD4C61@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26021
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

```
Wes Stewart wrote:
>
> On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com>
> wrote:
>
> |Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from
> |those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its
> |haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > |tell me. Help me!
>
> How do you figure two meters is supposed to be "codeless?"

Maybe he doesn't realize that the only CW-only ham frequencies are located in the 2m band.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3023. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:03:50 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ADD87.81AAA411@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26020

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 02:47:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> >Why does the Dish Network bleep offensive words from movies?
> >>
> >> It doesn't.
> >
> >It does. Starz movies are bleeped.
> >
> >> The dish network doesn't produce or show movies, Dave, it > >> merely provides a satellite downlink for the broadcasters such as HBO, > >> Showtime, etc.--at least if it works the same as DirecTV, as I > >> understand it does.
> >
> >You're getting as bad as Lenny at stating the obvious. I know what it > >is; I have it in my home.
>
> Dave, if you claim this is a universal for the Dish network, > you are a liar!. I just heard back from our friends with Dish and she > deliberately tuned the Starz network and listened for an hour. The > show was NOT "bleeped."

I have no way of making a universal claim for Starz as received through the Dish Network. It is bleeped here.

> I'm sure there are many readers here who, likewise, receive > the Dish network. I _encourage_ them to turn on Starz and determine > for themselves whether you are an honest man or not--and when they > find that you have lied deliberately about this to evaluate your other > statements in this news group on that basis.

You can stow this one with your Vietnam comments. I'll not dignify it further.

> If you can't make your point without lying, Dave, don't bother > to make it at all. You'll understand if, from now on, I don't accept > ANYTHING you say without proof--you've demonstrated that there is no > reason to do so and every reason not to.

You are one of the most obnoxious individuals I've encountered in ages,
Rick.

Dave K8MN

3024. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:06:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ADE1E.3EED084B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26022

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 05:50:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >My reply isn't even needed here. You compose the questions and you > >compose the answer.
>
> I'll help out and do it for him, Dave.
>
> He's not choosy, Cecil, he'll screw any woman that can't > outrun him.
>
> Just thought I'd help Dave out a bit.

Those are your words, Rick. You write what comes from within you.

> >I was attracted to nearly every televised football game played this day.
>
> Just remember: Football is a "sport" in which to large groups > of body builders, all dressed in skin-tight silky pants, gather in > groups with their arms around each other, whispering intimately, reach > between each other's legs, grab each other's balls, pile on top of > each other, and try to penetrate each other's end zones.
>
> And that attracts you, right?
>
> Hmmm . . .

You wrote it up that way, Rick. Maybe the game means more to you than it does to me.

Dave K8MN

3025. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:11:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0ADF61.DD861A44@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26023

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > There are some things that I just don't need to know.
> > >
> > > Apparently, human psychology is one of those things. :-)
> >
> > I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.
>
> How about a secondary school counselor?

If he is the same individual as the retired EE, I'll still pass.

Dave K8MN
```

3026. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:20:17 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AE110.93476259@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26024

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote...
> >
> > (snip)
>
> ONLY if piercings or tattoos are > viewed as "defacing" rather than as > "enhancing." That isn't a question > of general values, Dave, it's one > that is cultural--and if the youth > culture of today finds them > attractive (which it appears they > do), why shouldn't they have the > same right to set their standards > of beauty that you and I have to > set our own?

Because they're children. They don't have the same rights because they don't have the same responsibilities. Let me give you an example. My neighbor's daughter got a tattoo without her parent's knowledge or consent. Days later, thanks to a nasty infection, the family was facing medical bills exceeding $18,000 (and the daughter had a ugly scar on her back - hardly "enhancing" her appearance). Of course, the daughter was not responsible for those medical bills - the parents were. And as long as parents are responsible, and children are not, it is foolish to say children should have the same rights.

> > Ever hear of a term called "community > > values"? Its existence would refute > > your statement.
>
> Only if you can demonstrate that > the community: (1) has a RIGHT to > impose values on a given matter and;
> (2) has better or more relevant values
> than the individuals affected.

Are you saying that communities have no right to pass laws in this country? Of course they do. Are you saying members of a community have no right to support laws based on their own values? Of course they do. So, obviously, the community has a "right" to impose values. Since this appears to be a fairly world-wide situation, what part of this planet do you live on where this does not happen?

As for the second part of your sentence, why would he need to demonstrate that the community has "better or more relevant values" to refute your claim that "your values apply only to yourself, not to others?" The paragraph above, all by itself, throws your statement right out the window.

> (snip) And since the parents and the > kids, together REPRESENT the community > of interest (it isn't ANYONE'S business > what the dress code is if he or she has > no connection with the school or kids > in the first place), it can't be the > community's codes, either. (snip)

"Community of interest?" Now there is a new one. Anyway, when we're talking about how children are educated in this country, it is the business of everyone in the community. The community pays the bill for that education and has to live with the results. You statement also left out the teachers who have to deal with those children on a daily basis (and, because of that, also has a say in the matter).

> (snip) A girl in a Michigan school was > recently suspended for wearing a t-shirt > with a pentagram on it (symbolic of > Wicca). Yet a girl wearing a t-shirt with > a religious icon (a picture of Jesus with > a halo) on it was permitted to attend > classes. (snip)

As I understand it, satanic symbols, such as the pentagram, were banned after these were linked to a string of violent incidents at schools, including at least one of the recent school shooting incidents.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3027. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:28:17 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AE2EE.7653063A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26025

CAM wrote:
>
> The purpose of dating my current lady > friend is she is a member of the > country club and invites me to the > monthly party where I have a lot of > fun. (snip)

Well, then perhaps you're using a rather loose definition of a date.
Anyway, read back over my original premise. I specifically excluded co-workers, associates, and aquantances. And your "date" sounds more like an aquantance.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3028. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 02:29:48 UTC
From: DBN <dnicholson@socket.net>
Message-ID: <u0lht1r28ehl95@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 25941
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

2 meters is a codeless band? when did this happen? CW is used by the weak signal guys at the bottom end of the band all the time. And a lot of repeaters have CW ID's and as far as I know the FCC has not said code was illegal to use for repeater ID's. hmmm.....maybe I was asleep when that rule was made....

Dan

3029. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 03:18:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0aefcd_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26027

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0AE110.93476259@sccoast.net...
>
> As I understand it, satanic symbols, such as the pentagram, were > banned after these were linked to a string of violent incidents at > schools, including at least one of the recent school shooting incidents.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>

The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram. Wonder if your belief that the pentagram is Satanic is one of the reasons the Islamic terrorists find our government/country as such infidels. Hmmmmm....

Kim W5TIT

3030. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 03:23:14 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C0AEFC7.5AE490B9@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26026
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

CAM:

Actually, There's a CW and Weak Signal portion on 6 meters, from 50.0 to 50.1, on 2 meters from 144.0 to 144.1, on 1.25 meters from 222.00 to 222.34, on 70 centimeters from 902 to 904, and on the 1240 band from 1295 to 1297. Not just on 2M

73 de AB8LR

-SSB

CAM wrote:
>
> Wes Stewart wrote:
> >
> > On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com>
> > wrote:
> >
> > |Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from
> > |those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its
> > |haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > > |tell me. Help me!
> >
> > How do you figure two meters is supposed to be "codeless?"
>
> Maybe he doesn't realize that the only CW-only ham frequencies > are located in the 2m band.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3031. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 03:55:24 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AF741.23998FAC@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26028

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> By your definition of "few interactions > with the opposite sex where the thought > of sex doesn't come up" I am not so > sure about that for me; or from the > perspective of women in general. Not > being sexist here, I hope, but I think > men are much more likely to be sexually > attracted to a casual acquaintence > than women are.
>
> What's your opinion of that?

Perhaps I should have worded that differently (to better fit the context of the discussion about "friends"). Perhaps "... few 'extended' interactions..." would have been closer to what I was trying to say.

Anyway, as for your question, I'm not so sure there is that much of a difference. Men are certainly much more likely to "act" on an attraction (staring, flirting, etc), but that has more to do with the way our society defines the roles of men and women in these situations (men as the active pursuer and women as the more passive pursued). And, because of the difference in the way men and women act in these situations, it is hard to be certain of a greater frequency in one versus the other. Furthermore, using a small sample (such as myself) as a gauge would not provide an accurate sweeping conclusion.

There has been some interesting research done relating to this (nothing conclusive). For example, in one study (and I don't remember who did it), a camera was hidden to observe a grocery store check out line, while stereotypical "attractive" people were placed into the line at random. In each case, men and women looked at the person with similar frequency. Moreover, men and women displayed similar attention to their own appearance while the person was in line (brushing hair with hand, straightening cloths, etc). Interestingly, women were more likely to initiate a conversation with the person (often with the pretense of being helpful - that is a good magazine, that is on sale, etc.), while men were more likely to seek additional conversation once addressed by the person (the women were more likely to take a passive role once addressed - waiting for the person to continue the conversation).

I've read other studies, but I don't think any truly determined which were more likely to be sexually attracted to a casual acquaintance. However, if we were to base this solely on action, I'd be convinced men were attracted to just about anything moving that looked good - and even that isn't a strong requirement. :-)

> My fantasy is simply a never-ending body
> rub--no sex involved...LOL

That's not far from what I've observed in other women. Women's fantasies often involve prolonged personal pleasure (baths, sunbathing, touching, hugging, etc), with sex added at the end almost as an afterthought. Water (baths, hot tubs, beaches, swimming pools, etc) plays a major role in many women's fantasies also (warm water even more so).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3032. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 03:56:43 UTC
From: Hans Brakob <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <f2c8d3ac843b24a284be7decc2f0a4d3.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 26030
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.swap

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote =

> Maybe he doesn't realize that the only CW-only ham frequencies > are located in the 2m band.

I didn't realize that either (because it isn't true).

There is another band with a "CW-only" segment.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB/4ID

--
Posted from 1cust128.tnt1.minneapolis3.mn.da.uu.net [63.30.251.128]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3033. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 03:57:39 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C0AF7D8.49218A2C@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26029
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Just realized I goofed... should have been 70 cm from 432.000 to 432.125 and 900Mhz from 902 to 904.

Also, 30M is all CW and FSK.

There are not, to my knowledge, any CW-ONLY bands at all. CW and Weak Signal or CW and FSK live together everywhere.

-SSB

Sideband wrote:
>
> CAM:
>
> Actually, There's a CW and Weak Signal portion on 6 meters, from 50.0 to > 50.1, on 2 meters from 144.0 to 144.1, on 1.25 meters from 222.00 to > 222.34, on 70 centimeters from 902 to 904, and on the 1240 band from > 1295 to 1297. Not just on 2M
>
> 73 de AB8LR
>
> -SSB
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Wes Stewart wrote:
> > >
> > > On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 20:14:44 +0000 (UTC), "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com>
> > > wrote:
> > >
> > > |Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from
> > > |those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its
> > > |haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > > > |tell me. Help me!
> > >
> > > How do you figure two meters is supposed to be "codeless?"
> >
> > Maybe he doesn't realize that the only CW-only ham frequencies > > are located in the 2m band.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3034. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:05:53 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AF9B3.88F0B296@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26031

CAM wrote:
>
> Dwight is obviously one of those > Homo sapiens who hasn't yet evolved > to the stage where he is in control > of and responsible for his own
> feelings. :-)

No, I don't attempt to suppress or control my feelings. I control how I act on those feelings and I'm obviously responsible for them, but I would never attempt to suppress or control how I feel (for that matter, I don't think it's truly possible).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3035. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:22:11 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AFD83.9E92FD25@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26032

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On the contrary, Dwight, I'm very human.
> And in the right settings, I'm (obviously) > attracted to women on a sexual basis. But > the difference is, when the setting is NOT > right I don't feel any such attraction at > all. I'm sorry if you can't relate to that > experience, but I can very definitely > state that it is one that many men share.

Okay, that sounds more reasonable. It would be very strange indeed if you had a number of female friends and had never had a sexual thought.

> It's a male name.

Sorry, I wasn't trying to be funny. I had a friend once who often shortened her name to "Rick," and it would not be that strange for a female Rick to not be attracted to a female. Anyway, since I can't see you through my computer, I just wanted cover either possibility.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3036. Re: NEWSGROUP DEGRADES INTO INSULT-FEST!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:29:51 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0AFF4E.18CAD15@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26033

Krell wrote:
>
> So what are you complaining about?
> If you don't want to argue, don't > respond.

First of all, asking politely is not "complaining." Second, I enjoy a good argument as much as the next person. I just don't think we have to kill each other verbally while doing it.

And that is my last comment on this.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3037. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:43:05 UTC
From: QRQ <nospam@hot.rr.com>
Message-ID: <tpDO7.9103$oz4.275022@typhoon.austin.rr.com>
Source record: 26040
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
to > tell me. Help me!
> --
> Leland C. Scott

Leland, you're not codeless, you're clueless.

3038. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:54 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234954.14773.00002746@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26034

In article <3C0A810E.E3C28739@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any >> influence on their sexual "identity." Right.
>
>Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a >homosexual?

No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most homosexual "couples" want for their children.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3039. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:54 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234954.14773.00002744@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26035

In article <382AA305F6CFB6DB.71E0BC3B8776B176.BFD3C38BE460C84F@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> I don't think Kim would have the slightest bit of trouble >getting them myself--after all, to see any harm in her call takes a >dirty mind, and it's pretty hard to find ANY mind, dirty or not, in a >bureaucracy like the DMV.

Rick:

Perhaps it is not seeing the harm in Kim's call sign which requires a dirty mind!

73 de Larry, K3LT

3040. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:54 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234954.14773.00002745@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26036

In article <3C0ABF35.20A86F13@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>
> Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a >relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, >blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure >about not being foolish).

Dwight:

Exactly. I'm sure that divorce statistics pre- and post-WWII reflect the impact of the rise in the predominance of women in the workplace.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3041. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:55 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234955.14773.00002747@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26038

In article <cuvyxnansvbet.gnq5rwm.pminews@or.news.verio.net>, "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> writes:

> I'll pass your analysis on to a very close friend's stepdaughter > who is the chair of such a group. Her partner, BTW, is (or at > least was) on the White House staff handling issues that had no > relationship to sexual orientation.

Phil:

Hmmm -- so your friend's lesbian stepdaughter's "partner" was on Bill Clinton's White House staff. Is this supposed to be some kind of revelation? I'm sure he had a few token straight people working for him, somewhere...

> Perhaps they can explain the reality to you in simple and
> non-accusatory terms.

And what "reality" would that be?

73 de Larry, K3LT

3042. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:55 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234955.14773.00002748@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26039

In article <3c0ace9c_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> >My YL "Elmer" had a 2-meter "Lunch Box," and it was, in fact, a >> >Heathkit. It used the AM mode; I've always wondered why that >> >mode has been largely abandoned on the VHF bands?
>>
>> Excuse me?
>>
>> You had a YL for an Elmer?
>>
>> Did you have a chaperone, or was her husband or father >> present?

Rick:

She was single; and I've never said I had anything against single people spending time alone together! It is only when one of those involved is married that there is a problem.

>> I DO assume you would never have allowed yourself to be >> compromised by being alone with her, would you?

In her case, no -- definitely not. She was a very nice person, but I had no interest in her as a possible lover. BTW, she is no longer licensed under her original call sign; I know she married, but don't know her married name so can't look her up that way. I think she's out of ham radio for good.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3043. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 04:49:56 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011202234956.14773.00002749@nso-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26037

In article <u0lht1r28ehl95@corp.supernews.com>, "DBN" <dnicholson@socket.net>
writes:

>
>2 meters is a codeless band? when did this happen? CW is used by the weak >signal guys at the bottom end of the band all the time. And a lot of >repeaters have CW ID's and as far as I know the FCC has not said code was >illegal to use for repeater ID's. hmmm.....maybe I was asleep when that >rule was made....
>
>Dan

Not to mention that 2-meters is one of the two bands where "No-code" Technician class licensees can use the CW mode! (The other is the six-meter band.)

73 de Larry, K3LT ---> Does 2-meter CW using a Kenwood TR-9130, circa 1982!

3044. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:01:40 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c0b057e.1878637@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26041

On 02 Dec 2001 04:43:04 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>In article <3c085c41.3337778@news.mindspring.com>, billsohl@mindspring.com
>(Bill Sohl) writes:
>
>>>Ryan:
>>>I can't see any legal problem with "renting" ham radio gear, aside from >>>the issue of taking steps to ensure that only licensed amateurs get to >>>do so.
>>
>>Yet there's no requirement that one can or should ONLY >>rent (or sell) ham gear to licensed hams.
>
>Bill:
>True enough; however, I would think that asking to see a valid >license would be a reasonable precaution, to prevent the possibility >of harmful interference arising from irresponsible use by an >unlicensed person. I see this as any ham's responsibility.

Interesting concept...one not implemented by any retail store I am aware of. Another thought, since it isn't a law, can a retail establishment (AES, etc.)
actualy refuse to sell ham gear to someone without a license?

Of
>course, misuse is possible in the hands of licensed amateurs, but >that is not as likely as it would be if unlicensed hams were to >gain access to ham gear by renting it out.

Unlicensed people BUY ham gear all the time. I did as a teenager BEFORE being licensed. Today, the only practical/economic reality of listening to hams is to buy a transciever. Buying only a reciever is a waste of money if the person has any inclination to become a ham.

>>>The money spent on rental fees would be better >>>used to save up for the purchase of equipment. If all you want to do >>>is try out a top-of-the-line rig for a week or two, then "renting" would >>>be OK as a one-time or occasional practice.
>>>
>>>Some hams rent out their vacation properties, equipped with contest-
>>>capable ham radio stations, for visiting hams looking for a DXpedition >>>opportunity. There's obviously nothing wrong with it, as long as it's >>>right for you and your checkbook!

>>
>>Agree too.
>
>And if the deal were a rental of a "ham property," I would be even >more concerned with making sure a licensed ham were the rentor, >in order to reduce possible financial liability for RFI problems. It's >a simple, logical, and reasonable precaution, and the decision not >to take that precaution would be difficult to defend in a court of law.

Defend against what? If I RENT you ham equipment, I have no obligation to ensure you use it correctly. Who would have any cause of action against the rentor for a ham or non-ham that caused interference?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3045. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:03:09 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203000309.03411.00001041@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26042

In article <E2yO7.140754$WW.8940964@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>Didn't Stalin have a commissar who held that socially-acquired >characteristics would find their way into the gene pool and produce a race
>of good Communists?

YEp. Can't recall the name right now, but he revived an idea that was disproven shortly after Darwin's ideas got wide attention.

Simple test: Try de-horning cattle of species that grow horns. No matter how many generations you do it to, the next generation will grow horns.

>I think he set Russian biological science back a >century all by himself.

Yup.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3046. Re: Tacoma Wash equipment ban

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:07:57 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c0b0826.2558128@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26043

Does anyone have the FULL TEXT of the ordinance (Tacoma City Ordinance 26851) they can post here for discussion?

On Sat, 01 Dec 2001 16:13:50 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl)
wrote:

>This should prove interesting as to specific enforcement:
>>Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11
>>meter C-B operators from using non-FCC certified >>transmitting equipment. Adopted last >>September 12th but only now becoming widely known,
>>Tacoma City Ordinance 26851
>>amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.
>>First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of >>non-approved radio equipment by CBers.
>
>Does the ordinance LIST all approved equipment?
>What does the ordinance say as to HOW FCC approval
>is determined?
>
>>And if a CBer breaks the new law he or she is subject to >>Section 8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a >>misdemeanor punishable to a fine of >>up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.
>
>Same question(s) as above.
>
>>Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an >>earlier amendment to the Communications Act of 1934,
>>as amended, which was adopted by Congress a couple >>of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, >>not an FCC action, any challenges by C-B operators
>>to the new Tacoma local law would have to go >>through the federal courts. As far as we can determine,
>>the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators >>and no other radio operators in >>the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)
>
>Can someone obtain and post the specific ordinance 26851
>text?
>
>Cheers,
>Bill K2UNK
>

3047. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:13:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0A05.58F6AF16@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26044

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I'm sure that divorce statistics pre- and post-WWII reflect > the impact of the rise in the predominance of women in the workplace.

Egads, Larry, are you a member of the Taliban?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3048. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:16:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0AB8.F2728F9C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26045

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a > >homosexual?
>
> No. Not unless they wanted me to be.

So if they wanted you to be a homosexual, you would become one?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3049. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:20:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0BA0.BF383E41@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26046

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Well, then perhaps you're using a rather loose definition of a date.
> Anyway, read back over my original premise. I specifically excluded > co-workers, associates, and aquantances. And your "date" sounds more > like an aquantance.

Since you exclude acquaintances, do you only have sex with people you are not acquainted with, Dwight? :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3050. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:27:03 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B0D18.F090B61C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26047

CAM wrote:
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > >I am not sexually attracted to 99% of females, i.e. I am very choosy. I > > >gather that you are attracted to virtually every female you lay eyes on,
> > >i.e. you are not very choosy?
> >
> > If you were Dave Heil, would (or COULD) you be?
>
> You're right, Rick. If I were rolypoly like Dave Heil, I guess I couldn't > afford to be choosy.

I suppose to a guy who is built like Ichabod Crane, 6'3" and 240 lbs would seem rolypoly.

Dave K8MN

3051. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:30:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0E02.D28045@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26048

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> ... I would never attempt to suppress or control how I feel (for that > matter, I don't think it's truly possible).

Some of us more evolved Homo sapiens regularly control our learned emotional responses, Dwight, and even reprogram ourselves to avoid inappropriate feelings.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3052. Re: Another repeat case of 14.275 QRM

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:32:42 UTC
From: dreamweaver <bcherao99@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <_7EO7.15523$Ao6.1330909@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26049
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Nothing that a good notch filter can't take care of perhaps?

"polish da boo" <copypro50@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:SfCO7.24155$WC1.2494632@newsread2.go.net...
> There were two stations on 14.275 this afternoon.
> One in 4-land the other in 9-land having a qso
> after comming down from 15 Meters. Six minutes > into the QSO here comes K1MAN with his Broadcast.
>
> Later tonite on 3.975 the same s--t happens again.
>
> AT NO TIME did a LIVE Station Operator ask if the frequency > was in use first. The transmitter and tapes (via electric timer > controlled station?) just come up on 14.275 and 3.975 > knock em right out of the box...
>
> How is it that a ham radio transmitter which > is not even under MANNED OPERATOR CONTROL > can conduct broadcasting on FCC allocated ham radio > frequencies legally? Make no mistake, these transmissions > are NOT bulletins, they are one-way broadcasts directed > to nobody.
>
> Is Mr Hollingsworth and the FCC doing their job?
> Perhaps you too will call and leave a message
> on his voicemail at 717.338.2502 and ask > him politely, what's going on here ?
>
>
>
>
>

3053. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:36:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B0F3C.E049E9C7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26050

Rick Adams wrote:

> If you can't make your point without lying, Dave, don't bother > to make it at all. You'll understand if, from now on, I don't accept > ANYTHING you say without proof--you've demonstrated that there is no > reason to do so and every reason not to.

So, by this reasoning, we can assume that by including Finland on your list of countries supposedly "freer" than the U.S., you were lying.
If you can't make your point without lying, Rick...

Dave K8MN

3054. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:36:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0F5B.C5CF21A9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26051
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
> Actually, There's a CW and Weak Signal portion on 6 meters, from 50.0 to > 50.1, on 2 meters from 144.0 to 144.1, on 1.25 meters from 222.00 to > 222.34, on 70 centimeters from 902 to 904, and on the 1240 band from > 1295 to 1297. Not just on 2M

But only the 6m and 2m portions carry the force of law.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3055. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:38:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B0FD3.5AC3449F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26052
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
> There are not, to my knowledge, any CW-ONLY bands at all. CW and Weak > Signal or CW and FSK live together everywhere.

The first 100 kHz of 6m and 2m are indeed "CW only".
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3056. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:41:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B10A1.AA6AD79@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26053

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > You're right, Rick. If I were rolypoly like Dave Heil, I guess I couldn't > > afford to be choosy.
>
> I suppose to a guy who is built like Ichabod Crane, 6'3" and 240 lbs
> would seem rolypoly.

At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3057. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 05:51:18 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B124C.C66A9617@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26054

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> The World Bank defines adult illiteracy > (snip) While the highest rates as one > would expect are in Africa, when those > are removed we come to this sequence:
>
> (snip) When there is no hope, suicide > bombers abound.

If you're going to relate suicide bombings to illiteracy, then why isn't there more suicide bombings in connection with Africa (which you admit has the highest illiteracy rates)? Obviously, illiteracy isn't the cause of the anger in the Middle East. Ask _ANY_ Arab and he will gladly tell you why they're angry.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3058. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:06:00 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net>
Message-ID: <cDEO7.2038$JO6.656305454@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 26055
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

To all that is concerned, this post was not done by Leland, it is a forge using his name. Please stop responding and cross posting the responses.

Landshark

--
We are men at work, we've got a job to do.
Neil Young

"QRQ" <nospam@hot.rr.com> wrote in message
news:tpDO7.9103$oz4.275022@typhoon.austin.rr.com...
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away
from > > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
> to > > tell me. Help me!
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
>
> Leland, you're not codeless, you're clueless.
>
>

3059. TWISTEDHED THE CB CLOWN

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:12:37 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022212.73571240@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26056

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: Seeks older man
Newsgroups: alt.personals.gay
Date: 2001-04-06 19:46:04 PST

I am looking for hot action between me and an older man. I am 32, in shape, live in Florida, but will travel for right person. Email only.

3060. TWISTEDHED LOVES HIS ILLEGAL CB

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:14:52 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022214.1ca476be@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26057

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: Big Kicker FS
Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.equipment
Date: 2001-04-06 19:44:03 PST

I have a CB amp it is not marked but I have been told it puts out 3500 watts.
I'll throw in an echo mike. All for $75. Reply via email.

RS 1175
FLA

3061. TWISTEDHED = TOP CB CRIMINAL

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:17:54 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022217.2d7d6c38@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26058

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: Stealing Is Great!
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Date: 2001-02-26 10:16:10 PST

Okay, I guess if a guy wanders onto 10 meters he deserves what he gets (if he gets caught) but I see nothing wrong with stealing. Freebanders stole frequencies from government services and others below 1 and above 40. Tough luck, I say. If it ain't nailed down, we'll take it. (Hey, are you usin' that Mercedes?)

Twistedhed

3062. TWISTEDHED DEMANDS RESPECT FOR FREEBAND BOOTLEGGERS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:22:25 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022222.1854c2f4@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26059

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: Respect For Freebanders
Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 2001-04-06 00:22:05 PST

I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in this group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the frequencies from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might think. We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip conditions. We use Yeasus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do, so we know technical issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us is rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This should not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do. For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding is a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying is that maybe the next time you meet a freebander you might talk with him before you condemn him.

I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)

Unit 2711, Florida

3063. Re: Another repeat case of 14.275 QRM

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:24:26 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp@msn.com>
Message-ID: <fd94b3ad168ac1921bc998d95bc708b4@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 26060
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

There is better solution. Let K1MAN have 14.275. W4NTI and his bunch of pricks dont deserve to be on there......

--
Lloyd Davies,
B.A.R.F. Chief of Communications
http://www.angelfire.com/in/w9xn/
http://www.anglefire.com/al/sj61 - Under development

"dreamweaver" <bcherao99@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:_7EO7.15523$Ao6.1330909@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> Nothing that a good notch filter can't take care of perhaps?
>
>
> "polish da boo" <copypro50@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> news:SfCO7.24155$WC1.2494632@newsread2.go.net...
> > There were two stations on 14.275 this afternoon.
> > One in 4-land the other in 9-land having a qso
> > after comming down from 15 Meters. Six minutes > > into the QSO here comes K1MAN with his Broadcast.
> >
> > Later tonite on 3.975 the same s--t happens again.
> >
> > AT NO TIME did a LIVE Station Operator ask if the frequency
> > was in use first. The transmitter and tapes (via electric timer > > controlled station?) just come up on 14.275 and 3.975
> > knock em right out of the box...
> >
> > How is it that a ham radio transmitter which > > is not even under MANNED OPERATOR CONTROL
> > can conduct broadcasting on FCC allocated ham radio > > frequencies legally? Make no mistake, these transmissions > > are NOT bulletins, they are one-way broadcasts directed > > to nobody.
> >
> > Is Mr Hollingsworth and the FCC doing their job?
> > Perhaps you too will call and leave a message
> > on his voicemail at 717.338.2502 and ask > > him politely, what's going on here ?
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >

>
>

3064. TWISTEDHED AND HIS PALS ARE FELONS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:29:22 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022229.ed183d2@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26061

From: "Landshark" S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net
Date: Mon, Dec 3, 2001 6:06 AM
Message-id: <cDEO7.2038$JO6.656305454@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>

To all that is concerned, this post was not done by Leland, it is a forge using his name. I did it. Me and Twistedhed like to harass Leland. But enough is enough.
Please stop responding and cross posting the responses cuz its disturbing our sales of illegal cb equipment in the other news group.

Landshark

--
Screw the goverment, trash the world, I'm gay.
The Sex Pistols

3065. TWISTEDHED CANT HIDE FROM THAT CRAZY JOCKSTRAP POSTING

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:37:09 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022237.3892b22d@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26062

Subject: More Twistedhed's Blathering
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Author: twistedhed@webtv.net (Twistedhed)
Date: 2001-03-26 17:20:06 PST
in 3741-3A87F5A4-23@storefull-122.iap.bryant.webtv.net

nice forgery Dougie but the headers don't lie. Undoubtedly you don't understand how the Usenet works so I will explain it to you, my anonymous acolyte what do you know of my life? The jockstrap you sent in the mail is a trophy of your docile worship of me and it hangs proudly above my mantle I will never cease pirate CB activity as long as it irks you or someone like you. However, as a consolation and to ease your suffering, I will stay within the confines of the freeband for now. The saucer men tell me I have a good signal in the pile

3066. TWISTEDHED: HE COLLECTS JOCKSTRAPS/ TALKS TO SAUCER MEN

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:38:22 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022238.29050c3d@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26063
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Subject: More Twistedhed's Blathering
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Author: twistedhed@webtv.net (Twistedhed)
Date: 2001-03-26 17:20:06 PST
in 3741-3A87F5A4-23@storefull-122.iap.bryant.webtv.net

nice forgery Dougie but the headers don't lie. Undoubtedly you don't understand how the Usenet works so I will explain it to you, my anonymous acolyte what do you know of my life? The jockstrap you sent in the mail is a trophy of your docile worship of me and it hangs proudly above my mantle I will never cease pirate CB activity as long as it irks you or someone like you. However, as a consolation and to ease your suffering, I will stay within the confines of the freeband for now. The saucer men tell me I have a good signal in the pile

3067. TWISTEDHED....CBER, JOCKSTRAP COLLECTOR, CONFIDANT OF SAUCER MEN

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 06:41:10 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112022241.7f85dcba@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26064
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Subject: More Twistedhed's Blathering
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Author: twistedhed@webtv.net (Twistedhed)
Date: 2001-03-26 17:20:06 PST
in 3741-3A87F5A4-23@storefull-122.iap.bryant.webtv.net

nice forgery Dougie but the headers don't lie. Undoubtedly you don't understand how the Usenet works so I will explain it to you, my anonymous acolyte what do you know of my life? The jockstrap you sent in the mail is a trophy of your docile worship of me and it hangs proudly above my mantle I will never cease pirate CB activity as long as it irks you or someone like you. However, as a consolation and to ease your suffering, I will stay within the confines of the freeband for now. The saucer men tell me I have a good signal in the pile

3068. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 07:01:33 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <EC014B9DA1345D2D.139E79049A384D6F.F385928F11E101F1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26065

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:01:40 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl) wrote:

>Interesting concept...one not implemented by >any retail store I am aware of. Another thought, since >it isn't a law, can a retail establishment (AES, etc.)
>actualy refuse to sell ham gear to someone without
>a license?

They can refuse to sell to anybody. In this case, suspicion of intent to use the equipment in an illegal manner would probably cover them against any potential discrimination claim.

Texas Towers has always asked for a callsign when I've bought anything capable of transmitting.

>Unlicensed people BUY ham gear all the time. I did
>as a teenager BEFORE being licensed. Today, the only >practical/economic reality of listening to hams is to >buy a transciever. Buying only a reciever is a waste >of money if the person has any inclination to become >a ham.

Agreed, but renting a transceiver, as opposed to a receiver only is a waste of money unless you plan to get your license very early in the rental period.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3069. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 07:27:05 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C0B28EC.2B9C83CB@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26066
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Refer to this chart, Page 2:

http://www.icomamerica.com/downloads/bandchar.pdf

It clearly shows that those two segments are CW and Weak Signal, which means CW and [QRP SSB or AM or RTTY].

-SSB

CAM wrote:
>
> Sideband wrote:
> > There are not, to my knowledge, any CW-ONLY bands at all. CW and Weak > > Signal or CW and FSK live together everywhere.
>
> The first 100 kHz of 6m and 2m are indeed "CW only".
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3070. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 07:28:58 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C0B295D.926717A3@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26067
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

force of law? Where is it stated in the FCC rules regarding these bands that those areas are CW only? Why would ICOM show them as CW and Weak Signal (QRP FSK/RTTY/SSB/AM)? Why would the ARRL freq. chart show the same thing?

Just curious...

de AB8LR

-SSB

CAM wrote:
>
> Sideband wrote:
> > Actually, There's a CW and Weak Signal portion on 6 meters, from 50.0 to > > 50.1, on 2 meters from 144.0 to 144.1, on 1.25 meters from 222.00 to > > 222.34, on 70 centimeters from 902 to 904, and on the 1240 band from > > 1295 to 1297. Not just on 2M
>
> But only the 6m and 2m portions carry the force of law.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3071. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 07:34:23 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B2A93.84BAF8D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26068

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > You're right, Rick. If I were rolypoly like Dave Heil, I guess I couldn't > > > afford to be choosy.
> >
> > I suppose to a guy who is built like Ichabod Crane, 6'3" and 240 lbs
> > would seem rolypoly.
>
> At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.

You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis. I haven't weighed under 200 lbs since my days in West Africa. At 188 lbs., my collar bones stuck out and my ribcage looked like a xylophone.They have FOOD here.

Dave K8MN

3072. Re: Tacoma Wash equipment ban

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 07:52:22 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B2F2C.2CE9880E@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26069

Bill Sohl wrote:
>
> > Tacoma Washington may be the first > > city to prohibit Class D 11 meter
> > C-B operators from using non-FCC
> > certified transmitting equipment.
> > Adopted last September 12th but > > only now becoming widely known,
> > Tacoma City Ordinance 26851 amends
> > Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal > > Code in two ways. First is Section
> > 8.38.010 which directly prohibits > > use of non-approved radio equipment
> > by CBers.

I think somebody may be pulling your leg, Bill. I went to the City of Tacoma web site and checked the Tacoma Municipal Code at...

http://www.cityoftacoma.org/default.asp?main=/54municode/default.asp

...and could not find a Chapter 8.38 (updated 11/26/01). I also checked the Tacoma City Ordinances at...

http://mrsc-web.mrsc.org/

...and was not able to find ordinance 26851. If this was adopted September 12th, it should be on both of those web sites.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3073. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 08:12:26 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B33DA.27D55604@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26070

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Cecil probably isn't going to like > this (particularly since I identify > myself as a libertarian) but I agree > with you to some extent. (snip)
>
> (snip) No third party has much chance > for quite some time in our system--it's > stacked in favor of a two-party system
> --but if the Libertarians hope to grow > significantly, they really are going to > have to alter some of these stands to > meet with the needs of both society as > a whole and those of us who view social > concerns (in terms of free education > and universal health care, hate crime > legislation, etc.) as being as nearly > as important as rights and freedoms.

Well, I'll try to make Cecil feel better by pointing out that I would love to see Libertarian Party grow into a much more viable political force in this country. Like so many others, I'm fed up with the two party system and would like more choice. But I do think they have to move some of their positions a little closer to the middle and span out into wider political issues. I also think the party has to give some to get some - pick up some conservative issues to balance it's liberal issues. Surely there has to be some conservative issues that liberals can tolerate. I know there is no tolerance for conservative views on abortion, etc. But what about more financial aid to poor white families in the south to balance the massive minority aid programs? Farm protections? Cutting back immigration (which benefits employers, while screwing employees)? There has to be something conservatives want that liberals can tolerate.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3074. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 08:20:15 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B35AD.BBC3C783@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26071

CAM wrote:
>
> Nope, we've only begun to fight. (snip)

Okay, I'll ask you the same questions I asked Rick. As I told him, I think the party has to give some to get some. Why can't the party add some conservative issues to balance it's liberal issues. Surely there has to be some conservative issues liberals can tolerate. Ignoring abortion (no way most Libertarians will ever go against that), what about more financial aid to poor white families in the south to balance the massive minority aid programs? Farm protections? Cutting back immigration (which benefits employers, while screwing employees)? There has to be something conservatives want that liberals can tolerate. I don't want to get into an issue by issue discussion - I just wanted to introduce the concept.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3075. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 08:24:45 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112030024.79ea7b43@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26072
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message news:<3C0AEFC7.5AE490B9@spam.me.not>...
> CAM:
>
> Actually, There's a CW and Weak Signal portion on 6 meters, from 50.0 to > 50.1, on 2 meters from 144.0 to 144.1, on 1.25 meters from 222.00 to > 222.34, on 70 centimeters from 902 to 904, and on the 1240 band from > 1295 to 1297. Not just on 2M
>
> 73 de AB8LR
>
>
'Snot quite the way it is dude. The only FCC-mandated cw-only spectrum space in all of U.S. hamdom are 50.0-50.1 and 144.0-144.1
ARRL/IARU bandplans and Riley aside.
>
>
Not that the usual collection of noclue machine-hopping channelheads have radios which can hear VHF cw like it needs to be tuned. Even worse if perchance they do happen to have Real VHF Radios they still can't copy the bloomin' stuff with their heads. "Progress" marches on . . . back to "full quieting" radio, the wave of the future . .
>
>
w3rv

3076. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 08:25:42 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B36F2.FF6EA3BF@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26073

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> In terms of health I'd rather blindly > trust and be wrong, than trust a > little and turn my worry into ulcers > or worse. Think about it. :)

No worries, mate. My wife and I both know what is expected of us and neither cross that line. A system of mutual respect that has worked for 25+ years so far.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3077. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:08:01 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B40D8.D456A105@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26074

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> > Tell that to the many millions who have > > experienced an end to a relationship > > because of the infidelity of a "trusted" > > partner. Total, blind, trust is > > absolutely foolish (and there is nothing > > insecure about not being foolish).
>
> Gee, that sounds like an argument in favor > of swinging or open marriage, not one in > favor of a repressive relationship.

No, it's an argument against total, blind, trust. And there is nothing "repressive" about maintaining certain standards in a relationship. My wife (who, at various times of her life, has been a Sergeant assigned to an Army Air Assault unit, an aid to the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations in Europe, a college student, a stripper, and so much more - these few selected to show a range of freedom of choice in her life) will flat tell you she is certainly not repressed. Nor have I ever felt repressed in our relationship. However, in spite of the diversity of our experiences, there has never been a moment in our relationship where there has been unbridled freedom to do whatever we wanted with members of the opposite sex. Not because one said to the other you can't do that. But because we each respect the other enough to not give the other reason to lose trust.

> (snip) Cheating isn't about opportunity--
> it's about integrity.

Cheating cannot possibly start without opportunity - the integrity comes from not seeking the opportunity.

> There's nothing wrong with having sex outside
> your marriage (snip)

Well, that pretty much sums up the difference between us, because I flatly disagree. In this age of AIDS, venereal diseases, screwed up marriages, screwed up kids living in broken homes, screwed up lives from illicit sex, only a totally self-centered puppy would mess around outside his marriage.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3078. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:17:46 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112030117.5ef4435@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26075
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

DummyLoad@webtv.net wrote in message
news:<8378-3C09A053-90@storefull-112.iap.bryant.webtv.net>...
> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels in > Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.
> Condition is a 10 electronically & aesthetically. Best deal you will > find on the net! Less than a year old and used less than 2 hours. Bought > 2 of them on sale and never used this one. Sell for $100. Buyer pays > shipping.

CHANNELS???

FREQENCY EXPANSION???

CBERS WHO SELL/BUY/USE "10 METER RADIOS" ARE GETTING HUNTED DOWN LIKE DOGS WHEN THEY SHOW THEIR FACES OUTSIDE OF
REC.RADIO.CB.............!!!

3079. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:18:40 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B4355.9CBD02A8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26076

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> Exactly. I'm sure that divorce > statistics pre- and post-WWII > reflect the impact of the rise > in the predominance of women in > the workplace.

It's not just women in the work place. Much of this has been growing in proportion to the industrial revolution (where first men, and later women, left home to work elsewhere). Women in the workplace certainly offered more opportunity than before (which caused the dramatic growth you mention), but so did something as simple as easier transportation. And, of course, a liberal media has had a influence on the situation also.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3080. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:37:13 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B47A9.5084E461@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26077

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> Dwight! I am so surprised at your > above response. You are saying that > you would not have lunch with a > female co-worker, right? (snip)

Yes, as I said, I would not have lunch with a female co-worker unless there were other employees present. I've seen too many nasty rumors, started by too many nasty people, with too many hurt feelings, to ever wish that on a fellow co-worker.

> And you are saying that continued > lunches with a female co-worker > will absolutely lead to a bad > reputation? (snip)

No, I did not say it would "absolutely" lead to a bad reputation. But, by the same token, I've seen it happen often enough to decide not to offer an opportunity.

> Wow. I wonder what you'd think of > me going to lunch with 9, 10, 15 men > who are co-workers!

Did you miss the part where I clearly said, "unless there were other employees present." I'm not talking about a bunch of co-workers heading off to the lunch room for a break. I'm talking about leaving the workplace to have private lunches with a single co-worker, or even regular private get togethers with a single co-worker in the workplace.

> I wonder what you'd think of me > going to dinner with a bunch of > male hams after work or on a > Saturday night! (snip)

Well, you sure missed the whole point of this. Again, we're not talking about a bunch of buddies, co-workers, or so forth, getting together for dinner or whatever. We're talking about private meetings with a single person.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3081. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:40:06 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <46081FE54FC5F612.705179977824D282.D8827BF31450DCFB@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26078
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On 3 Dec 2001 01:17:46 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
(IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:

>DummyLoad@webtv.net wrote in message
news:<8378-3C09A053-90@storefull-112.iap.bryant.webtv.net>...
>> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels in >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.
>> Condition is a 10 electronically & aesthetically. Best deal you will >> find on the net! Less than a year old and used less than 2 hours. Bought >> 2 of them on sale and never used this one. Sell for $100. Buyer pays >> shipping.
>
>CHANNELS???
>
>FREQENCY EXPANSION???
>
>CBERS WHO SELL/BUY/USE "10 METER RADIOS" ARE GETTING HUNTED DOWN LIKE >DOGS WHEN THEY SHOW THEIR FACES OUTSIDE OF
>REC.RADIO.CB.............!!!

Did it occur to you that if any of the expanded frequencies are in the legitimate ham bands, a licensed amateur could buy the rig and use it perfectly legally on those frequencies?

It was only posted in rec.radio.swap until you added rec.radio.cb to the group list. Last I checked there were lots of hams in there swapping rigs. Besides, it was listed as "10 Meter Base Station," not
"CB base station."

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3082. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 09:50:41 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B4ACE.97AADA08@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26079

CAM wrote:
>
> Incidentally Dwight, would you
> please set your editor to wrap > at 80 characters instead of > wrapping at 40 characters?

I have mine set to wrap at 70 characters, which means those with editors set to 80 don't have to edit quotes from my messages so hard to eliminate strangely wrapped text. I also wrap messages I quote down even further, as I have done with this message, so those who include that have nothing to wrap. So far, you're the only one who has complained. Does anyone else have a problem with this system?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3083. Re: Tacoma Wash equipment ban

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:13:28 UTC
From: kf6vyh@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203051328.06621.00000387@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26080

>and was not able to find ordinance 26851. If this was adopted >September 12th, it should be on both of those web sites.
>

I am just guesing, but if the law does not go into effect that day it may not be posted. Some cities have a set date that a law takes effect. This may be why it is not there. Just a thought at 2am.

3084. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:18:28 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B514A.DA9F8536@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26081

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> The Pentagon is built in the shape of > a pentagram. (snip)

No, the Pentagon was built in the shape of a pentagon (pentagon - a plane figure with five angles and five sides). A pentagram is a five tipped star, also called a pentacle with a circle around it, that is not shaped like the Pentagon building at all.

> Wonder if your belief that the pentagram
> is Satanic (snip)

I didn't say a thing about my "belief" in anything, Kim. I simply offered an explanation of why many schools have have started to ban such symbols. However, it is true that the pentagram and pentacle have long been occult symbols used in association with satanic identity - even today by those using various rehashed names (wiccams, pagans, etc) to whitewash the association.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3085. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:25:59 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B530C.E55726FE@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26082

CAM wrote:
>
> Since you exclude acquaintances, do you > only have sex with people you are not > acquainted with, Dwight? :-)

Whenever I get a change! However, I do tend to have sex mainly with those I know more than just slightly, which often does rule out the casual acquaintance.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3086. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:37:55 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <7CIO7.247603$W8.8892135@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26083

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011202234954.14773.00002745@nso-dh.aol.com...
> In article <3C0ABF35.20A86F13@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:
>
> >
> > Tell that to the many millions who have experienced an end to a > >relationship because of the infidelity of a "trusted" partner. Total, > >blind, trust is absolutely foolish (and there is nothing insecure > >about not being foolish).
>
> Dwight:
>
> Exactly. I'm sure that divorce statistics pre- and post-WWII reflect > the impact of the rise in the predominance of women in the workplace.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Probably has more to do with having an alternative to a couch that burps.

3087. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:38:31 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B55F8.5B5515AF@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26084

CAM wrote:
>
> Some of us more evolved Homo > sapiens regularly control our > learned emotional responses,
> Dwight, and even reprogram > ourselves to avoid inappropriate
> feelings.

I don't tend to have "inappropriate" feelings to worry about, so I'm very comfortable with my feelings, Cecil. Because of that, I see no reason to program or reprogram myself. Perhaps when your feelings evolve to the level where you don't have to worry about them, you can give up programming also.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3088. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 10:39:47 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <TDIO7.247605$W8.8892703@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26085

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203000309.03411.00001041@nso-cb.aol.com...
> In article <E2yO7.140754$WW.8940964@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:
>
> >Didn't Stalin have a commissar who held that socially-acquired > >characteristics would find their way into the gene pool and produce a race
> >of good Communists?
>
> YEp. Can't recall the name right now, but he revived an idea that was disproven
> shortly after Darwin's ideas got wide attention.
>
> Simple test: Try de-horning cattle of species that grow horns. No matter
how > many generations you do it to, the next generation will grow horns.
>
> >I think he set Russian biological science back a > >century all by himself.
>
> Yup.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Lysenko. Remembered it

3089. Re: Damn Code!!! (not Leland)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 11:05:10 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B5C31.B8717FD8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26086

A person forging Leland C. Scott's identity wrote:
>
> Even on 2 meters, (snip)

This is not Leland, everybody. Leland has pissed off some CB'er from that newsgroup, who is now trying to get even by posting negative messages using his name. You can always tell the difference by looking at the content of the message. If it is trying to stir up trouble, or is off topic, or contains rude language, it is not Leland.

In fact, if you see any message that seems way out of character for the person, assume it is this CB'er. He simply loves to cause trouble and will probably forge other identities in this newsgroup before he tires and moves on.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3090. Re: Tacoma Wash equipment ban

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 11:23:20 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B6070.67BAB080@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26087

Kf6vyh wrote:
>
> I am just guesing, but if the law > does not go into effect that day > it may not be posted. Some cities > have a set date that a law takes > effect. This may be why it is not > there. Just a thought at 2am.

That is a possibility. However, I checked the second web site for the 26851 ordinance itself, which is what is voted on before it goes into the city code. If the ordinance was adopted two and a half months ago, it should have been listed on one or both of those sites by now (either as a recently voted on city ordinance on the second site or as city code on the first site). Not finding it on either is strange (though I will admit that not all web sites are reliably kept up to date, so it may still be out there - I have just not found it yet).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3091. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 12:16:34 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203071634.20950.00000958@nso-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26089

In article <3C0AD7AF.31F8AE02@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Libertarians are for laws prohibiting >force or threat of force in human relationships. We are for armed >forces to protect us from foreign criminals, police to protect us >from domestic criminals, and a court system to administer the law.
>For instance, most Libertarians believe in the death penalty for >murder.

How about DWI laws?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3092. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 12:16:35 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203071635.20950.00000960@nso-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26088

In article <3c0aefcd_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram.

No, it's in the shape of a pentagon, which is a regular polygon with 5 sides.
(regular polygons have all sides the same length and all angles the same).

A pentagram is a 5 pointed star inscribed in a pentagon.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3093. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 12:16:35 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203071635.20950.00000959@nso-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26090

In article <3C0AD5FA.688BD826@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Every year we have a fight on our >hands with the entrenched political parties in about 20 states that >try to keep Libertarians off the national ballots and try to keep >us from getting "matching funds" from the government. What do you >think they are afraid of? Why should they even bother about such a >small unimportant third party?
>
The spoiler effect. Third parties in antional elections often have the effect of deciding races.

For example, consider the effect of Ross Perot in the 1992 and 1996 elections. RP drained away far more votes from the Republicans than the Democrats, and so we got 8 years of Bill Clinton.

In 2000, the shoe was on the other foot and Ralph Nader drained away mostly Democrat votes. The eelection would not have been close if RN hadn't been in it.

Exit polls showed that, if RN had not run:

about a quarter would have voted for Bush about half would have voted for Gore about a quarter would have stayed home.

I'm NOT saying 3rd parties shouldn't exist. Just why the Republicrats try to stop them.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3094. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 13:30:18 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ufumq01o5p@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26092

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C0B2A93.84BAF8D@earthlink.net...
> > At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
>
> You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis. I haven't weighed

Only if he were a "short bus."

3095. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 13:41:17 UTC
From: N2EY@aol.com
Message-ID: <975b4ea9.0112030541.48ebcc1b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26091

Here are the number of unexpired FCC ARS licenses held by individuals on the dates listed:

As of May 14, 2000:

Novice - 49,329
Tech - 205,394
Tech Plus - 128,860
General - 112,677
Advanced - 99,782
Extra - 78,750
Total - 674,792

Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 383,583

Total General/Advanced/Extra: 291,209

As of December 2, 2001:

Novice - 40,430 (decrease of 8,899)
Tech - 232,994 (increase of 27,600)
Tech Plus - 86,268 (decrease of 42,592)
General - 138,424 (increase of 25,747)
Advanced - 86,668 (decrease of 13,114)
Extra - 97,671 (increase of 18,921)
Total - 682,455 (increase of 7,663)

Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 359,692 (decrease of 23,891)

Total General/Advanced/Extra: 322,763 (increase of 31,554)

73 de Jim, N2EY

3096. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 13:58:35 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9ufvvqih1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 26093
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message news:20011202151741.219$nc@newsreader.com...
> "Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote:
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away > > from those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep > > and its haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men"
are > > trying to tell me. Help me!
> >
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
> > KC8LD0
> >
> Why did you cross-post this to rec.radio.cb?

You should ask the person who forged the message Mopar. Seems like he/she is from your side of the fence so I have to assume you know who it is.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

--
"I will not be frowned upon or be looked down upon or be made to keep silent because I have these beliefs and opinions. I thought this country allowed me that right. I will not conform or compromise just to keep from hurting somebody's feelings. "

Ted Nugent

3097. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 14:03:15 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9ug08i$j5$1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 26094
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"QRQ" <nospam@hot.rr.com> wrote in message
news:tpDO7.9103$oz4.275022@typhoon.austin.rr.com...
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away
from > > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
> to > > tell me. Help me!
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
>
> Leland, you're not codeless, you're clueless.

I doubt it. In fact if you took the time to check you would have noticed the original message was a forgery. At least Richard was the only one smart enough to have figured it out before shooting off at the keyboard. However you didn't, so talk about being clueless.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

--
"1500Kbs cable modem MediaOne Roadrunner."

3098. Re: Another repeat case of 14.275 QRM

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 14:19:00 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ug5h4$h6g$1@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26105
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lllllllardasssslllllllllloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message news:fd94b3ad168ac1921bc998d95bc708b4@spamfreenews.com...
> There is better solution. Let K1MAN have 14.275. W4NTI and his bunch of > pricks dont deserve to be on there......

Says Lllllllllardasssssss Lllllllllllllllloyd who has no real interest in HF since he's been trying for about 9 years to pass the General test.

3099. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 14:33:31 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B8D3B.1E061FF6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26095

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3C0AD7AF.31F8AE02@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Libertarians are for laws prohibiting > >force or threat of force in human relationships. We are for armed > >forces to protect us from foreign criminals, police to protect us > >from domestic criminals, and a court system to administer the law.
> >For instance, most Libertarians believe in the death penalty for > >murder.
>
> How about DWI laws?

Driving while intoxicated is certainly a threat of force (.5mv^2) and I personally would increase the penalities for people convicted of DWI. I lost my wife and son to a drunk driver. However, I think most Libertarians are against sobriety checkpoints where the probable cause rights of sober citizens are violated. Until there exists some evidence that a driver is DWI, e.g. weaving in traffic, there exists no evidence and everyone in this country is supposed to be innocent until proven guilty. At a sobriety checkpoint, everyone is assumed guilty until proven innocent by the sniffer. But this issue is muddied by the government's "ownership" of the roads.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3100. RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 14:37:41 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0B8E50.56C82205@gte.net>
Source record: 26096
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11 meter C-B operators from using non-FCC certified transmitting equipment. Adopted last September 12th but only now becoming widely known, Tacoma City Ordinance 26851 amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.

First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of non-approved radio equipment by CB'ers. And if a CB'er breaks the new law he or she is subject to Section

8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a misdemeanor punishable to a fine of up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.

Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an earlier amendment to the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which was adopted by Congress a couple of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, not an FCC action, any challenges by C-B operators to the new Tacoma local law would have to go through the federal courts. As far as we can determine, the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators and no other radio operators in the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)

**
ftp://ftp.arnewsline.org/quincy/News/news.txt

3101. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 14:56:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B9282.9995A376@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26097

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> But I do think they (the Libertarians) > have to move some of their positions a little closer to the middle and > span out into wider political issues.

Libertarianism is based on a system of principles. Moving toward the "middle" would compromise those principles. It is interesting that you suggest that Libertarians should do exactly what you find objectionable about the Democrats and Republicans, i.e. the compromising of their basic principles.

> Surely there has to be some conservative issues that liberals can tolerate.

Shows how little you know about Libertarian principles, Dwight. In a nutshell, Libertarians are social liberals and economic conservatives.
Libertarians would phase out redistribution of wealth by the federal government. They would phase in a privatization of social security and over a number of years, completely eliminate the present welfare system along with the Dept. of Education and Welfare. Eliminating transfer payments (redistribution of wealth) would allow a large reduction in federal taxes, thus allowing more disposable income to go to charitable causes. Libertarians would be more inclined to charge fees for governmental services than to finance such through taxes. Libertarians are vehemently against using the federal welfare system to finance the breeding of more welfare recipients. Libertarians basically believe that if welfare cannot be implemented through private voluntary enterprises, e.g.
charities/churches/etc. then it doesn't deserve to exist. Is that conservative enough for you?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3102. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:10:56 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26098
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...

Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop it?

de AB8LR

-SSB

N9NWO wrote:

<Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your protection>

3103. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:12:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B9666.528F561F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26099

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Why can't the party add some conservative issues to balance > it's liberal issues?

You are showing your ignorance of the Libertarian Party, Dwight.
Most of the economic principles advocated by the Libertarian Party are conservative principles. Most Libertarian principles involve governmental economics, i.e. most Libertarian principles are conservative principles. Please access the following web page:
http://www.lp.org/issues/and read what the Libertarian stand on government and the economy really is. In a nutshell, it is a philosophy that rewards success and penalizes failure, i.e. what the Republicans used to believe in. Libertarians believe that rewarding failure is immoral.

There is a booklet titled, "Libertarianism in One Easy Lesson", that is available from the Libertarian Party. Would you like to have a copy?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3104. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:18:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B97B4.4BD4A2D5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26101

```
Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Incidentally Dwight, would you
> > please set your editor to wrap
> > at 80 characters instead of > > wrapping at 40 characters?
>
> I also wrap messages I quote down > even further, as I have done with this message, so those who include > that have nothing to wrap.

Thus wasting 3/4 of my display area and doubling the length of the posting.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3105. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:18:16 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112030718.4e90f39b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26100

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C07730C.CDB72B2C@sccoast.net>...
> That brings up an interesting issue, Kim. Several years ago, a > television personality (name long forgotten) raised the premise that a > male and female cannot be friends without the issue of sex entering > their minds. In other words, any person who is friends with a member > of the opposite sex is sexually attracted to that person. What do you > think, Kim? Can a man truly be friends (not a co-worker, associate, or > an aquantance - a friend) with a woman without ever having thoughts > about sex?

Before I actually answer the question, I feel I need to pose another.

If your wife had thoughts about sex with another man, but never actually had sex with another man, is that a violation of your trust? If she looked at a coworker and thought he was handsome, is that a violation of your trust?

My point is this -- can a thought that doesn't lead to an action be a violation of your trust?

My answer to that question is no. Any relationship I'm in is based upon promises, and those promises are about actions, not thoughts. You can never know what someone else is thinking, but you can know their actions. As long as your spouse breaks no promises, then you have no reason for distrust.

As for your question? Well, as stated, it's not really a good question.

What I do believe is that a man and a woman can be close friends without the possibility of sexual relations between them ever being considered as possible. In other words, sex enters their minds, but is rejected.

I had a close female friend, but sex wasn't an issue. We were both married and faithful, and the possibility of sex beween us wasn't ever considered, at least not by me. Well, to be more exact, I'd probably guess that it was considered and rejected and not an issue. It's been so long now I don't remember more than the fact it simply wasn't an issue for me. Don't know her thoughts on the matter, but I'd guess they'd be about the same.

Sean.

3106. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:20:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B9857.35B35D4B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26102

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
>
> You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis.

Are you trying to tell us that you are a professional athlete?

> At 188 lbs., my collar
> bones stuck out and my ribcage looked like a xylophone.

And you were probably healthier.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3107. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:23:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B98EC.F3419752@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26104

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Some of us more evolved Homo
> > sapiens regularly control our > > learned emotional responses,
> > Dwight, and even reprogram
> > ourselves to avoid inappropriate > > feelings.
>
> I don't tend to have "inappropriate" feelings to worry about, so I'm > very comfortable with my feelings, Cecil. Because of that, I see no > reason to program or reprogram myself. Perhaps when your feelings > evolve to the level where you don't have to worry about them, you can > give up programming also.

I'm always improving myself, Dwight. I'm sorry that you think self-improvement is impossible for you. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3108. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:23:27 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203102327.08912.00000624@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26103

>Subject: Re: Santa on the Radio
>From: jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu (Jeffrey Herman)
>Date: 12/2/2001 7:38 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <9uel28$bm8$1@news.hawaii.edu>

>
>Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."

Hey Jeff...Isn't it just "Calling all Stations?"

73

Steve, K4YZ

3109. Re: TWISTEDHED DEMANDS RESPECT FOR FREEBAND BOOTLEGGERS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:26:24 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203102624.08912.00000626@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26106

>Subject: TWISTEDHED DEMANDS RESPECT FOR FREEBAND BOOTLEGGERS
>From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com (IllegalCBersMustGO)
>Date: 12/3/2001 12:22 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <ce9e428e.0112022222.1854c2f4@posting.google.com>

>I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in this >group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the >frequencies >from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might think.

As long as you do not have the approval of law, you have NOTHING in common with Amateur Radio.

>I am saying is >that maybe the next time you meet a freebander you might talk with him before >you condemn him.

We'll condem you anyway, even when the post is an exact repeat of one made 6 months ago. Illegal is illegal.

Steve, A Licensed Operator
K4YZ

3110. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:27:47 UTC
From: AL GOSS <renal@localnet.com>
Message-ID: <3C0B99F3.4AB3C59B@localnet.com>
Source record: 26107
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Who told you CODELESS band!!! Codeless band is FRS band. About 50% of the QSO's taking place are CW mode, some long haul ansd 99% AURORA. Get with it....learn it...you weren't born knowing how to operate a PC. I "think" you had to learn and learn ---you did, because "you wanted to ". The BEST DISTANCE will be via morse code. 90% of "real" DX on 6 meters and upper bands is via CW mode. It's only a few didgits...like your PC uses at FAST speed. Now ya see ---I was raised on CW I had to learn PC, wasn't born to it. de "ol' fart" , I guess, per no-codes in most circles AL, K2ERG

"Leland C. Scott" wrote:

> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see > me running, try to keep up. "
>
> --
> Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3111. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:28:50 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B9A32.31E46B0F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26108
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
>
> Refer to this chart, Page 2:
> http://www.icomamerica.com/downloads/bandchar.pdf
> It clearly shows that those two segments are CW and Weak Signal, which > means CW and [QRP SSB or AM or RTTY].

Welp, my ARRL Handbook clearly shows those two 100 kHz segments at the bottom of 6m and 2m to be "CW only". Wonder which one is right - the American one or the Japanese one?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3112. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 15:38:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0B9C82.6F320E1C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26109
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
>
> force of law? Where is it stated in the FCC rules regarding these bands > that those areas are CW only? Why would ICOM show them as CW and Weak > Signal (QRP FSK/RTTY/SSB/AM)? Why would the ARRL freq. chart show the > same thing?

My ARRL frequency chart shows the lower 100 kHz of 2m and 6m to be
"CW only" and from "The FCC Rule Book": "97.305 An amateur station may transmit a CW emission on any frequency authorized to the control operator." Under "emissions types authorized":
6m 50.1-51.0 MHz - RTTY, data (doesn't include 50.0-50.1)
2m 144.1-148.0 MHz - RTTY, data (doesn't include 144.0-144.1)
Is "The FCC Rule Book" a good enough reference for you?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3113. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 16:00:17 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112030800.384ccbd7@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26110

yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011201223430.12427.00003871@nso-cg.aol.com>...
> >Kim's call sign is a symptom of something much > >bigger, and to attempt to torment her is useless. It's obvious she > >won't voluntarily change her call, so the only way it's going to happen
> >is if the FCC changes its rules.
>
> Pardon me, Sean, but to say that, you are not giving Kim any credit > for being able to change her mind, and do the right thing. In spite > of whatever I've said about her, I do recognize the fact that as an > intelligent human being, she could, possibly, be influenced to change > her mind, and her call sign. Kim is human, and I will never overlook > the human element in any equation. Why would YOU?

Because I've read what she's said in this newsgroup. She has repeatedly said she doesn't believe her callsign is offensive. She has repeatedly either said or implied she won't change it. I'm taking her at her word.

> >Further, even if she does change her
> >callsign, someone else is likely to have or create another that is just > >as, or more, offensive to you.
>
> There are literally dozens of hams with call signs which are just as > offensive as Kim's, but they aren't participating in this newsgroup, and > Kim is. I can only work with the tools at my disposal.
>
> >It's futile and senseless to rant about > >Kim's callsign. Lobby the FCC if you feel that strongly. Find others > >who share your feelings and get them to lobby the FCC.
>
> Once again, this is not the FCC's problem -- it's Kim's.

Uh, no. It's yours. Yours and whoever else chooses to agree with you.

Kim doesn't have a problem with her callsign. You do. The FCC doesn't have a problem with her callsign. You do. I don't have a problem with her callsign.
You do.

Until you take responsibility for solving this problem, it will exist -- for you. Right now you are placing the solution to the problem in someone elses hands. As long as you do that, you don't have any control over the problem, and all you can ever do is yell at the person who does have control. Leave the responsibility in Kim's hands, and the problem will probably continue indefinately, as she doesn't seem inclined to change her callsign. Kim could leave this newsgroup tomorrow and never return. If it's her problem, it's still her problem and at that point you have even less access to her.

> Are you saying you have access to my E-mail? How do you know > how many people agree or disagree with me? The visible > participants in this newsgroup are not the only source of feedback I > receive on what I post here.

Correct -- but the ones who are visible here are more likely to be the vocal ones in other circumstances.

> >Just what good do you think you are doing? Do you actually think you are > >implementing change by taunting people and making them angry here?
>
> Oh, I get it. Another liberal, who wants to shut me up for speaking > the truth. Yawn!

Liberal? Not exactly. Shut you up? Not really. But I do believe that people who really want things to change don't use a newsgroup to try to accomplish that change because it's unlikely to do much good. Newsgroups are great for engaging in fairly innoculous debate but when it comes to real change they are pretty lacking. I've been on the net a long time.
Don't think I've ever seen signigicant change enacted because of a newsgroup.

> >Do you actually think that rec.radio.amateur.policy will be > >an instrument of change in the ARS and FCC?
>
> I don't see why it couldn't -- do you think it can't be?

I think the potential or this newsgroup being used to change any FCC policy is extremely low.

> I'm not restating things "over and over" in a vacuum -- I am replying > to postings which have challenged my statements, and I am supporting > what I have said by a point/counterpoint debate. This is what > Usenet newsgroups are for -- and if you don't care for it, why waste > your time reading it?

I'll perhaps give this one to you. I haven't seen anything new from you for a while, but I don't have time to read everything. From my perspective you've been stating the same things over and over, but I could be wrong.

> >A long time ago I took a two weekend class. Between the two weekends, > >one of the assignments was not to complain to anyone who can't or won't > >help solve the problem.
>
> I'd like to hear more about that class -- care to give a more detailed > description?

If you really want a description email me. I'll be happy to give you the basics and can put you in touch with someone who can give you current information. It's changed a lot since I took it, and I don't keep up on the current trends.

> >That's exactly what you're doing. Kim can't > >solve the problem, only the FCC can. No one reading or posting on this > >newsgroup can solve the problem. Only the FCC can.
>
> Just the exact opposite is true. The FCC is not the answer to this > problem -- only Kim can choose to change her call sign, and only she > can take action to do so.

But the problem from your end, as I see it, is that there are non family oriented callsigns, of which Kim's is one. Am I wrong? Do you really believe that Kim's callsign is the problem? If that's what you believe, I really don't understand why you are bothering.

> The FCC doesn't care about the effect of > her call sign, or anyone else's, on the image of the ARS. That's not > their function. Kim's call sign does not violate any FCC rules, and if > it did, they wouldn't have issued it. This point has been driven home > repeatedly by myself and others. Perhaps you should have done some > research on Google before wading into this debate with your > emotional responses.

Are you saying that all it would take for you to end this thread is for Kim to change her callsign?

> >And I simply can't understand why you seem so angry specifically at Kim.
>
> She's the one who choose a call sign which is sexually provocative, is in > poor taste, reflects poor judgment on her part, and reflects poorly on the > overall image of amateur radio operators. I thought you said you understood?

Well, I thought I did. But are you're ranting at Kim simply because she's here, and not at her because she's an example of an attitude you don't find appropriate for the ARS?

Sean.

3114. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 16:44:09 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112030844.79574bac@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26111
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message news:<3C0B28EC.2B9C83CB@spam.me.not>...
> Refer to this chart, Page 2:
>
> http://www.icomamerica.com/downloads/bandchar.pdf
>
> It clearly shows that those two segments are CW and Weak Signal, which > means CW and [QRP SSB or AM or RTTY].

The chart is wrong, plain and simple. Whoever drew it up simply didn't bother to create a separate and distinct color for "CW only".

Check out Part 97 and see what the FCC sez.

btw, there was a petition to the FCC to change the rules so that the lower 300 kHz of 2 meters would be reserved for "narrowband" modes (CW, RTTY, SSB, PSK, etc., but no FM). The idea was to give the SSB and digital 2 meter DX folks some 2 meter band space where they'd be protected from FM locals who don't follow the bandplan and don't realize they are QRM becuz they use FM-only radios. FCC said no because support for the idea wasn't universal. Guess who opposed giving 7.5% of 2 meters to the SSB/digital DX folks? (No, it wasn't the ARRL).

73 de Jim, N2EY

3115. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 17:18:02 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0BB31E.2E992063@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26112

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > > > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
> >
> > You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis.
>
> Are you trying to tell us that you are a professional athlete?

Is that what I typed?

> > At 188 lbs., my collar
> > bones stuck out and my ribcage looked like a xylophone.
>
> And you were probably healthier.

Yeah, frequent bouts of dysentery and food poisoning will make one look radiant.

Dave K8MN

3116. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 17:28:04 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <pCOO7.55611$S93.1581410@e3500-atl2.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 26113
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Well,

You know how it is SSB, some folks just have to gloat--you know, NAH, NAH, NAH, NAH,
BOO BOO. The playground didn't get bigger--just more expensive.

Jerry

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...
>
> Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > it?
>
> de AB8LR
>
> -SSB
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > protection>

3117. Re: PING: Jim N2EY

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 17:50:59 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112030950.3279c6ae@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26114

"JC from Gnat Flats" <jccooperr@wcnet.net> wrote in message news:<XoxN7.263$FP6.19606@atlpnn01.usenetserver.com>...
>
> I'm new here. I was a ditty bop back in '61 and always thought I would get > my HAM or whatever license when I got out of the USAF.

WELCOME, JC!!

> Well, it's been 34 > years since I got out and I guess I better get started on the exams. So, I > am going to trade you guys a lead on a real good country Christmas song, in > return for a lead on where I start.

Works for me!

> Do you still have to know morse code? I > still know it, but very, very slow.

That's all you need to get a license anymore.
>
> Anyhow, you just gotta hear "Merry Christmas from the Family" by Robert Earl > Keene. I guarantee you, you will recognize at least one incident as having > occured in your family.

HAW! Will check it out!

--

Here's how the licenses work now, for newcomers:

Technician Class - No code test, 35 question multiple-choice written test. All authorized ham bands and modes above 30 MHz.

General Class - 5 wpm receive-only code test, 35 question multiple-choice written test plus Technician written test. All amateur privileges on 160, 30, 17, 12 and higher bands. All modes and most of the frequencies on the 80, 40, 20 and 15 meter bands.

Extra Class - 5 wpm receive only code test, 50 question multiple choice written test plus General and Technician written tests.

All tests given by Volunteer Examiners (VEs) at VE test sessions.

--

For free code and written learning software, check out:

http://www.ah0a.org

73 de Jim, N2EY

3118. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 17:53:48 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112030953.5b597590@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26115

"Richard McCollum" <rmcollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<TDIO7.247605$W8.8892703@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...

> Lysenko. Remembered it

THAT'S the guy! Right up there with phrenology, astrology, the "ether", and creationism.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3119. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 18:25:41 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112031025.2fe4cc11@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26116

yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011128052322.28714.00002178@nso-md.aol.com>...

(big snip of old stuff)

> is a university professor; as such, he has a professional mandate > to be politically correct in thought, word, and deed. He is just doing > what comes naturally for people who are committed to supporting the > social decay necessary to ensure that liberal socialist elites maintain > their position as the ruling class in the New World Order. Lately, it > has become fashionable for liberals like themselves to couch their > beliefs in the label of Libertarianism, but it's still the same thing. The > difference is that conservatives are willing to share the hegemony, > liberals are not. While we may not dislike them personally, we still > cannot trust them.

Here's proof!!!:

http://www.salon.com/comics/tomo/2001/12/03/tomo/index.html

73 de Jim "irony is not dead" N2EY

3120. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 18:35:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0BC5FE.F54CE62D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26117

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > > > > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
> > >
> > > You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis.
> >
> > Are you trying to tell us that you are a professional athlete?
>
> Is that what I typed?

You compared yourself directly to a professional athlete. What else can I infer from that?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3121. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 19:24:38 UTC
From: J'm Sm'th <smith.house@sbcglobal.clothes.net> Message-ID: <3C0BD176.8B725780@sbcglobal.clothes.net>
Source record: 26118
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Leland C. Scott" wrote:
>
> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>

You asked for help, here it is. They are saying "Obey my dog!"

--
J'm

To Reply Direct, Remove Clothes.
...-.-

3122. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 19:44:58 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112031144.205c50c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26119
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message news:<3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not>...
> Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...
>
> Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > it?
>
> de AB8LR
>
> -SSB
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > protection>

way to go sideband.....police those ham radio techies.....

3123. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 20:04:37 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112031204.36cb722e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26121
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:<46081FE54FC5F612.705179977824D282.D8827BF31450DCFB@lp.airnews.net>...
> On 3 Dec 2001 01:17:46 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
> (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
>
> >DummyLoad@webtv.net wrote in message
news:<8378-3C09A053-90@storefull-112.iap.bryant.webtv.net>...
> >> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels in > >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.
> >> Condition is a 10 electronically & aesthetically. Best deal you will > >> find on the net! Less than a year old and used less than 2 hours. Bought > >> 2 of them on sale and never used this one. Sell for $100. Buyer pays > >> shipping.
> >
> >CHANNELS???
> >
> >FREQENCY EXPANSION???
> >
> >CBERS WHO SELL/BUY/USE "10 METER RADIOS" ARE GETTING HUNTED DOWN LIKE > >DOGS WHEN THEY SHOW THEIR FACES OUTSIDE OF
> >REC.RADIO.CB.............!!!
>
> Did it occur to you that if any of the expanded frequencies are in the > legitimate ham bands, a licensed amateur could buy the rig and use it > perfectly legally on those frequencies?
>
> It was only posted in rec.radio.swap until you added rec.radio.cb to > the group list. Last I checked there were lots of hams in there > swapping rigs. Besides, it was listed as "10 Meter Base Station," not > "CB base station."
>
>
>
>
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

joe , these radio lawyers have been trying their best to as they put it , 'clean up rec.radio.cb ' for about a year and a half...their best efforts have fell on hard times.....so this cross posting, would appear as some cheap back door attempt to recruit unwilling allies in their pursuit of the holy grail of hard core tech class ham radio operators, a clean and sacrosanct 11 meter band, that meets with their undying approval....and of course no radio operating at over 4 watts pep.....too.....we respect their ideas and their wishes and have told them such......but alas they continue infinitum.....perhaps you guys could come get them , would you please.?????

3124. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 20:20:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0BDDAF.6C3426F5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26122

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > At 6'3" and 205, I am about ten pounds overweight. That makes you > > > > > about 45 pounds overweight. Sounds rolypoly to me.
> > > >
> > > > You'd probably say the same thing to Jerome Bettis.
> > >
> > > Are you trying to tell us that you are a professional athlete?
> >
> > Is that what I typed?
>
> You compared yourself directly to a professional athlete. What else > can I infer from that?

You aren't all that bright after all, are you? There aren't many 52 year old professional football players. Infer what you like.

Dave K8MN
```

3125. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 20:53:15 UTC
From: David Little <dalite01@sprynet.com>
Message-ID: <9ugl7qtnn1@slb2.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 26120
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

My, My, Things have changes since I worked weak signal, meteor scatter and satellites on 2m SSB. 50% CW???? Are we talking overseas or in the USA? If in the USA, are they trying to further complicate things by transmitting micro-qrp (under 100 mW). Have this 50% ever thought of trying it with an antenna connected so the rest of us may know they are out there?

There is a portion of the band that is reserved under ARRL gentleman's agreement for CW and non-voice modes..... However PSK31 and other emerging digital modes are far more efficient and occupy minuscule portions of spectrum to allow multiple QSOs to take place in the bandwidth of one CW QSO.

Out of the long distance work I did on 2m phone, maybe 2% was Aurora. Where are you getting your guesses from. I wasn't born knowing code, but I also didn't have to shoe a horse at the State Patrol office in order to get a driver's license..... There is a place in history for the CW Forever crowd; as the group that destroyed the future of Ham Radio for all future generations by stifling it's growth and development by keeping the sharper minds away with the CW requirement.

Instead of think of the group as No-Codes, I prefer to use the term No-Lids........

Bang that one on your SPST Momentary Contact binary oscillator.....

David Little KD4NUE

"AL GOSS" <renal@localnet.com> wrote in message news:3C0B99F3.4AB3C59B@localnet.com...
> Who told you CODELESS band!!! Codeless band is FRS band. About 50% of the > QSO's taking place are CW mode, some long haul ansd 99% AURORA. Get with > it....learn it...you weren't born knowing how to operate a PC. I "think" you > had to learn and learn ---you did, because "you wanted to ". The BEST > DISTANCE will be via morse code. 90% of "real" DX on 6 meters and upper bands > is via CW mode. It's only a few didgits...like your PC uses at FAST speed.
> Now ya see ---I was raised on CW I had to learn PC, wasn't born to it.
> de "ol' fart" , I guess, per no-codes in most circles AL, K2ERG

3126. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 21:04:49 UTC
From: W0MN <gbaron@mailandnews.com>
Message-ID: <u0nq7i5g3ib461@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26123
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112031204.36cb722e@posting.google.com...
> "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:<46081FE54FC5F612.705179977824D282.D8827BF31450DCFB@lp.airnews.net>
...
> > On 3 Dec 2001 01:17:46 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
> > (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
> >
> > >DummyLoad@webtv.net wrote in message
news:<8378-3C09A053-90@storefull-112.iap.bryant.webtv.net>...
> > >> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels in > > >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.
> > >> Condition is a 10 electronically & aesthetically. Best deal you
will > > >> find on the net! Less than a year old and used less than 2 hours.
Bought
> > >> 2 of them on sale and never used this one. Sell for $100. Buyer pays > > >> shipping.
> > >
> > >CHANNELS???
> > >
> > >FREQENCY EXPANSION???
> > >
> > >CBERS WHO SELL/BUY/USE "10 METER RADIOS" ARE GETTING HUNTED DOWN
LIKE
> > >DOGS WHEN THEY SHOW THEIR FACES OUTSIDE OF
> > >REC.RADIO.CB.............!!!
> >
> > Did it occur to you that if any of the expanded frequencies are in
the > > legitimate ham bands, a licensed amateur could buy the rig and use
it > > perfectly legally on those frequencies?
> >

In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in the ham bands because they are not type accepted. At least the vast majority are not.

> > It was only posted in rec.radio.swap until you added rec.radio.cb to > > the group list. Last I checked there were lots of hams in there > > swapping rigs. Besides, it was listed as "10 Meter Base Station,"

not
> > "CB base station."
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> > kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net
>
>
> joe , these radio lawyers have been trying their best to as they put > it , 'clean up rec.radio.cb ' for about a year and a half...their best > efforts have fell on hard times.......so this cross posting, would > appear as some cheap back door attempt to recruit unwilling allies in > their pursuit of the holy grail of hard core tech class ham radio > operators, a clean and sacrosanct 11 meter band, that meets with their > undying approval....and of course no radio operating at over 4 watts > pep.....too.....we respect their ideas and their wishes and > have told them such......but alas they continue infinitum.....perhaps > you guys could come get them , would you please.?????

3127. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 21:10:57 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <BTRO7.79980$z8.11980755@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 26124
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"W0MN" <gbaron@mailandnews.com> wrote in message news:u0nq7i5g3ib461@corp.supernews.com...
>
> "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote
> in message news:d9f7b76c.0112031204.36cb722e@posting.google.com...
> > "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
> news:<46081FE54FC5F612.705179977824D282.D8827BF31450DCFB@lp.airnews.net>
> ...
> > > On 3 Dec 2001 01:17:46 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
> > > (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
> > >
> > > >DummyLoad@webtv.net wrote in message
> news:<8378-3C09A053-90@storefull-112.iap.bryant.webtv.net>...
> > > >> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450
> channels in > > > >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency > expansion.
> > > >> Condition is a 10 electronically & aesthetically. Best deal you
> will > > > >> find on the net! Less than a year old and used less than 2 hours.
> Bought
> > > >> 2 of them on sale and never used this one. Sell for $100. Buyer > pays > > > >> shipping.
> > > >
> > > >CHANNELS???
> > > >
> > > >FREQENCY EXPANSION???
> > > >
> > > >CBERS WHO SELL/BUY/USE "10 METER RADIOS" ARE GETTING HUNTED DOWN
> LIKE
> > > >DOGS WHEN THEY SHOW THEIR FACES OUTSIDE OF
> > > >REC.RADIO.CB.............!!!
> > >
> > > Did it occur to you that if any of the expanded frequencies are in
> the > > > legitimate ham bands, a licensed amateur could buy the rig and use
> it > > > perfectly legally on those frequencies?
> > >
>
> In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in > the ham bands because they are not type accepted.

Please learn to use proper English and logic. One MAY not use ....I certainly CAN but I probably shouldn't.
The sign on the side of the road says I may go 65 MPH although the Ferrari 365 will do just over 150 MPH

Train

3128. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 21:19:26 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112031319.38e8197e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26125
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"QRQ" <nospam@hot.rr.com> wrote in message
news:<tpDO7.9103$oz4.275022@typhoon.austin.rr.com>...
> > Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
> to > > tell me. Help me!
> > --
> > Leland C. Scott
>
> Leland, you're not codeless, you're clueless.
>
>
He's both.
>
>
w3rv

3129. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 21:53:13 UTC
From: ZOOM <kandrparker@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <nvSO7.5077$V12.979262@news20.bellglobal.com>
Source record: 26126
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Perhaps Amateur radio is not for you!
-... -.-- .

"Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:e02358f67ea6c52f7c42ba0f221dc153.47899@mygate.mailgate.org...
> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying
to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott
> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see > me running, try to keep up. "
>
>
> --
> Posted from surfola.com [208.184.25.39]
> via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3130. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 22:15:22 UTC
From: phil <phil@phil.com>
Message-ID: <u0nu95oealqna4@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26127
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

A long time ago in a galaxy far, far away, an evil legacy long believed dead is stirring....

darth vader responds:

> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps!

"I find your lack of faith disturbing." (according to the ARRL the whole 2M can do CW).

> I hate them.

"If you only knew the power, of the dark side." (1500 Watts PEP?)

> I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its haunting me because "I have you now!" (great... all that jedi school tuition down the drain.)

> I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to tell me. Help me!

"Join us, or die." (of course death might be preferable to those damn beeps
:p)

phil :)

3131. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 22:22:44 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ugtt909ve@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26128
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Jeffrey Herman" <jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu> wrote in message
news:9uel28$bm8$1@news.hawaii.edu...

> Krell: "CQ" and "73" and other prosigns originated on the landline > telegraph and carried over to wireless telegraphy, yet they're both > welcome and used on phone; if you had HF privileges you yourself > would even be using them on phone, yet no one would dare call you an > idiot for saying them.

So what's that have to do with use of "HI HI" that's spoken or used in print? (unless the printed matter is a morse transcription) What's wrong with actually laughing at something?

> Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
> Post your reply to the NG; we're all waiting...
>
> 73, Jeff KH6O

What do you mean "we're" waiting? You and who else? Did you take a poll?

3132. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 22:27:31 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ugu650ada@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26129

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203071635.20950.00000960@nso-cu.aol.com...
> In article <3c0aefcd_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram.
>
> No, it's in the shape of a pentagon, which is a regular polygon with 5 sides.
> (regular polygons have all sides the same length and all angles the same).
>
> A pentagram is a 5 pointed star inscribed in a pentagon.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

No. A five pointed star is a pentagon with the lines of each side extended to the intersecting points. A pentagram is a five pointed star inscribed within a circle.

3133. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:04:40 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <cyTO7.280864$5A3.109683398@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26130
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

There are new people reading this group daily perhaps they would have missd it, why do you a Extra class Ham worry about what is posted in rec.radio.cb and not any of the amateur groups? Just a little curious.

"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...
>
> Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > it?
>
> de AB8LR
>
> -SSB
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > protection>

3134. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:19 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <61D2CC1B61B6AE69.8E5AE0CD29100FA8.A609C01956D9931B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26131

On 03 Dec 2001 04:49:54 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Perhaps it is not seeing the harm in Kim's call sign which requires >a dirty mind!

That one was _really_ weak, Larry. I count on you for a more intelligent response than that.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3135. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:19 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <690C6F96FADBF3B4.032536217F773272.1A57AC7280CD7877@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26132

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 19:38:55 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Nope, you're wrong, Rick. Libertarians are for laws prohibiting >force or threat of force in human relationships. We are for armed >forces to protect us from foreign criminals, police to protect us >from domestic criminals, and a court system to administer the law.

But who pays for them?

From what I've read of the Libertarian platform, many of these essential services are to be paid for on a "subscription" type of basis, that is you either "subscribe" to, for example, police services or you pay a higher fee on a per-incident basis. But who is going to cover the cost of those who can't or won't pay for those services? For example, houses A, B, and C are in a row. The owners of house A and C are subscribers to the fire service--B is not. House C catches fire and it appears that the fire will spread to house B unless it is prevented from doing so, and from there to A (A & B are very close together). A, of course, demands that the fire service protect his house, since he is paying for that service. C as well expects the fire service to extinguish the blaze at his home. Now assume B does NOT want to pay for fire services for his home (it's run down and he plans to rebuild from scratch, anyway--and sees no reason to pay to protect a building he intends to tear down).

What does the "subscription" fire service do? If they do NOT prevent the fire from reaching B's home they cannot prevent it from reaching A's home, and thus they default on their contract because they COULD have prevented it. If, on the other hand, they DO prevent it from reaching B's home, B is under no obligation to pay for the service, as he has specifically rejected the service and under Libertarian policy forcing to accede to, and pay for, it would cause him harm.

Given that the Libertarian policy will have already reduced taxes to a minimal level, who will pay for the fire services for B?

Sounds silly, but extend that to the hundreds of thousands of incidents in all public service areas that take place each day and you begin to see the scope of the problem.

I believe the Libertarians have a number of good ideas, but I likewise believe that their economic policy is totally unworkable in the real world rather than a theoretical one, as were the theoretically ideal economic policies of the Soviet Union.

>For instance, most Libertarians believe in the death penalty for >murder.

Which, of course, I happen to oppose.

Research indicates that up to 10% of the people on death row did NOT commit the offense for which they were convicted. Given that the Libertarian philosophy stresses individual responsibility for any act, who will be held responsible for homicide if it is learned later that an innocent person was put to death (as has happened more than once in recent years)? The Judge who sentenced him? The Prosecutor who asked for the death penalty? The Juror's who awarded the death penalty? If Libertarian law is to be consistent with Libertarian philosophy (and if it isn't it has no value at all) by necessity someone must take ultimate responsibility for the murder of an innocent person at the hands of the state--which means that person should receive the death penalty as well.

It DOES lead to some rather convoluted problems when coupled with the Libertarian philosophy, doesn't it?

>Libertarians do believe that just as there is separation of religion >and state, that there should be separation of economics and state.

If by economics you mean business, I agree to an extent but not to the extent of the Libertarian party. One of the keystones of our difference is in the area of protecting the worker and the environment. By separating the two completely, business becomes able to pollute with impunity and to set wages at ridiculously low levels in depressed areas (obviously market considerations prevent that in labor poor markets, but not in labor rich depressed ones like much of the rural South). The end result is a more polluted environment and often underpaid or overworked labor. Those, to me, aren't desirable outcomes.

I DO believe in a free market economy--no tariffs (unless the other nation imposes them on us), no import duties, no price supports (including agricultural supports--but because under the Libertarians hemp would be a legal cash crop anyway [as the Farm Bureau has been asking for years] and the additional revenue it would generate [you can produce over 40,000 different items from hemp--including a fuel oil capable of fueling motor vehicles designed for its use] so agricultural supports wouldn't be as necessary for the small farmer).

My strongest conflict with the Libertarian party, however, comes in the area of social programs. Obviously our social programs are broken here in the US--they neither serve the needs of the poor nor do they reduce poverty and unemployment by their approach). But it's one thing to overhaul the system and make it work (assuming we can ever get quality enough political representatives to be willing to put the needs of the country ahead of the needs of their districts and spend on change instead of pork barrel projects, of course), it's another thing altogether to eliminate the programs with no suitable replacement. For one thing, given the increasing cost of health care and the trend toward contract employment instead of regular employment with benefits, we need some form of universal health care system. Not the British model with state-sponsored physicians, etc. (which stifles specialization and research), but rather one of a universal insurance card, issued by the government and paid for with taxes (the savings on health care costs to the average American would definitely offset the tax bite, given the economies of scale possible in insuring the entire population). Even applying a Libertarian approach and having the government put the insurance out for bids to the insurance company willing to cover an extensive list of medical costs (perhaps the famous--and successful--Oregon list) at the lowest cost to the government for a three-five year contract period wouldn't convince the Libertarian party to back universal health care, since it goes against the principle of separation of government and economics.

>Most people don't realize that it took the Federal Reserve 15 years >to engineer the crash and depression of 1929.

That's a bit extreme, Cecil. Certainly the Fed was primarily responsible for the crash & depression, but to accuse them of deliberately causing it (as "engineer" suggests) is a bit more than history can support.

The Libertarian party has a lot to commend it--but if it is to appeal to a wide enough range of voters to gain real power in government it's going to have to change some of its policies to recognize that a VERY large percentage of those who believe in personal freedom (and thus find the party attractive) also believe in social programs and won't vote a party line that doesn't support that area as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3136. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DD14892AF9B1A454.88907C17D0FA58E9.AAA8633DAF64AECB@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26133

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 08:56:02 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Shows how little you know about Libertarian principles, Dwight. In a >nutshell, Libertarians are social liberals and economic conservatives.
>Libertarians would phase out redistribution of wealth by the federal >government. They would phase in a privatization of social security >and over a number of years, completely eliminate the present welfare >system along with the Dept. of Education and Welfare. Eliminating >transfer payments (redistribution of wealth) would allow a large
>reduction in federal taxes, thus allowing more disposable income >to go to charitable causes. Libertarians would be more inclined >to charge fees for governmental services than to finance such >through taxes. Libertarians are vehemently against using the >federal welfare system to finance the breeding of more welfare >recipients. Libertarians basically believe that if welfare >cannot be implemented through private voluntary enterprises, e.g.
>charities/churches/etc. then it doesn't deserve to exist. Is that >conservative enough for you?

Unfortunately, it's _too_ conservative for the majority of the people who might otherwise support the Libertarian party.

It sounds nice, Cecil, but what it really says is that the poor can go p--- up a rope! The Libertarian party paints a nice picture of charities/churches taking up the enormous slack that will result from the elimination of transfer payments (which, bear in mind, do not consist ONLY of welfare but of unemployment compensation, SSI, etc. as well), but in practice it isn't going to happen. Here's why:

Private charities: Right now there's an enormous tax advantage to donating money to charities. Under the Libertarian system, because taxes would be significantly less so would the incentive to donate money (and if you claim that people would do so out of the goodness of their hearts you are taking a VERY strong leftist perspective on the issue--and an unrealistic one, given the nature of our population).
Charities that DID exist would concentrate on providing for those they felt most "worthy," probably those who would, today, have qualified for unemployment or SSI followed by women with preschool children. As far as the majority of the people in the US who needed aid however (for example, right now one out of every 12 Americans receives some form of help--mostly food stamps which go not just to the welfare recipient but to the person whose income simply can't feed his family), there simply wouldn't be the funding to help them.

Churches: Two problems here; (1) By counting on churches to take up the slack, the Libertarian Party is essentially violating its own principles of separation of church and state and making the government dependent on organized religion--which in turn makes the politicians indebted to the churches and thus influenced by them and; (2) there would be no way to insure that the churches didn't use the power it would give them to proselytize new members by giving preferential treatment to their own members (logical, if not terribly helpful to non-members) or requiring (as do many missions today) attendance at religious activities to receive aid.

Clearly, neither of these solutions is a sound one--and when the question of health care is added to it, they become insurmountable.

Another area of concern is, of course, education. As poor as public education is in the US today, at least it provides SOME form of universal education. Under a privatized system schooling would be strictly private (a potentially good thing) but, again, the poor would suffer in that their children would not be able to afford a school and would have to go to a charity school--which, given limited funds and no tax incentives worth pursuing by the schools, would probably mean a Christian schools where, again, religious requirements would be present and thus force the parent to decide between an uneducated child and one who was required to learn a religion they may not practice themselves. As a result, poor children would either have to relinquish their religious rights or would have an inferior (or no) education and thus perpetuate the culture of poverty rather than breaking the chain.

The party has some good ideas, Cecil. And it certainly doesn't have to become "middle of the road" as the Republicrats have done. But until it decides to take a hard look at social support programs it will never attract enough members to make an attack on the major parties truly possible on a national scale.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3137. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1288960686891313.55A5F7EDCCAAD332.869A90DDC7A020E9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26134

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 01:07:55 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.

How about from a clinical psychologist/psychology professor?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3138. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:21 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E23D6B794AEF2E76.1CA9919608E24B47.5B1689F1EC154B16@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26135

On 03 Dec 2001 04:49:54 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Exactly. I'm sure that divorce statistics pre- and post-WWII reflect >the impact of the rise in the predominance of women in the workplace.

Let's see:

You want your woman to stay away from even innocent meetings with other men.

You want your woman to stay out of the work place.

Hmmm . . .

Barefoot & Pregnant, huh?

Larry, you really ARE living in the past--and you're forgetting all the bad parts of that era as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3139. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:21 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A846A958E039AA2F.5F30A736302F9528.02327DD5ECFE6DF7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26136

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 04:08:01 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> No, it's an argument against total, blind, trust. And there is >nothing "repressive" about maintaining certain standards in a >relationship. My wife (who, at various times of her life, has been a >Sergeant assigned to an Army Air Assault unit, an aid to the Deputy >Chief of Staff for Operations in Europe, a college student, a >stripper, and so much more - these few selected to show a range of >freedom of choice in her life) will flat tell you she is certainly not >repressed. Nor have I ever felt repressed in our relationship.
>However, in spite of the diversity of our experiences, there has never >been a moment in our relationship where there has been unbridled >freedom to do whatever we wanted with members of the opposite sex. Not >because one said to the other you can't do that. But because we each >respect the other enough to not give the other reason to lose trust.

Let me be sure I understand what you just stated.

According to that, you do NOT have absolute freedom in your relationship because to have that would risk losing trust, which you state should not be given blindly anyway.

Is that supposed to make sense?

Dwight, very freedom TO make your own decisions in such circumstances _knowing_ that your partner will support and accept those decisions instills complete mutual trust--it doesn't abrogate it! How can you claim to trust someone yet tell them their choices must be limited to those you feel comfortable with so you can continue to trust them? Isn't that a complete contradiction?

Bear in mind I am NOT suggesting that couples should act on such freedom--that becomes a choice made by each individual couple based on their unique needs and values--only that unless two people respect each other enough to allow each other complete personal freedom and the right to MAKE such decisions w/o fear of censure or loss of the relationship, the relationship has barriers to trust and complete openness. I don't have any interest in pursuing other women--but if my wife were to take the position that I _couldn't_ have outside relationships not only would I feel that she was violating my freedom of choice but that she was demonstrating a lack of trust in me. And, of course, precisely the same would apply in her case as well.

>> (snip) Cheating isn't about opportunity--
>> it's about integrity.

> Cheating cannot possibly start without opportunity - the integrity >comes from not seeking the opportunity.

No, Dwight. The integrity comes from not taking advantage of the opportunity w/o the prior knowledge and consent of your partner.

>> There's nothing wrong with having sex outside
>> your marriage (snip)

> Well, that pretty much sums up the difference between us, because I >flatly disagree. In this age of AIDS, venereal diseases, screwed up >marriages, screwed up kids living in broken homes, screwed up lives >from illicit sex, only a totally self-centered puppy would mess around >outside his marriage.

Take a look at the statistics, Dwight. The majority of men in the United States HAVE done just that at least once during their marriage, and in many cases on a regular basis (and the numbers aren't that much lower for women, either). By doing so behind their spouses backs they are not only betraying their trust but they are not allowing them to make the same choices they, themselves, have made.

STDs are, in a sense, a reason for such relationships TO be open and above board. If a spouse is going to have an outside relationship, isn't it better that they share the knowledge, discuss the risks, and agree together what steps they will take to insure that their partner is not infected by them? I know quite a number of swingers and poly groups--and ALL of them take far more care not to be infected with an STD than does the typical single on a date--or married individual cheating on a spouse. The openness permits communications between the partners on this, and other, important issues.

Finally, your straw dogs.

Kids: Which has the greatest likelihood of breaking up, a marriage where one of the partners is cheating on the other or a marriage where both partners are open and honest about their outside actions, and in fact participate as a couple, not as individuals (most swingers interact ONLY as a couple WITH other couples). In the first case, the odds of a marriage breaking up are very high. In the latter, extremely low (the divorce rate among couples who are part of the swinging lifestyle is less than one-third that of the population as a whole).

Screwed up lives from illicit sex: Outside of relationships that fail because one partner is cheating on the other (the exact opposite of the kind of freedom we're discussing), I think you'd have a lot of trouble identifying lives that were "screwed up from illicit sex." Care to cite examples of what you're referring to in this context? Certainly it can't be the lives of the swingers, since they're a pretty solid and conservative group (yes, I DID say conservative--most swingers are Republicans and Upper Middle Class in income) with very stable home lives. But who does that leave? Their kids? They seldom know about their parents interests (do you discuss your sexual practices with YOUR kids? Neither do most swingers). All they DO know is that their parents spend a lot of time together with friends (a positive image) and often go out of town for the night together (again, a positive image of a couple sharing things together). They also know that their parents DO care for each other, and for them, and that they live in a two-parent household where many of their friends live in one parent households. Don't sound "screwed up" to me.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3140. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:21 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2A44FE41546E8D59.64ADD089F3E34EFA.CE4E0BBC5BE67429@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26139

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 02:00:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Your thinking is so skewed that any person or group disagreeing with you
>is somehow close-minded.

No, any person or group that seeks to limit behavior to only those activities they, themselves, approve of is close-minded--BY DEFINITION.

>> You were speaking about parents allowing their kids to get a >> tattoo or piercing, not about kids doing so in their rooms. Precisely >> how is THAT the parent's fault--they didn't install spy cameras in the >> bathrooms and bedrooms?
>
>Not really. My initial comment was simply that we could wait until they >were older and they'd mutilate themselves. It was in response to >statements about child circumcision. You began this particular tangent.

With respect to the circumcision issue, I watched a rather interesting documentary on The Learning Channel last night. It addressed the relationship between male circumcision and AIDS--and after a large number of research projects have been conducted, they've learned that an uncircumcised man has EIGHT TIMES the chance of being infected with AIDS from heterosexual intercourse that a circum sized man has. In fact, one of the reasons that heterosexual AIDS hasn't become anywhere as widespread in the USA as it was feared it would may be do to the simple fact that a higher percentage of American men are circum sized than is true of most nations--Africa (which AIDS is far more widespread than here) in particular. Thus there IS a solid and medically sound reason for circumcision--protection from disease (they are finding that other diseases can likewise be transmitted more easily to uncircumcised men than to circumcised ones as well).

>> I repeat--fake I.D. or not, no shop would risk the lawsuit
>> that would result from providing those services to a younger teen w/o
>> the parent's consent. And as far as older teens go--if the law says >> they are old enough to try as adults (which, in most states, it does),
>> that they are old enough to make decisions about sexual activities,
>> and that they are old enough to quit school, don't you think they are >> likewise old enough to make decisions about body ornamentation?
>
>There's some sound logic for you. "If they are old enough to quite >school..."

Yes, as a matter of fact it is.

You are the one claiming "Community values." Well, one of those values is the age at which a person is defined as old enough to make his or her own decision about school attendance. Since it is completely ridiculous to view the act of getting a tattoo or a piercing as being anything close to as serious a life choice as quitting school, it's pretty reasonable to state that if the community considers a person old enough to make this decision (as well as those about sexual activity, etc.), that same person is certainly old enough to make a decision about a tattoo or piercing as well.

>> >I've learned a lot from the above. Your first reaction is to think >> >about prosecution or a suit rather than dealing with your kid's >> >misdeeds.
>>
>> What makes you think I would REGARD them as "misdeeds?"
>
>Because what he did would have been illegal. Don't you think you might >bring that up?

Sorry, Dave, but I don't regard a community definition of what is legal as grounds to define something PERSONALLY as a "misdeed."
Misdeeds, to me, are actions I would personally oppose--not ones someone else says are wrong. That's the biggest difference between us;
you are content to allow others to define right and wrong for you, I insist on making my own definitions based on my personal values. I may have to OBEY the law, but that doesn't mean I have to agree with it or regard those who do NOT obey it as wrong.

>> >Document it yourself. I'm taking no homework assignments today, Prof.
>> >You asked what I thouhgt and I told you.
>>
>> Let me get this straight.
>>
>> You claim that many early teens are getting tattoos and >> piercings w/o their parent's consent and when I ask you for sources to >> confirm that absurd claim you tell me to document it myself?
>>
>> I'll just assume that it's nonsense instead--if you had any >> evidence to support your ridiculous claims you would cite it.
>
>Let's DO get it straight. You asked me if I thought many kids were >getting piercings or tattoos without consent. I said , "yes".
>I'm not going to write you a term paper.

Too bad. I'd like to compare it to those I received from the first year students in one of my classes to see how far you needed to progress before you could discuss a subject objectively instead of
from a biased perspective.

>> >No. They don't have those rights until they reach their majority by >> >which time it is hoped that they'll have developed enough common sense >> >to avoid something which could become a lifelong regret for them.
>>

>> Or a lifelong pleasure--haven't you ever met people with >> tattoos or piercings who were glad they had them?
>
>Not many. My wife's older sister got some in her teens and later had >them removed. It caused some scarring. A number of old WWII vets have >told me that they wished they had never gotten tattoos.

And in both cases you cite the people got their tattoos after becoming adults. So much for the concept that if they are forbidden as youths they will mature and not do so later.

>> To me, if a person is old enough to die for his country, he's >> old enough to portray that patriotism (or anything else, for that >> matter) on his skin.
>
>You tell 'em Rick. If one is old enough to die, he is old enough to do >something else silly. People like you are often people who say, "People >like you...".

I would have to regard dying for political or economic interests a trifle sillier than getting a tattoo, wouldn't you?

And I stand by my statement--if a person is old enough to make the choice to enlist in the military and potentially die for his or her nation, that person is old enough to make a decision as to rather he or she wants a tattoo as well. Anything else is just plain absurd.

>> >We do that because they ARE children. They have not yet matured. Such >> >is the natural order of things. They act like children because they are >> >children. I don't wonder about that at all.
>>
>> Perhaps you should.
>
>Perhaps I shouldn't.

Probably not. You'd get it wrong, anyway.

>> What's my point? Simply because the law DEFINES someone as a >> child, does NOT mean they will behave immaturely or make childish >> decisions. The chances are very high that at least one of your great >> grandparents (if not more) had given birth to your grandparent before >> they were 16 years of age. Are you willing to argue that a person who >> is old enough to raise a family isn't old enough to make a decision >> about body decoration, or were your great grandparents child >> molesters?
>
>Sorry, the house pays 18. You lose. None of my great-grandparents had >a child at 16 or earlier.

Married as old maids, huh?

>> >Check out Hamilton County. You'll find your proof there in the >> >existence of such laws. Let me know what you find out.

>>
>> Why?
>>
>> A few religious zealots managed to create repressive laws and >> you use THAT as justification for community values?
>
>No use trying to reason with (smirk) sound facts like those.

Show me facts that demonstrate that Hamilton County has values that I _should_ respect--or that are based on logic instead of religious zealotry and I might have a different view.

>> Dave, there is a small town in Georgia (population is under >> 2500) that passed an ordinance against the sales or rentals of any >> movie rated higher than PG (i.e., PG-13, R, NC-17, etc.). One of the >> residents had a satellite receiver and paid a subscription rate to >> receive and descramble the Tuxedo Network (which shows adult shows and >> soft core adult films). When the local prosecutor (who was a neighbor) >> learned about it, he filed criminal charges against the Tuxedo network >> (headquartered and broadcasting in NYC, btw, where such shows are >> considered perfectly acceptable by the "community values")--and he >> WON! It was ruled that the Tuxedo network had violated the law in that >> community by delivering content ruled "unacceptable" by the community >> values of that town in violation of its laws.
>
>Gee, I think I see how they won.

Really?

How?

By proving that a firm outside their jurisdiction cannot do business with a citizen in their jurisdiction w/o being prosecuted for actions that are legal everywhere else? They didn't prosecute the person who RECEIVED the shows, Dave (that would have rather quickly overturned the law and they knew it), they prosecuted the network for delivering them.

By that standard, every network has an obligation to confirm with every local government, regardless of how small that government is, that their service is permitted in that jurisdiction. Not only is that absurd but it leaves itself open to some pretty strong political influence on the network content ("Y'all best support the mayor fer re-election or we're gonna be lookin' at settin' some new limits on what y'all can send to this here county!"). Of course, they could seek out ways to block delivery to subscribers in such areas, but the cost would be so high that all satellite services would be priced out of the market unless they chose the path of least resistance and limited their programming to "G-Rated" shows only. Maybe YOU want to be limited to a Disney image of reality, but most people don't.

>> The case is currently on its way to the SC. If the decision is >> upheld there, you will see a considerable change in television >> programming--the Networks (public and subscription such as HBO, etc.)
>> will be forced to limit their broadcasts to movies acceptable anywhere >> in the USA--and there's at least ONE town (in Texas) where the limit >> is "G" rated!
>
>You mean there is hope that the networks will be cleaned up?

Don't like em? Vote with your feet, stupid. Don't watch em.

We watch precisely ONE network show regularly (Enterprise--we're confirmed trekkies) and will watch the Olympic events on network tv as well--in both cases only because the programming isn't available elsewhere. Outside of that, we watch the History Channel, History International, TLC, Discovery, Discovery Health, CNN, and similar stations--with occasional movies on the premium networks such as HBO and Showtime. If you don't care for the content of network television (we don't) then do the same thing--or just turn it off. What you--and your "community values" do NOT have the right to do, however, is to attempt to censor the programming that is of interest to others. You have an on/off switch. Use it.

>> Do you REALLY think that a community has the right to limit
>> our entertainment to Disney movies? More to the point, do you >> sincerely believe that the community has the right to limit the nature >> of entertainment we view in the privacy of our homes at all?
>
>Do you really think that the only good entertainment contains >gratuitious sex, violence and the so-called "adult" language?

That isn't the point. The point is that you are unwilling to allow others to MAKE that choice for themselves!

>> In Cincinnati, your favorite city to cite, the curator of the >> museum of art was prosecuted for presenting an exhibition of art that >> no one even attempted to claim was not legitimately of artistic merit, >> and which would have lent prestige to the Cincinnati museum. The art, >> however, included images that violated Cincinnati's intrusive
>> "Community Values" and the curator was convicted. To me, that's >> completely reprehensible behavior and no one with a shred of respect >> for the Constitution of the United States would even consider a >> community where such a travesty of law occurred to be worthy of any >> respect whatever--let alone a suitable place to cite as an example of >> "community values."
>
>Maplethorpe as I recall. There's lots more to it than you've outlined.
>Wonder why that conviction was never overturned?

Because it wasn't appealed by the Cincinnati Museum due to opposition by the city counsel.

You're correct that it was Mapplethorpe. So what? It was a valid exhibit of art. The museum director made it very clear that children would not be permitted to view the works considered to be sexual in nature (it might burst your bubble to know it, but Maplethorpe created a great many images that were NOT sexually oriented) under any circumstances, and that only inoffensive images would be used in the promotion of the showing (which would clearly indicate that many of the contents contained troubling sexual images). If you can find the slightest legitimacy in a community preventing the showing of legitimate art in a legitimate art museum simply because some members find the material depicted offensive, I'd like to know what it is.

Freedom of Speech isn't about permitting only innocuous speech, Dave, you don't need a Constitutional protection for that. It's about permitting speech that is controversial, challenging, unpopular and, yes, offensive to many--because ONLY when that kind of speech is permitted can Americans exercise their right to protest or to criticize government. You don't have to respect someone's speech (and art IS a form of speech--the SC has ruled on that several times) to support its right to exist--you only need to respect the Constitution of the United States to do so. Clearly, the people of Cincinnati don't respect our Constitution to the degree they respect the views of a few religious fanatics such as Donald Wildmon of the AFA. Don't expect any intelligent and fair minded person to accept a community like that as a "good example" of community values.

>> >I brought up ways that group values can limit individual values.
>> >I don't care if an individual is pierced in Poughkeepsie and moves to >> >Cuyahoga Falls. You can work out the details later.
>>
>> Correction. You brought up ways that groups values can limit >> individual rights and freedom of choice, not ways they can limit >> values.
>
>Correction accepted.
>
>> Sorry, but to me that smacks way too much of fascism and >> censorship.
>
>...and your view strikes me as being hedonism unchained.

Freedom of choice==hedonism to you?

Dave, there is simply no way you can justify that view rationally (you can do so by recourse to your "moral values" but then the rationale only applies to you, not to the rest of the world).

>> Incidently, have you noticed that there are groups in >> Cincinnati right now working to ban both the "Harry Potter" movie and >> series of books because they feel they violate "Community Values?"
>>
>> I'll bet you're proud of your old community in it's fight >> against children's literature, aren't you?

>
>I'll bet I don't know a thing about it.

You do now. Apparently, the concept that Harry Potter is a sorcerer is so offensive to the Christians in the community (or at least to those religious leaders they allow to do their thinking for them) that they see no reason children should be exposed to the books or movie--it might convince the children to waiver from Christianity!

Give me a break!

>> There are places with laws on the books that restrict the >> rights of minority members, too (try Kuwait or Iran). That doesn't >> mean I have to either respect those places (and laws) or that the fact >> they exist makes them any less offensive to a free society.
>
>We're not in Kuwait or Iran. Take your issues up with the respective >governments.

So we're not Kuwait or Iran. Does that make us perfect?

>> I think ANY restriction that can't be shown to prevent harm
>> and that circumvents the role of the family in deciding a child's >> manner of dress is wrong.
>>
>> Don't you?
>
>Only to a point. I don't think kids should wear clothing (i.e. T-shits) >with any religious or political statements on them.

Including Christian ones? If you support that perspective, I'll agree with you. But if ONE religion is permitted to be represented, all should receive equal treatment.

>> Show me where "Hamilton County" has stated that community >> standards are NOT ways to suppress speech. Otherwise, you can't claim >> they "disagree with me."
>
>The onus is on you to prove that Hamilton County has restricted free >speech. Maybe you'd like to try a court challenge.

No it isn't.

You cited Hamilton County. You prove or disprove your claims..

>> How about citing the United States Constitution instead of the >> views of a few religious zealots in the bible-belt, Dave? Or are those >> zealots the only support you can find for your absurd claims?
>
>Please explain why the courts have not overturned the laws in those >communities.

Two reasons:

1. The SC established the "community standards" doctrine in dealing with obscenity laws and it's pretty difficult to define what that includes.

2. Very few people have had the resources to challenge those laws--and the ones who have done so have often seen charges dropped by prosecutors who are unwilling to risk the decision of a higher court on shaky legislation.

>It isn't a problem.

>I don't believe I've said that.

>I have no need for closed captions.

>I don't have a parental control setting on my receiver.

Do you notice a trend in your replies, Dave?

I-I-I-I-I. What about other's rights? YOU don't care if shows are "bleeped," or not (of course, we know they aren't, so . . .) so who cares if others don't care for the practice. YOU don't need closed captions, so screw those with hearing loss. YOU don't have parental control settings so other people should be censored to prevent offensive material from entering YOUR home--to save you the trouble of turning the set off or changing the channel.

>> >> If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a >> >> good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is >> >> allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.
>> >
>> >I don't agree with you at all. I find it kind of refreshing.
>>
>> Why? Does it keep you from having to think?
>
>When did one have to start thinking to watch TV? An article a few years >back stated that one burn more calories while sleeping than while >watching TV. How does hearing an oath cause my brain cell activity to >pick up?

How does hearing a "bleep" allow you to enjoy the dialog and acting?

>> What do they do when there is nudity or strongly sexual >> content (also part of an "R" rating) Dave? Put "CENSORED BY FASCISTS" >> banners across the screen?
>
>They run the video portion unedited to my knowledge.

They run everything unedited, Dave, I tested your claim and it was false, remember?

>> Must be relaxing for you not to have to watch tv and decide >> for yourself about the adult parts & language; it's so much easier to >> allow the American Family Association to do your thinking for you, >> isn't it?

>
>Do you have a point?

I just made it.

>> >> Let me reverse the question: If there's something wrong with >> >> using those words--why are the present in a movie in the first place
>> >> to REQUIRE anyone to "bleep" them?
>> >
>> >Oh, you haven't come up with a good reason for them either, huh?
>>
>> Try "Freedom of speech" Dave--I know that one hurts you >> censorship fanatics, but some of us not only believe in it--but >> actually fought for it in Vietnam.
>
>Stow the Vietnam stuff, Rick. You no more went to Vietnam to fight for >freedom of speech than I did. We went because they sent us. One of the >huge differences between us is that I don't wear Vietnam as an excuse.
>You don't get to play the Vietnam card with me.

I didn't "go because they sent me," Dave. I volunteered and I voluntarily stayed for a second tour as well. And if I wasn't fighting for freedom, then there was no reason for me to be there at all--unlike you I don't do things strictly because someone in authority tells me to--I do them because I believe in them. Had I not believed that military service meant defending our rights and freedoms
I would never have enlisted and, had my draft number been low, would have emigrated to Canada instead of being drafted.

>> Out of curiosity, as I recall you claim to have been in the >> Foreign Service of the US. Since that's a part of the Department of >> State, didn't you have to swear to uphold the Constitution of the >> United States (as do other State Department officials both >> domestically and abroad--and as the US military are required to do)?
>> I'll bet that pesky Bill of Rights was a real pain to pretend to >> support wasn't it--or is that why you're no longer a Foreign Service >> employee?
>
>I don't claim to have been in the Foreign Service. I was in the Foreign >Service. I resent your cheap accusations.

Accusations, Dave?

To a person who has already been proven to have lied about his tv reception?

Why ever would I doubt your word on other subjects?

More to the point--by claiming outrage here you just tried to weasel out of answering the specific point I made. That's alright, Dave, we'll just acknowledge the fact that you can't answer it and go on from there.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3141. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:22 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <15B2EAE2EB4DBD16.14B2B4D0286FD002.9AA7BE366BC2A102@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26138

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 02:03:50 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I have no way of making a universal claim for Starz as received through >the Dish Network. It is bleeped here.

Sure you did. You claimed that the Dish Network bleeps
"offensive" words in movies. Then you claimed you could only speak for the Starz network since you don't receive CineMAX. Now, since your claim was refuted, you claim you can't speak for Starz either.

Earth to Dave--try consistency in your ravings.

>You can stow this one with your Vietnam comments. I'll not dignify it >further.

Translation: I got caught so I'l pretend it's beneath me to respond.

>You are one of the most obnoxious individuals I've encountered in ages,

Dave, coming from someone with your values, I'll take that as a compliment.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3142. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6FC9EAE578A82270.2326A666B37A4F40.C9DBC62DC09E052E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26137

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:36:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>
>> If you can't make your point without lying, Dave, don't bother >> to make it at all. You'll understand if, from now on, I don't accept >> ANYTHING you say without proof--you've demonstrated that there is no >> reason to do so and every reason not to.
>
>So, by this reasoning, we can assume that by including Finland on your >list of countries supposedly "freer" than the U.S., you were lying.
>If you can't make your point without lying, Rick...

Nice try Dave--but you have yet to demonstrate (with PROOF, btw, not just on your unsupported statement) that Finland is NOT freer than the US.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3143. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C7B796A3E638438D.FB0DEE8469BFFA06.6F2E6B16EA03114C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26142

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 21:20:17 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Because they're children. They don't have the same rights because >they don't have the same responsibilities. Let me give you an example.
>My neighbor's daughter got a tattoo without her parent's knowledge or >consent. Days later, thanks to a nasty infection, the family was >facing medical bills exceeding $18,000 (and the daughter had a ugly >scar on her back - hardly "enhancing" her appearance). Of course, the >daughter was not responsible for those medical bills - the parents >were. And as long as parents are responsible, and children are not, it >is foolish to say children should have the same rights.

You leave out several important points, Dwight:

1. How old is the daughter? Is she a small child or an 18 year old?

2. Did she get the tattoo at a commercial enterprise or from an amateur? If it was a commercial firm (the subject of the discussion) why didn't the parents file suit to recover their damages?

3. Did the infection result from the tattoo work or from her attempt to hide it from her parents out of fear they wouldn't accept
it?

4. Are we talking about a massive, extensive, tattoo or a small tattoo of a butterfly or rose? The latter can very definitely represent enhancement.

5. Is there some reason why the parent's have lost so much control over their daughter that she would do this behind their back?
Do they bother to take her views and desires seriously, or do they discount everything as being from "a child?"

Try answering those, and I'll be glad to respond more directly to the specific question. Let me ask YOU something, as well. If a person under 18 is NOT to have the same rights as others, what justification exists for trying him or her as an adult in a criminal courts (as is common for felony cases in many jurisdictions)? If the rights don't exist, is it reasonable that the sanctions should?

>> Only if you can demonstrate that
>> the community: (1) has a RIGHT to >> impose values on a given matter and;
>> (2) has better or more relevant values
>> than the individuals affected.

>
> Are you saying that communities have no right to pass laws in this >country? Of course they do. Are you saying members of a community have >no right to support laws based on their own values? Of course they do.

No, I'm saying that communities do NOT have the right to establish "values" they only have the right to establish "laws" to protect their residents from harm. Simply because a most members of a community as a whole are racist, it does NOT give them the right to pass racial limitations. And simply because those same members are very religious doe NOT give them the right to ban access to materials that they find offensive by others.

I'm not talking about legalities, Dwight. I'm talking about rights. In our special-interest-focused society they aren't always the same.

>So, obviously, the community has a "right" to impose values. Since >this appears to be a fairly world-wide situation, what part of this >planet do you live on where this does not happen?

No, they have the right to impose LAWS, not values.

> As for the second part of your sentence, why would he need to >demonstrate that the community has "better or more relevant values" to >refute your claim that "your values apply only to yourself, not to >others?" The paragraph above, all by itself, throws your statement >right out the window.

Nope. Because unless it can be shown that the community DOES have better or more relevant values, it follows that any attempt to legislate their values simply causes the law to discriminate between two subjective states--which is NOT the function of law.

>> (snip) A girl in a Michigan school was >> recently suspended for wearing a t-shirt
>> with a pentagram on it (symbolic of >> Wicca). Yet a girl wearing a t-shirt with >> a religious icon (a picture of Jesus with >> a halo) on it was permitted to attend >> classes. (snip)
>
> As I understand it, satanic symbols, such as the pentagram, were >banned after these were linked to a string of violent incidents at >schools, including at least one of the recent school shooting incidents.

Guns are linked to them even more directly--ever seen a school ban hunting jackets or NRA patches?

Islamic terrorists are linked to the World Trade Center tragedy--how many schools do you think could get away with banning traditional muslim dress?

Jewish terrorists are linked to many shootings in the middle east--is it ok for schools to ban the star of david and hasidic dress?

In the first place, wicca is NOT satanism, it is a legitimate religion and recognized as such in all 50 states. As such, it has as much right to display its symbols as does Christianity--yet no attempt is being made to prohibit the wearing of a crucifix or other Christian symbol. And in the second place, the fact that a few wangos have committed crimes and credited Satanism for it has no more bearing on respect for religious rights than does the act of a Christian terrorist who bombs an abortion clinic. Like Christianity, Satanism IS a legitimate religion, and the rights of a Satanist are just as important as those of a Christian.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3144. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:24 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1083516BD16E1361.92D3A944BDF9B92C.F253BC455E844072@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26141

On 03 Dec 2001 05:03:09 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Simple test: Try de-horning cattle of species that grow horns. No matter how >many generations you do it to, the next generation will grow horns.

But, of course, if you selectively breed cattle with progressively shorter horns together, eventually you WILL develop a hornless herd.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3145. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:24 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3C05FD971687B57C.56369181E76CC87B.78C4C933081D0EE9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26144

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:18:28 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> I didn't say a thing about my "belief" in anything, Kim. I simply >offered an explanation of why many schools have have started to ban >such symbols. However, it is true that the pentagram and pentacle have >long been occult symbols used in association with satanic identity - >even today by those using various rehashed names (wiccams, pagans, >etc) to whitewash the association.

Wiccans and pagans don't believe in a Devil, Dwight. Nor is their religion in any way related to Satanism or Christianity. It isn't "Rehashed" it's fact.

And it is the INVERTED pentagram that is symbolic of Satanism (although not exclusively), not the upright one usually displayed by Wiccans and Pagans.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3146. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:25 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7AB17BB33C6C639A.00B1931E26A702DB.56B199C7BFBC7A85@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26140

On 03 Dec 2001 04:49:55 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>And what "reality" would that be?

Now THERE'S a question I would expect from Larry.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3147. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:25 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <EC1F625585CCEE6B.C1793C64BD1D00EB.D51633617FC89882@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26143

On 03 Dec 2001 04:49:54 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most >homosexual "couples" want for their children.

Sure. Just like all military families want their kids to die in a war, right?

Get off your homophobic delusions, Larry, and learn something about the subject before you make such stupid and inaccurate statements.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3148. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:41:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <839BD86B955EBD24.52FF13789478BBB1.A7C491C184367D65@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26145

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 23:20:32 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Since you exclude acquaintances, do you only have sex with people you
>are not acquainted with, Dwight? :-)

Probably easier for him that way, Cecil. ;-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3149. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:45:08 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnsap8x.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26146

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 19:44:18 -0500, Rick Adams wrote:

>[The Libertarian party] seeks to ... remove all restrictions on big >business (including environmental controls, OSHA requirements, minimum >wage, and safety requirements) replacing them with a free market >control and civil action ...

Many years ago, at a convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, an anonymous late-night (and well-lubricated) private survey was taken amongst network and major broadcast executives to see if they would prefer removing FCC regulatory control and replacing it with free-market control enforced by civil action.

Almost unanimously they wanted to retain FCC control, because "you gotta' have someone to rant at....."

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3150. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:45:08 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gns9xqw.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26148

On Sun, 02 Dec 2001 19:16:34 -0500, Rick Adams wrote:

> Want a REALLY scary concept to think about, Phil?
>
> Thanks to a voter initiative begun by (and with the petitions >circulated IN) the churches, in the State of Washington not only do >gay parents lose custody of their children, but children who are gay >are removed from the family home (by law) and placed in foster care >facilities because the parents are deemed unfit.

And to think that Washington State is ony 6 miles north of here.
<shudder>

A good example of what happens when we allow the mob rule of the majority.

A good friend of mine - single, straight, and activist - is an attorney in Seattle fighting family law battles like that. I had thought that such stuff went away in recent years.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3151. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:45:10 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnsb8py.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26149

On Sun, 2 Dec 2001 21:18:30 -0600, Kim-W5TIT wrote:

>The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram.

A pentagram is a pentagon (basic geometric figure) with lines connecting each apex with the opposite apexes - a five-pointed star circumscribed by a pentagon.

"The Pentagon" is not built in the form of a pentagram.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3152. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-03 23:45:12 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnsbybz.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26147

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:01:40 GMT, Bill Sohl wrote:

>>a simple, logical, and reasonable precaution, and the decision not >>to take that precaution would be difficult to defend in a court of law.
>
>Defend against what? If I RENT you ham equipment, I have no >obligation to ensure you use it correctly. Who would have >any cause of action against the rentor for a ham or non-ham
>that caused interference?

In many if not most states by now, a bartender or host who serves intoxicating beverages to a customer or guest can be held legally responsible for the negligent or unlawful acts of the drinker brought about by such service.

Basic tort law.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3153. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:04:08 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C0C129D.94DEB134@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26150
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Mostly because I still talk on CB, with a CB, and I still enjoy CB. Is that a problem? Is that odd? Is that strange? Should I leave my friends on 27.385 LSB behind just because I can now talk on 7.175?

-SSB

"middlefiger4@home.comss" wrote:
>
> There are new people reading this group daily perhaps they would have missd > it, why do you a Extra class Ham worry about what is posted in rec.radio.cb > and not any of the amateur groups? Just a little curious.
>
> "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> > Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...
> >
> > Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > > it?
> >
> > de AB8LR
> >
> > -SSB
> >
> > N9NWO wrote:
> >
> > <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > > protection>

3154. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:07:24 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C0C1361.8783BC5C@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26201
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Hrm.. Guess someone will have to email the FCC and find out.. All of the band charts I've seen (excepting the ARRL one you mentioned) show those segments as CW and Weak Signal. ::Shrug::

-SSB

CAM wrote:
>
> Sideband wrote:
> >
> > Refer to this chart, Page 2:
> > http://www.icomamerica.com/downloads/bandchar.pdf
> > It clearly shows that those two segments are CW and Weak Signal, which > > means CW and [QRP SSB or AM or RTTY].
>
> Welp, my ARRL Handbook clearly shows those two 100 kHz segments at the > bottom of 6m and 2m to be "CW only". Wonder which one is right - the > American one or the Japanese one?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3155. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:13:25 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C13BB.C596B7B6@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26202

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 01:07:55 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.
>
> How about from a clinical psychologist/psychology professor?
>
> Rick

That would depend entirely who he is. I wouldn't want to get hooked up with a quack.

Dave K8MN

3156. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:15:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C15AA.DA57CC54@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26203

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >Nope, you're wrong, Rick. Libertarians are for laws prohibiting > >force or threat of force in human relationships. We are for armed > >forces to protect us from foreign criminals, police to protect us > >from domestic criminals, and a court system to administer the law.
>
> But who pays for them?

Taxes for now. But the thinking is that if the judicial system would charge for its civil services, those charges for things like contract enforcement would bear the brunt of the cost of all proper functions of government. Something like a 10% fee on the total amount of the contract for guaranteeing enforcement of the contract.

> My strongest conflict with the Libertarian party, however,
> comes in the area of social programs.

Yep, and that's an area where we will have to agree to disagree.
I simply don't believe in rewarding failure and penalizing success.
Over my lifetime, the government has done me more financial harm than criminals have done to everyone else that I personally know.

> That's a bit extreme, Cecil. Certainly the Fed was primarily > responsible for the crash & depression, but to accuse them of > deliberately causing it (as "engineer" suggests) is a bit more than > history can support.

I used the term in the sense of engineering a bridge that falls down - like the Tacomas Straits - was that the one?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3157. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:22:41 UTC
From: PipeLayer <pipedream@hotmail.comspam> Message-ID: <20011203193213.100$HV@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 26204
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Of course you can still do both but why did you only defend rec.radio.cb.
btw who is talking about where your friends are this is a NG I cannot tune 27.385 on my newsreader last time i looked they have no idea whats going on.
You never answered the question. Ill ask again why are you worrying how many time that was posted to rec.radio.cb and not worried about how many times it was posted to any other NG's The question remains unanswered and twisted to your friends being part of this somehow.
"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C0C129D.94DEB134@spam.me.not...
> Mostly because I still talk on CB, with a CB, and I still enjoy CB. Is > that a problem? Is that odd? Is that strange? Should I leave my friends > on 27.385 LSB behind just because I can now talk on 7.175?
>
> -SSB
>
> "middlefiger4@home.comss" wrote:
> >
> > There are new people reading this group daily perhaps they would have missd
> > it, why do you a Extra class Ham worry about what is posted in
rec.radio.cb
> > and not any of the amateur groups? Just a little curious.
> >
> > "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> > news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> > > Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to
rec.radio.cb...
> > >
> > > Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > > > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > > > it?
> > >
> > > de AB8LR
> > >
> > > -SSB
> > >
> > > N9NWO wrote:
> > >
> > > <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > > > protection>

3158. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:35:19 UTC
From: Leland KC8LD0 <Leland_member@newsguy.com>
Message-ID: <9uh5o70h9o@drn.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26208

Leland KC8LDO
>
>"Leland C. Scott" wrote:
>>
>> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from >> those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its >> haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to >> tell me. Help me!
>>
>
>You asked for help, here it is. They are saying "Obey my dog!"
>
Just the kind of help I'd expect from you,just wait until 2003,you'll see who's dog I'm obeying. ;-))

"You ask w

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LDO

3159. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 00:39:05 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9uh5lsfet1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 26205
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C0B295D.926717A3@spam.me.not...
> Where is it stated in the FCC rules regarding these bands > that those areas are CW only?

When did ceral boxes start offering ham licenses?

3160. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:03:16 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <7952B1BE49E6C864.00EE3F407F4A176A.FC4B3FF0E0923D16@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26206
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On 3 Dec 2001 01:38:16 GMT, jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu (Jeffrey Herman)
wrote:

>Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."

"Hey y'all"

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3161. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:06:24 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <38C0C5314213C1DA.5ED2EE1613DC654E.96F95297F35FF82B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26207
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Mon, 3 Dec 2001 15:04:49 -0600, "W0MN" <gbaron@mailandnews.com>
wrote:

>In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in >the ham bands because they are not type accepted. At least the vast >majority are not.

Ham radios don't have to be type accepted. If they did, the entire homebrewing aspect of ham radio would be illegal. Buying an 11m radio and modifying it for legitimate 10m use is no different than building a 10m radio.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3162. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:12:25 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c23c7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26209

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011202234954.14773.00002746@nso-dh.aol.com...
> In article <3C0A810E.E3C28739@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> I see. And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any > >> influence on their sexual "identity." Right.
> >
> >Larry, if you were raised by homosexuals, would you be a > >homosexual?
>
> No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most > homosexual "couples" want for their children.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

The true pity, folks, is Larry likely believes that.

Kim W5TIT

3163. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:17:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c24f5_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26210

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message news:EC014B9DA1345D2D.139E79049A384D6F.F385928F11E101F1@lp.airnews.net...
> On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:01:40 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl)
> wrote:
>
> >Interesting concept...one not implemented by > >any retail store I am aware of. Another thought, since > >it isn't a law, can a retail establishment (AES, etc.)
> >actualy refuse to sell ham gear to someone without > >a license?
>
> They can refuse to sell to anybody. In this case, suspicion of intent > to use the equipment in an illegal manner would probably cover them > against any potential discrimination claim.
>
> Texas Towers has always asked for a callsign when I've bought anything > capable of transmitting.
>

They have???? They've never asked me, my husband, my father, other hams I know.

Kim W5TIT

3164. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:24:41 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c26a5_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26211

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0B40D8.D456A105@sccoast.net...
>
> No, it's an argument against total, blind, trust. And there is > nothing "repressive" about maintaining certain standards in a > relationship. My wife (who, at various times of her life, has been a > Sergeant assigned to an Army Air Assault unit, an aid to the Deputy > Chief of Staff for Operations in Europe, a college student, a > stripper, and so much more - these few selected to show a range of > freedom of choice in her life) will flat tell you she is certainly not > repressed. Nor have I ever felt repressed in our relationship.
> However, in spite of the diversity of our experiences, there has never > been a moment in our relationship where there has been unbridled > freedom to do whatever we wanted with members of the opposite sex. Not > because one said to the other you can't do that. But because we each > respect the other enough to not give the other reason to lose trust.
>

I'll pick just the last sentence to comment on. That may work well for you, Dwight, and your wife. But I'll make the point that just because I go to lunch with a male friend, or my husband goes to dinner with a female friend, is not giving the other reason to lose trust. I hope you understand what I mean by that.

The only time I would lose trust in my husband is if he'd said he were going out to dinner with a female friend, and I walked in on them in each others' embrace and locked together in a passionate kiss. That is when I'd lose trust and never before. :)

Kim W5TIT

3165. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:31:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c2855_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26214

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0B47A9.5084E461@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Dwight! I am so surprised at your > > above response. You are saying that > > you would not have lunch with a > > female co-worker, right? (snip)
>
>
> Yes, as I said, I would not have lunch with a female co-worker > unless there were other employees present. I've seen too many nasty > rumors, started by too many nasty people, with too many hurt feelings, > to ever wish that on a fellow co-worker.
>

Well, other than the fact that I'd feel my job was threatened over something like that, I'd not even give a rumor a second thought. I know what the truth is. Let's say my husband comes home absolutely adamant that I've had sex with another man. If I know I haven't, there's no other reaction he is going to get from me than to tell him that I haven't. If he is the one so affected, then he needs to decide what he is going to do about it. Again,
I know the truth.

>
> > And you are saying that continued
> > lunches with a female co-worker
> > will absolutely lead to a bad > > reputation? (snip)
>
>
> No, I did not say it would "absolutely" lead to a bad reputation.
> But, by the same token, I've seen it happen often enough to decide not > to offer an opportunity.
>

Wow, I've never seen that happen yet.

>
> > Wow. I wonder what you'd think of > > me going to lunch with 9, 10, 15 men
> > who are co-workers!
>
>
> Did you miss the part where I clearly said, "unless there were other > employees present." I'm not talking about a bunch of co-workers > heading off to the lunch room for a break. I'm talking about leaving > the workplace to have private lunches with a single co-worker, or even > regular private get togethers with a single co-worker in the workplace.

>

Hiccup. I'll go to lunch or dinner with anyone, married or single...man or woman. :) CECIL??!!! Speaking of rainchecks, dude!?

>
> > I wonder what you'd think of me
> > going to dinner with a bunch of > > male hams after work or on a > > Saturday night! (snip)
>
>
> Well, you sure missed the whole point of this. Again, we're not > talking about a bunch of buddies, co-workers, or so forth, getting > together for dinner or whatever. We're talking about private meetings > with a single person.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

That's exactly what I'm talking about. I have a lunch date with Cecil, as a matter of fact. I just didn't "take" you for being like that...and, for goodness sakes not saying that's bad. It's just definitely not me. If my husband said that Cecil and I could not have dinner together, I'd fall over laughing. He would do the same if I told him he couldn't go to dinner with another woman, married or single.

Kim W5TIT

3166. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:33:25 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C2664.11AF4F65@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26212

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 02:00:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Your thinking is so skewed that any person or group disagreeing with you > >is somehow close-minded.
>
> No, any person or group that seeks to limit behavior to only > those activities they, themselves, approve of is close-minded--BY > DEFINITION.

Your attempts to limit MY thinking to that which is approved by you would then seem to be close-minded.

> >> >I've learned a lot from the above. Your first reaction is to think > >> >about prosecution or a suit rather than dealing with your kid's > >> >misdeeds.
> >>
> >> What makes you think I would REGARD them as "misdeeds?"
> >
> >Because what he did would have been illegal. Don't you think you might > >bring that up?
>
> Sorry, Dave, but I don't regard a community definition of what > is legal as grounds to define something PERSONALLY as a "misdeed."
> Misdeeds, to me, are actions I would personally oppose--not ones > someone else says are wrong. That's the biggest difference between us;
> you are content to allow others to define right and wrong for you, I > insist on making my own definitions based on my personal values. I may > have to OBEY the law, but that doesn't mean I have to agree with it or > regard those who do NOT obey it as wrong.

You are a great role model, Rick. You reject whichever laws with which you do not agree but are quick to jump on the lawsuit bandwagon. You talk out of both sides of your mouth.

> >> >Document it yourself. I'm taking no homework assignments today, Prof.
> >> >You asked what I thouhgt and I told you.
> >>
> >> Let me get this straight.
> >>
> >> You claim that many early teens are getting tattoos and > >> piercings w/o their parent's consent and when I ask you for sources to > >> confirm that absurd claim you tell me to document it myself?

> >>
> >> I'll just assume that it's nonsense instead--if you had any > >> evidence to support your ridiculous claims you would cite it.
> >
> >Let's DO get it straight. You asked me if I thought many kids were > >getting piercings or tattoos without consent. I said , "yes".
> >I'm not going to write you a term paper.
>
> Too bad. I'd like to compare it to those I received from the > first year students in one of my classes to see how far you needed to > progress before you could discuss a subject objectively instead of
> from a biased perspective.

You aren't in a position of authority, Rick. You might be able to blow smoke in a classroom and intimidate some student. I'm afraid you are likely to be disappointed at my lack of deference toward you here.

> >> >No. They don't have those rights until they reach their majority by > >> >which time it is hoped that they'll have developed enough common sense > >> >to avoid something which could become a lifelong regret for them.
> >>
> >> Or a lifelong pleasure--haven't you ever met people with > >> tattoos or piercings who were glad they had them?
> >
> >Not many. My wife's older sister got some in her teens and later had > >them removed. It caused some scarring. A number of old WWII vets have > >told me that they wished they had never gotten tattoos.
>
> And in both cases you cite the people got their tattoos after > becoming adults. So much for the concept that if they are forbidden as > youths they will mature and not do so later.

Actually not. The folks I cite had their tattoos done prior to reaching the age of majority. There goes your poof point.

> >> To me, if a person is old enough to die for his country, he's > >> old enough to portray that patriotism (or anything else, for that > >> matter) on his skin.
> >
> >You tell 'em Rick. If one is old enough to die, he is old enough to do > >something else silly. People like you are often people who say, "People > >like you...".
>
> I would have to regard dying for political or economic > interests a trifle sillier than getting a tattoo, wouldn't you?

Sure, Rick. If a person is able to join the military without parental consent, that person is old enough to get a tattoo. The person can still be immature enough to make a decision he'll later regret.
>
> >> >Check out Hamilton County. You'll find your proof there in the > >> >existence of such laws. Let me know what you find out.

> >>
> >> Why?
> >>
> >> A few religious zealots managed to create repressive laws and > >> you use THAT as justification for community values?
> >
> >No use trying to reason with (smirk) sound facts like those.
>
> Show me facts that demonstrate that Hamilton County has values > that I _should_ respect--or that are based on logic instead of > religious zealotry and I might have a different view.
>
> >> Dave, there is a small town in Georgia (population is under > >> 2500) that passed an ordinance against the sales or rentals of any > >> movie rated higher than PG (i.e., PG-13, R, NC-17, etc.). One of the > >> residents had a satellite receiver and paid a subscription rate to > >> receive and descramble the Tuxedo Network (which shows adult shows and > >> soft core adult films). When the local prosecutor (who was a neighbor) > >> learned about it, he filed criminal charges against the Tuxedo network > >> (headquartered and broadcasting in NYC, btw, where such shows are > >> considered perfectly acceptable by the "community values")--and he > >> WON! It was ruled that the Tuxedo network had violated the law in that > >> community by delivering content ruled "unacceptable" by the community > >> values of that town in violation of its laws.
> >
> >Gee, I think I see how they won.
>
> Really?
>
> How?

...by applying the laws of their community rather than those of New York.

> By proving that a firm outside their jurisdiction cannot do > business with a citizen in their jurisdiction w/o being prosecuted for > actions that are legal everywhere else? They didn't prosecute the > person who RECEIVED the shows, Dave (that would have rather quickly > overturned the law and they knew it), they prosecuted the network for > delivering them.

Seems to me that they should have prosecuted the individual subscribing.
If the law was overturned, that is the way things work in this society.

> >> The case is currently on its way to the SC. If the decision is > >> upheld there, you will see a considerable change in television > >> programming--the Networks (public and subscription such as HBO, etc.)
> >> will be forced to limit their broadcasts to movies acceptable anywhere > >> in the USA--and there's at least ONE town (in Texas) where the limit > >> is "G" rated!
> >

> >You mean there is hope that the networks will be cleaned up?
>
> Don't like em? Vote with your feet, stupid. Don't watch em.

Y'know, that's just what we do. We watch selectively.

> We watch precisely ONE network show regularly > (Enterprise--we're confirmed trekkies) and will watch the Olympic > events on network tv as well--in both cases only because the > programming isn't available elsewhere. Outside of that, we watch the > History Channel, History International, TLC, Discovery, Discovery > Health, CNN, and similar stations--with occasional movies on the > premium networks such as HBO and Showtime. If you don't care for the > content of network television (we don't) then do the same thing--or > just turn it off. What you--and your "community values" do NOT have > the right to do, however, is to attempt to censor the programming that > is of interest to others. You have an on/off switch. Use it.

What "people like you" believe is that there is some sort of right have sexually explicit material and so-called "adult" language beamed into homes across the land. How about this: If you want that kind of material in your home, you pay extra for a subscription. The material then enters only the homes of those who desire it.

> >> Do you REALLY think that a community has the right to limit
> >> our entertainment to Disney movies? More to the point, do you > >> sincerely believe that the community has the right to limit the nature > >> of entertainment we view in the privacy of our homes at all?
> >
> >Do you really think that the only good entertainment contains > >gratuitious sex, violence and the so-called "adult" language?
>
> That isn't the point. The point is that you are unwilling to > allow others to MAKE that choice for themselves!

Sure--make your choice. Subscribe to it.

> >> In Cincinnati, your favorite city to cite, the curator of the > >> museum of art was prosecuted for presenting an exhibition of art that > >> no one even attempted to claim was not legitimately of artistic merit, > >> and which would have lent prestige to the Cincinnati museum. The art, > >> however, included images that violated Cincinnati's intrusive
> >> "Community Values" and the curator was convicted. To me, that's > >> completely reprehensible behavior and no one with a shred of respect > >> for the Constitution of the United States would even consider a > >> community where such a travesty of law occurred to be worthy of any > >> respect whatever--let alone a suitable place to cite as an example of > >> "community values."
> >
> >Maplethorpe as I recall. There's lots more to it than you've outlined.
> >Wonder why that conviction was never overturned?
>

> Because it wasn't appealed by the Cincinnati Museum due to > opposition by the city counsel.

Yeah, go on. Why was counsel opposed to an appeal?

> You're correct that it was Mapplethorpe. So what? It was a > valid exhibit of art.

...according to you but not according to the people of Cincinnati.

> The museum director made it very clear that > children would not be permitted to view the works considered to be > sexual in nature (it might burst your bubble to know it, but > Maplethorpe created a great many images that were NOT sexually > oriented) under any circumstances, and that only inoffensive images > would be used in the promotion of the showing (which would clearly > indicate that many of the contents contained troubling sexual images).

I don't think that the idea that the publicly funded art museum should be closed to a portion of the public is representative of your libertarian views.

As you have agreed, while some of Maplethorpe's work was not of sexual themes, much was. We're not talking just about what is viewed by most folks as normal sex here, are we Rick? Troubling indeed.

> If you can find the slightest legitimacy in a community preventing the > showing of legitimate art in a legitimate art museum simply because > some members find the material depicted offensive, I'd like to know > what it is.

More than "some members" found it objectionable. I wonder how many of the public officials involved in bringing the suit were re-elected by the people of Cincinnati.

> Freedom of Speech isn't about permitting only innocuous > speech, Dave, you don't need a Constitutional protection for that.
> It's about permitting speech that is controversial, challenging, > unpopular and, yes, offensive to many--because ONLY when that kind of > speech is permitted can Americans exercise their right to protest or > to criticize government.

What is it that you think Maplethorpe's work protested? What government action was he criticizing? The courts recognize that there are limits on free speech.

> You don't have to respect someone's speech
> (and art IS a form of speech--the SC has ruled on that several times)
> to support its right to exist--you only need to respect the > Constitution of the United States to do so. Clearly, the people of > Cincinnati don't respect our Constitution to the degree they respect > the views of a few religious fanatics such as Donald Wildmon of the > AFA. Don't expect any intelligent and fair minded person to accept a > community like that as a "good example" of community values.

...yet Cincinnati and some of the northern Kentucky environs are consistently declared to be among the most "liveable" places in America.
You can burn your flag in Cincinnati if you like, Rick. Just don't show a graphic photo of homosexual sex and try to convince the folks there that is art. Many attempts have been made to present crud masquerading as art.
>
> >> >I brought up ways that group values can limit individual values.
> >> >I don't care if an individual is pierced in Poughkeepsie and moves to > >> >Cuyahoga Falls. You can work out the details later.
> >>
> >> Correction. You brought up ways that groups values can limit > >> individual rights and freedom of choice, not ways they can limit > >> values.
> >
> >Correction accepted.
> >
> >> Sorry, but to me that smacks way too much of fascism and > >> censorship.
> >
> >...and your view strikes me as being hedonism unchained.
>
> Freedom of choice==hedonism to you?

I liken your views to a frequent mantra of the sixties: If it feels good, do it.

> Dave, there is simply no way you can justify that view > rationally (you can do so by recourse to your "moral values" but then > the rationale only applies to you, not to the rest of the world).
>
> >> Incidently, have you noticed that there are groups in > >> Cincinnati right now working to ban both the "Harry Potter" movie and > >> series of books because they feel they violate "Community Values?"
> >>
> >> I'll bet you're proud of your old community in it's fight > >> against children's literature, aren't you?
> >
> >I'll bet I don't know a thing about it.
>
> You do now. Apparently, the concept that Harry Potter is a > sorcerer is so offensive to the Christians in the community (or at > least to those religious leaders they allow to do their thinking for > them) that they see no reason children should be exposed to the books > or movie--it might convince the children to waiver from Christianity!

I only know that you've told me about it. I haven't read anything about it in the press nor have I seen anything on network news broadcasts.
For the record, I don't see anything wrong with Harry Potter books.

> Give me a break!

Choose a limb.

> >> There are places with laws on the books that restrict the > >> rights of minority members, too (try Kuwait or Iran). That doesn't > >> mean I have to either respect those places (and laws) or that the fact > >> they exist makes them any less offensive to a free society.
> >
> >We're not in Kuwait or Iran. Take your issues up with the respective > >governments.
>
> So we're not Kuwait or Iran. Does that make us perfect?

YOU brought up Kuwait and Iran. I thought you had a thing about them.
I don't believe I've even come close to stating that the U.S. is perfect.

> >> I think ANY restriction that can't be shown to prevent harm
> >> and that circumvents the role of the family in deciding a child's > >> manner of dress is wrong.
> >>
> >> Don't you?
> >
> >Only to a point. I don't think kids should wear clothing (i.e. T-shits) > >with any religious or political statements on them.
>
> Including Christian ones? If you support that perspective, > I'll agree with you. But if ONE religion is permitted to be > represented, all should receive equal treatment.

Yeah, including the Christian ones. Just don't try selling me on the idea that wicca practices constitute a religion.

> >> Show me where "Hamilton County" has stated that community > >> standards are NOT ways to suppress speech. Otherwise, you can't claim > >> they "disagree with me."
> >
> >The onus is on you to prove that Hamilton County has restricted free > >speech. Maybe you'd like to try a court challenge.
>
> No it isn't.

Yes it is.

> You cited Hamilton County. You prove or disprove your claims..

You already know about Hamilton County. You want me to prove that which you already know to exist? If you are interested enough, go read the law which is on the books. Again, you don't assign homework here.
There is no grade. I don't get a swell job if I do well. It's a newsgroup.

> >> How about citing the United States Constitution instead of the > >> views of a few religious zealots in the bible-belt, Dave? Or are those > >> zealots the only support you can find for your absurd claims?
> >
> >Please explain why the courts have not overturned the laws in those > >communities.

>
> Two reasons:
>
> 1. The SC established the "community standards" doctrine in > dealing with obscenity laws and it's pretty difficult to define what > that includes.
>
> 2. Very few people have had the resources to challenge those > laws--and the ones who have done so have often seen charges dropped by > prosecutors who are unwilling to risk the decision of a higher court > on shaky legislation.
>
> >It isn't a problem.
>
> >I don't believe I've said that.
>
> >I have no need for closed captions.
>
> >I don't have a parental control setting on my receiver.
>
> Do you notice a trend in your replies, Dave?
>
> I-I-I-I-I. What about other's rights? YOU don't care if shows > are "bleeped," or not (of course, we know they aren't, so . . .) so > who cares if others don't care for the practice. YOU don't need closed > captions, so screw those with hearing loss. YOU don't have parental > control settings so other people should be censored to prevent > offensive material from entering YOUR home--to save you the trouble of > turning the set off or changing the channel.

Yeah, I've noticed that you've suddenly stacked 'em all up neatly for me. I could easily go back through your stuff and find a numbers of "I's" in which you speak your views.

The Starz stuff is bleeped here. My wife confirms it. That you don't accept that is tough.

I don't need a parental control for my set. There are no children here.
Maybe you meant that it is to control my parents when they visit.

I don't need closed captioning. Neither my wife nor I have any hearing problem. There's also the fact that our living room TV and VCR are multi-system pieces of equipment bought overseas. Maybe you'd like to come for an inspection tour.

> >> >> If the Dish network DOES censor in that manner, it is simply a > >> >> good reason to choose DirecTV instead--since the alternative is > >> >> allowing someone ELSE to decide what is appropriate for you to hear.
> >> >
> >> >I don't agree with you at all. I find it kind of refreshing.
> >>

> >> Why? Does it keep you from having to think?
> >
> >When did one have to start thinking to watch TV? An article a few years > >back stated that one burn more calories while sleeping than while > >watching TV. How does hearing an oath cause my brain cell activity to > >pick up?
>
> How does hearing a "bleep" allow you to enjoy the dialog and
> acting?

Tell me, Rick. How many angels can dance on the head of a pin? I still find it kind of refreshing. Are you somehow offended that this is my belief? It certainly sounds like another example of, "Be reasonable. Do it MY way".

> >> What do they do when there is nudity or strongly sexual > >> content (also part of an "R" rating) Dave? Put "CENSORED BY FASCISTS" > >> banners across the screen?
> >
> >They run the video portion unedited to my knowledge.
>
> They run everything unedited, Dave, I tested your claim and it
> was false, remember?

You tested? Oh, OK. I must have been delirious and made the entire thing up in order to make a point with you here. Yeah, that's it...

> >> Must be relaxing for you not to have to watch tv and decide > >> for yourself about the adult parts & language; it's so much easier to > >> allow the American Family Association to do your thinking for you, > >> isn't it?
> >
> >Do you have a point?
>
> I just made it.

Not if I didn't get it, you didn't.

> >Stow the Vietnam stuff, Rick. You no more went to Vietnam to fight for > >freedom of speech than I did. We went because they sent us. One of the > >huge differences between us is that I don't wear Vietnam as an excuse.
> >You don't get to play the Vietnam card with me.
>
> I didn't "go because they sent me," Dave. I volunteered and I > voluntarily stayed for a second tour as well. And if I wasn't fighting > for freedom, then there was no reason for me to be there at > all--unlike you I don't do things strictly because someone in > authority tells me to--I do them because I believe in them. Had I not > believed that military service meant defending our rights and freedoms
> I would never have enlisted and, had my draft number been low, would > have emigrated to Canada instead of being drafted.

Oh, I volunteered for the Air Force, Rick. I didn't have "no steenking lottery number". As far as your statement which begins, "unlike you, I don't do things strictly because someone in authority tells me..."--it is unadulterated crap as it applies to your military service. You damn well DID do things because someone in authority told you and you didn't stop to reason with him or to ask why. Just don't try to cow another Vietnam vet with your "wrapped in the flag" personna. You tried that "I earned the right to..." stuff on another here recently. You didn't earn anything more than each American receives at birth--even those who never served in the military.

> >> Out of curiosity, as I recall you claim to have been in the > >> Foreign Service of the US. Since that's a part of the Department of > >> State, didn't you have to swear to uphold the Constitution of the > >> United States (as do other State Department officials both > >> domestically and abroad--and as the US military are required to do)?
> >> I'll bet that pesky Bill of Rights was a real pain to pretend to > >> support wasn't it--or is that why you're no longer a Foreign Service > >> employee?
> > >
> >I don't claim to have been in the Foreign Service. I was in the Foreign > >Service. I resent your cheap accusations.
> >
> Accusations, Dave?
> >
> To a person who has already been proven to have lied about his > tv reception?

That's simply so much crud, Rick--and not "accusations"--I said "cheap accusations".

> Why ever would I doubt your word on other subjects?

> More to the point--by claiming outrage here you just tried to > weasel out of answering the specific point I made. That's alright, > Dave, we'll just acknowledge the fact that you can't answer it and go > on from there.

Did you really have a point to make? Did you think I was going to dignify your "question" with a response? Let's turn it around: You served a few years in the military. I've done that and six overseas tours with State. I served my country for a couple of decades. If you choose not to accept my statement, I can live with that. It doesn't have any effect on my views or upon how I live up here on the hill. You'll still be raging against the system for quite a number of years in order to obtain what you claim are "rights". When and if your ideas come up for a vote hereabouts, I'll vote against 'em.

Dave K8MN

3167. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:35:16 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c291f_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26216

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0B514A.DA9F8536@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > The Pentagon is built in the shape of > > a pentagram. (snip)
>
>
> No, the Pentagon was built in the shape of a pentagon (pentagon - a > plane figure with five angles and five sides). A pentagram is a five > tipped star, also called a pentacle with a circle around it, that is > not shaped like the Pentagon building at all.
>
>
> > Wonder if your belief that the pentagram
> > is Satanic (snip)
>
>
> I didn't say a thing about my "belief" in anything, Kim. I simply > offered an explanation of why many schools have have started to ban > such symbols. However, it is true that the pentagram and pentacle have > long been occult symbols used in association with satanic identity -
> even today by those using various rehashed names (wiccams, pagans, > etc) to whitewash the association.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>

Hmmm, correct me if I'm wrong, but if my studies of Wicca serve me well, I believe it is the "internal" part of the star that is considered the "meat" of the pentagram, not the five points or the star itself. The shape of the Pentagon is the same as the internal part of a 5-pointed star. Isn't it?

Kim W5TIT

3168. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:36:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C272A.1A96EC71@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26213

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 02:03:50 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >I have no way of making a universal claim for Starz as received through > >the Dish Network. It is bleeped here.
>
> Sure you did. You claimed that the Dish Network bleeps
> "offensive" words in movies. Then you claimed you could only speak for > the Starz network since you don't receive CineMAX. Now, since your > claim was refuted, you claim you can't speak for Starz either.
>
> Earth to Dave--try consistency in your ravings.

I guess you'll have to drive down this way, Rick. Maybe one of the local farmers will let you watch Starz through his Dish Network system.
Most folks around here are friendly to strangers.

> >You can stow this one with your Vietnam comments. I'll not dignify it > >further.
>
> Translation: I got caught so I'l pretend it's beneath me to > respond.

You're pretty good at reading between the lines but not so good at actually reading the lines. I meant what I said.

> >You are one of the most obnoxious individuals I've encountered in ages,
>
> Dave, coming from someone with your values, I'll take that as > a compliment.

No translation? If you take that as a compliment, you'd love what I'm thinking right now.

Dave K8MN

3169. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:37:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C2774.194E52C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26215

```
Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:36:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> >> If you can't make your point without lying, Dave, don't bother > >> to make it at all. You'll understand if, from now on, I don't accept > >> ANYTHING you say without proof--you've demonstrated that there is no > >> reason to do so and every reason not to.
> >
> >So, by this reasoning, we can assume that by including Finland on your > >list of countries supposedly "freer" than the U.S., you were lying.
> >If you can't make your point without lying, Rick...
>
> Nice try Dave--but you have yet to demonstrate (with PROOF, > btw, not just on your unsupported statement) that Finland is NOT freer
> than the US.

Excuse me? What was your "proof" again?

Know any Finns? Call 'em and ask 'em.

Dave K8MN
```

3170. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:38:03 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c29c7_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26217

Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases. ROFLMAO...maybe Riley's right about my callsign...? NOT.

Kim W5TIT

"N2EY" <N2EY@aol.com> wrote in message news:975b4ea9.0112030541.48ebcc1b@posting.google.com...
> Here are the number of unexpired FCC ARS licenses held by individuals on the > dates listed:
>
> As of May 14, 2000:
>
> Novice - 49,329
> Tech - 205,394
> Tech Plus - 128,860
> General - 112,677
> Advanced - 99,782
> Extra - 78,750
> Total - 674,792
>
> Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 383,583
>
> Total General/Advanced/Extra: 291,209
>
> As of December 2, 2001:
>
> Novice - 40,430 (decrease of 8,899)
> Tech - 232,994 (increase of 27,600)
> Tech Plus - 86,268 (decrease of 42,592)
> General - 138,424 (increase of 25,747)
> Advanced - 86,668 (decrease of 13,114)
> Extra - 97,671 (increase of 18,921)
> Total - 682,455 (increase of 7,663)
>
> Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 359,692 (decrease of 23,891)
>
> Total General/Advanced/Extra: 322,763 (increase of 31,554)
>
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

3171. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:44:00 UTC
From: KU4YP <ku4yp@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <ATVO7.136$714.15460@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26218
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

well,

we can put this one to rest because i bought the rig. and, i plan to use it on 10 meters, espically during the upcoming contest. no, i do not use 11 meters. no, i do not care that it can be "modified" to operate on 11 meters. if this was illegal, over half of the rigs on the market and all homebrew stuff would be out the window. why? because most of them can be "modified" to operate on 11 meters. i mean, my car will do 100 mph, but i do not drive it 100 mph because that is against the law. same principle applies.

remember the swan 10/11 rigs? one solder movement on the tuning coil and your hauling the mail on channel 19. i know that. you know that. and everyone in or around radio for the past 25 years knows that. does that mean they can not be repaired back to factory spec's on 10 meters and used? i think not and so do alot of 10/11 owners.

now, what keeps "most" of us operating a station legally is our respect and attention to our license and fcc regulations.

this reminds me of a very good friend, who is now silent key who used a "moonraker 4" quad on ten meters to work a ton of dx. almost everyone in the club "talked down" about the guy's antenna. is it marketed as a "11 meter" antenna? sure. did he use it legally to operate 10 meters? sure. i failed to see the problem myself and fully supported his use of the antenna as long as it was within his operating privilage. for God's sake, we use wire, fence and alot of other "items" as antennas. hell, i even remember reading about a guy trying to load up an oak tree or something onetime. by the way, the "cb" antenna had one of the best front to back ratios on 10 meters i have ever seen in a beam.

so, yes, i know the rig can operate somewhere it should not. however, it is MY responsibility to operate it legally.

next slide.....

73 ku4yp
mike prevatt
10X #70625

3172. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:45:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c2b6e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26220

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9ugu650ada@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011203071635.20950.00000960@nso-cu.aol.com...
> > In article <3c0aefcd_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> writes:
> >
> > >The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram.
> >
> > No, it's in the shape of a pentagon, which is a regular polygon with 5
> sides.
> > (regular polygons have all sides the same length and all angles the same).
> >
> > A pentagram is a 5 pointed star inscribed in a pentagon.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> No. A five pointed star is a pentagon with the lines of each side extended > to the intersecting points. A pentagram is a five pointed star inscribed > within a circle.
>
>

THAT's it. Thanks, Krell. I couldn't remember all that stuff...and, am I right in that the center area of the star is the shape of the Pentagon building?

Kim W5TIT

3173. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:48:58 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <eYVO7.207782$3d2.9236315@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26219

> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Incidentally Dwight, would you
> > please set your editor to wrap
> > at 80 characters instead of > > wrapping at 40 characters?

"Dwight Stewart" wrote

> I have mine set to wrap at 70 characters, which means those with > editors set to 80 don't have to edit quotes from my messages so hard > to eliminate strangely wrapped text. I also wrap messages I quote down > even further, as I have done with this message, so those who include > that have nothing to wrap. So far, you're the only one who has > complained. Does anyone else have a problem with this system?

Dwight...

The 'style' is fine... it's the 'content' that's debatable... ;-)

Rich

3174. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 01:51:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0c2ceb$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26221
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:7952B1BE49E6C864.00EE3F407F4A176A.FC4B3FF0E0923D16@lp.airnews.net...
> On 3 Dec 2001 01:38:16 GMT, jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu (Jeffrey Herman)
> wrote:
>
> >Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
>
> "Hey y'all"
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

ho ho ho ho...ROFLMAO. Now, that's a good one, Joe!

Kim W5TIT

3175. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:50 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210750.03411.00001117@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26229

In article <3C0B47A9.5084E461@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>>
>> Dwight! I am so surprised at your >> above response. You are saying that >> you would not have lunch with a >> female co-worker, right? (snip)
>
> Yes, as I said, I would not have lunch with a female co-worker >unless there were other employees present. I've seen too many nasty >rumors, started by too many nasty people, with too many hurt feelings,
>to ever wish that on a fellow co-worker.

This is a good policy, Dwight.
>
>> And you are saying that continued
>> lunches with a female co-worker
>> will absolutely lead to a bad >> reputation? (snip)
>
> No, I did not say it would "absolutely" lead to a bad reputation.
>But, by the same token, I've seen it happen often enough to decide not >to offer an opportunity.

Right on target.

> I'm not talking about a bunch of co-workers >heading off to the lunch room for a break. I'm talking about leaving >the workplace to have private lunches with a single co-worker, or even >regular private get togethers with a single co-worker in the workplace.

Yup. There is another aspect to this as well. In our lawsuit-happy society, it is easy for some actions to be misinterpreted. Best not to even give the appearance of something questionable.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3176. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210751.03411.00001119@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26227

In article <3C0AF9B3.88F0B296@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dwight is obviously one of those >> Homo sapiens who hasn't yet evolved
>> to the stage where he is in control
>> of and responsible for his own >> feelings. :-)
>
>
> No, I don't attempt to suppress or control my feelings. I control >how I act on those feelings and I'm obviously responsible for them, >but I would never attempt to suppress or control how I feel (for that >matter, I don't think it's truly possible).
>
I agree, Dwight. I would say that a person is responsible for their behavior, but not their feelings.

People do, however, sometimes attempt to control their behavior by denying that they have certain feelings.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3177. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210751.03411.00001118@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26228

In article <3C0B4355.9CBD02A8@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>>
>> Exactly. I'm sure that divorce
>> statistics pre- and post-WWII
>> reflect the impact of the rise
>> in the predominance of women in >> the workplace.
>
>
> It's not just women in the work place. Much of this has been growing >in proportion to the industrial revolution (where first men, and later >women, left home to work elsewhere). Women in the workplace certainly >offered more opportunity than before (which caused the dramatic growth >you mention), but so did something as simple as easier transportation.

All sorts of things contributed. Cars with automatic starters, power steering and automatic transmissions made a big difference, for example.

>And, of course, a liberal media has had a influence on the situation also.

As did things like voting, higher education, contraception, and better public health. Relaxed laws resulting in "no-fault" divorces helped, too.

But the biggest cause for divorce has little to do with any of the above. The 800 pound gorilla problem is that many people get married without the necessary knowledge and skills to stay married. A marriage license is one of the easiest licenses to get, yet one of the most important.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3178. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:52 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210752.03411.00001120@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26223

In article <3C0C15AA.DA57CC54@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>I used the term in the sense of engineering a bridge that falls down -
>like the Tacomas Straits - was that the one?

The Tacoma Narrows bridge tore itself apart due to undamped oscillations in a sustained wind. The home movie of "Galloping Gertie's" last moments is an engineering classic.

The problem was that the bridge deck was too narrow in relation to its length.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3179. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:52 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210752.03411.00001121@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26225

In article <1083516BD16E1361.92D3A944BDF9B92C.F253BC455E844072@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 03 Dec 2001 05:03:09 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Simple test: Try de-horning cattle of species that grow horns. No matter how >>many generations you do it to, the next generation will grow horns.
>
> But, of course, if you selectively breed cattle with >progressively shorter horns together, eventually you WILL develop a >hornless herd.

Oh yes. Or if you select the occasional animals that are otherwise normal but have no horns and let them breed, you'll have a herd of hornless animals in short order.

But old Lysenko couldn't see that.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3180. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:53 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210753.03411.00001122@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26224

In article <1288960686891313.55A5F7EDCCAAD332.869A90DDC7A020E9@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>I never take advice on psychology from a retired electrical engineer.
>
> How about from a clinical psychologist/psychology professor?

Old joke but a good one:

Psychotics build castles in the air.
Neurotics live in them.
Psychologists collect the rent.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3181. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:07:53 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011203210753.03411.00001123@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26226

In article <9ugu650ada@enews4.newsguy.com>, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011203071635.20950.00000960@nso-cu.aol.com...
>> In article <3c0aefcd_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
>writes:
>>
>> >The Pentagon is built in the shape of a pentagram.
>>
>> No, it's in the shape of a pentagon, which is a regular polygon with 5
>sides.
>> (regular polygons have all sides the same length and all angles the same).
>>
>> A pentagram is a 5 pointed star inscribed in a pentagon.
>>
>> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>No. A five pointed star is a pentagon with the lines of each side extended >to the intersecting points. A pentagram is a five pointed star inscribed >within a circle.
>
Dang. I knew I should have paid more attention at Hogwarts.

Thanks for the correction, Krell.

Of course your prove the point even more than I did. The Pentagon is not a circle!

73 de Jim, N2EY

3182. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:17:33 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112031817.51203d95@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26230
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"KU4YP" ku4yp@earthlink.net wrote:
>well,

> we can put this one to rest because i bought the rig.
> and, i plan to use it on 10 meters, espically during the > upcoming contest.

TOO BAD YOUR LIMITED TO THOSE 450 'CHANNELS'. THAT WILL BE TOUGH ON
YOU TO MISS WORKING STATIONS IN BETWEEN THE "CHANNELS". ESPECIALLY IF YOUR A CONTESTER.

> no, i do not use 11 meters. no, i do > not care that it can be "modified" to operate on 11 meters.

LETS SEE. WHAT FREQ RANGE DOES THE "450 CHANNELS" COVER? ACCORDING TO http://www.radiomods.co.nz/comanchewarrior.html THE EXPANSION MOD
MAKES IT COVER CB FREQS. SO IT IS ALREADY AN ILLEGAL CB.

> >> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels in > >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.

AND NO CW, HUH....SURE THIS RADIO WAS DESIGNED FOR HAMS.

3183. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:17:48 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <gnWO7.248505$W8.8961085@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26231

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203210752.03411.00001121@nso-cb.aol.com...
> In article
<1083516BD16E1361.92D3A944BDF9B92C.F253BC455E844072@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >On 03 Dec 2001 05:03:09 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> >
> >>Simple test: Try de-horning cattle of species that grow horns. No matter how > >>many generations you do it to, the next generation will grow horns.
> >
> > But, of course, if you selectively breed cattle with > >progressively shorter horns together, eventually you WILL develop a > >hornless herd.
>
> Oh yes. Or if you select the occasional animals that are otherwise normal but > have no horns and let them breed, you'll have a herd of hornless animals
in > short order.
>
> But old Lysenko couldn't see that.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Or shoot an outlandish proportion of horned ones as has happened with tusked elephants. The proportion of tuskless elephants has been rising for years because of poaching.

This can happen by the law of unintended consequences. Shooting coyotes has produced some really effective coyotes by eliminating the stupid ones. But as Grandpa Stonebender put it, "If ye be wanting a better sheep, first ye invents a better coyote."

Dick BK

3184. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:20:52 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <8qWO7.248514$W8.8961094@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26232

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203210752.03411.00001120@nso-cb.aol.com...
> In article <3C0C15AA.DA57CC54@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >I used the term in the sense of engineering a bridge that falls down - > >like the Tacomas Straits - was that the one?
>
> The Tacoma Narrows bridge tore itself apart due to undamped oscillations in a > sustained wind. The home movie of "Galloping Gertie's" last moments is an > engineering classic.
>
> The problem was that the bridge deck was too narrow in relation to its length.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>
>

It is also a classic in the insurance biz about the law of agency. Seems the agent pocketed the premium, issued a binder, and neglected to tell the company. Damn near broke the company.

For what it is worth, well over half the insurance on the Titanic was assumed after it had been announced as sunk. Some people really bought off on the 'unsinkable' idea.

Beer Keg
>

3185. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:28:02 UTC
From: user@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <3c0c25a7.118388137@news.triconet.org>
Source record: 26233

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 00:07:24 GMT, Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote:

|Hrm.. Guess someone will have to email the FCC and find out.. All of the
|band charts I've seen (excepting the ARRL one you mentioned) show those
|segments as CW and Weak Signal. ::Shrug::

" TITLE 47--TELECOMMUNICATION

COMMISSION (CONTINUED)

PART 97--AMATEUR RADIO SERVICE--Table of Contents

Subpart D--Technical Standards

Sec. 97.305 Authorized emission types.

(a) An amateur station may transmit a CW emission on any frequency authorized to the control operator.
.
.
.

(c) A station may transmit the following emission types on the frequencies indicated, as authorized to the control operator, subject to the standards specified in Sec. 97.307(f) of this part.

2 m 144.1-148.0 MHz..... MCW, phone, image, RTTY, data,"

So by the above, CW is the ONLY emission type allowed in the 144.0 to 144.1 band segment.

"Weak signal" isn't a recognized type of signal emission, but a mode of operation.

The FCC doesn't give a rat's ass whether the signals we send and receive are "weak" or strong. They only care what the emission type is.

"Weak signal" in this context indicates that the people operating in that band segment are engaged in communications that require protection from all of the FunnyModulators, AFSK, FSK, BPSK, QSPK, PSK31and three-eights, and the mountain-top Army MARS repeater on 143.990 running AFSK nets with the limiter control full counterclockwise (it's happened).

QRP other than CW is not allowed. Period. In fact QRP CW shouldn't be allowed either. They ought to make a rule that says you must run at least 1KW to the antenna in the 144 to 144.1 segment.

N7WS

|
|-SSB
|
|CAM wrote:
|>
|> Sideband wrote:
|> >
|> > Refer to this chart, Page 2:
|> > http://www.icomamerica.com/downloads/bandchar.pdf
|> > It clearly shows that those two segments are CW and Weak Signal, which
|> > means CW and [QRP SSB or AM or RTTY].
|>
|> Welp, my ARRL Handbook clearly shows those two 100 kHz segments at the |> bottom of 6m and 2m to be "CW only". Wonder which one is right - the |> American one or the Japanese one?
|> --
|> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3186. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:43:37 UTC
From: Rob <crandall@ee.net> Message-ID: <tLWO7.116$i57.1720@news>
Source record: 26222
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Now ladies go to your rooms!
"Jeffrey Herman" <jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu> wrote in message
news:9uel28$bm8$1@news.hawaii.edu...
> In article <9udon60mf3@enews4.newsguy.com>, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:
>
> >"Shane Minor" <Shane0319@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> >> HI HI.
>
> >HI HI is intended for use on CW to indicate something humorous. When spoken > >or written in a message, however, it makes you look like an idiot. Maybe
you > >should tell Santa that you need a clue for Christmas.
>
> Krell: "CQ" and "73" and other prosigns originated on the landline > telegraph and carried over to wireless telegraphy, yet they're both > welcome and used on phone; if you had HF privileges you yourself > would even be using them on phone, yet no one would dare call you an > idiot for saying them.
>
> Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
> Post your reply to the NG; we're all waiting...
>
> 73, Jeff KH6O
>
>
> --
> Telecommunication Specialist Mathematics Lecturer
> U.S. Coast Guard University of Hawaii System
> jherman @ d14.uscg.mil jeffreyh @ hawaii.edu

3187. Re: Another repeat case of 14.275 QRM

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:52:43 UTC
From: wz8a@aol.commie.NOT Message-ID: <20011203215243.17397.00001539@mb-mg.aol.com>
Source record: 26234

>From: "KC8JBO"
>> There is better solution. Let K1MAN have 14.275.

Whatever 14.275 may have going on it, don't let it be Baxter and his idiot one-way transmissions and Bermuda Net jamming sessions!

End the massive abuses of 26 USC section 6103 - written to protect taxpayers, not hide IRS misconduct. Remove from our government those IRS 'Disclosure Officers' who obstruct justice, rather that protect taxpayer privacy.
Reform IRS! AK

3188. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:53:52 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <4VWO7.248569$W8.8964942@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26235
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Jeffrey Herman wrote

> Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
> Post your reply to the NG; we're all waiting...

Yeah... it's "Hello all Stations"

Rich

3189. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 02:56:21 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <1000F952C116E921.67BF1485A7969841.70CAB5BD7D0EBFF4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26236
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Mon, 3 Dec 2001 19:51:28 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
>news:7952B1BE49E6C864.00EE3F407F4A176A.FC4B3FF0E0923D16@lp.airnews.net...
>> On 3 Dec 2001 01:38:16 GMT, jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu (Jeffrey Herman)
>> wrote:
>>
>> >Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
>>
>> "Hey y'all"

>ho ho ho ho...ROFLMAO. Now, that's a good one, Joe!

And you don't have to tell them where you're from :)

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3190. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:07:52 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <13de3299e8c9d280c48b1cd9d9ddc28b.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 26237
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb

"W0MN" <gbaron@mailandnews.com> wrote

>
> In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in > the ham bands because they are not type accepted. At least the vast > majority are not.
>

Have to disagree with half of that statement, Gil.

I can use _any_ radio I want in the Ham Bands without any kind of type acceptance. So long as I stay inside the band, put out a clean signal, observe power limits, etc, then it's totally legal.

The FCC doesn't give a rip who built it, what it originally was intended to be used for (CB, military, taxicab, railroad, whatever), or what modifications I have made to it. I could legally build a full KW rig with full coverage from 2MHz to 2GHz, and so long as I only used it inside the ham bands I haven't broken a single rule and the FCC couldn't care less.

Wish all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted from 2cust29.tnt3.minneapolis3.mn.da.uu.net [63.22.112.29]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3191. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:14:30 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9uhf1d017lh@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26246

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c0c2b6e_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> THAT's it. Thanks, Krell. I couldn't remember all that stuff...and, am I > right in that the center area of the star is the shape of the Pentagon > building?
>
> Kim W5TIT

That's right. Also, a five pointed star can be made from all of the diagonals of a pentagon, but it still is not a pentagram, because it is not within a circle.

3192. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:15:31 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9uhf26017nh@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26247

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203210753.03411.00001123@nso-cb.aol.com...
> Dang. I knew I should have paid more attention at Hogwarts.

Five points from Griffindor!

3193. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:22:40 UTC
From: KU4YP <ku4yp@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <4kXO7.330$714.42694@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26238
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

hello,

>TOO BAD YOUR LIMITED TO THOSE 450 'CHANNELS'. THAT WILL BE TOUGH ON
>YOU TO MISS WORKING STATIONS IN BETWEEN THE "CHANNELS". ESPECIALLY IF >YOUR A CONTESTER.

thanks for your concern. check the past years stats. i have never scored high enough to mention in a contest. i just enjoy working the contest. i am happy with my purchase. thanks for asking.
>
>LETS SEE. WHAT FREQ RANGE DOES THE "450 CHANNELS" COVER? ACCORDING TO >http://www.radiomods.co.nz/comanchewarrior.html THE EXPANSION MOD >MAKES IT COVER CB FREQS. SO IT IS ALREADY AN ILLEGAL CB.

obviously, you did not read and understand my earlier post to this thread.

>AND NO CW, HUH....SURE THIS RADIO WAS DESIGNED FOR HAMS.
>
i work code, but it is not my favorite mode. guess a swan 240 was not designed for hams either since it was designed to be a ssb only rig. i do not think a radio is "designed" for hams just because it is able to operate cw.

catch you on 10 meters! and, by the way, merry christmas!

mike prevatt
ku4yp

3194. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:28:47 UTC
From: Richard Malone <malone1956@home.net> Message-ID: <PpXO7.76910$Ze5.43794419@news1.rdc1.md.home.com>
Source record: 26239
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Well guys, I'm just coming in on the end of this thread but I have to agree with ku4yp. I know there has been a feud between the "cb" and "ham" populations since before time. But look around at the auctions, newsgroups, etc. and you'll see everything in the world used and accepted in the amateur radio world. I don't recall a Motorola amateur radio, however you might find more of those radios for sale than Yaesu, Icom or Kenwood. There's a mod list longer than a roll of Charmin telling us how we can mod this or that radio to do this or that. I remember an article in QST years ago explaining how to remove a solder jump to enable a radio to transmit across the expanded 136-174 Mhz band. They defended the article by stating in the event of an emergency, you may need to transmit across that band. I can understand that. If a man built a transmitter out of old parts laying around the house, he's a good ham, but if he started with a radio that works 11 meters or even targets 11 meter markets he's not??? I think not.

73's Richard
n3fif

IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:ce9e428e.0112031817.51203d95@posting.google.com...
> "KU4YP" ku4yp@earthlink.net wrote:
> >well,
>
> > we can put this one to rest because i bought the rig.
> > and, i plan to use it on 10 meters, espically during the > > upcoming contest.
>
> TOO BAD YOUR LIMITED TO THOSE 450 'CHANNELS'. THAT WILL BE TOUGH ON
> YOU TO MISS WORKING STATIONS IN BETWEEN THE "CHANNELS". ESPECIALLY IF > YOUR A CONTESTER.
>
> > no, i do not use 11 meters. no, i do > > not care that it can be "modified" to operate on 11 meters.
>
> LETS SEE. WHAT FREQ RANGE DOES THE "450 CHANNELS" COVER? ACCORDING TO > http://www.radiomods.co.nz/comanchewarrior.html THE EXPANSION MOD > MAKES IT COVER CB FREQS. SO IT IS ALREADY AN ILLEGAL CB.
>
> > >> Comanche Warrior 10 meter base station radio for sale. 450 channels
in > > >> Am, Fm, Usb & Lsb modes. Unit is stock other than frequency expansion.
>

> AND NO CW, HUH....SURE THIS RADIO WAS DESIGNED FOR HAMS.

3195. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:43 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223143.28714.00002776@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26240

In article <20011203102327.08912.00000624@mb-cr.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ) writes:

>>Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
>
> Hey Jeff...Isn't it just "Calling all Stations?"

Steve:

I think that it would more accurately be defined as "Calling Any Station." If Jeff is looking for the ITU phonetic equivalent, it would obviously be "Charlie Quebec," "Quebec" being pronounced "Kay Beck."

73 de Larry, K3LT

3196. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:44 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223144.28714.00002777@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26242

In article <61D2CC1B61B6AE69.8E5AE0CD29100FA8.A609C01956D9931B@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>Perhaps it is not seeing the harm in Kim's call sign which requires >>a dirty mind!
>
> That one was _really_ weak, Larry. I count on you for a more >intelligent response than that.
>
> Rick

Rick:

As always, a personal attack is the best confirmation that I have hit the nail right on the head!

73 de Larry, K3LT

3197. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:44 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223144.28714.00002778@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26244

In article <EC1F625585CCEE6B.C1793C64BD1D00EB.D51633617FC89882@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most >>homosexual "couples" want for their children.
>
> Sure. Just like all military families want their kids to die >in a war, right?
>
> Get off your homophobic delusions, Larry, and learn something >about the subject before you make such stupid and inaccurate >statements.
>
> Rick

Rick:

Sooo, your saying, then, that most homosexual couples go out of their way to ensure that their children turn out to be normal, unconfused heterosexuals? I certainly hope that this is so -- perhaps you can provide some quantifiable proof?

73 de Larry, K3LT

3198. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:45 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223145.28714.00002779@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26241

In article <3c0c23c7_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most >> homosexual "couples" want for their children.
>>
>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>>
>
>The true pity, folks, is Larry likely believes that.
>
>Kim W5TIT

Kim:

The fact that you feel the need to imply that I may not believe what I post leads me to conclude that perhaps, you don't believe in what you post! Trust me, I don't post statements like the above unless
I do, in fact, believe what I am saying.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3199. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:45 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223145.28714.00002780@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26245

In article <3c0ad245_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>
>Oh, sure Riley said what he said. I don't negate that at all. However, I >have no problems with my callsign...at all. The problems Riley has with it >are his, the problems you have with it are yours. And so on. I like it.
>I'll keep it. The ARS will not go into extinction, and that can be proven.

Kim:

As Riley (that's MISTER Hollingsworth to you) clearly stated, the negative impact of your callsign exists in the form of the potential discouragement of concerned parents, grandparents, and other influential adults from bringing young, impressionable children into the realm of Amateur Radio as a result of hearing or seeing your call sign, which has the effect of objectifying women in a demeaning manner. The potential for you to bring the ARS "...one step closer to extinction" is a reality. Of course, you might not admit this, because it doesn't serve your selfish motives to do so. However, I hold out the hope that you may, possibly, do the right thing, someday. I have faith in your potential to change, even if you don't see that possibility on your radar screen at this time. I like to see the potential for good in people, and I don't exclude you whatsoever.

>Sorry, you're wrong. As usual. And notice I didn't have to use any worn >out cliches to make my point...

Well, not this time, at least.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3200. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:31:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011203223146.28714.00002781@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26243

In article <3C0ADCBA.49DC4701@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Kim, let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: Riley Hollingsworth's >> words were true. That makes this YOUR problem.
>
>Actually, it is not Kim's problem at all. The Constitution >protects people like Kim from people like you and Riley.

Cecil:

Kim's Constitutional right to make a fool of herself and all other YL hams is not the issue; Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that point, and I have repeatedly acknowledged this. That doesn't change the fact that the potential negative impact of her decision to select a call sign, which is in poor taste, still exists. This is Kim's problem, and always will be unless and until she decides to change her call sign to one which reflects better taste and judgment.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3201. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 03:55:27 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <79DD107831C9FA2E.418FBA9141CE663E.276BFD31757E1512@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26248
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 01:44:00 GMT, "KU4YP" <ku4yp@earthlink.net> wrote:

>well,
>
> we can put this one to rest because i bought the rig.

Cool, now we can hassle you for the details :)

How's it sound?

>hell, i even remember reading about a >guy trying to load up an oak tree

I'm not even going to go into the safety issues involved in getting an oak tree to the top of a tower...

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3202. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 04:40:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C53C7.957DCBC2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26249

N2EY wrote:
> The problem was that the bridge deck was too narrow in relation to its length.

Yep, it was engineered to fail although the engineers didn't realize it at the time.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3203. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 04:52:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C567D.4ABBB9D5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26250

Rick Adams wrote:
> It sounds nice, Cecil, but what it really says is that the > poor can go p--- up a rope!

Actually, it says that we shouldn't contribute to breeding herds of poor people. I think it was Ayn Rand who said if we took all the wealth and divided it equally that in 50 years, the rich people would have all their wealth back and the poor people would be just as poor. I have some experience with a poor family. I adopted the youngest girl and supported the mother and two older daughters.
No matter how much money I gave them, they remained just as poor.
At one point I was giving them more money than it cost me and my two girls to live.

> ... there simply wouldn't be the funding to help them.

I'm sorry you feel that way about your fellow man. A poor guy whose wife just had a baby asked me if I had any work that he could do for me. I gave him $50. He spent it mostly on cigarettes.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3204. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 04:56:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5777.D7513DC4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26151

Dave Heil wrote:
> Excuse me? What was your "proof" again?
> Know any Finns? Call 'em and ask 'em.

I just heard some interesting trivia on the radio. Question:
Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3205. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:03:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5921.3EE87898@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26152

Dave Heil wrote:
> Infer what you like.

I'd rather infer what you provide for me. So exactly what does Jerome Bettis have to do with your 52 year old rolypoly body?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3206. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:10:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5AD2.385DD3FD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26153

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Kim's Constitutional right to make a fool of herself and all other YL
> hams is not the issue; Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that > point, and I have repeatedly acknowledged this.

Mr. Hollingsworth and you are both dinosaurs as far as morality goes. To give you an idea how the world has changed in the last 50 years, I am in a Southern Baptist Christmas Pageant in which the woman who plays Mary, the mother of Jesus, is actually in reality six months pregnant.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3207. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:12:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5B2C.6AF55825@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26155

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:
> > Texas Towers has always asked for a callsign when I've bought anything > > capable of transmitting.
>
> They have???? They've never asked me, my husband, my father, other hams I > know.

They even asked me my callsign when I bought a piece of aluminum capable of transmitting. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3208. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:13:19 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5B6F.9A9EF90E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26156
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
> Hrm.. Guess someone will have to email the FCC and find out.. All of the > band charts I've seen (excepting the ARRL one you mentioned) show those > segments as CW and Weak Signal. ::Shrug::

"The FCC Rule Book" is not good enough for you?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3209. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:13:37 UTC
From: Larry Roll <k3lt@magpage.com>
Message-ID: <9uhm21$aq8$0@216.155.32.45>
Source record: 26154

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> ROFLMAO....^5 Rick.

And THIS is one of Kim's more intelligent postings!

73 de Larry, K3LT

3210. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:17:37 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5C71.9E36DDB5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26158
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Krell wrote:
> So what's that have to do with use of "HI HI" that's spoken or used in > print? (unless the printed matter is a morse transcription) What's wrong > with actually laughing at something?

There's nothing wrong with laughing but during half-duplex operation, nobody can hear you. When one comes back on, one can say, "HI HI on that last joke", instead of feigning a fake delayed laugh.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3211. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:18:37 UTC
From: Larry Roll <k3lt@magpage.com>
Message-ID: <9uhmbdcfb0@216.155.32.45>
Source record: 26157

> > They can refuse to sell to anybody. In this case, suspicion of intent > > to use the equipment in an illegal manner would probably cover them > > against any potential discrimination claim.
> >
> > Texas Towers has always asked for a callsign when I've bought anything > > capable of transmitting.
> >
>
> They have???? They've never asked me, my husband, my father, other hams > I know.
>
> Kim W5TIT

I've done business with AES and HRO for years, and they always ask my callsign. It just happens to be a convenient way to index their sales records in their computer. It's also a highly individual ID -- prevents the guesswork of multiple Smiths, Joneses, Browns, etc. If Texas Towers doesn't ask for and use call signs in this manner, one must wonder why?

73 de Larry, K3LT

3212. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:22:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0C5D9E.899911F6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26159
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

IllegalCBersMustGO wrote:
> LETS SEE. WHAT FREQ RANGE DOES THE "450 CHANNELS" COVER? ACCORDING TO
> http://www.radiomods.co.nz/comanchewarrior.html THE EXPANSION MOD > MAKES IT COVER CB FREQS. SO IT IS ALREADY AN ILLEGAL CB.

Most any homebrew 10m transceiver covers 11m as well. As long as the ham doesn't transmit on 11m, no law has been broken. It is not illegal for hams to modify CB equipment for use on 10m.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3213. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 05:43:11 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C0C6212.298A6008@spam.me.not>
Source record: 26160
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

The portion you quoted did not say anything about the subbands in question.. It stated that CW was "legal" everywhere, and that ssb started at .1 for each band.

Barring the specific exclusion of any particular mode in your quote, I would think it would be best to get it directly from the FCC themselves.

Of course, you've clipped that quote from your most recent reply, so I'll requote it here...

>... from "The FCC Rule Book": "97.305 An amateur station may >transmit a CW emission on any frequency authorized to the control >operator." Under "emissions types authorized":
>6m 50.1-51.0 MHz - RTTY, data (doesn't include 50.0-50.1)
>2m 144.1-148.0 MHz - RTTY, data (doesn't include 144.0-144.1)

I assume the portion in parenthesis was added by you....

Based on the evidence you've presented, Weak Signal emissions don't seem to be excluded from 50.0 to 50.1 and 144.0 to 144.1. Since you've not provided any facts to the contrary, the question remains unanswered.
Would it be incorrect to go to the authority in this matter (the FCC) to get the question answered?

de AB8LR

-SSB

CAM wrote:
>
> Sideband wrote:
> > Hrm.. Guess someone will have to email the FCC and find out.. All of the > > band charts I've seen (excepting the ARRL one you mentioned) show those > > segments as CW and Weak Signal. ::Shrug::
>
> "The FCC Rule Book" is not good enough for you?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3214. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 07:00:56 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <5BE0F2A37B79F1DB.3CDA8427999C9ACD.291FD45F830DDAD3@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26161
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 19:06:24 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:

>On Mon, 3 Dec 2001 15:04:49 -0600, "W0MN" <gbaron@mailandnews.com>
>wrote:
>
>>In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in >>the ham bands because they are not type accepted. At least the vast >>majority are not.
>
>Ham radios don't have to be type accepted. If they did, the entire >homebrewing aspect of ham radio would be illegal. Buying an 11m radio >and modifying it for legitimate 10m use is no different than building >a 10m radio.

Now that I think about it, why the hell am I, a codeless Tech, having to tell an Extra what is and isn't legal on HF?

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3215. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 07:01:06 UTC
From: jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu
Message-ID: <9uhsbi$qb0$1@news.hawaii.edu>
Source record: 26163
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net> wrote:

>Jeffrey Herman wrote
>> Here's a quiz just for you: State the ITU phone equivalent of "CQ."
>> Post your reply to the NG; we're all waiting...

>Yeah... it's "Hello all Stations"

That's good, Rich; Krell dodged the question.

Since Krell's so adamant in believing that it's incorrect to say
"HI HI" on phone (to the point that he called someone an idiot), then surely he must believe it's incorrect to call "CQ" on phone, too. He'll be the first ham to ever say "Hello All Stations."

Jeff KH6O

--
Telecommunication Specialist Mathematics Lecturer
U.S. Coast Guard University of Hawaii System
jherman @ d14.uscg.mil jeffreyh @ hawaii.edu

3216. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 07:12:12 UTC
From: jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu
Message-ID: <9uht0c$qu3$1@news.hawaii.edu>
Source record: 26164
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
>So what's that have to do with use of "HI HI" that's spoken or used in

The point being that since the CW prosigns "CQ" and "73" are universally accepted and used on phone, you shouldn't call folks derogatory names for also saying "HI HI"; it's just another CW prosign that's been adopted for phone.

Jeff KH6O

--
Telecommunication Specialist Mathematics Lecturer
U.S. Coast Guard University of Hawaii System
jherman @ d14.uscg.mil jeffreyh @ hawaii.edu

3217. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 07:18:48 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112032318.1ae87bc9@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26162
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message news:<79DD107831C9FA2E.418FBA9141CE663E.276BFD31757E1512@lp.airnews.net>...
>Ham radios don't have to be type accepted. If they did, the entire >homebrewing aspect of ham radio would be illegal. Buying an 11m radio
>and modifying it for legitimate 10m use is no different than building
>a 10m radio.

>Now that I think about it, why the hell am I, a codeless Tech, having >to tell an Extra what is and isn't legal on HF?

HMMMMMMMMM. COME TO THINK OF IT WHY DOES A PERSON LIKE KD5NRH WHO CANT LEGALLY OPERATE ON 10 METERS RUSH IN TO DEFEND THE SALE OF THESE FAKE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS ?????????

3218. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:04:02 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C915B.D1662F8F@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26165

N2EY wrote:
>
> The Tacoma Narrows bridge tore itself > apart due to undamped oscillations in a > sustained wind. The home movie of > "Galloping Gertie's" last moments is an > engineering classic.
>
> The problem was that the bridge deck was > too narrow in relation to its length.

Well, they'll probably get another chance at it fairly soon. The current bridge (built to replace "Galloping Gertie") is in poor repair and traffic routinely exceeds it's design limits. As a result, a new, even wider, bridge will have to be built soon to end the massive gridlock caused by the limited capacity of the current bridge. Then we'll see how a much wider bridge stands up to the winds through the narrows.

By the way, the current bridge is no ride in the park when the winds blow. If you walk out on a windy day, you can get motion sickness from the bouncing around. Because of the vehicle springs and shock absorbers, you don't notice it as much when riding.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3219. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:21:12 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C955E.8C6892A6@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26166

CAM wrote:
>
> Libertarianism is based on a system > of principles. Moving toward the > "middle" would compromise those > principles. It is interesting that > you suggest that Libertarians should > do exactly what you find objectionable > about the Democrats and Republicans, > i.e. the compromising of their basic > principles.

The Democrats and Republicans have moved to the middle. What I'm suggesting is for Libertarians to move towards the middle, without moving all the way to it. The key is to take some of the rough edges off some issues, without going so far as to compromise principles.

> Shows how little you know about > Libertarian principles, Dwight. In a > nutshell, Libertarians are social > liberals and economic conservatives.

Well, I don't want to get into a point by point discussion of the party's positions (and that is exactly where this thread is heading). Besides, it seems others are more willing to do that, so I'll let them. Instead, I'll just leave it with what I said above.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3220. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:32:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0F05C92B79132959.4FD6EE3932617254.A75F2E6B939B652E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26167

On 04 Dec 2001 03:31:44 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>> That one was _really_ weak, Larry. I count on you for a more >>intelligent response than that.
>>
>> Rick
>
>Rick:
>
>As always, a personal attack is the best confirmation that I have hit
>the nail right on the head!

Actually, that was a compliment to your intelligence, Larry. I wouldn't have _expected_ a more intelligent response in the first place from some of the people in this thread.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3221. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:32:27 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A2DA16DADF4031AC.C0A895AF7F845982.187C5817EB17E639@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26168

On 04 Dec 2001 02:07:53 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Old joke but a good one:
>
>Psychotics build castles in the air.
>Neurotics live in them.
>Psychologists collect the rent.

And psychiatrists provide the drugs for the parties.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3222. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:32:27 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B37622189F6F5680.BCD1E72B62A798F1.0E3DB91600B0313A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26169

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 18:15:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>> But who pays for them?
>
>Taxes for now. But the thinking is that if the judicial system would >charge for its civil services, those charges for things like contract >enforcement would bear the brunt of the cost of all proper functions >of government. Something like a 10% fee on the total amount of >the contract for guaranteeing enforcement of the contract.

I could see charging for civil services (provided, of course, that the loser in the action was the one who had to pay, not the winner). But you can't expect those fees to cover the cost of the criminal justice system--particularly if you include corrections. And while it might be nice to picture convicts paying their own board and room there would be two problems with that:

1. It would permit successful criminals (who have considerable savings on the outside) to afford a better level of treatment than less successful ones--which rewards success at crime, hardly the optimum situation.

2. If convicts are required to do productive work to pay their way, that means that jobs for honest citizens will be taken away and given to them. Again, this is a way of rewarding dishonest behavior and penalizing honest behavior.

>> My strongest conflict with the Libertarian party, however,
>> comes in the area of social programs.
>
>Yep, and that's an area where we will have to agree to disagree.
>I simply don't believe in rewarding failure and penalizing success.
>Over my lifetime, the government has done me more financial harm >than criminals have done to everyone else that I personally know.

Sorry, Cecil, but that's way too elitist for me.

What about battered women, widows with small kids, people who are disabled, seniors with no pensions, the mentally ill, those who are learning disabled or retarded, displaced workers, those who are laid off, or unemployed workers in a depressed economy? For that matter what about medical coverage for those who can't afford it? Do we just let children starve or become ill because the parents can't afford to pay for their food and medical expenses--or do we terminate their rights as parents because they are poor and place the kids with strangers?

Too many weaknesses there for me--and for many other people--which is one of the greatest reasons the Libertarian party isn't very likely to displace the "majors" until it decides to revise its position on these issues.

>I used the term in the sense of engineering a bridge that falls down -
>like the Tacomas Straits - was that the one?

Close, it was the Tacoma Narrows Bridge! :-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3223. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:32:27 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0D34E0994F53AD8F.0B46CF5C2C1DACF3.B1FF811944C62C9F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26170

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 22:52:13 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Actually, it says that we shouldn't contribute to breeding herds >of poor people.

Which, of course, assumes that poverty is caused by genetics.

We've had a lot of people who emerged from poverty and did pretty well for themselves--and for the country (think Lincoln, Carnegie, Clinton, etc.). Your view would simply take the attitude that only those who are successful deserve to have children.

> I think it was Ayn Rand who said if we took all >the wealth and divided it equally that in 50 years, the rich people >would have all their wealth back and the poor people would be just >as poor.

Which is about as classest of a statement as anyone could make. Ayn Rand had some good ideas and was a very good fiction writer, but I wouldn't base an economic system on her philosophy.

>I have some experience with a poor family. I adopted the >youngest girl and supported the mother and two older daughters.
>No matter how much money I gave them, they remained just as poor.
>At one point I was giving them more money than it cost me and my >two girls to live.

Cecil, in the United States, the average welfare recipient is a caucasian woman who has been widowed, divorced, or deserted by her husband, lives in a rural area, has 2 children at least one of whom is under school age, and does not have the job skills necessary to earn enough to pay for both child care and their minimal costs of living.
She will spend 1.9 years of her life on welfare and an additional .8 years on food stamps and medicaid, the cost of which she will pay back into the system within 9 years of working.

That is the person you are planning to remove the support network from, not the stereotype crack mother or the person who takes advantage of others as was done with you.

If all welfare recipients were like the ones depicted on television and in right wing literature, I would agree with removing welfare (although not completely--kids STILL deserve our protection, they aren't responsible for their parent's actions). But the fact of the matter is, they are not.

Incidently, welfare only counts for a very small part of our transfer payments--the largest portion by far is Social Security. By simply making Social Security need based using the same needs tables as are used for OTHER transfer payments, we would cut our transfer payments to 20% of today's levels.

>> ... there simply wouldn't be the funding to help them.
>
>I'm sorry you feel that way about your fellow man. A poor guy >whose wife just had a baby asked me if I had any work that he >could do for me. I gave him $50. He spent it mostly on cigarettes.

Maybe you should have tried to suggest a place for him to work, instead. I don't feel that "giving" money IS the best solution. A person receiving welfare or other transfer payments should have to demonstrate progress toward independence (seniors, the disabled and mentally ill excepted, obviously)--but there are a variety of ways to do that. In order of benefit to society they are:

1. Education. Every study ever conducted demonstrated that an investment in education for the poor is almost invariably returned by increased taxes. An educated person is seldom likely to need state assistance (emergencies and serious recessions excepted, of course).

2. Job training and underwriting. By underwriting the expense of training people for semi-skilled positions (through tax incentives or outright payment) we can remove people from the unskilled labor market (notoriously under-employed) and place them in higher paying, and more secure, semi-skilled jobs.

3. Job preparation programs. As simple a thing as teaching people how to interview for a job, how to fill out an application for work, or how to conduct a job search can be sufficient to move someone from the ranks of the chronically unemployed to that of the employed.

4. Job search programs and community service. By conducting both as mandatory parts of a welfare program (assuming none of the above, preferable, options is available or exercised), we not only insure that welfare recipients ARE seeking work (where practical--it may make better sense to support a mother with small children for the few years it takes until they are in school than to pay for child care while she works at minimum wage--particularly if she uses that time to improve her education or skills) but by community service we simultaneously provide the community benefits and the welfare recipient the experience of working at a regular job and meeting the requirements of his or her position.

Your method would simply leave these people on the streets, Cecil. Because while you may personally be willing to donate some money from time to time most Americans aren't going to do so--and the result will be that the dollars you donate will be eaten up in administrative costs instead of used to benefit the poor.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3224. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 09:32:28 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F24264628A3673FB.2DB42A396FF6E220.0F19BEDDE51984EB@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26171

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 01:33:25 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Your attempts to limit MY thinking to that which is approved by you >would then seem to be close-minded.

I don't attempt to limit your thinking, Dave, I just search for indications that you DO think.

>You are a great role model, Rick. You reject whichever laws with which >you do not agree but are quick to jump on the lawsuit bandwagon. You >talk out of both sides of your mouth.

Lawsuits provide a neutral playing field in which both participants have the opportunity to state their positions--a criminal action provides only a platform to demonstrate guilt or innocence, a very different thing.

And if you feel it's wrong to reject laws with which you don't agree try telling that to Gandhi, MLK, or the Revolutionaries at the Boston Tea Party for that matter. Presumably, had you been typical of our forefathers we'd still be subjects of the Crown.

>> Too bad. I'd like to compare it to those I received from the >> first year students in one of my classes to see how far you needed to >> progress before you could discuss a subject objectively instead of
>> from a biased perspective.

>You aren't in a position of authority, Rick. You might be able to blow >smoke in a classroom and intimidate some student. I'm afraid you are >likely to be disappointed at my lack of deference toward you here.

No problem, Dave. You have so many features lacking here that this is just the least of them.

>> And in both cases you cite the people got their tattoos after >> becoming adults. So much for the concept that if they are forbidden as >> youths they will mature and not do so later.
>
>Actually not. The folks I cite had their tattoos done prior to reaching >the age of majority. There goes your poof point.

What ages did they get them?

>> I would have to regard dying for political or economic >> interests a trifle sillier than getting a tattoo, wouldn't you?
>
>Sure, Rick. If a person is able to join the military without parental >consent, that person is old enough to get a tattoo. The person can >still be immature enough to make a decision he'll later regret.

And what of the 17 year old who HAS his or her parent's permission to enlist? The military will treat him/her like an adult and expect the same of him or her that they do of a 21 year old recruit. Shouldn't he or she have the same rights that would be available at 18--including the right to decide if he or she wants a tattoo?

If the answer is no, how can you justify permitting such an individual to enter the military in the first place?

If the answer is yes, then how can you justify saying that a 17 year old is old enough to make THAT decision but not old enough to make a decision about a tattoo--regardless of whether he or she DOES choose to join the military or not?

But if 17 is an acceptable age for a tattoo, then your argument that a person must achieve majority goes up in smoke.

>> >Gee, I think I see how they won.
>>
>> Really?
>>
>> How?
>
>...by applying the laws of their community rather than those of New >York.

Translation: By limiting the actions of a firm in NYC to those acceptable for a firm in "Uptightville, GA."

>> By proving that a firm outside their jurisdiction cannot do >> business with a citizen in their jurisdiction w/o being prosecuted for >> actions that are legal everywhere else? They didn't prosecute the >> person who RECEIVED the shows, Dave (that would have rather quickly >> overturned the law and they knew it), they prosecuted the network for >> delivering them.
>
>Seems to me that they should have prosecuted the individual subscribing.

They would have lost. That WOULD have violated his First Amendment rights. The prosecutor himself stated that publicly.

>If the law was overturned, that is the way things work in this society.

It wasn't overturned--that's the problem. If it ISN'T overturned it will mean a radical change in the nature of the programs we receive on Television--and not one in the direction of freedom of choice.

>> Don't like em? Vote with your feet, stupid. Don't watch em.
>

>Y'know, that's just what we do. We watch selectively.

And that, not censorship, is the sane way to respond to unwanted programming. If not enough people want it to make it profitable, the networks are going to cancel it--but if enough people want it, it's unreasonable to prevent them from receiving it simply because one group of people don't care for that type of entertainment.

>What "people like you" believe is that there is some sort of right have >sexually explicit material and so-called "adult" language beamed into >homes across the land.

There is such a right, Dave. It's called freedom of speech.

> How about this: If you want that kind of >material in your home, you pay extra for a subscription. The material >then enters only the homes of those who desire it.

Earth to Dave:

That's EXACTLY what the premium channels ARE! I pay for HBO, Showtime, Starz, and other such channels because I CHOOSE to view uncut and commercial free movies and documentaries. If those shows are
'R-Rated' it's my decision whether I want to view/hear them or not--and if I do, it shouldn't be anyone else's concern but my own.

The case with the Tuxedo network is another similar example.
Not only is Tuxedo subscription only--it is scrambled so that if you don't have a decoder you CAN'T view or hear it at all! Yet one small community in Georgia was able to prevent that network from delivering content to an adult, paid, subscriber in Georgia. THAT, Dave, is going way too far.

I have no objection to reasonable controls on the content of BROADCAST television. But the subscription channels are a totally different matter. If you can't receive it w/o subscribing it isn't the government's concern to determine what it's content will be.

>> That isn't the point. The point is that you are unwilling to >> allow others to MAKE that choice for themselves!
>
>Sure--make your choice. Subscribe to it.

Dave, you aren't following the conversation. The man in Georgia DID subscribe to Tuxedo--it wasn't a broadcast network.

>> >Maplethorpe as I recall. There's lots more to it than you've outlined.
>> >Wonder why that conviction was never overturned?
>>
>> Because it wasn't appealed by the Cincinnati Museum due to >> opposition by the city counsel.
>
>Yeah, go on. Why was counsel opposed to an appeal?

Because the counsel was under pressure from the religious right to drop the matter, Dave. The AFA practically laid siege to the community--and it was successful.

>> You're correct that it was Mapplethorpe. So what? It was a >> valid exhibit of art.
>
>...according to you but not according to the people of Cincinnati.

According to the Arts counsel, the Smithsonian Institute, the NYC Museum of Modern Art, and virtually every art authority in the United States, Dave, not just according to me.

The city of Cincinnati does NOT have the authority to define art--anymore than it has the authority to define who may be considered a licensed amateur radio operator. Art is defined by very specific guidelines and one of those guidelines is NOT "community values."

>> The museum director made it very clear that >> children would not be permitted to view the works considered to be >> sexual in nature (it might burst your bubble to know it, but >> Maplethorpe created a great many images that were NOT sexually >> oriented) under any circumstances, and that only inoffensive images >> would be used in the promotion of the showing (which would clearly >> indicate that many of the contents contained troubling sexual images).
>
>I don't think that the idea that the publicly funded art museum should >be closed to a portion of the public is representative of your >libertarian views.

At least if it was open to adults it would have allowed people to view the art--as it was NO ONE was permitted to see it.

>As you have agreed, while some of Maplethorpe's work was not of sexual >themes, much was. We're not talking just about what is viewed by most >folks as normal sex here, are we Rick? Troubling indeed.

So?

Since when is what is considered "normal sex" by most people a criteria for art?

Are you so repressed that you can't allow people to see what could be disturbing images (most of the pictures, btw, are not
"abnormal" sex or disturbing images--I've seen the exhibit in a more tolerant city, Ann Arbor, MI) if they choose to do so? Who elected the people of Cincinnati the guardians of the public morality?

>> If you can find the slightest legitimacy in a community preventing the >> showing of legitimate art in a legitimate art museum simply because >> some members find the material depicted offensive, I'd like to know >> what it is.
>
>More than "some members" found it objectionable. I wonder how many of >the public officials involved in bringing the suit were re-elected by >the people of Cincinnati.

I wonder how many of the people who passed segregation laws in the South were re-elected by the people of THEIR communities. We're discussing freedom of speech, Dave, not politics as usual.

>> Freedom of Speech isn't about permitting only innocuous >> speech, Dave, you don't need a Constitutional protection for that.
>> It's about permitting speech that is controversial, challenging, >> unpopular and, yes, offensive to many--because ONLY when that kind of >> speech is permitted can Americans exercise their right to protest or >> to criticize government.
>
>What is it that you think Maplethorpe's work protested? What government >action was he criticizing? The courts recognize that there are limits >on free speech.

And the right wing extremist idiots are the first to go sniveling to them when they see anything that might offend their self-righteous sensibilities, aren't they?

Dave, when people set themselves as the moral interpreters of society we lose our freedom and become a police state. I'm sorry you aren't capable of seeing the difference between freedom of choice and repression--most of us can see it rather well.

>> You don't have to respect someone's speech
>> (and art IS a form of speech--the SC has ruled on that several times)
>> to support its right to exist--you only need to respect the >> Constitution of the United States to do so. Clearly, the people of >> Cincinnati don't respect our Constitution to the degree they respect
>> the views of a few religious fanatics such as Donald Wildmon of the >> AFA. Don't expect any intelligent and fair minded person to accept a >> community like that as a "good example" of community values.
>
>...yet Cincinnati and some of the northern Kentucky environs are >consistently declared to be among the most "liveable" places in America.
>You can burn your flag in Cincinnati if you like, Rick. Just don't show
>a graphic photo of homosexual sex and try to convince the folks there >that is art. Many attempts have been made to present crud masquerading >as art.

And many attempts have been made to present religion as community values. So what?

Dave, if those pictures were of HETEROSEXUALS instead of HOMOSEXUALS would you feel the same way? Would the citizens of Cincinnati? I doubt it seriously--the key isn't the sexual component, it's the fact that you and the people of Cincinnati are homophobic.

>> Freedom of choice==hedonism to you?
>

>I liken your views to a frequent mantra of the sixties: If it feels >good, do it.

And yours are far closer to the Inquisition. I think I prefer the sixties, off hand.

>> You do now. Apparently, the concept that Harry Potter is a >> sorcerer is so offensive to the Christians in the community (or at >> least to those religious leaders they allow to do their thinking for >> them) that they see no reason children should be exposed to the books >> or movie--it might convince the children to waiver from Christianity!
>
>I only know that you've told me about it. I haven't read anything about >it in the press nor have I seen anything on network news broadcasts.
>For the record, I don't see anything wrong with Harry Potter books.

Shhhhh!

Don't tell them that in Cincinnati, they'll probably ban your postings.

>> Give me a break!
>
>Choose a limb.

Your left leg? ;-)

>> >Only to a point. I don't think kids should wear clothing (i.e. T-shits) >> >with any religious or political statements on them.
>>
>> Including Christian ones? If you support that perspective, >> I'll agree with you. But if ONE religion is permitted to be >> represented, all should receive equal treatment.
>
>Yeah, including the Christian ones. Just don't try selling me on the >idea that wicca practices constitute a religion.

Why should I bother. Your mind is made up, it would only confuse you to state the facts.

Religious bigot!

>> I-I-I-I-I. What about other's rights? YOU don't care if shows >> are "bleeped," or not (of course, we know they aren't, so . . .) so >> who cares if others don't care for the practice. YOU don't need closed >> captions, so screw those with hearing loss. YOU don't have parental >> control settings so other people should be censored to prevent >> offensive material from entering YOUR home--to save you the trouble of >> turning the set off or changing the channel.
>
>Yeah, I've noticed that you've suddenly stacked 'em all up neatly for >me. I could easily go back through your stuff and find a numbers of >"I's" in which you speak your views.

And I present them as MY VIEWS, Dave. You present yours as though they represented a revealed truth or facts.

>The Starz stuff is bleeped here. My wife confirms it. That you don't >accept that is tough.

Then call Dish, because they are violating their contract with you and with Starz.

>I don't need a parental control for my set. There are no children here.
>Maybe you meant that it is to control my parents when they visit.

Why--are they too open minded for you?

>I don't need closed captioning. Neither my wife nor I have any hearing >problem. There's also the fact that our living room TV and VCR are >multi-system pieces of equipment bought overseas. Maybe you'd like to >come for an inspection tour.

No thanks--the religious icons would probably overpower the decor.

>> How does hearing a "bleep" allow you to enjoy the dialog and >> acting?
>
>Tell me, Rick. How many angels can dance on the head of a pin?

None. There is no such thing as an angel.

> I still >find it kind of refreshing. Are you somehow offended that this is my >belief? It certainly sounds like another example of, "Be reasonable. Do >it MY way".

Dave, you may find it refreshing--your neighbor (if he has "bleeped" shows) may find it angering. Why should YOUR desire to be protected from the script in a movie overweigh his desire to see the movie in unaltered form?

>> They run everything unedited, Dave, I tested your claim and it >> was false, remember?
>
>You tested? Oh, OK. I must have been delirious and made the entire >thing up in order to make a point with you here. Yeah, that's it...

Sounds ok to me. I'll accept your word that's what happened.

Dave, this conversation is going no where. I've stated my views and you've stated yours. At this point I'll simply drop out of the discussion and let you either do the same or continue to pontificate.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3225. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 10:23:14 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CA3DC.EE490B0A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26172

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) Churches: Two problems here;
> (1) By counting on churches to take > up the slack, the Libertarian Party > is essentially violating its own > principles of separation of church > and state and making the government > dependent on organized religion-- > which in turn makes the politicians > indebted to the churches and thus > influenced by them and; (2) there > would be no way to insure that the > churches didn't use the power it > would give them to proselytize new > members by giving preferential > treatment to their own members > (logical, if not terribly helpful > to non-members) or requiring (as > do many missions today) attendance > at religious activities to receive > aid.

We just had this discussion in the newsgroup a few months ago.
Anyway, there doesn't appear to be a great "separation of church and state" conflict with the government aid programs already pouring many millions into church ran activities each year. Take a trip over to the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance Programs (CFDA) at...

http://aspe.os.dhhs.gov/cfda/index.htm

...and look through their programs. You'll notice that many of them (especially community aid, minority aid, inner city programs, after school programs, and aid to the poor) are already open to churches (classified as public/private nonprofit organizations). And you'll also notice many of these programs available to churches have already dealt with the issues you raised in "(2)" above. In fact, about the only complaint I've heard about these programs is that they primarily target inner cities, while largely ignoring rural communities throughout the country.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3226. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 10:38:02 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <672843AB044B2518.94A4425C9C7CF2D8.120C5F2BB645239E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26173
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On 3 Dec 2001 23:18:48 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
(IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:

>HMMMMMMMMM. COME TO THINK OF IT WHY DOES A PERSON LIKE KD5NRH WHO >CANT LEGALLY OPERATE ON 10 METERS RUSH IN TO DEFEND THE SALE OF THESE >FAKE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS ?????????

I can be an Extra in a month. You'll be an anonymous coward forever.

<TRANSLATION LANGUAGE="tardspeak">
I CAN BE AN EXTRA IN A MONTH..... YOU'LL BE AN ANONYMOUS COWARD FOREVER.....
</TRANSLATION>

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3227. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 10:56:27 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CAB9E.C080AFE0@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26174

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) Research indicates that up to > 10% of the people on death row did > NOT commit the offense for which they > were convicted. (snip)

I find that very hard to believe. However, given for a moment this 10% actually exists, how many of these "innocent" death row inmates make it through the eight to twelve years of review and appeals without their innocence being discovered? In fact, the appeal process is so weighted in favor of the accused, I suspect many criminals are simply walking away free (not the other way around). Of course, this doesn't seem to bother those opposed to the death penalty as much. They're more concerned for the criminals in jail than they are for the victims of the criminals they work so hard to set free.

> (snip) an innocent person was put to > death (as has happened more than once > in recent years)? (snip)

Nonsense. Funny how only those opposed to the death penalty can "see" those "innocent" people who were put to death. Everyone else (jury, judges, appeal judges, pardon boards, and so forth) saw a guilty person.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3228. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 11:05:17 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CADAE.AAF1C299@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26175

CAM wrote:
>
> There is a booklet titled, "Libertarianism > in One Easy Lesson", that is available > from the Libertarian Party. Would you like > to have a copy?

No, thanks, Cecil. About ten years ago, I took a look at the Libertarian Party, in depth (including going to several area party meetings) and was not able to find much I could support (all seemed way too liberal to me - in spite of what you're saying now). Perhaps I'll take another look one day, but right now I just don't have the time.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3229. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 12:17:37 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011204071737.03411.00001126@nso-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 26176

In article <3C0C5777.D7513DC4@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Question:
>Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?

Most famous or most effective?

Ploesti comes to mind. Also Rourke's Drift. But they weren't true suicides.

WW2 gave us Japanese kami kaze pilots (the words mean "divine wind") some of whom were successful. There was the truck bomber who took out the Marine barracks in Lebanon, numerous other truck bombers including the attacks on US embassies a few years ago.

The defenders of the Alamo were wiped out but held off and decimated Santa Ana so much that SA was later defeated. SA probably never heard of the 300 Spartans Nelson's defeat of the Spanish Armada at Trafalgar was considered by some as a suicide mission when he set out but it turned the other way.

In ancient Greece, a small group of Spartans held a much bigger Persian invasion force at bay at Thermopylae. Although eventually betrayed and wiped out, the Spartans cost the Persians so much time and trouble that the invaders were later repelled.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3230. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 12:32:05 UTC
From: Dave Hall <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CC245.471C@worldlynx.net>
Source record: 26181
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

AL GOSS wrote:
>
> Who told you CODELESS band!!! Codeless band is FRS band. About 50% of the > QSO's taking place are CW mode, some long haul ansd 99% AURORA. Get with > it....learn it...you weren't born knowing how to operate a PC. I "think" you > had to learn and learn ---you did, because "you wanted to ". The BEST > DISTANCE will be via morse code. 90% of "real" DX on 6 meters and upper bands > is via CW mode. It's only a few didgits...like your PC uses at FAST speed.
> Now ya see ---I was raised on CW I had to learn PC, wasn't born to it.
> de "ol' fart" , I guess, per no-codes in most circles AL, K2ERG
>

You'd better check your rig's IF filters, if you think the amount of CW contacts are as high as you do. The other week when 6 meters was open to Europe, I heard many SSB QSO's but nary a few CW contacts. It's easier to work voice. So unless you are looking for that hopelessly weak signal or somehow enjoy painfully slow data exchanges, voice is the way to go.
Voice outnumbers CW contacts by a considerable margin on HF and CW is vitually non-existant on VHF and higher except during contests, or other "special" events. You need to get off the Titanic and come to the realization that Voice replaced CW, video killed the radio star and computers are a must-know to get along in the information age. It's called progress. You're either with it, or your obsolete.

Dave
"Sandbagger"

3231. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:04:27 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CC97F.B32ECE49@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26177

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Let me be sure I understand what > you just stated.
>
> According to that, you do NOT have > absolute freedom in your relationship > because to have that would risk losing > trust, which you state should not be > given blindly anyway.
>
> Is that supposed to make sense?

READ MY 3RD RESPONSE, "HELLO!!," BELOW BEFORE PROCEEDING.

Rick, you seem to think anyone who chooses differently than you is somehow less free (more repressed). My wife has always had absolutely freedom over her choices and the same with me. I have never told my wife that she cannot have intimate meetings with a member of the opposite sex. And she has never told me that. And neither of us have spies following us around to make sure we obey the rules. However, we decided early in our relationship to maintain a monogamous relationship, and each of use has made a free choice to live our lives in a manner that fully respects that decision. And, until that decision changes, I will not do anything that challenges, even slightly, that decision. And, after years of marriage, I don't think my wife would either.

> Dwight, very freedom TO make your own > decisions in such circumstances _knowing_ > that your partner will support and accept > those decisions instills complete mutual > trust--it doesn't abrogate it!

And, as I said above, we have both already freely made our decisions a long time ago. Each of us are free to change our minds, but I would never do so as long as I care for and respect my wife. And I'll bet you a million dollars that you could not force my wife to change her mind.

> How can you claim to trust someone yet > tell them their choices must be limited > to those you feel comfortable with so > you can continue to trust them? Isn't > that a complete contradiction?

HELLO!! Tell me where I have ever said I FORCE my wife to live by my rules. Show me where I've ever said that my wife's "choices must be limited to those.." I "..feel comfortable with." If you look back over this thread, you'll see that I've told you what _I_ would do, not what I expect my wife to do. I have NEVER, not would I ever consider, dictating to my wife rules that she must live by. Such a concept has never, EVER, entered my mind. Again, I have made a free choice to live _MY_ life in a manner that respects our relationship. Since my wife also avoids such situations, obviously she has made a similar choice.

> (snip) I don't have any interest > in pursuing other women--but if my > wife were to take the position that > I _couldn't_ have outside relationships > not only would I feel that she was > violating my freedom of choice but > that she was demonstrating a lack > of trust in me. (snip)

Bullcrap, Rick! That is the most self centered, asinine, thing I've ever read in these newsgroups. Your wife does not have to allow you to bury your penis wherever you want to show that she trusts you. And, if you demand that from your wife, you have no right whatsoever to talk about any demands you think I've made on mine. You talk about freedom of choice, but you've denied you wife the right to choose a monogamous relationship with you (as you said, if she did, you would feel "she was violating.. [your] ..freedom of choice" and "demonstrating a lack of trust in.. [you]"). And where does "trust" enter into the situation of you jumping into bed with another woman to get your jollies? All that tells me is that your lust for the other woman, and your penis, is more important to you than your own wife's feelings (because no person who really cares would not be hurt by such behavior, in spite of what he/she might say to keep the other person happy).

> Take a look at the statistics, Dwight.
> The majority of men in he United States > HAVE done just that at least once > during their marriage, (snip)

I don't need statistics, Rick. I don't run my live by statistics, and I don't make my choices using statistics. And, more importantly, I don't do something just because "everyone" else is doing it. I don't do that, my wife doesn't do that, and that is all I care about.

> (snip) By doing so behind their spouses > backs they are not only betraying their > trust but they are not allowing them to > make the same choices they, themselves, > have made. (snip)

So doing it in front of them isn't betraying their trust? Nonsense. I don't care where you do it, or how you do it, you're still having sex with another person. And that means, at least for that moment, that person means more to you then your spouse.

> Finally, your straw dogs.

Man, you need to write shorter messages. I would not have the time to respond to each person if they decided to write a book each time they posted a message.

> (snip) the divorce rate among couples > who are part of the swinging lifestyle > is less than one-third that of the > population as a whole. (snip)

Of course, that is the claim of those who support that lifestyle.
After all, it is easy to claim something when there are no independent, reliable, statistics to back it up.

> (snip) Outside of relationships that > fail because one partner is cheating on > the other (the exact opposite of the > kind of freedom we're discussing), I > think you'd have a lot of trouble > identifying lives that were "screwed > up from illicit sex."

Actually, up until this message, WE'RE not discussing the crap you're discussing. You're discussing some silly nonsense about open marriages, while I'm discussing normal relationships with normal people. Normal relationships are all around for me to see. But, so far I've seen nothing reliable to back up your claims about open marriages.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3232. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:07:08 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CCA1F.93C883D7@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26178

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> I'll pick just the last sentence to > comment on. That may work well for > you, Dwight, and your wife. But I'll > make the point that just because I > go to lunch with a male friend, or > my husband goes to dinner with a > female friend, is not giving the > other reason to lose trust. (snip)

Then we're right back where we started, because I've said from the very beginning that these are not standards that all have to live their life by (they're choices we've made in our relationship).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3233. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:21:26 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CCD74.C46190D@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26179

N2EY wrote:
>
> But the biggest cause for divorce has > little to do with any of the above. The > 800 pound gorilla problem is that many > people get married without the necessary > knowledge and skills to stay married. A > marriage license is one of the easiest > licenses to get, yet one of the most > important.

Amen to that. For all our advances, most are so poorly skilled today when it comes to basic human relationships (of any kind). In fact, it seems many are less skilled in this regard than those who grew up decades ago (at least most of them knew how to cook something before leaving home, unlike so many of the kids today). Of course, in many regards, life was less complicated back then, but that only makes it more important for these kids to be better equipped today. Add in an easy marriage license and you have nothing but a recipe for failure. By the way, for the kids reading, "recipe" is a cooking term. :-)

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3234. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:43:04 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CD27D.34508B76@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26180

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dwight Stewart" wrote...
>
> > Yes, as I said, I would not have > > lunch with a female co-worker unless > > there were other employees present.
> > I've seen too many nasty rumors, > > started by too many nasty people, > > with too many hurt feelings, to ever > > wish that on a fellow co-worker.
>
> Well, other than the fact that I'd feel > my job was threatened over something > like that, I'd not even give a rumor a > second thought. I know what the > truth is. (snip)

Well, I think our workplace experience is coming from a different perspective. For the last twenty years, I've worked mostly in senior management positions with large companies or in large government offices. Therefore, my behavior in the workplace is often very much of interest to those around me. In addition, my experience has given me the opportunity to see the effect workplace relationships have on other co-workers and on office performance.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3235. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:50:13 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CD429.8176A4C7@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26182

N2EY wrote:
>
> Yup. There is another aspect to this > as well. In our lawsuit-happy society, > it is easy for some actions to be > misinterpreted. Best not to even give > the appearance of something questionable.

That is becoming much more of an issue each day. Luckily, I've rarely had to work in situations where lawsuits are much of an issue (overseas and government offices), but I still think a conservative approach to workplace relationships is a wise choice. However, in some employment situations today, I think I'd almost have to video tape all conversations with the opposite sex just to be safe. :-)

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3236. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:53:58 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CD50A.4D2E37B8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26183

CAM wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
> >
> > I also wrap messages I quote down even further, as I have done with this message, so those who include that have nothing to wrap.
>
> Thus wasting 3/4 of my display area and doubling the length of the posting.

Is that better? Too bad, other then this message, I'm not changing my system. :-)

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3237. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 13:57:15 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CD5CE.A80FD25A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26184

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> The 'style' is fine... it's the > 'content' that's debatable... ;-)

LOL. No problem, Rich. Lets debate away.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3238. state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:10:19 UTC
From: brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm
Message-ID: <u0pmnq911j8c42@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26187

Howdy,
I just got my Technician's license a few days ago (KC8SPR) and have a hand held for 2m and 70cm as my sole radio. The gent that kept proding me along to get my license told me that I needed a Michigan
State Police permit to monitor police frequencies in a vehicle.

That was a suprise to me. But since most VHF radios are wide band on recieve they do pick up the 150mhz range where the police live and having a police scanner in a car is a no no in many states.

In Michigan it is a violation of MCL 740.508 which is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the county jail foor not more than 1 year or a fine not more then $500.00.

That > 180 day misdemeanor thing sends out some alarm bells.
I think one can lose their right to keep and bear arms over that.
Maybe I have it wrong but I think it is either 90 or 180 day that gets you in hot water on a misdemeanor and firearms.

So now I am interested in the law in other states as far as amateur radio in vehicles, permits, and penalties. Seems you can't make a move without agency trying to trip you up now a days.

So any web links on the law and reciprocity of police licenses would be great to have.

Wes

KC8SPR

3239. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:11:14 UTC
From: Kenneth Vaughan <kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <6Q4P7.249174$W8.9018956@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26185
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause submitted before a judge......tax revenues will have to be spent.....i think the local tacoma atthorities have more on their minds than cb-ers. this is just more "feel-good" legislation passed to quiet a minority of people who are angry about some radio interference problems. more of the same.........business as usual guys!!
elpasogunslinger catch yah on the band. (yawn)
PipeLayer <pipedream@hotmail.comspam> wrote in message
news:20011203193213.100$HV@news.newsreader.com...
> Of course you can still do both but why did you only defend rec.radio.cb.
> btw who is talking about where your friends are this is a NG I cannot tune > 27.385 on my newsreader last time i looked they have no idea whats going
on.
> You never answered the question. Ill ask again why are you worrying how many > time that was posted to rec.radio.cb and not worried about how many times
it > was posted to any other NG's The question remains unanswered and twisted > to your friends being part of this somehow.
> "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> news:3C0C129D.94DEB134@spam.me.not...
> > Mostly because I still talk on CB, with a CB, and I still enjoy CB. Is > > that a problem? Is that odd? Is that strange? Should I leave my friends > > on 27.385 LSB behind just because I can now talk on 7.175?
> >
> > -SSB
> >
> > "middlefiger4@home.comss" wrote:
> > >
> > > There are new people reading this group daily perhaps they would have > missd
> > > it, why do you a Extra class Ham worry about what is posted in
> rec.radio.cb
> > > and not any of the amateur groups? Just a little curious.
> > >
> > > "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> > > news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> > > > Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to
> rec.radio.cb...
> > > >

> > > > Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > > > > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop
> > > > it?
> > > >
> > > > de AB8LR
> > > >
> > > > -SSB
> > > >
> > > > N9NWO wrote:
> > > >
> > > > <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > > > > protection>
>
>

3240. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:17:35 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CDA88.3525FA90@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26186

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Wiccans and pagans don't believe in > a Devil, Dwight. Nor is their religion > in any way related to Satanism or > Christianity. It isn't "Rehashed" it's > fact.
>
> And it is the INVERTED pentagram that > is symbolic of Satanism (although not > exclusively), not the upright one > usually displayed by Wiccans and Pagans.

Well, I'm certainly not going to get into a long-winded debate about these so called "religions." Both are modern day offshoots of satanism, using different names and their own variations of satanism. And the pentagram/penticle, displayed either way, has long been a satanic symbol (which is exactly why wiccans and pagans, who you claim are in no way related to satanism, selected the exact same symbol for their own).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3241. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:19:05 UTC
From: Kent <kwinrich@wi.rr.com>
Message-ID: <tX4P7.7145$8I6.1087775@typhoon.kc.rr.com>
Source record: 26188
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Dave, I think that you have not spent a good amount of time on the CW bands.
"Hopelessly weak"???? Not with CW! Ask the EMEers.

"Voice has replaced CW"??? Ask the SSB ops that wanted a contact with the VP8 in the Shetlands. He never went to SSB. Though the SSB ops were BEGGING for it to happen!

"Painfully slow data exchange"??? I bet I can exchange an RST just as fast as with voice. Please read below about cw ops using 8000 cps (characters per second).

"Voice outnumbers CW contacts by a considerable margin on HF .." Guess you have never been in a decent cw pileup. You would think differently. In addition I find CW ops to be FAR more courteous and knowledgeable about HOW to operate!!!

"CW is virtually non-existent on VHF and higher except during contests".
Guess you have never heard an AU opening. How about meteor scatter where they are using cw speeds up to 8000 CPS??? You can even HEAR that cw it is so fast. (Check out HSCW in google if you want more info.)

"Either you are with it or obsolete". I would suggest that YOU are the one that is obsolete. CW is FAR from dead. It is the PREFERRED method of exchanging info for weak signal and for MANY DXers. Contesters, QRPers all use CW. Or are they obsolete (in your eyes) too? Most of the MAJOR DXers, Contesters, EMEers, QRPers, VHFers, etc. consider CW to be necessary!

We all have our specific likes and dis-likes. Just because you don't like CW doesn't mean you should put it down. To each there own...right?

Kent, K9EZ (NOT an old fart!!)

"Dave Hall" <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net> wrote in message news:3C0CC245.471C@worldlynx.net...
> AL GOSS wrote:
> >
> > Who told you CODELESS band!!! Codeless band is FRS band. About 50% of
the > > QSO's taking place are CW mode, some long haul ansd 99% AURORA. Get with > > it....learn it...you weren't born knowing how to operate a PC. I "think" you > > had to learn and learn ---you did, because "you wanted to ". The BEST > > DISTANCE will be via morse code. 90% of "real" DX on 6 meters and upper bands > > is via CW mode. It's only a few didgits...like your PC uses at FAST speed.

> > Now ya see ---I was raised on CW I had to learn PC, wasn't born to
it.
> > de "ol' fart" , I guess, per no-codes in most circles AL, K2ERG
> >
>
> You'd better check your rig's IF filters, if you think the amount of CW > contacts are as high as you do. The other week when 6 meters was open to > Europe, I heard many SSB QSO's but nary a few CW contacts. It's easier > to work voice. So unless you are looking for that hopelessly weak signal > or somehow enjoy painfully slow data exchanges, voice is the way to go.
> Voice outnumbers CW contacts by a considerable margin on HF and CW is > vitually non-existant on VHF and higher except during contests, or other > "special" events. You need to get off the Titanic and come to the > realization that Voice replaced CW, video killed the radio star and > computers are a must-know to get along in the information age. It's > called progress. You're either with it, or your obsolete.
>
> Dave
> "Sandbagger"
>
>
>

3242. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:21:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CDBF3.36D7F4CE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26190

Dave Heil wrote:
> > I have personally directed hundreds of potential hams to > > these newsgroups. I assume other hams have done likewise.
> > The great majority of the people I directed to these > > newsgroups had no way to receive shortwave ham CW/SSB.
>
> Sure, Cecil. I certainly wish I could take you seriously.

By "these newsgroups", I was talking about ham radio newsgroups which have existed since the early 80's. I held ham radio classes at Intel during the 13 years I was there. When we got a minimum of ten potential hams to sign up we held a class about four times a year. Most of the attendees didn't have shortwave radios. This event was probably duplicated in many companies like Motorola, TI, AMD, etc.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3243. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:22:27 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CDBAB.D67C3F0F@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26189

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> (snip) The shape of the Pentagon is the > same as the internal part of a 5-pointed > star. Isn't it?

I suppose so, Kim. What's your point? The Pentagon building was built in the shape of a pentagon - the shape of some part of a pentagram had nothing to do with it.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3244. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:32:37 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CDE0C.EFD135EB@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26191

Krell wrote:
>
> "N2EY" wrote...
> >
> > No, it's in the shape of a pentagon, which > > is a regular polygon with 5 sides. (regular > > polygons have all sides the same length and > > all angles the same).
> >
> > A pentagram is a 5 pointed star inscribed > > in a pentagon.
>
> No. A five pointed star is a pentagon with > the lines of each side extended to the > intersecting points.

Krell, you need to get out a dictionary. Jim is absolutely right.
According to Webster's, a pentagon is a plane figure with five angles and five sides.

> A pentagram is a five pointed star inscribed
> within a circle.

No, a pentagram does not have a circle around it - the star with the circle around it is called a pentacle.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3245. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:38:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CDFF6.A3ACD229@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26192

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Actually, up until this message, WE'RE not discussing the crap > you're discussing. You're discussing some silly nonsense about open > marriages, while I'm discussing normal relationships with normal > people. Normal relationships are all around for me to see. But, so far > I've seen nothing reliable to back up your claims about open marriages.

If you don't have an open marriage, Dwight, you are unlikely to encounter open marriages. I had an open marriage in CA which worked well for ten years until my wife violated the marriage contract.
During those ten years, we socialized with a half dozen other couples with open marriages.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3246. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 14:58:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CE4AD.21CE1648@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26193

Rick Adams wrote:
> I could see charging for civil services (provided, of course, > that the loser in the action was the one who had to pay, not the > winner). But you can't expect those fees to cover the cost of the > criminal justice system--

Why not? Have you any idea of the size of the civil contract system?
A ten percent fee on every contract would be a huge amount.

> Sorry, Cecil, but that's way too elitist for me.

So do you advocate subsidizing the breeding of ever larger herds of welfare recipients? That's what is happening today. The problem is growing because it is being subsidized. And when the governmental employees plus the welfare population becomes a large majority of the voters, this country, as we know it, will be doomed to socialism/fascism.

When my dad was growing up, his family was so poor they didn't even know there was a depression. When I was born my dad was making one dollar for working a 12 hour day. Without help, he worked his way out of poverty. Most poor people can do that if they try.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3247. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:16:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CE8BD.297DA235@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26194

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >Actually, it says that we shouldn't contribute to breeding herds > >of poor people.
>
> Which, of course, assumes that poverty is caused by genetics.

Nope, it assumes that poverty will increase if poverty is subsidized.
The way to reduce poverty is to stop subsidizing poverty, i.e.
require welfare people to work to earn their keep.

> Your view would simply take the attitude
> that only those who are successful deserve to have children.

In a way, that is true. Only people who can afford children should have children. If one cannot afford to have children, one shouldn't have any.

> Incidently, welfare only counts for a very small part of our > transfer payments--the largest portion by far is Social Security.

I will never live long enough to get back all the money I paid into Social Security. If they had let me invest those tens of thousands of dollars, they would be worth millions today.

> Your method would simply leave these people on the streets, ...

Actually, my method would have discouraged those people from ever being born. You are presenting me with the problems that years and years of subsidizing poverty has caused and not solved. You should have asked me sooner before the cancer spread and became terminal.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3248. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:19:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CE98F.1448B498@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26195

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> The Democrats and Republicans have moved to the middle.

Yes, and in the process, they compromised their most sacred principles. Libertarians refuse to compromise their principles.
Do you compromise your principles, Dwight?

> Well, I don't want to get into a point by point discussion of the > party's positions (and that is exactly where this thread is heading).

That's why I gave you the web page reference.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3249. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:24:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CEA9E.75D5438@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26196

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> About ten years ago, I took a look at the > Libertarian Party, in depth (including going to several area party > meetings) and was not able to find much I could support (all seemed > way too liberal to me - in spite of what you're saying now).

The liberal social freedoms aspect of Libertarianism is a minor part.
The major part is the conservative economic freedoms aspect. As far as economics goes, Libertarians hold many of the traditional values that modern-day Republicans have given up on.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3250. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:37:23 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net>
Message-ID: <T46P7.3057$az3.1049709668@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 26199
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

I liked what a few locals did a few years back:
They were having a problem with a CB'er in the neighbor hood, he was running about 1000 watts at home in a very compact type of housing area.
Needless to say he was trashing everyone's phone, TV, stereo, phone machines etc etc.
So after repeated attempts to have the FCC do something, the came up with a great idea. It was 6 or 8 of them got together and each took him to small claims court for two thousand dollars each, reason for case:
Our standard of life was being hampered
with.
It worked, he was convicted and had to pay them a monetary award, though less than the total, but still significant.

Landshark

--
We are men at work, we've got a job to do.
Neil Young

"Kenneth Vaughan" <kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:6Q4P7.249174$W8.9018956@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net... > pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make > any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local > atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause > submitted before a judge......tax revenues will have to be spent.....i think > the local tacoma atthorities have more on their minds than cb-ers. this is > just more "feel-good" legislation passed to quiet a minority of people who > are angry about some radio interference problems. more of the > same.....business as usual guys!!
> elpasogunslinger catch yah on the band. (yawn)
> PipeLayer <pipedream@hotmail.comspam> wrote in message
> news:20011203193213.100$HV@news.newsreader.com...
> > Of course you can still do both but why did you only defend
rec.radio.cb.
> > btw who is talking about where your friends are this is a NG I cannot > tune > > 27.385 on my newsreader last time i looked they have no idea whats going
> on.

> > You never answered the question. Ill ask again why are you worrying how > many > > time that was posted to rec.radio.cb and not worried about how many times
> it > > was posted to any other NG's The question remains unanswered and twisted
> > to your friends being part of this somehow.
> > "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> > news:3C0C129D.94DEB134@spam.me.not...
> > > Mostly because I still talk on CB, with a CB, and I still enjoy CB. Is > > > that a problem? Is that odd? Is that strange? Should I leave my friends > > > on 27.385 LSB behind just because I can now talk on 7.175?
> > >
> > > -SSB
> > >
> > > "middlefiger4@home.comss" wrote:
> > > >
> > > > There are new people reading this group daily perhaps they would have > > missd
> > > > it, why do you a Extra class Ham worry about what is posted in
> > rec.radio.cb
> > > > and not any of the amateur groups? Just a little curious.
> > > > >
> > > > "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not...
> > > > > Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to
> > rec.radio.cb...
> > > > > >
> > > > > Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > > > > > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just > stop
> > > > > it?
> > > > > >
> > > > > de AB8LR
> > > > > >
> > > > > -SSB
> > > > > >
> > > > > N9NWO wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > > > > > protection>
> > >
> > >
> >
>

3251. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:38:45 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0CEE05.7BC45178@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26197

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Question:
> >Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while > >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?
>
> Most famous or most effective?

Probably the most famous in the Western Countries. Most children have heard of him and know his story. He killed himself and in the process took thousands of the opposition with him. Incidentally, it happened in Gaza close to where yesterday's Israeli attacks occurred.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3252. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:40:44 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011204104044.08905.00000653@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26198

>Subject: Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
>From: "Kenneth Vaughan" kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net
>Date: 12/4/2001 8:11 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <6Q4P7.249174$W8.9018956@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>

>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make >any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local >atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause >submitted before a judge

Not so.

All a police officer has to do is see what s/he perceives to be a two-way radio antenna and then find some other legitimate excuse to stop you and "poof"...They have you.

If you refuse to allow the inspection of your car or residence, that's fine with them. They can take you into custody on any number of other "legitimate" applications, obtain the warrant at THIER leisure, and then you're in even more hot water than before.

>......tax revenues will have to be spent

Yep. And as soon as some enterprising local pol realizes that there may be some opportunity to MAKE money for the cities coffers, how long do you think it will take for them to convince someone to invest some money in "enforcement"...?!?!

>.....i think >the local tacoma atthorities have more on their minds than cb-ers. this is >just more "feel-good" legislation passed to quiet a minority of people who >are angry about some radio interference problems. more of the >same.....business as usual guys!!

Perhaps...but SOMEONE is going to be made an example of. God forbid it is some legitimate Amateur who will then have to spend him/herself into bankruptcy "proving" they are not at fault.

And God forbid that an Amateur's station WAS "causing" interference to someone else's Part 15 device...Now s/he not only has to prove that s/he was not a legitimate target of this law, they have to prove that thier station is not the problem, rather it's the poor engineering of the Part 15 device. Either way, it's going to be a big black eye for legitimate Amatuers and CBers both.

Basically, I think it's a "grab your ankles" situation, because someone is gonna take it the hard way.....

73

Steve in Winchester, TN
K4YZ

3253. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:47:29 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CEF85.E7045801@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26200

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> You leave out several important points,

No, I didn't leave out any "important" points, but I'll answer nevertheless.

> 1. How old is the daughter? Is she a small > child or an 18 year old?

Since I repeatedly said, "children," then obviously the daughter in less than 18 years old. And she is not a "small child" since I don't think any tattoo place would do a small child. Anyway, this happened about four years ago (a few months before she was trying to get a learners' permit), so I guess the daughter was about 15 at the time.

> 2. Did she get the tattoo at a commercial > enterprise or from an amateur? If it was a > commercial firm (the subject of the > discussion) why didn't the parents file > suit to recover their damages?

Yes, it was a licensed tattoo parlor. And, yes, I believe a lawsuit was filed (they said they were going to file). However, that does not change the fact that they were stuck with huge medical bills in the meantime, and, if a suit was filed, probably lawyer bills on top of that.

> 3. Did the infection result from the tattoo > work or from her attempt to hide it from her > parents out of fear they wouldn't accept
> it?

I don't know. However, since the mother found out about it that evening, there could not have been too much of an effort to hide it.

> 4. Are we talking about a massive, extensive, > tattoo or a small tattoo of a butterfly or > rose? The latter can very definitely represent > enhancement.

I don't know. I didn't see the tattoo.

> 5. Is there some reason why the parent's have > lost so much control over their daughter that > she would do this behind their back? Do they > bother to take her views and desires > seriously, or do they discount everything as > being from "a child?"

Now, how in the heck am I suppose to know that (she was the neighbor's daughter, not mine)? For that matter, what does it matter? Kids do stupid stuff like this (regardless of how "understanding" or not the parents are).

> Let me ask YOU something, as well. If a person > under 18 is NOT to have the same rights as > others, what justification exists for trying > him or her as an adult in a criminal courts > (as is common for felony cases in many > jurisdictions)? If the rights don't exist, is > it reasonable that the sanctions should?

Well, first of all, that child does have the same rights, and same protections, as others in that courtroom. Second, killing someone is not stealing a bicycle, shoplifting, or some other minor crime which the juvenile courts were designed to handle. Because of that, the child is judged in a regular court (not an "adult" court, a "regular" court). And he is charged with murder, and faces the penalties for murder, because that is the crime he committed (not a lessor crime which warrants him being set free in a few years when he reaches his 21st birthday, which is a requirement for juvenile court).

Of course, none of this has any bearing on the "right" of a child to do whatever he/she wants (in spite of the parent's wishes). We all live with different rules throughout our lives. For examples, we live with one set of rules as children, another set of rules when we're drafted into the military (UCMJ), another set of rules in the workplace (company policies), and still another set of rules when we're old (can't drive a car).

> (snip) I'm not talking about legalities, > Dwight. I'm talking about rights. In our > special-interest-focused society they > aren't always the same. (snip)
>
> No, they have the right to impose LAWS, > not values. (snip)

No, you're talking about semantics. Since laws are based directly on the values of the majority within a community, and communities do have a right to pass laws, there is no difference (the community does indeed have a "right" to impose values).

> Nope. Because unless it can be shown > that the community DOES have better or > more relevant values, it follows that > any attempt to legislate their values > simply causes the law to discriminate > between two subjective states--which > is NOT the function of law.

Okay, I'll bite, if it is not the function of laws to impose the will of the majority within a community (including their "values"), what exactly is the function of laws? And who said so?

> Guns are linked to them even more directly
> --ever seen a school ban hunting jackets > or NRA patches?

Were any of the school shooters wearing hunting patches or hunting jackets?

> Islamic terrorists are linked to the World
> Trade Center tragedy--how many schools do > you think could get away with banning > traditional muslim dress?

Was the WTC located in a school?

> Jewish terrorists are linked to many > shootings in the middle east--is it ok > for schools to ban the star of david > and hasidic dress?

Which of our schools are located in the middle east?

> In the first place, wicca is NOT
> satanism (snip)

Addressed in another message, so for brevity will avoid here.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3254. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:56:01 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CF183.30AE77B8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26301

CAM wrote:
>
> I'm always improving myself, Dwight. I'm > sorry that you think self-improvement is > impossible for you. :-)

Not impossible, Cecil. Just not seriously needed. :-) Dwight Stewart (W5NET) <-- Near Perfect as is. :-)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3255. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 15:58:33 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CF21B.7AD137D9@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26302

N2EY wrote:
>
> People do, however, sometimes attempt to > control their behavior by denying that > they have certain feelings.

Oh, that is extremely commonplace. In fact, I'm sure all of us have done at one time or another (easier to deal with feelings if you can convince yourself you don't really have them).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3256. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 16:18:14 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CF6B5.47561B25@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26303

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> Before I actually answer the question, > I feel I need to pose another. If your > wife had thoughts about sex with another > man, but never actually had sex with > another man, is that a violation of your > trust? If she looked at a coworker and > thought he was handsome, is that a > violation of your trust?
>
> My point is this -- can a thought that > doesn't lead to an action be a violation > of your trust?
>
> My answer to that question is no.

Ah, the old Jimmy Carter's "lust in the heart." Anyway, I would agree wholeheartedly with you, Sean. It is very hard to control what we're thinking (some strange stuff is bouncing around inside all those minds). But a thought is very different than an act.

> As for your question? Well, as stated, > it's not really a good question.

It's not meant to be. It is a question designed to stimulate discussion (and solicit viewpoints and perspectives). As such, it's doing a pretty good job so far.

> What I do believe is that a man and a > woman can be close friends without > the possibility of sexual relations > between them ever being considered > as possible. In other words, sex enters > their minds, but is rejected.

And I'd say that is about typical (in spite of some of the objections raised elsewhere in this thread). To some extent, you have to like a person to be friends. And, if you really like the person, you are even more likely to be attracted to the person. Which means that it is even more likely that thoughts of sex would be there. Now, obviously, most friends can, and do, get beyond that (ignore it, reject it, keep it to themselves, or whatever). But, whatever the case, I do think the idea pops in there much more than many are willing to admit.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3257. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 16:31:40 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0CF9D5.32DE70F1@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26304
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

N9NWO wrote:
>
> > Tacoma Washington may be the first
> > city to prohibit Class D 11 meter
> > C-B operators from using non-FCC
> > certified transmitting equipment.
> > Adopted last September 12th but
> > only now becoming widely known,
> > Tacoma City Ordinance 26851 amends
> > Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal
> > Code in two ways. First is Section
> > 8.38.010 which directly prohibits > > use of non-approved radio equipment
> > by CBers.

Has anyone heard this from a source other than the Amateur Radio Newsline? I think it may be a hoax. I went to the City of Tacoma web site and checked the Tacoma Municipal Code at...

http://www.cityoftacoma.org/default.asp?main=/54municode/default.asp

...and could not find a Chapter 8.38 (last updated 11/26/01). I also checked the Tacoma City Ordinances at...

http://mrsc-web.mrsc.org/

...and was not able to find ordinance 26851. If this was adopted September 12th, it should be on both of those web sites.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3258. TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 16:34:49 UTC
From: oldkeykollekter@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <b71d3652.0112040834.63c588b1@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26305
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

MORE TO COME!!! YOU KEYCLOWNS ARE ON THE WAY OUT!

N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:<3C0B8E50.56C82205@gte.net>...
> RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
>
>
>
> Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11 meter C-B
>
> operators from using non-FCC certified transmitting equipment. Adopted > last September 12th but only now becoming widely known, Tacoma City > Ordinance 26851 amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.
>
> First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of non-approved > radio equipment by CB'ers. And if a CB'er breaks the new law he or she > is subject to Section
>
> 8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a misdemeanor punishable to a > fine of up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.
>
>
>
> Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an earlier amendment to the > Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which was adopted by Congress a > couple of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, not an FCC > action, any challenges by C-B operators to the new Tacoma local law > would have to go through the federal courts. As far as we can > determine, the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators
>
> and no other radio operators in the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)
>
>
>
> **
> ftp://ftp.arnewsline.org/quincy/News/news.txt

3259. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 17:23:18 UTC
From: KU4YP <ku4yp@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <aE7P7.27618$WC1.2881635@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26306
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

this guy is off the scale,

i, and others have attempted to explain this in terms anyone can understand. however, mr. "illegalCBersMustGo" is just all in a tizzy about this radio and i really don't get it. i suggest he channel his energy into something more productive.

and i KNOW he does not want to get on the "Extra license holders are BETTER operators" deal. two words will quiet that one, "Eighty Meters." listen around there for two minutes and you'll know what i mean. 80 meters is mixed with some of the most talented people and some of the worst operators i have ever heard.

--
73 de KU4YP
Mike Prevatt
Willow Oak, Florida
"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:672843AB044B2518.94A4425C9C7CF2D8.120C5F2BB645239E@lp.airnews.net...
> On 3 Dec 2001 23:18:48 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
> (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
>
> >HMMMMMMMMM. COME TO THINK OF IT WHY DOES A PERSON LIKE KD5NRH WHO > >CANT LEGALLY OPERATE ON 10 METERS RUSH IN TO DEFEND THE SALE OF THESE > >FAKE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS ?????????
>
> I can be an Extra in a month. You'll be an anonymous coward forever.
>
> <TRANSLATION LANGUAGE="tardspeak">
> I CAN BE AN EXTRA IN A MONTH..... YOU'LL BE AN > ANONYMOUS COWARD FOREVER.....
> </TRANSLATION>
>
>
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net
>

3260. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 17:25:41 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011204122541.28714.00002796@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26307

In article <3C0C5AD2.385DD3FD@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Kim's Constitutional right to make a fool of herself and all other YL
>> hams is not the issue; Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that >> point, and I have repeatedly acknowledged this.
>
>Mr. Hollingsworth and you are both dinosaurs as far as >morality goes. To give you an idea how the world has >changed in the last 50 years, I am in a Southern Baptist >Christmas Pageant in which the woman who plays Mary, the >mother of Jesus, is actually in reality six months >pregnant.

Cecil:

Uh, gee, you Southern Baptists are really into avant garde theatre now, aren't you! We Catholics have been using real pregnant women to play Mary for as long as I have been going to Christmas Pageants! The next Christmas, they usually have their child play baby Jesus, if he/she is still young/small enough to be a convincing "infant." Sooo, what was your point, anyway?

73 de Larry, K3LT

3261. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 17:25:41 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011204122541.28714.00002797@nso-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26308

In article <0F05C92B79132959.4FD6EE3932617254.A75F2E6B939B652E@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>Rick:
>>
>>As always, a personal attack is the best confirmation that I have hit >>the nail right on the head!
>
> Actually, that was a compliment to your intelligence, Larry. I >wouldn't have _expected_ a more intelligent response in the first >place from some of the people in this thread.
>
> Rick

Rick:

OIC. Now the personal attack is expanded from just being against me, to everyone else participating in this thread. Oh, as you were...just
"some" of the people in this thread. The ones who aren't openly accepting and totally thrilled with the cleverness of Kim's call sign, no doubt! A typical childish response from a liberal who isn't getting his own way. Nothing new here!

73 de Larry, K3LT

3262. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 18:04:26 UTC
From: CBRambo <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> Message-ID: <9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26309
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
>> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?

Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer, anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
or, should I say inaction.

Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.

The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by
Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.

So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the station in Hiram, Georgia.

Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram, Georgia operator from amateur radio?

And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family from a very unstable person.

3263. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 18:32:50 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112041032.ecf5f2c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26310

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0B40D8.D456A105@sccoast.net>...
> > (snip) Cheating isn't about opportunity--
> > it's about integrity.
>
>
> Cheating cannot possibly start without opportunity - the integrity > comes from not seeking the opportunity.

I think I'd have to argue that integrity is keeping the promises you've made, regardless of what they are. If those promises include not having sex outside of the marriage, then those are the promises you should keep. But not all marriages or relationships include monogamy as one of the promises.

> > There's nothing wrong with having sex outside
> > your marriage (snip)
>
> Well, that pretty much sums up the difference between us, because I > flatly disagree. In this age of AIDS, venereal diseases, screwed up > marriages, screwed up kids living in broken homes, screwed up lives > from illicit sex, only a totally self-centered puppy would mess around > outside his marriage.

Some people believe in, subside in, and are successful in, alternate lifestyles including what you might term "open" marraige. Successful polygamous relationships are not nearly as rare as you might wish to believe.

But the most important point about these successful relationships is that they are built on honesty and integrity. The people who are successful make their promises and keep them -- just as you say you have.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not necessarily arguing in favor of polygamy. The relationship between two people and the promises they choose to make to each other is none of my business. If two people choose to promise to never be alone with a member of the opposite sex, I won't criticize them for making that promise, regardless of how I feel.

On the other hand I wouldn't support someone going into a relationship making promises he or she didn't truly believe in. It doesn't matter whether those promises are restrictive or permisive.

Sean.

3264. Re: state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 18:49:30 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9uj5cvoeg1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 26311

<brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm> wrote in message
news:u0pmnq911j8c42@corp.supernews.com...
> Howdy,
> I just got my Technician's license a few days ago (KC8SPR) and > have a hand held for 2m and 70cm as my sole radio. The gent that kept > proding me along to get my license told me that I needed a Michigan
> State Police permit to monitor police frequencies in a vehicle.

He's dead wrong. You do not need a permit. Your Ham license is enough to grant you the right to monitor all public service frequencies. What he may have really meant to suggest is getting a signed letter from the Michigan State Police stating you have the right to have a radio in your vehicle that can receive public service frequencies such as police and fire. The reason is a few Hams from time to time have found themselves being ticketed, and their radios confiscated by police offices who don't know the law, and or are to lazy to check back with HQ to verify the facts first. They then have to go through the expense of going to court to get their equipment back.

If you don't have a letter then the next best thing is a copy of the applicable state statue, which specifically exempts Hams etc., and the small copy of your license, which is at the bottom of the main full size ticket. Keep both with you at all times when out and about monitoring those public service frequencies.

If you're ever stopped and questioned about the radio receiving police calls, be very polite, explain the facts to the officer, then show them either the letter and or the applicable state statue with the copy of your Ham license. Normally that's the end of it.

Of course the really prudent thing to do is to keep the volume down, or turn off the rig, so the police officer can't hear it, thus saving you the hassle of answering those questions in the first place.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

Saw this on a Tee-shirt:

"I am a bomb technician. If you see
me running, try to keep up. "

3265. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:03:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D1E12.C795AE7F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26312

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Is that better?

Yes, much better. Why have three screens when you can put it all on one screen? Or, if what you are doing is so good, why not put one letter per line?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3266. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:04:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D1E49.D332F6F9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26313

```
Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > I'm always improving myself, Dwight. I'm > > sorry that you think self-improvement is > > impossible for you. :-)
>
> Not impossible, Cecil. Just not seriously needed. :-)

If only I were as omniscient as you, Dwight.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3267. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:09:07 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D1F53.40A29C34@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26314
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Sideband wrote:
> Based on the evidence you've presented, Weak Signal emissions don't seem > to be excluded from 50.0 to 50.1 and 144.0 to 144.1.

Weak signal emissions are certainly allowed as long as they are CW.
You are arguing with "The FCC Rule Book", not me. Nothing but CW is allowed 50.0-50.1 MHz and 144.0-144.1 MHz. Sorry.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3268. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:26:09 UTC
From: "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
Message-ID: <9uj7hm$pl7$1@news.bignet.net>
Source record: 26315
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C0C6212.298A6008@spam.me.not...
> Based on the evidence you've presented, Weak Signal emissions don't seem > to be excluded from 50.0 to 50.1 and 144.0 to 144.1.

I've been reading this thread and I think the 100KHz band sections are typically used for EME work only, which has up to now been almost always done using CW. I know a few EME contacts have been done on SSB, but I don't know if it was done in those band segments. If they were then they those band segments are not CW only, but are still "weak signal" considering the mode, and not for the "typical" terrestrial weak signal use.

--
Leland C. Scott
KC8LD0

Saw this on a Tee-shirt:

"I am a bomb technician. If you see
me running, try to keep up. "

3269. TWISTEDHED JUSTIFIES HIS "free banding"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:30:00 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112041130.7bbeacee@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26316
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

twistedhed@webtv.net (Twistedhed) wrote in message news:<27880-3C0B9FB4-35@storefull-121.iap.bryant.webtv.net>... > > suggest you 'recheck' your information about > > abandoned frequencies.
>"Hi, Doc. I am pretty confident my knowledge of where I >choose to operate is accurate. I don't indiscriminately >operate on just any frequency between 25 and 32 MHZ.
>My favorite DX frequencies are just that, DX freqs and >nothing more. Some of these contracts these businesses >and services have that licenses their exclusive use to a >certain frequency in that portion of the spectrum don't >expire for years.....meanwhile, these companies have >long abandoned their 2 ways for Nextels. If the contract on >the freq. where I choose to DX doesn't expire for 2 more >years, why would I bother to "recheck" the info.
>before then?

TWISTEDHED IGNORES THE FCC AND MAKES HIS OWN RULES! UNBELIEVEABLE!

3270. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:43:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <357B067895E42D44.E913EC8D71D243ED.630700A52EAF4B9E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26317

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 22:56:23 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>I just heard some interesting trivia on the radio. Question:
>Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?

George Armstrong Custer??? ;-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3271. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:45:56 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <81FDA5B2FEE48C45.AF931BCC80E98337.2C7AE95D20E452F1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26318

On Mon, 3 Dec 2001 19:35:16 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>Hmmm, correct me if I'm wrong, but if my studies of Wicca serve me well, I >believe it is the "internal" part of the star that is considered the "meat" >of the pentagram, not the five points or the star itself. The shape of the >Pentagon is the same as the internal part of a 5-pointed star. Isn't it?

Actually, a five-pointed star inscribed _inside_ a pentagon is likewise a symbol of Wicca (the Black Forest Trad, not the New Forest Trad or Hungarian Wiccae, if it matters).

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3272. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:55:57 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F6810546D53725E5.6EF88BEDB388075B.AF85839994E73691@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26319

On 04 Dec 2001 02:07:53 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Of course your prove the point even more than I did. The Pentagon is not a >circle!

But, of course, from a mathematical perspective it IS an approximation of one.

Consider the limits of any given function that returns a circle as its graphic representation. An attempt to refine the function will provide successive approximations of the instantaneous value of the tangent line. Because those approximations can be of any degree of accuracy desired, given the final result (a circle made of straight line segments), one such approximation is, legitimately, a pentagon.

Sorry if the explanation is poor--I can visualize the math concept, but not being a mathematician I recognize that I'm not presenting it particularly well--but hopefully it will be clear enough to make the point.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3273. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 19:59:45 UTC
From: Dave Hall <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net>
Message-ID: <3C0D2B31.3CA6@worldlynx.net>
Source record: 26326
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Kent wrote:
>
> Dave, I think that you have not spent a good amount of time on the CW bands.
> "Hopelessly weak"???? Not with CW! Ask the EMEers.

If the signal is NOT weak, then it becomes more practical to use a phone mode. IF CW is the only mode that works, then the signal is weak by definition. EME'er regularly work ssb if they have any sort of decent station.

>
> "Voice has replaced CW"??? Ask the SSB ops that wanted a contact with the > VP8 in the Shetlands. He never went to SSB. Though the SSB ops were > BEGGING for it to happen!

I have no desire to exchange anything with an elitist mode snob. If he can't talk to me on the modes I use, "uck 'em".

>
> "Painfully slow data exchange"??? I bet I can exchange an RST just as fast > as with voice. Please read below about cw ops using 8000 cps (characters > per second).

There is no way a person can manually send CW at that rate. If you are using a computer to "type" CW, then there are far better digital modes with FEC that get the job done faster and better. CW is not a very robust digital mode, and it is severely limited in speed if done manually.

>
> "Voice outnumbers CW contacts by a considerable margin on HF .." Guess you > have never been in a decent cw pileup. You would think differently. In > addition I find CW ops to be FAR more courteous and knowledgeable about HOW > to operate!!!

For every one CW op in a pileup there are 10 or 20 in the SSB pileup. The fact that CW ops are more courteous is irrelevant to this discussion. I find older people to be more courteous as a rule mo matter what segment of the population you are dealing with.

>
> "CW is virtually non-existent on VHF and higher except during contests".
> Guess you have never heard an AU opening. How about meteor scatter where > they are using cw speeds up to 8000 CPS??? You can even HEAR that cw it is > so fast. (Check out HSCW in google if you want more info.)

Again a waste of bandwidth if your intent is to send high speed data.
There are far better digital modes for that. Those rare band openings that you mention are hardly the daily norm, and not something id term "reliable".

>
> "Either you are with it or obsolete". I would suggest that YOU are the one > that is obsolete. CW is FAR from dead. It is the PREFERRED method of > exchanging info for weak signal and for MANY DXers. Contesters, QRPers all > use CW. Or are they obsolete (in your eyes) too? Most of the MAJOR DXers, > Contesters, EMEers, QRPers, VHFers, etc. consider CW to be necessary!

CW is kept alive mostly by nostalgic old timers that are still living out their childhood fantasies, and die hard weak signal dxers. For those of us that just want to socialize, it's much easier to just TALK.

>
> We all have our specific likes and dis-likes. Just because you don't like > CW doesn't mean you should put it down. To each there own...right?

I only "put down" the exhaltation that many "CW forever" types exhibit for the mode. CW is a MODE, no different than AM, SSB, FM, FSK or whatever. Yet no other mode has created such a divide among hams.

I'll make you a promise. I won't put CW down, if you don't tell me how great it is.

Dave

3274. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:07:37 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112041207.19d5dc50@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26320

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0CD429.8176A4C7@sccoast.net>...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > Yup. There is another aspect to this
> > as well. In our lawsuit-happy society,
> > it is easy for some actions to be > > misinterpreted. Best not to even give > > the appearance of something questionable.
>
>
> That is becoming much more of an issue each day. Luckily, I've > rarely had to work in situations where lawsuits are much of an issue > (overseas and government offices), but I still think a conservative > approach to workplace relationships is a wise choice. However, in some > employment situations today, I think I'd almost have to video tape all > conversations with the opposite sex just to be safe. :-)

I don't know where you people work, but I'm glad I don't work
there.

I've worked in several large companies in several locations and not once have I heard of a single lawsuit filed because of inappropriate behavior that wasn't truly inappropriate. And I'm not sure I've ever heard of a lawsuit being filed -- I have heard of one (maybe two) women (rightfully) complaining they had been treated inappropriately. There were probably others of that sort I did not hear about. But I really believe that if two employees being involved in a civil lawsuit was commonplace, I would've heard about it.

Sean.

3275. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:08:27 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C0C7539.EB7DB774@mailcity.net>
Source record: 26321
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

W0MN mistakenly wrote:

>
> In the US you cannot use a Ham Radio in the CB bands nor a CB radio in > the ham bands because they are not type accepted. At least the vast > majority are not.

Wrong!! You can use a cb radio in the ham bands. Any cb can be modified for ham band use, but now the type certification is no longer valid and it can no longer be use on cb. Equipment used in the ham bands does not need to be type certified.

3276. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:10:17 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <J4aP7.8$9P5.5696@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 26325
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:672843AB044B2518.94A4425C9C7CF2D8.120C5F2BB645239E@lp.airnews.net...
> On 3 Dec 2001 23:18:48 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
> (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
>
> >HMMMMMMMMM. COME TO THINK OF IT WHY DOES A PERSON LIKE KD5NRH WHO > >CANT LEGALLY OPERATE ON 10 METERS RUSH IN TO DEFEND THE SALE OF THESE > >FAKE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS ?????????
>
> I can be an Extra in a month. You'll be an anonymous coward forever.
>

I'll check the callbooks in 6 weeks and see... :>)

73 de W6DKN

3277. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:11:12 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <827D0A694C7576B4.7AC3B9814B1AAB99.B74060A9E841800D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26322

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 23:45:08 GMT, "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
wrote:

> A good friend of mine - single, straight, and activist - is an > attorney in Seattle fighting family law battles like that. I had > thought that such stuff went away in recent years.

Unfortunately, it hasn't.

The worst case I've seen occurred in Washington state a few years ago. A lesbian couple in Hawaii decided to have a child and one of the women was impregnated by artificial insemination. Because Hawaii permits gay adoption, her partner filed the necessary papers and became legally her second parent. The child, a girl, was raised by them in the same way any other kid would be raised by two devoted and loving parents.

The family decided to take a vacation to Seattle to visit friends and, while there, the birth mother was in killed by a drunk driver. At that point, the state took custody of the girl (then 10 years old) and placed her in foster care. According to the state--upheld by the Washington courts--because homosexual adoption is illegal in Washington and because no blood relationship or marital relationship existed between the two women, the surviving partner had no custody claim at all. The result (pending an eventual review by the US SC--by which time the girl will probably be of age if it occurs at all) was that the child lost TWO parents in that accident--one to the drunk driver and one to the homophobic state.

In a similar case in Virginia, a woman who came out as a lesbian after her divorce had custody of her young daughter taken from her, despite the fact that everyone concerned from social services workers to her ex-husband testified that she was an outstanding mother and fully capable of caring for her child. The court reasoning was that a homosexual would, automatically, raise a child to be a homosexual (despite overwhelming scientific evidence to the contrary, most of which the court refused to hear). Custody was given to the mother of the lesbian, who had twice been convicted of child abuse.
Thus, to avoid the so-called risk of leaving custody in the hands of a person who _might_ raise a daughter to be a lesbian, they gave custody to an abuser who had already demonstrated that she DID raise a daughter to be a lesbian.

And people wonder why I don't see gays as asking for "special" rights--or why I believe everyone, including our children, should be educated with respect to the FACTS about homosexuals instead of right wing propaganda with no basis in science.

Sheesh!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3278. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:16:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7C1CC0578453AE14.14A48FB06053F76A.6CA09ED2C0182E3F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26323

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 01:48:58 GMT, "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net>
wrote:

>> CAM wrote:
>> >
>> > Incidentally Dwight, would you
>> > please set your editor to wrap
>> > at 80 characters instead of >> > wrapping at 40 characters?
>
>"Dwight Stewart" wrote
>
>> I have mine set to wrap at 70 characters, which means those with >> editors set to 80 don't have to edit quotes from my messages so hard >> to eliminate strangely wrapped text. I also wrap messages I quote down >> even further, as I have done with this message, so those who include >> that have nothing to wrap. So far, you're the only one who has >> complained. Does anyone else have a problem with this system?
>
>Dwight...
>
>The 'style' is fine... it's the 'content' that's debatable... ;-)

The style isn't bad--but if the wrap on the quote backs was a bit larger (i.e., 60-65 characters) it would serve the same purpose and would make it much easier to follow the quoted material in the context of the new.

For example, the above statement, using Dwight's settings, would look like this:

The style isn't bad--but if the wrap on the quote backs was a bit larger (i.e., 60-65 characters) it would serve the same purpose and would make it much easier to follow the quoted material in the context of the new.

For a short paragraph, that's not too bad. But for a long one, it means a LOT more quote back space in the message and a greater difficulty following the train of thought of the new material that is interspersed with it.

Just a personal opinion,

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3279. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:16:51 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp@msn.com>
Message-ID: <62363b4da3668cc67debfe9c8a8e807e@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 26324
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> >
> >
> > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > or, should I say inaction.
> >
> > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> >
> > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking
> > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >

> So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > station in Hiram, Georgia.
>
> Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram, > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
>
> And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > from a very unstable person.
>

And this is one of the main reasons for restoring the Better Amateur Radio Federation. The mentioned person was once a proud member, but has fallen out of grace with his wild behavior. We will deal with these "fallen angels" in whatever way deemed acceptable.

People like Wiseman are pimple on the rear of the B.A.R.F. They will get tired of beating themselves against the wall in this newsgroup, and then leave in disgrace. We took out his ability to get on the newsgroups once, and will do it again if needed. It's not time yet.

That's why need YOU. With your help, we can clean the ham bands of garbage.

--
Lloyd Davies,
B.A.R.F. Chief of Communications
http://www.angelfire.com/in/w9xn/
http://www.anglefire.com/al/sj61 - Under development

3280. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:24:32 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <44E8A79E6EBDDCD7.749EC3CE475B8469.A0C9B76D2455A975@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26327

On 04 Dec 2001 03:31:44 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Sooo, your saying, then, that most homosexual couples go out of >their way to ensure that their children turn out to be normal, >unconfused heterosexuals? I certainly hope that this is so -- >perhaps you can provide some quantifiable proof?

While that's not what I'm saying (most gay couples simply allow their children to develop naturally--which in 90-95% of all cases is heterosexually, just as it is in straight families), I'll be happy to provide the evidence.

The University of Washington did a very extensive research project dealing with the question of homosexuality among children raised in gay households (they also studied other characteristics such as relative happiness, social skills, etc.--all of which demonstrated these were happy, healthy, kids not misfits). The source of their subject pool was a random selection of families in Minnesota in which gay parents had legally adopted a child (Minnesota leads the nation in gay adoption by a very wide margin). The result--which have been replicated by other research projects, some done by Christian Universities openly trying to disprove the result Washington obtained--was that children in such environments, while far less likely to demonstrate homophobia than the norm for society (not much of a surprise) were no more likely to develop into homosexual adolescents or adults than were children raised in two-parent heterosexual households (the control group was, likewise, chosen from adoptive parents in Minnesota to eliminate any regional differences).
I'm pretty sure the study is available through their web site, if not you can undoubtedly download it through one of the informational links on http://www.gaynet.org.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3281. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:40:00 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0D345F.4BDBD7C1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26328

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 01:33:25 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Your attempts to limit MY thinking to that which is approved by you > >would then seem to be close-minded.
>
> I don't attempt to limit your thinking, Dave, I just search > for indications that you DO think.

I've expressed my views based upon my beliefs. They are (especially in light of your proclaimed libertarian beliefs) just as valid as your beliefs.

> >You are a great role model, Rick. You reject whichever laws with which > >you do not agree but are quick to jump on the lawsuit bandwagon. You > >talk out of both sides of your mouth.
>
> Lawsuits provide a neutral playing field in which both > participants have the opportunity to state their positions--a criminal > action provides only a platform to demonstrate guilt or innocence, a > very different thing.

That isn't necessarily true. A great number of frivolous lawsuits are brought every day. One party may not have the financial wherewithal to see a lawsuit through. Those things certainly don't sound like a level playing field to me.

> And if you feel it's wrong to reject laws with which you don't > agree try telling that to Gandhi, MLK, or the Revolutionaries at the > Boston Tea Party for that matter. Presumably, had you been typical of > our forefathers we'd still be subjects of the Crown.

Again a false attribution of motivation. We were not discussing Gandhi, MLK or American revolutionaries. We were discussing obtaining a tattoo, presumably with a false ID. If your kid stole an orange, you wouldn't discuss suing the market.

> >> Too bad. I'd like to compare it to those I received from the > >> first year students in one of my classes to see how far you needed to > >> progress before you could discuss a subject objectively instead of
> >> from a biased perspective.
>
> >You aren't in a position of authority, Rick. You might be able to blow > >smoke in a classroom and intimidate some student. I'm afraid you are > >likely to be disappointed at my lack of deference toward you here.

>
> No problem, Dave. You have so many features lacking here that > this is just the least of them.

That is so much babbling inserted for lack of real response. Go ahead and give me an "F", "Teach".

> >> And in both cases you cite the people got their tattoos after > >> becoming adults. So much for the concept that if they are forbidden as > >> youths they will mature and not do so later.
> >
> >Actually not. The folks I cite had their tattoos done prior to reaching > >the age of majority. There goes your poof point.
>
> What ages did they get them?

One at age 16, two at age 18 (not then the age of majority).

> >> I would have to regard dying for political or economic > >> interests a trifle sillier than getting a tattoo, wouldn't you?
> >
> >Sure, Rick. If a person is able to join the military without parental > >consent, that person is old enough to get a tattoo. The person can > >still be immature enough to make a decision he'll later regret.
>
> And what of the 17 year old who HAS his or her parent's > permission to enlist? The military will treat him/her like an adult > and expect the same of him or her that they do of a 21 year old > recruit. Shouldn't he or she have the same rights that would be > available at 18--including the right to decide if he or she wants a > tattoo?

Seventeen is not the age of majority. Eighteen is the age of majority.
If the kid was eighteen, his parents wouldn't have to give consent.

> If the answer is no, how can you justify permitting such an > individual to enter the military in the first place?

Frankly, I don't. I've never met a seventeen year old who belonged in the military.

> If the answer is yes, then how can you justify saying that a > 17 year old is old enough to make THAT decision but not old enough to > make a decision about a tattoo--regardless of whether he or she DOES > choose to join the military or not?

A seventeen-year-old isn't old enough to make that decision legally.

> But if 17 is an acceptable age for a tattoo, then your > argument that a person must achieve majority goes up in smoke.

> >> >Gee, I think I see how they won.
> >>

> >> Really?
> >>
> >> How?
> >
> >...by applying the laws of their community rather than those of New > >York.
>
> Translation: By limiting the actions of a firm in NYC to those > acceptable for a firm in "Uptightville, GA."

...only limiting the NYC firm to do business in a place where the product is against local law.

> >> By proving that a firm outside their jurisdiction cannot do > >> business with a citizen in their jurisdiction w/o being prosecuted for > >> actions that are legal everywhere else? They didn't prosecute the > >> person who RECEIVED the shows, Dave (that would have rather quickly > >> overturned the law and they knew it), they prosecuted the network for > >> delivering them.
> >
> >Seems to me that they should have prosecuted the individual subscribing.
>
> They would have lost. That WOULD have violated his First > Amendment rights. The prosecutor himself stated that publicly.

Maybe it would have and maybe it wouldn't have. It would seem that either the law stands and both the program provider and the individual subscribing are guilty of breaking it or the law is overturned are not guilty.

> >If the law was overturned, that is the way things work in this society.
>
> It wasn't overturned--that's the problem. If it ISN'T > overturned it will mean a radical change in the nature of the programs > we receive on Television--and not one in the direction of freedom of > choice.
>
> >> Don't like em? Vote with your feet, stupid. Don't watch em.
> >
> >Y'know, that's just what we do. We watch selectively.
>
> And that, not censorship, is the sane way to respond to > unwanted programming. If not enough people want it to make it > profitable, the networks are going to cancel it--but if enough people > want it, it's unreasonable to prevent them from receiving it simply > because one group of people don't care for that type of entertainment.

We both know how the networks operate. Sure, they'll cancel it and, typically, replace it with another vapid, cheesey program.

> >What "people like you" believe is that there is some sort of right have > >sexually explicit material and so-called "adult" language beamed into > >homes across the land.

>
> There is such a right, Dave. It's called freedom of speech.

There is certainly debate about what constitutes freedom of speech and whether that free speech applies to large entertainment corporations in the same way it does to individuals. I don't happen to believe that pornography is free speech. If the founding fathers believed that it was, they certainly didn't write anything up which would make that view clear.

> > How about this: If you want that kind of > >material in your home, you pay extra for a subscription. The material > >then enters only the homes of those who desire it.
>
> Earth to Dave:
>
> That's EXACTLY what the premium channels ARE! I pay for HBO, > Showtime, Starz, and other such channels because I CHOOSE to view
> uncut and commercial free movies and documentaries. If those shows are
> 'R-Rated' it's my decision whether I want to view/hear them or > not--and if I do, it shouldn't be anyone else's concern but my own.

I'm aware that premium channels are received through paid subscription.

> >> >Maplethorpe as I recall. There's lots more to it than you've outlined.
> >> >Wonder why that conviction was never overturned?
> >>
> >> Because it wasn't appealed by the Cincinnati Museum due to > >> opposition by the city counsel.
> >
> >Yeah, go on. Why was counsel opposed to an appeal?
>
> Because the counsel was under pressure from the religious > right to drop the matter, Dave. The AFA practically laid siege to the > community--and it was successful.

The citizens of Cincinnati didn't need anyone to lay siege to the community. They supported the ban on the exhibit.

> >> You're correct that it was Mapplethorpe. So what? It was a > >> valid exhibit of art.
> >
> >...according to you but not according to the people of Cincinnati.
>
> According to the Arts counsel, the Smithsonian Institute, the > NYC Museum of Modern Art, and virtually every art authority in the > United States, Dave, not just according to me.

That's peculiar since I remember reading of debates within the art community regarding Maplethorpe's work. If I put a frame around a piece of feces, you could call it art. Most folks would call it what it is.

I might get comments like, "Nice frame!"

> The city of Cincinnati does NOT have the authority to define > art--anymore than it has the authority to define who may be considered > a licensed amateur radio operator. Art is defined by very specific > guidelines and one of those guidelines is NOT "community values."

Apparently, the city DOES have that authority and the further authority to say that it cannot be exhibited in a publicly funded art museum.

> >> The museum director made it very clear that > >> children would not be permitted to view the works considered to be > >> sexual in nature (it might burst your bubble to know it, but > >> Maplethorpe created a great many images that were NOT sexually > >> oriented) under any circumstances, and that only inoffensive images > >> would be used in the promotion of the showing (which would clearly > >> indicate that many of the contents contained troubling sexual images).
> >
> >I don't think that the idea that the publicly funded art museum should > >be closed to a portion of the public is representative of your > >libertarian views.
>
> At least if it was open to adults it would have allowed people > to view the art--as it was NO ONE was permitted to see it.

Right. No one was permitted to see it in a publicly funded art museum.
Maybe they needed to put it in a carnival tent. Then "subscribers" could be permitted a peek for $5.

> >As you have agreed, while some of Maplethorpe's work was not of sexual > >themes, much was. We're not talking just about what is viewed by most > >folks as normal sex here, are we Rick? Troubling indeed.
>
> So?
>
> Since when is what is considered "normal sex" by most people a > criteria for art?

Since when is any sexual act "art"?

> Are you so repressed that you can't allow people to see what > could be disturbing images (most of the pictures, btw, are not
> "abnormal" sex or disturbing images--I've seen the exhibit in a more > tolerant city, Ann Arbor, MI) if they choose to do so? Who elected the > people of Cincinnati the guardians of the public morality?

The people of Cincinnati ARE the guardians of THEIR public morality.
They elected folks to carry out their policy. I don't think the Maplethorpe show would have been banned at all if the abnormal sex or disturbing images were included.

> >> If you can find the slightest legitimacy in a community preventing the > >> showing of legitimate art in a legitimate art museum simply because > >> some members find the material depicted offensive, I'd like to know > >> what it is.

> >
> >More than "some members" found it objectionable. I wonder how many of > >the public officials involved in bringing the suit were re-elected by > >the people of Cincinnati.
>
> I wonder how many of the people who passed segregation laws in > the South were re-elected by the people of THEIR communities. We're > discussing freedom of speech, Dave, not politics as usual.

We're not talking about segregation laws. The people of Cincinnati rejected the Maplethorpe show. Who are you to force it upon them?

> >> Freedom of Speech isn't about permitting only innocuous > >> speech, Dave, you don't need a Constitutional protection for that.
> >> It's about permitting speech that is controversial, challenging, > >> unpopular and, yes, offensive to many--because ONLY when that kind of > >> speech is permitted can Americans exercise their right to protest or > >> to criticize government.
> >
> >What is it that you think Maplethorpe's work protested? What government > >action was he criticizing? The courts recognize that there are limits > >on free speech.
>
> And the right wing extremist idiots are the first to go > sniveling to them when they see anything that might offend their > self-righteous sensibilities, aren't they?

What about the snivelers who bleat their litanies of great civil wrongs because they aren't permitted the opportunity to view pornography presented as art--and that at public expense in a public venue?

> Dave, when people set themselves as the moral interpreters of > society we lose our freedom and become a police state. I'm sorry you > aren't capable of seeing the difference between freedom of choice and > repression--most of us can see it rather well.

My response is that when people begin to tell me that everything is okay--that there is no right and no wrong, we have become a nation under siege by barbarians. We have lost our values.

> >> You don't have to respect someone's speech
> >> (and art IS a form of speech--the SC has ruled on that several times)
> >> to support its right to exist--you only need to respect the > >> Constitution of the United States to do so. Clearly, the people of > >> Cincinnati don't respect our Constitution to the degree they respect
> >> the views of a few religious fanatics such as Donald Wildmon of the > >> AFA. Don't expect any intelligent and fair minded person to accept a > >> community like that as a "good example" of community values.
> >
> >...yet Cincinnati and some of the northern Kentucky environs are > >consistently declared to be among the most "liveable" places in America.

> >You can burn your flag in Cincinnati if you like, Rick. Just don't show
> >a graphic photo of homosexual sex and try to convince the folks there > >that is art. Many attempts have been made to present crud masquerading > >as art.
>
> And many attempts have been made to present religion as > community values. So what?

A number of them have been successful. Giuliani even cleaned up New York.

> Dave, if those pictures were of HETEROSEXUALS instead of > HOMOSEXUALS would you feel the same way? Would the citizens of > Cincinnati? I doubt it seriously--the key isn't the sexual component, > it's the fact that you and the people of Cincinnati are homophobic.

Yep. I'd feel the same way. I can't speak for Cincinnatians. I live in West Virginia now. I am not homophobic. I do not fear homosexuals nor do I fear sameness since I think the word translates to "same fear".

> >> Freedom of choice==hedonism to you?
> >
> >I liken your views to a frequent mantra of the sixties: If it feels > >good, do it.
>
> And yours are far closer to the Inquisition. I think I prefer > the sixties, off hand.

You are welcome to both. I think I'll skip the time travel and remain here in the present.

> >> >Only to a point. I don't think kids should wear clothing (i.e. T-shits) > >> >with any religious or political statements on them.
> >>
> >> Including Christian ones? If you support that perspective, > >> I'll agree with you. But if ONE religion is permitted to be > >> represented, all should receive equal treatment.
> >
> >Yeah, including the Christian ones. Just don't try selling me on the > >idea that wicca practices constitute a religion.
>
> Why should I bother. Your mind is made up, it would only > confuse you to state the facts.
>
> Religious bigot!

Do you mean to tell me that your mind is open to the idea that wiccan practices do not constitute a religion? If it isn't, you'd appear to be a close-minded individual, Rick.

> >> I-I-I-I-I. What about other's rights? YOU don't care if shows > >> are "bleeped," or not (of course, we know they aren't, so . . .) so > >> who cares if others don't care for the practice. YOU don't need closed > >> captions, so screw those with hearing loss. YOU don't have parental > >> control settings so other people should be censored to prevent > >> offensive material from entering YOUR home--to save you the trouble of > >> turning the set off or changing the channel.

> >
> >Yeah, I've noticed that you've suddenly stacked 'em all up neatly for > >me. I could easily go back through your stuff and find a numbers of > >"I's" in which you speak your views.
>
> And I present them as MY VIEWS, Dave. You present yours as > though they represented a revealed truth or facts.

That's funny. I'd reverse things and say that I present them as MY VIEWS and that you present yours as though they revealed truth or fact?
All in the eye of the beholder, Teach.

> >The Starz stuff is bleeped here. My wife confirms it. That you don't > >accept that is tough.
>
> Then call Dish, because they are violating their contract with > you and with Starz.

I don't believe I will. I don't mind it.

> >I don't need a parental control for my set. There are no children here.
> >Maybe you meant that it is to control my parents when they visit.
>
> Why--are they too open minded for you?

If you don't like MY views, you'd have a rough time with my parents views. I'm the family liberal.

> >I don't need closed captioning. Neither my wife nor I have any hearing > >problem. There's also the fact that our living room TV and VCR are > >multi-system pieces of equipment bought overseas. Maybe you'd like to > >come for an inspection tour.
>
> No thanks--the religious icons would probably overpower the
> decor.

Actually the Orthodox cross and icon present just the right touch. They help protect the home from the barbarians.

> >> How does hearing a "bleep" allow you to enjoy the dialog and > >> acting?
> >
> >Tell me, Rick. How many angels can dance on the head of a pin?
>
> None. There is no such thing as an angel.

Why you closed-minded, Christian-bashing heathen!

> > I still > >find it kind of refreshing. Are you somehow offended that this is my > >belief? It certainly sounds like another example of, "Be reasonable. Do > >it MY way".
>
> Dave, you may find it refreshing--your neighbor (if he has > "bleeped" shows) may find it angering. Why should YOUR desire to be > protected from the script in a movie overweigh his desire to see the > movie in unaltered form?

Rember all those sentences in which the "I" is included? That's because I'm speaking of MY views and MY perspectives. I'm not speaking for my neighbor. I didn't address his views. Perhaps one day, if he ever gets a computer and internet access, he'll show up here and inform you of his views.

> >> They run everything unedited, Dave, I tested your claim and it > >> was false, remember?
> >
> >You tested? Oh, OK. I must have been delirious and made the entire > >thing up in order to make a point with you here. Yeah, that's it...
>
> Sounds ok to me. I'll accept your word that's what happened.
>
> Dave, this conversation is going no where. I've stated my > views and you've stated yours. At this point I'll simply drop out of > the discussion and let you either do the same or continue to > pontificate.

If you've tired, I understand.

Dave K8MN

3282. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:52:08 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F8ABF993A13CA29C.694B4E650AAC1FEA.6E62DB90ADD3CCC4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26329

On 04 Dec 2001 03:31:45 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>As Riley (that's MISTER Hollingsworth to you) clearly stated, the >negative impact of your callsign exists in the form of the potential >discouragement of concerned parents, grandparents, and other >influential adults from bringing young, impressionable children into >the realm of Amateur Radio as a result of hearing or seeing your >call sign, which has the effect of objectifying women in a demeaning >manner.

Here is where the problem lies, Larry. Riley Hollingsworth has no more knowledge that those events would occur than I, or anyone else, does. He is speculating, based on his personal opinion of the nature of the call sign, exactly as you are doing. The difference is, in his case his position with the FCC lends a false aura of veracity to a statement that is strictly one of opinion--and is no more likely to be accurate than the opinion of anyone else.

>The potential for you to bring the ARS "...one step closer >to extinction" is a reality.

The potential for her to bring the ARS "...one step FURTHER FROM extinction" is just as valid a reality. It is well within the range of possibility that instead of being offended by her sign, potential hams would be amused by it and see it as a sign that hams have a sense of humor and are open minded people--and thus would be ENCOURAGED to earn their licenses.

Is it probably? No more or less so than the opposite scenario.
But it IS an alternative view that is logically as sound as the original one. Given the fact that either could be true, and that neither would make any significant impact on the ARS in any case, it should be clear that the entire matter is one in which Kim has no reason to regret or reconsider her decision to obtain that call sign.

> Of course, you might not admit this, because
>it doesn't serve your selfish motives to do so.

Are YOU willing to admit the possibility that her sign may encourage potential new hams instead discouraging them? If not, why should she admit that your view is possible either?

> However, I hold out
>the hope that you may, possibly, do the right thing, someday.

In my opinion (and that of others here) she already is, Larry.
She's standing up to attempts to stifle her freedom of choice.

>I have >faith in your potential to change, even if you don't see that possibility >on your radar screen at this time. I like to see the potential for good >in people, and I don't exclude you whatsoever.

Then attempt to see the potential good in her RETAINING the sign instead of only in her following your instructions and changing it. THAT, not a statement such as the one above, will show you are fair minded.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3283. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:52:36 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26341
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> >
> >
> > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > or, should I say inaction.
> >
> > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> >
> > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking
> > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >

> So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > station in Hiram, Georgia.
>
> Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> Georgia operator from amateur radio?

I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
W4AMP tried to reason with him.
N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago on 75 meters.

> And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family
> from a very unstable person.

Try to spin a justification all you want, you're just an ANONYMOUS COWARD.

3284. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 20:55:35 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujium$gf2$1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26342
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message news:62363b4da3668cc67debfe9c8a8e807e@spamfreenews.com...
>
> "CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
> news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> > >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> > >
> > >
> > > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > > or, should I say inaction.
> > >
> > > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> > >
> > > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking
> > > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the

> > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >
> > So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> > for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > > station in Hiram, Georgia.
> >
> > Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> > Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
> >
> > And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > > from a very unstable person.
> >
>
> And this is one of the main reasons for restoring the Better Amateur Radio > Federation. The mentioned person was once a proud member, but has fallen > out of grace with his wild behavior. We will deal with these "fallen > angels" in whatever way deemed acceptable.
>
> People like Wiseman are pimple on the rear of the B.A.R.F.

LARDASSSSSSSSS LLLLLLLLOYD, you are the festered pimple on the ass of the human race that your're not a part of.

> They will get > tired of beating themselves against the wall in this newsgroup, and then > leave in disgrace. We took out his ability to get on the newsgroups once, > and will do it again if needed. It's not time yet.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!
Lardasssss Lllllllloyd you couldn't take out anything. Especially that cucumber you stick up your FAT ASS on a nightly basis.

> That's why need YOU. With your help, we can clean the ham bands of garbage.

Says Lllllllllllllllaardass Lllllllllllllllllllllllllllloyd, who gets on HF unidentifed.

3285. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:04:36 UTC
From: Roll Call Please <NewBARF@RollCallForever.net> Message-ID: <9ujdke$i5l$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26330
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> >
> >
> > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > or, should I say inaction.
> >
> > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> >
> > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking
> > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >

> So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > station in Hiram, Georgia.
>
> Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram, > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
>
> And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > from a very unstable person.
>
>
We need to bring the BARF back. There were never problems like this when we had Herbie and the great BARF on 14313.....BARF Lives!!!!!!!!!!!!!

3286. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:13:00 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D3C5C.70596E8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26331

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>
> >I just heard some interesting trivia on the radio. Question:
> >Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while > >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?
>
> George Armstrong Custer??? ;-)

Nope. Hint: He earlier killed 1000 of those enemies with the jawbone of an ass.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3287. Re: state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:16:19 UTC
From: brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm
Message-ID: <u0qfmi8outhh47@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26332

Thanks for the reply. So it is a 'get out of jail free' card so to say. I agree that having it busy blaring out police calls while he is getting your information is a bit like pulling on superman's cape.

I re-read the law MCL 750.508 and you are correct.

Many Thanks,

Wes

KC8SPR

W E S S at G T I I dot C O M

"Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net> wrote:

>
><brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm> wrote in message
>news:u0pmnq911j8c42@corp.supernews.com...
>> Howdy,
>> I just got my Technician's license a few days ago (KC8SPR) and >> have a hand held for 2m and 70cm as my sole radio. The gent that kept >> proding me along to get my license told me that I needed a Michigan
>> State Police permit to monitor police frequencies in a vehicle.
>
>He's dead wrong. You do not need a permit. Your Ham license is enough to >grant you the right to monitor all public service frequencies. What he may >have really meant to suggest is getting a signed letter from the Michigan >State Police stating you have the right to have a radio in your vehicle that >can receive public service frequencies such as police and fire. The reason >is a few Hams from time to time have found themselves being ticketed, and >their radios confiscated by police offices who don't know the law, and or >are to lazy to check back with HQ to verify the facts first. They then have >to go through the expense of going to court to get their equipment back.
>
>If you don't have a letter then the next best thing is a copy of the >applicable state statue, which specifically exempts Hams etc., and the small >copy of your license, which is at the bottom of the main full size ticket.
>Keep both with you at all times when out and about monitoring those public >service frequencies.
>
>If you're ever stopped and questioned about the radio receiving police >calls, be very polite, explain the facts to the officer, then show them >either the letter and or the applicable state statue with the copy of your >Ham license. Normally that's the end of it.
>

>Of course the really prudent thing to do is to keep the volume down, or turn >off the rig, so the police officer can't hear it, thus saving you the hassle >of answering those questions in the first place.

3288. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:24:46 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B597282F40783FDF.66006BE4959CCC1E.77783F44B4E1017D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26333

On 04 Dec 2001 17:25:41 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>OIC. Now the personal attack is expanded from just being against me, >to everyone else participating in this thread. Oh, as you were...just
>"some" of the people in this thread. The ones who aren't openly >accepting and totally thrilled with the cleverness of Kim's call sign, >no doubt! A typical childish response from a liberal who isn't getting >his own way. Nothing new here!

Darn it, Larry. There's just no pleasing you.

Insult you, you get offended.

Compliment you, you get offended.

And you STILL can't learn the difference between a liberal and a libertarian.

Have a nice day pork chop.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3289. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:28:26 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0D3FFA.ABE1DDDD@uci.edu>
Source record: 26334

Dwight Stewart wrote:

> Ask _ANY_ Arab and he will > gladly tell you why they're angry.

That's almost right. Ask MOST any Arab, and he'll tell you that he was told by his imam he should be angry and hateful. The reason? Well it's because there's a great satan - sorta like the boogie man, only meaner. You see, he must rely on his religious leaders for all his information because he's too illiterate to discover the truth for himself. Of course even if he can read, the Arab press will tell him that he should be angry and hateful.

What the world can only hope for is the second coming of Mohammed in order that he would teach all of his people not to hate.

What's the air pressure over there where you are, Dwight? Seems like you're kinda runnin' at a vacuum.

3290. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:49:06 UTC
From: user@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <3c0d4124.17592641@news.triconet.org>
Source record: 26335

On Tue, 4 Dec 2001 14:26:09 -0500, "Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net>
wrote:

|
|"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
|news:3C0C6212.298A6008@spam.me.not...
|> Based on the evidence you've presented, Weak Signal emissions don't seem
|> to be excluded from 50.0 to 50.1 and 144.0 to 144.1.
|
|I've been reading this thread and I think the 100KHz band sections are |typically used for EME work only, which has up to now been almost always
|done using CW. I know a few EME contacts have been done on SSB, but I don't |know if it was done in those band segments. If they were then they those |band segments are not CW only, but are still "weak signal" considering the
|mode, and not for the "typical" terrestrial weak signal use.

Yes the 144.0 to 144.1 sub-band is used for EME, but not exclusively. I have many states worked on CW in this segment that were via meteor and tropo scatter.
However, I can work my neighbor on CW on 144.050 and be perfectly legal.

I have one two-way EME SSB QSO and the contact was initiated on CW and we QSY to the appropriate part of the band (144.11) to go to SSB. SSB or any mode other than CW IS NOT ALLOWED in the 144.0-144.1 band segment, no matter how "weak" the signal might be.

Please understand, "weak signal" modes are considered to be CW and SSB and currently by gentlemen's agreement, but not (yet) by the force of regulation, the weak signal band segments are protected from deaf modes such as FM.

Wes Stewart N7WS

3291. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 21:56:44 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112041356.1167cb5f@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26336

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C0CEE05.7BC45178@IEEE.org>...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> > >Question:
> > >Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while > > >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?
> >
> > Most famous or most effective?
>
> Probably the most famous in the Western Countries. Most children have > heard of him and know his story. He killed himself and in the process > took thousands of the opposition with him. Incidentally, it happened > in Gaza close to where yesterday's Israeli attacks occurred.

So famous that Tom Jones sang a song about a woman in his life, and a brand of luggage is named for him.

Samson.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3292. Re: state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:01:06 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112042200530.12861-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 26337

On Tue, 4 Dec 2001 brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm wrote:
> I just got my Technician's license a few days ago (KC8SPR) and >have a hand held for 2m and 70cm as my sole radio. The gent that kept >proding me along to get my license told me that I needed a Michigan
>State Police permit to monitor police frequencies in a vehicle.
>
> That was a suprise to me. But since most VHF radios are wide >band on recieve they do pick up the 150mhz range where the police live >and having a police scanner in a car is a no no in many states.
>
> In Michigan it is a violation of MCL 740.508 which is a >misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the county jail foor not >more than 1 year or a fine not more then $500.00.
>
> That > 180 day misdemeanor thing sends out some alarm bells.
>I think one can lose their right to keep and bear arms over that.
>Maybe I have it wrong but I think it is either 90 or 180 day that gets >you in hot water on a misdemeanor and firearms.
>
> So now I am interested in the law in other states as far as >amateur radio in vehicles, permits, and penalties. Seems you can't >make a move without agency trying to trip you up now a days.
>
> So any web links on the law and reciprocity of police licenses
>would be great to have.

Back in 1993, the FCC addressed this. I think it was ruling 93-17. Amateur radio licenseholders are exempt from states' anti-monitoring laws of public safety frequencies.

3293. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:06:08 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AD534EB48CB7870F.2CDD7BEBE3B600B4.446F049E93826E3B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26338

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 08:58:53 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>> I could see charging for civil services (provided, of course, >> that the loser in the action was the one who had to pay, not the >> winner). But you can't expect those fees to cover the cost of the >> criminal justice system--
>
>Why not? Have you any idea of the size of the civil contract system?
>A ten percent fee on every contract would be a huge amount.

True--but given current incarceration rates (1.2M as of 2000 and still growing) and the cost of incarceration ($33,000.00/yr at current rates), you're talking about $39,600,000,000 per year BEFORE factoring in the costs of law enforcement, the courts, jails, legal costs, etc., or about $80,000,000,000.00 per year total.

Admittedly, under a Libertarian government, there would be less prisoners incarcerated since consensual crime laws would be repealed--but at the same time the "buyer beware" aspects of Libertarian economic policy would reduce the total size of the civil contract system correspondingly.

I doubt seriously you could cover THIS kind of costs with only a ten percent fee on contracts. Plus, all you are really doing by implementing a compulsory 10% on contracts is to create a new form of taxation (effectively there is no difference between a 10% contract fee and a 10% sales or excise tax), something the Libertarians oppose.

>> Sorry, Cecil, but that's way too elitist for me.
>
>So do you advocate subsidizing the breeding of ever larger herds >of welfare recipients?

I didn't know people in poverty lived in herds, Cecil.

> That's what is happening today.

No it isn't. What is happening today is a combination of bad programs (if you examine most of the AFDC programs in the US, you'll discover that the design of the programs themselves make it very difficult for someone to get off welfare and become self-sufficient), lack of alternative resources (GOOD schools in poverty level areas, job programs, etc.), inadequate funding for prevention programs, and prejudice against the poor (example: the single most effective way to insure that kids will grow up part of the system is to provide homes for welfare recipients not in ghettos but in working class neighborhoods where the family will be surrounded by working class people and where the kids will go to schools where a work ethos is a given).

>The problem >is growing because it is being subsidized. And when the governmental >employees plus the welfare population becomes a large majority >of the voters, this country, as we know it, will be doomed to >socialism/fascism.

Ok, then lets start with the Social Security programs and eliminate welfare for the elderly!

Social security costs FAR more than all other programs combined--and if innocent kids don't have the right to expect the government to help them why should seniors? When I see the Libertarian Party take a stand against ANY form of transfer payment (including all subsidies, Social Security, Disability Pensions, special benefits for veterans, any form of foreign aid, loans to industry, etc.) then at least I'll view them as consistent instead of prejudiced against the poor. But, of course, if they took that position they would have no chance of election at all.

Cecil, it isn't that I don't believe that there are serious problems with our welfare system--there are. But to simply treat the poor as an unwanted "herd" goes beyond reform to classism--something particularly objectionable from an organization that is supposed to be based on libertarian philosophy.

We are a wealthy country--if we can't survive without ignoring the needs of the poor, sick, or hungry then we're no better than the Taliban or Iraq.

>When my dad was growing up, his family was so poor they didn't even >know there was a depression. When I was born my dad was making one >dollar for working a 12 hour day. Without help, he worked his way out >of poverty. Most poor people can do that if they try.

Bull.

At that time there was a growing economy in this nation, and that meant jobs. There was a war (WWII) that accelerated the growth of industry, and THAT meant jobs. The military was at a far higher manpower level than today and THAT meant jobs. Technology was booming with hundreds of new, and desirable, products, and THAT meant jobs. And education was becoming available and affordable beyond the high school level, and THAT meant jobs.

I'm not saying that it's impossible to work one's way out of poverty today--but there are a LOT more barriers than there were then.

Put yourself in this position: You are a young (18 years old), honest, African-American male living on the East Side of Detroit (the hard-core inner city area--substitute South Central LA or Bedford Styvesant if you prefer). You have received an inner city public school education (which, in every area of this country, is sub-standard). You have no car, nor any way to purchase one, nor do you have clothing suitable for the mainstream marketplace. Your community has an unemployment rate of 14% or more--with most of the people who DO work holding minimum wage service jobs, many of them part time or seasonal. Your SAT/ACT scores are inadequate for a scholarship at a college, and no jobs exist in your area of the city. Because of your average grades (unlike many classmates you didn't cheat to get better grades) you are not eligible for acceptance by the military services (which have become quite selective in recent years). You have a mother who is only able to work as a domestic three days a week, and two younger siblings. Your father died when you were 12, victim of a robbery/homicide in the liquor store where he clerked at night. Your goal is to find a job with a future, marry your girl friend, and move away from the neighborhood where you live and where, due to poverty, a substantial amount of violent crime occurs.

What do you do?

Today, you could apply for a community college (where your SAT/ACT scores are not relevant and where remedial courses to make up for the quality of your high school are available) and receive financial aid (pell grant, state grants, etc.) to attend. After two years there, if your grades were good and you worked hard at your studies, you would be qualified to transfer to a four-year institution with enough financial aid to cover your costs of attendance. In the mean time, your family would be eligible to receive state aid so you could devote your time to your education instead of having to drop out of school to support them.

Under a Libertarian government, the academic grants and the social service programs would BOTH be gone--and you would have no legal means of supporting yourself OR your family at all.

Sound far fetched? It's a very accurate description of one of the students in my Criminal Justice Psychology class (his goal is to become a Youth Officer on the Detroit PD and work with kids in the inner city). His girlfriend is also a student at the college, where she's almost finished with her nursing degree.

Are THESE the kind of "herd members" you want to see eliminated from our society?

Sorry, Cecil. But while I respect many of the views of the Libertarian party, it's precisely this kind of problems that keep me from joining it--or identifying with it. And I doubt seriously that I'm alone in that response.

The US is in desperate need of a new party that represents a fresh perspective--the old ones have essentially fused into a single political position. And the concept of personal liberty implicit in the Libertarian perspective makes it a very attractive alternative to the more repressive Republicrats--for both libertarians and economic conservatives alike. But until the Libertarian Party acknowledges the fact that our poor and needy must be helped by the state, it will never become that party or experience widespread acceptance.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3294. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:18:58 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <915F8B7E79351881.C3654131CCAE94C7.03C67BF91F6CD7B2@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26339

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 05:56:27 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> I find that very hard to believe. However, given for a moment this >10% actually exists, how many of these "innocent" death row inmates >make it through the eight to twelve years of review and appeals >without their innocence being discovered? In fact, the appeal process >is so weighted in favor of the accused, I suspect many criminals are >simply walking away free (not the other way around). Of course, this >doesn't seem to bother those opposed to the death penalty as much.
>They're more concerned for the criminals in jail than they are for the >victims of the criminals they work so hard to set free.

What bothers us is the concept that unlike any other penalty there simply isn't any way to make amends for an error in conviction if the death penalty has been carried out.

If we send a man or woman to prison for natural life, and ten years later we discover that he or she was innocent, that person can be released and at least partially compensated for the harm that was done to them. But if we have already killed him or her it's just a little bit late to say "sorry."

Even more to the point, however, is the concept that we are knowingly killing people on death row for crimes they didn't commit.
In ANY way of thinking, that's murder. That it is justified--and performed--by the state only compounds the crime.

Perhaps if the death penalty actually accomplished its goal (deterrence) it might be worth the risk of such results--but it doesn't. Every study that has ever been conducted has shown that the presence or absence of a death penalty in a state has no effect on the crime rate whatever.

Incidently, the reason so many death row inmates are being found innocent today has little to do with the appeals process directly. Several years ago a project was started by law students at the University of Illinois to examine DNA evidence in the cases of capital crimes. The result was that using modern DNA testing, in the case of fully 10% of the convicted inmates it was shown that they could NOT have been the perpetrator. And that's only cases where DNA evidence could be used (i.e., bits of hair, blood, semen, etc. were found at the scene and used to convict the inmate)--most capital cases don't include such evidence, and thus we have no way of knowing if the problem is even worst there. One thing we DO know, however, is that in more and more DNA cases, eyewitness testimony is proving unreliable.

If the same holds true for other cases (and there is absolutely no reason it shouldn't), a substantial number of people are going to prison--or to their execution--for crimes committed by others.

>> (snip) an innocent person was put to >> death (as has happened more than once >> in recent years)? (snip)
>
> Nonsense. Funny how only those opposed to the death penalty can >"see" those "innocent" people who were put to death. Everyone else >(jury, judges, appeal judges, pardon boards, and so forth) saw a >guilty person.

Really?

DNA evidence has been used in a very substantial number of cases to prove that the person executed did NOT commit the crime--the research was conducted as a part of the Illinois Legal Defense Project. That isn't opinion, it's solid, legally admissible, proof that innocent men and women were executed by the state.

And THAT, Dwight, is murder in any way you care to define the crime.

Rick

>
>
>Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
>http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3295. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:22:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0D805AC9506C1873.8EF4F5AC9082C9EF.E852C809DDECF342@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26340

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 09:24:14 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>The liberal social freedoms aspect of Libertarianism is a minor part.
>The major part is the conservative economic freedoms aspect. As far >as economics goes, Libertarians hold many of the traditional values >that modern-day Republicans have given up on.

Which, of course, is reason enough for those of us who are social libertarians to vote the Green party instead.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3296. Re: state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:37:39 UTC
From: brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm
Message-ID: <u0qkf1qn6rsu74@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26343

"D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org> wrote:

>Back in 1993, the FCC addressed this. I think it was ruling 93-17. Amateur >radio licenseholders are exempt from states' anti-monitoring laws of public >safety frequencies.

Good info. I will find it and put a copy in glove box.

73

Wes

KC8SPR

3297. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 22:54:51 UTC
From: Lloyd <TheNewBARF@TheNewBARFgroup.net> Message-ID: <9ujk32jjo0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26344
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
on
> 75 meters.
>

NO arguement there Scheissman YOU ARE THE UNCONTESTED
expert on Usenet when it comes to filthy obscene language!!!!!!!!!!

3298. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:00:21 UTC
From: Polly <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> Message-ID: <9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26345
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
on
> 75 meters.

You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

3299. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:01:53 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujn2f$s1v$1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26253
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Roll Call Please" <NewBARF@RollCallForever.net> wrote in message news:9ujdke$i5l$0@pita.alt.net...
> "CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
> news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> > >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> >
> >
> > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > or, should I say inaction.
> >
> > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> >
> > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking
> > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by

> > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >
> > So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> > for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > > station in Hiram, Georgia.
> >
> > Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> > Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
> >
> > And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > > from a very unstable person.
> >
> >
> We need to bring the BARF back. There were never > problems like this when we had Herbie and the great > BARF on 14313.............BARF Lives!!!!!!!!!!!!!

You need to get a brain transplant first.

3300. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:02:39 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujn2h$s1v$2@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26254
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ujium$gf2$1@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message > news:62363b4da3668cc67debfe9c8a8e807e@spamfreenews.com...
> >
> > "CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
> > news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> > > news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> > > >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> > >
> > >
> > > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate > amateur
> > > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313,
the
> > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > > or, should I say inaction.
> > >
> > > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.

> > >
> > > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking > > > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> > >
> > >
> > > So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> > > for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > > > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > > > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > > > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > > > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of
the > > > station in Hiram, Georgia.
> > >
> > > Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> > > Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> > > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
> > >
> > > And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > > > from a very unstable person.
> > >
> >
> > And this is one of the main reasons for restoring the Better Amateur Radio
> > Federation. The mentioned person was once a proud member, but has fallen > > out of grace with his wild behavior. We will deal with these "fallen > > angels" in whatever way deemed acceptable.
> >
> > People like Wiseman are pimple on the rear of the B.A.R.F.
>
> LARDASSSSSSSSSS LLLLLLLLOYD, you are the festered pimple on the ass of the > human race that your'e not a part of.
<corrected>
>
> > They will get > > tired of beating themselves against the wall in this newsgroup, and then > > leave in disgrace. We took out his ability to get on the newsgroups once,
> > and will do it again if needed. It's not time yet.
>
> BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!
> Lardasssss Lllllllloyd you couldn't take out anything. Especially that > cucumber you stick up your FAT ASS on a nightly basis.
>
> > That's why need YOU. With your help, we can clean the ham bands of > garbage.

>
> Says Lllllllllllllllaardass Lllllllllllllllllllllllllllllloyd, who gets on > HF unidentifed.

And Llllloyd, how is it Herbie says he's never heard of you?

3301. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:03:48 UTC
From: user@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <3c0d460e.18850666@news.triconet.org>
Source record: 26346

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 14:59:45 -0500, Dave Hall <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net>
wrote:

|Kent wrote:
|>
|> Dave, I think that you have not spent a good amount of time on the CW bands.
|> "Hopelessly weak"???? Not with CW! Ask the EMEers.
|
|If the signal is NOT weak, then it becomes more practical to use a phone
|mode. IF CW is the only mode that works, then the signal is weak by |definition. EME'er regularly work ssb if they have any sort of decent
|station.

Since I can't find you in any list I have of known EME operators, I assume you do not have a "decent station" so how would you know what is regularly done?

If by decent you mean some of the stations with antenna arrays worth tens of $K and all commercial gear then yes, SSB is "regularly used." With my former "indecent" all homebrew station with a modest 4 Yagi array, SSB was not regularly used for EME.

|
|>
|> "Voice has replaced CW"??? Ask the SSB ops that wanted a contact with the |> VP8 in the Shetlands. He never went to SSB. Though the SSB ops were
|> BEGGING for it to happen!

Right on. N7WS worked VP8SGK 11/26/2001 @23:48 on 20 CW. It took one call.

OTOH, I had to call about 20 times to work 4L4FN/P5 on 20 SSB this morning heh heh heh.

|
|I have no desire to exchange anything with an elitist mode snob. If he |can't talk to me on the modes I use, "uck 'em".

What an enlightened attitude.

|>
|> "Painfully slow data exchange"??? I bet I can exchange an RST just as fast
|> as with voice. Please read below about cw ops using 8000 cps (characters
|> per second).
|
|There is no way a person can manually send CW at that rate. If you are |using a computer to "type" CW, then there are far better digital modes
|with FEC that get the job done faster and better. CW is not a very |robust digital mode, and it is severely limited in speed if done

|manually.

I'm really glad VP8SGK wasn't relying on FEC to pick my call out of the pile-up;
I'd still be calling. Talk about "speed limited."

3302. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:07:49 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0D5744.C72F598A@uci.edu>
Source record: 26347

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 29 Nov 2001 04:16:13 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:
>
> >> I don't--and I _teach_ PLS101 classes!
> >>
> > >
> > > Then you don't teach Political Science. You teach some radical BS just > > >as I would expect from you.
>
> Er, Dickie,
>
> PLS101 IS a Political Science course.

I think what Dick is saying is that when you teach it, PLS101 is a Rick Adams course.

3303. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:15:12 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0D5900.A47FECD7@uci.edu>
Source record: 26349

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:

> > At what point in his life did Uncle Thomas begin > > referring to himself as a libertarian?
>
> I don't know if he did or didn't but historians have classified > him as a "civil libertarian" for hundreds of years. He certainly > believed in liberating Americans from British rule and giving > us as much personal freedom and protection from government as
> is feasible in a civilized society.

I think that's right. But a litigious society is replacing the civilized society we once had; a process which has lead us to where we are now.

3304. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:16:19 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D5943.AB0072C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26348

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote:
>
> >OIC. Now the personal attack is expanded from just being against me, > >to everyone else participating in this thread. Oh, as you were...just
> >"some" of the people in this thread. The ones who aren't openly > >accepting and totally thrilled with the cleverness of Kim's call sign, > >no doubt! A typical childish response from a liberal who isn't getting > >his own way. Nothing new here!
>
> Darn it, Larry. There's just no pleasing you.
>
> Insult you, you get offended.
>
> Compliment you, you get offended.
>
> And you STILL can't learn the difference between a liberal and > a libertarian.
>
> Have a nice day pork chop.

Larry reminds me of Samson. He's trying to kill us with the jawbone of an ass. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3305. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:24:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D5B11.E2249970@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26350

Rick Adams wrote:
> I doubt seriously you could cover THIS kind of costs with only > a ten percent fee on contracts. Plus, all you are really doing by > implementing a compulsory 10% on contracts is to create a new form of > taxation (effectively there is no difference between a 10% contract > fee and a 10% sales or excise tax), something the Libertarians oppose.

Of course there's a difference between a fee and a tax, Rick.

> Ok, then lets start with the Social Security programs and > eliminate welfare for the elderly!

Social Security is not welfare for me. I will never recover all I paid into the Social Security program.

> Cecil, it isn't that I don't believe that there are serious > problems with our welfare system--there are. But to simply treat the > poor as an unwanted "herd" goes beyond reform to classism--

Treating the poor as unwanted seems logical to me, Rick. Why would you want anyone to be poor?

> Put yourself in this position: You are a young (18 years old),...

I would gladly give everything I own for that.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3306. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:28:58 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0D5C3A.8AA5C286@uci.edu>
Source record: 26251

Rick Adams wrote:
> Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at > Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation > of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of > conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state > dinner by a sitting President).......

Yuck. Prolly tasted like bong water. :-)

3307. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:34:49 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0D5D99.35726EE0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26252

Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at > > Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation > > of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of > > conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state > > dinner by a sitting President).......
>
> Yuck. Prolly tasted like bong water. :-)

What does bong water taste like, Jim? :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3308. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:49:46 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujpbb$560$1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26257
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.2600

"Stagger Lee" <SLee@houston-hunks.com> wrote in message news:roger.staggers.master@houston-hunks.com...
>
> On Tue, 4 Dec 2001 15:52:36 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> :
> : Try to spin a justification all you want, you're just an ANONYMOUS COWARD.
>
> And [IKYWABWAI]

And they call him "Pee Wee Stagger Lee" for several reasons.
But He/she/it's still a hiding, anonymous COWARD.

3309. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:51:32 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujpbd$560$2@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26258
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"LARDASSSSSSSSS Lllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllloyd" <TheNewBARF@TheNewBARFgroup.net> wrote in message news:9ujk32jjo0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> on
> > 75 meters.
> >
>
> NO arguement there Scheissman

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHHAAHHA!!!!!!!! Still listening in on those CHEAP-ASS Radio Shit, er Shack radios, Lllllllardasssssss Llllllloyd? The ones that aren't even double conversion recievers?
MUWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!

3310. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-04 23:55:00 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ujpbe$560$3@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26259
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

Pedophile
"Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in message
news:9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> on
> > 75 meters.
>
> You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
> gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info > has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
> Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!
I did? How did I do that when I said N4CND used profanity the other night on 3.901?
That's quite a stretch, fuckwitted anonymous COWARD. And Riley knows that I haven't been on 3.901, but he has DFed you unidentified.
Since I keep a log, your pathetic attemps, are going to be toast, and he doesn't accept anonymous coward's blatherings. Now, under the FOIA, I will find out exactly who you are.
Mwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha!!!!!!!!! or as you say : HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR!!!!!!!!!!!

3311. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:08:27 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <175E4DBAFF58FCAA.3E26F871732CF88D.60B28AADDE5C3A5B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26255
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 14:11:14 GMT, "Kenneth Vaughan" <kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote:

>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make >any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local >atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause
>submitted before a judge.

If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable cause to search.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3312. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:14:51 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <8C53E9080B92DB62.D468512814D31083.02F0FB29581505C3@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26256
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 20:10:17 GMT, "W6DKN" <w6dkn@qsl.net> wrote:

>"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
>news:672843AB044B2518.94A4425C9C7CF2D8.120C5F2BB645239E@lp.airnews.net...
>> On 3 Dec 2001 23:18:48 -0800, keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
>> (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
>>
>> >HMMMMMMMMM. COME TO THINK OF IT WHY DOES A PERSON LIKE KD5NRH WHO >> >CANT LEGALLY OPERATE ON 10 METERS RUSH IN TO DEFEND THE SALE OF THESE >> >FAKE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS ?????????
>>
>> I can be an Extra in a month. You'll be an anonymous coward forever.
>>
>
>I'll check the callbooks in 6 weeks and see... :>)

I may just take you up on that :)

So far, my YL has been wanting us to upgrade at the same time, but she's practically hiding from the books, so I may just study harder and go try for it. I'm pretty much set for the code, nearly ready for General, and past electronics experience got me a fair chunk of the info in the Extra book.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3313. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:45:43 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d6f07_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26260

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011203223145.28714.00002780@nso-md.aol.com...
> In article <3c0ad245_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >
> >Oh, sure Riley said what he said. I don't negate that at all. However,
I > >have no problems with my callsign...at all. The problems Riley has with
it
> >are his, the problems you have with it are yours. And so on. I like it.
> >I'll keep it. The ARS will not go into extinction, and that can be proven.
>
> Kim:
>
> As Riley (that's MISTER Hollingsworth to you)

Nope. Sorry if you thought so. I call him Riley.

>
> clearly stated, the > negative impact of your callsign exists in the form of the potential > discouragement of concerned parents, grandparents, and other > influential adults from bringing young, impressionable children into > the realm of Amateur Radio as a result of hearing or seeing your > call sign, which has the effect of objectifying women in a demeaning > manner.
>

Uh, Larry, Riley did not say all that in the email. His email was about 3 lines if I recall. But, to carry your statements, they're wrong. That they are wrong is borne out in the fact that the ARS is under no worse shape than before I got my callsign; in fact, the numbers have grown.

>
> The potential for you to bring the ARS "...one step closer > to extinction" is a reality.
>

I agree. The "potential" as reality is the equivalent of anything is possible, and it is.

>
> Of course, you might not admit this, because > it doesn't serve your selfish motives to do so.

>

I always ask you to 'splain what "selfish motives" I have, Larry. You've never exactly answered that question.

>
> However, I hold out
> the hope that you may, possibly, do the right thing, someday.
>

Oh? Didn't anyone tell you? I've done the right thing, Larry.

>
> I have > faith in your potential to change, even if you don't see that possibility > on your radar screen at this time. I like to see the potential for good > in people, and I don't exclude you whatsoever.
>

In my opinion, you are totally incapable of seeing the good in anyone, Larry, unless there's something in it for you.

> >
> >Sorry, you're wrong. As usual. And notice I didn't have to use any worn > >out cliches to make my point...
>
> Well, not this time, at least.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
>

Kim W5TIT

3314. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:46:57 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d6f51_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26261

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011203223145.28714.00002779@nso-md.aol.com...
> In article <3c0c23c7_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >> No. Not unless they wanted me to be. And I'm sure that's what most > >> homosexual "couples" want for their children.
> >>
> >> 73 de Larry, K3LT
> >>
> >
> >The true pity, folks, is Larry likely believes that.
> >
> >Kim W5TIT
>
> Kim:
>
> The fact that you feel the need to imply that I may not believe what > I post leads me to conclude that perhaps, you don't believe in what > you post! Trust me, I don't post statements like the above unless
> I do, in fact, believe what I am saying.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

I think I stated the obvious. What's the matter with you? It is a true pity that you believe what you posted and I stated that it is a true pity.
Understand now?

Kim W5TIT

3315. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:47:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d6f8b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26262

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011203223146.28714.00002781@nso-md.aol.com...
> In article <3C0ADCBA.49DC4701@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> Kim, let me absolutely, without a doubt assure you: Riley Hollingsworth's
> >> words were true. That makes this YOUR problem.
> >
> >Actually, it is not Kim's problem at all. The Constitution > >protects people like Kim from people like you and Riley.
>
> Cecil:
>
> Kim's Constitutional right to make a fool of herself and all other YL
> hams is not the issue; Mr. Hollingsworth was very clear on that > point, and I have repeatedly acknowledged this. That doesn't change > the fact that the potential negative impact of her decision to select > a call sign, which is in poor taste, still exists. This is Kim's problem, > and always will be unless and until she decides to change her call > sign to one which reflects better taste and judgment.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
>

OK OK OK. Tell me how it's my problem, Larry. Maybe that'll help.

Kim W5TIT

3316. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 00:50:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d704b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26263

"Larry Roll" <k3lt@magpage.com> wrote in message news:9uhm21$aq8$0@216.155.32.45...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > ROFLMAO....^5 Rick.
>
> And THIS is one of Kim's more intelligent postings!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT

Well, for goodness sake. Why didn't you tell me I have to get that simple minded for you to understand, Larry? If the one-liners are all you can understand, then don't read the other posts.

Kim W5TIT

3317. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:03:48 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011204200348.03557.00000001@mb-fg.aol.com>
Source record: 26264

In article <3c0c29c7_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.

Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest decrease by far,
Kim.

> ROFLMAO..

Why?

>.maybe Riley's right
>about my callsign...?

Maybe.

>NOT.

How do you know?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3318. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:07:11 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d7410_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26265

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0CDA88.3525FA90@sccoast.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > Wiccans and pagans don't believe in > > a Devil, Dwight. Nor is their religion
> > in any way related to Satanism or > > Christianity. It isn't "Rehashed" it's > > fact.
> >
> > And it is the INVERTED pentagram that > > is symbolic of Satanism (although not > > exclusively), not the upright one > > usually displayed by Wiccans and Pagans.
>
>
> Well, I'm certainly not going to get into a long-winded debate about > these so called "religions." Both are modern day offshoots of > satanism, using different names and their own variations of satanism.
>

Wrong, wrong, wrong.

>
> And the pentagram/penticle, displayed either way, has long been a > satanic symbol (which is exactly why wiccans and pagans, who you claim > are in no way related to satanism, selected the exact same symbol for > their own).
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3319. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:09:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d749c_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26266

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C0CDBAB.D67C3F0F@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > (snip) The shape of the Pentagon is the > > same as the internal part of a 5-pointed > > star. Isn't it?
>
>
> I suppose so, Kim. What's your point? The Pentagon building was > built in the shape of a pentagon - the shape of some part of a > pentagram had nothing to do with it.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

I think someone, maybe even you, was making the point that something shaped like a pentagram was satanic. The Pentagon building, shaped as it is, holds the foundation for a pentagram, does it not?

It was a stab at trying to get the equation of pentagram=satanic out of the holder's head...because it's hogwash.

Kim W5TIT

3320. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:13:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d757b$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26267

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C0CD429.8176A4C7@sccoast.net...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > Yup. There is another aspect to this
> > as well. In our lawsuit-happy society,
> > it is easy for some actions to be > > misinterpreted. Best not to even give > > the appearance of something questionable.
>
>
> That is becoming much more of an issue each day. Luckily, I've > rarely had to work in situations where lawsuits are much of an issue > (overseas and government offices), but I still think a conservative > approach to workplace relationships is a wise choice. However, in some > employment situations today, I think I'd almost have to video tape all > conversations with the opposite sex just to be safe. :-)
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

You guys must be a lot more "aware" of situations where litigation is a prohibitive for having business lunches. I have female supervisors, married ones at that, who have business lunches every day with their married, male subordinates. There are lunches, every day, where married men and women go alone with each other--just for the heck of it.

I think the response you are having (above) with the caution of litigation for such actions is overboard. Your mileage may vary.

Kim W5TIT

3321. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:19:38 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C0D762A.DB4FBC38@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 26268

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

>
>
> OK OK OK. Tell me how it's my problem, Larry. Maybe that'll help.
>
>

It will cause the end of civilization as we know it. :-)

3322. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:19:44 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d76ff$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26269

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011204200348.03557.00000001@mb-fg.aol.com...
> In article <3c0c29c7_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.
>
> Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest decrease by far, > Kim.
>
> > ROFLMAO..
>
> Why?
>
> >.maybe Riley's right
> >about my callsign...?
>
> Maybe.
>
> >NOT.
>
> How do you know?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>

I just do, Jim. For the same reason that anyone else might believe the opposite.

Kim W5TIT

3323. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:20:20 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0d7724_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26270

"Robert Casey" <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> wrote in message news:3C0D762A.DB4FBC38@ix.netcom.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> >
> >
> > OK OK OK. Tell me how it's my problem, Larry. Maybe that'll help.
> >
> >
>
> It will cause the end of civilization as we know it. :-)
>
>

Well, that would leave Larry out. He isn't very civilized. ;)

Kim W5TIT

3324. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:41:32 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011204204132.01104.00000001@mb-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26271

In article <81FDA5B2FEE48C45.AF931BCC80E98337.2C7AE95D20E452F1@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On Mon, 3 Dec 2001 19:35:16 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
>wrote:
>
>>Hmmm, correct me if I'm wrong, but if my studies of Wicca serve me well, I >>believe it is the "internal" part of the star that is considered the "meat"
>>of the pentagram, not the five points or the star itself. The shape of the >>Pentagon is the same as the internal part of a 5-pointed star. Isn't it?
>
> Actually, a five-pointed star inscribed _inside_ a pentagon is >likewise a symbol of Wicca (the Black Forest Trad, not the New Forest >Trad or Hungarian Wiccae, if it matters).
>
Rearrabge the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!

73 de Jim, N2EY

3325. Re: state police license for mobile R/T

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 01:55:40 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112050155180.13144-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 26272

On Tue, 4 Dec 2001 brokenemail@brokenemail.ccm wrote:
>"D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org> wrote:
>>Back in 1993, the FCC addressed this. I think it was ruling 93-17. Amateur >>radio licenseholders are exempt from states' anti-monitoring laws of public >>safety frequencies.
>
>Good info. I will find it and put a copy in glove box.

Also, I believe the exact question asked of the FCC that generated the ruling was with regard to reception of public safety frequencies by amateur radio equipment (although the response is a bit wider).

3326. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:07:23 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9ujvgq0n26@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26274
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Jeffrey Herman" <jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu> wrote in message
news:9uht0c$qu3$1@news.hawaii.edu...
> Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
> >So what's that have to do with use of "HI HI" that's spoken or used in
>
> The point being that since the CW prosigns "CQ" and "73" are > universally accepted and used on phone, you shouldn't call > folks derogatory names for also saying "HI HI"; it's just > another CW prosign that's been adopted for phone.
>
> Jeff KH6O

It still sounds moronic and contrived, instead of genuinely spontaneous.
But, I guess some people are used to laughing at their own jokes.

3327. Re: Santa on the Radio

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:17:54 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9uk02b0p90@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26276
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Jeffrey Herman" <jeffreyh@Hawaii.Edu> wrote in message
news:9uhsbi$qb0$1@news.hawaii.edu...

> That's good, Rich; Krell dodged the question.

No. It's just that I'm not a dog that performs tricks for some pompous college professor's amusement. Besides, I noticed that you did the same thing.

> Since Krell's so adamant in believing that it's incorrect to say
> "HI HI" on phone (to the point that he called someone an idiot),
> then surely he must believe it's incorrect to call "CQ" on phone, > too. He'll be the first ham to ever say "Hello All Stations."

You make far too many ASSumptions.

3328. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:21:10 UTC
From: Dimmy Dimwit <HiramHog@Anon.con>
Message-ID: <9uk056$i78$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26273
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
> news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> > >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> > >
> > >
> > > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate amateur
> > > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313, the > > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > > or, should I say inaction.
> > >
> > > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.
> > >
> > > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking > > > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by

> > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> >
> >
> > So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> > for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of the > > station in Hiram, Georgia.
> >
> > Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> > Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
>
> I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
on > 75 meters.
>
> > And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > > from a very unstable person.
>
> Try to spin a justification all you want, you're just an ANONYMOUS COWARD.

Is that akin to posting under "Mysterian 2001"? That's not being an anonymous coward, is it? Of course it isn't .
Did you not squeak just a bit only recently about anon phone calls you have been getting? Well, you have not seen even one tenth of what that sick squirrell in Hiram can do and has done to not one or two, but to at least a dozen Hams. And as if that is not enough, this sick fool makes wild guesses as to who the posters may be and he still continues to spam, spam and spam.
The dude has a major screw loose, and now it is understandable why the two of you get along so well.

3329. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:36:36 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112041836.21f2272c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26275
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Leland C. Scott" <no-spam@junk-mail.net> wrote in message news:<9uj7hm$pl7$1@news.bignet.net>...
> "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> news:3C0C6212.298A6008@spam.me.not...
> > Based on the evidence you've presented, Weak Signal emissions don't seem > > to be excluded from 50.0 to 50.1 and 144.0 to 144.1.
>
> I've been reading this thread and I think the 100KHz band sections are > typically used for EME work only, which has up to now been almost always > done using CW.
>
>
For the most part yes.
>
>
>I know a few EME contacts have been done on SSB, but I don't >know if it was done in those band segments. If they were then they those > band segments are not CW only,
>
Ya can run ssb on 144.102, "depends" . .
>
>
>but are still "weak signal" considering the > mode, and not for the "typical" terrestrial weak signal use.
>
>
EME is only one trick the VHF big guns have in their dxing arsenals modes aside, they also are big into ducting and meteor scatter in addition to their usual freak high-MUF trips. Ya gotta TUNE . .
>
>
w3rv

3330. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:40:11 UTC
From: Dimmy Dimwit <HiramHog@Anon.con>
Message-ID: <9uk18s$k1h$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26277
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"Lloyd" <TheNewBARF@TheNewBARFgroup.net> wrote in message
news:9ujk32jjo0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> on
> > 75 meters.
> >
>
> NO arguement there Scheissman YOU ARE THE UNCONTESTED
> expert on Usenet when it comes to filthy obscene language!!!!!!!!!!

Sure. Good old W4AMP. Trying to reason with him? After the sick, sad, crap this hillrat said about Oris in the past? The sick and flthy things AMP called Oris' wife and daughters? One does not "reason" with AMP. This is how he plays his sick game. He tries to act ever the nice guy, THEN he stabs you in the back, over and over and over.
Have you ever heard the sick, obscene language AMP used against Doc, AF2Y?
It was pure filth.

3331. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:52:34 UTC
From: Dimmy Dimwit <HiramHog@Anon.con>
Message-ID: <9uk205$l2r$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26278
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in message
news:9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> on
> > 75 meters.
>
> You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
> gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info > has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
> Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

Was what Oris said as bad as what AMP said to Doc no so long ago? Remember that? AMP cussing and swearing like a drunken sailor? (one of the few things he learned from the Navy).
Roger is good at jamming. He and Riley are old friends when it comes to that sort of thing, eh, Rog?

3332. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 02:53:39 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c0d89db.1826114@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26279

On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 23:45:12 GMT, "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
wrote:

>On Mon, 03 Dec 2001 05:01:40 GMT, Bill Sohl wrote:
>
>>>a simple, logical, and reasonable precaution, and the decision not >>>to take that precaution would be difficult to defend in a court of law.
>>
>>Defend against what? If I RENT you ham equipment, I have no >>obligation to ensure you use it correctly. Who would have >>any cause of action against the rentor for a ham or non-ham >>that caused interference?
>
> In many if not most states by now, a bartender or host who serves > intoxicating beverages to a customer or guest can be held legally > responsible for the negligent or unlawful acts of the drinker > brought about by such service.
>
> Basic tort law.

Not quite as the barender has to be shown to have had knowledge or should have known that the person was TOO intoxicated to be served.

If we buy your logic on face value, the estate of a person murdered by someone with a hammer rented from a hardware store will have a claim against the hardware store.

Now in the "interference" case, would you expect the FCC to bring charges against the person that rented the rig, or rented the location with a rig?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3333. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 04:08:35 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c0d9c4d.6548917@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26280
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 18:08:27 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH"
<kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:

>On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 14:11:14 GMT, "Kenneth Vaughan" ><kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
>
>>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make >>any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local >>atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause >>submitted before a judge.
>
>If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a >legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable >cause to search.

The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3334. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 04:35:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0DF0B6103914F28E.55F720DE920DCCF9.EB543EB71E45DD81@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26281

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 09:17:35 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Well, I'm certainly not going to get into a long-winded debate about >these so called "religions." Both are modern day offshoots of >satanism, using different names and their own variations of satanism.

Dwight that is absolute nonsense! Learn something about the subject before you make such absurd claims!

Neither wicca nor any other form of pagan faith have anything at all to do with Satan--that's an invention of the Judeo-Christian faith that has nothing whatever to do with nature religions.

Wiccan and pagan faiths can trace their roots to the polytheistic nature religions of Greece and Rome and to the pagan faiths of Germany and England. They were in existence LONG before Christianity attempted to eradicate them by claiming they were "Satanic." Most Christian holidays, in fact (including Christmas, All Saints Day, and others) were deliberately scheduled to fall on, or near, major pagan celebrations (thus requiring the pagans who were
"passing" in the community to cut short their religious observations in order to attend [compulsory] Christian services). Christmas, for example, falls close to the original date of Candlemas and All Saints Day falls on All Hallow's Eve (Halloween).

Claiming that wicca and pagan faiths are variations of Satanism is no more accurate than claiming that Native American religions are variations on Satanism. It is a completely false statement perpetuated by the Christian church in an attempt to hide the actual nature of the religions. It's despicable, and only compounded when presumably well educated individuals perpetuate it as you have done.

>And the pentagram/penticle, displayed either way, has long been a >satanic symbol (which is exactly why wiccans and pagans, who you claim >are in no way related to satanism, selected the exact same symbol for >their own).

Dwight, that is pure religious bigotry with no foundation in fact what-so-ever. Try LEARNING something about the subject before you come off with idiotic and provably false statements such as that one--you only cost yourself respect by such posts.

The pentagram, for your information, was a religious symbol in Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and among the Norse peoples--NONE of which groups "stole" it from Christianity. If anything, it is the Christian faith that has been guilty of stealing symbols from older religions (including, btw, the cross) and using them to further their own ends.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3335. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 04:47:31 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0DA6E3.B5A3CB6C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26282

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> We Catholics have been using real pregnant > women to play Mary for as long as I have been going to Christmas > Pageants!

The lady playing Mary was obviously impregnated by a man, not by God. Thus it is a vulgar and obscene slap at the Virgin Mary.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3336. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:09:32 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AB533912AFC3145A.36E3693CAB6CDB66.AC620153AC581B71@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26283

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 10:47:29 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Yes, it was a licensed tattoo parlor. And, yes, I believe a lawsuit >was filed (they said they were going to file). However, that does not >change the fact that they were stuck with huge medical bills in the >meantime, and, if a suit was filed, probably lawyer bills on top of that.

Then the lawsuit should serve as compensation to the parents (and child) concerned. If they win (and if the circumstances you describe are accurate, they certainly should) the firm will suffer the consequences of its inappropriate actions.

A case like this is not, however, grounds for banning tattoo parlors or piercing salons, as the original message in this sub-thread postulated. Unless you agree that if a liquor store sells beer to a minor, it justifies banning ALL liquor stores as a result (a pretty absurd concept), then by necessity the same holds true for a tattoo parlor or piercing salon.

It's perfectly reasonable to set legal limits as to the minimum age for tattooing or piercing without parental consent (bear in mind that if you ban piercing, you must ALSO prohibit piercing of ears in jewelry stores, etc.--something MANY children--particularly girls--have done with their parent's consent and approval), however it is completely unreasonable to ban the practices simply because a minor MAY circumvent the law (and their parents) and obtain the services.

> Well, first of all, that child does have the same rights, and same >protections, as others in that courtroom.

Only when charged as an adult. Children tried in Juvenile courts do NOT have the same rights as an adult who is charged with a crime--it isn't even necessary to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that they committed the offense, and they are NOT guaranteed a lawyer to defend them--or even that a lawyer hired BY them will be permitted to act on their behalf.

>Second, killing someone is >not stealing a bicycle, shoplifting, or some other minor crime which >the juvenile courts were designed to handle. Because of that, the >child is judged in a regular court (not an "adult" court, a "regular" >court). And he is charged with murder, and faces the penalties for >murder, because that is the crime he committed (not a lessor crime >which warrants him being set free in a few years when he reaches his >21st birthday, which is a requirement for juvenile court).

I agree that these crimes are far more serious. But it seems that those who want criminal trials for such offenders simultaneously want to treat the same youths as children incapable of making a decision in other cases. Think about it, if a person is not capable of making an adult decision as to whether or not he should get a tattoo, how can anyone possibly expect him to make an adult decision as to whether to commit a crime? The concept is ridiculous. Either a person is or is not mature enough to be treated as an adult. If not, they should NEVER be treated that way; if so they ALWAYS should (with the cravat that so as their parents are financially responsible for them, they have certain rights to limit behaviors they find objectionable).

> Of course, none of this has any bearing on the "right" of a child to >do whatever he/she wants (in spite of the parent's wishes).

I never claimed such a "right" existed. I DID claim that society has no right to dictate those rules, if they don't apply to adults as well or offer a risk of danger to others or to the youth (and the infection you describe is NOT a legitimate "risk" factor, any more than it would be a risk factor if a child stepped on a jellyfish while swimming at a public beach), only the parents do.

>We all >live with different rules throughout our lives. For examples, we live >with one set of rules as children, another set of rules when we're >drafted into the military (UCMJ), another set of rules in the >workplace (company policies), and still another set of rules when >we're old (can't drive a car).

I'll agree with most of those, but at least one (rules in the work place) are a matter of personal choice. Don't like the rules, don't work there--no one forces anyone to take a job they don't want.
As far as the "old driver" rules you cite--most states don't have them (here in Michigan the senior lobby is far to strong to limit the driving of the elderly--with the result that we've had cases where an 80+ year old man drove along the sidewalk at Detroit Metro Airport and ran down a group of children boarding a bus for a return from a trip and another senior caused a major pile-up by driving down the wrong side of the Freeway--the signs confused him). Perhaps where you live there are more chances to take such drivers off the road (such as compulsory re-testing on a regular basis after a certain age, etc.).

> No, you're talking about semantics. Since laws are based directly on >the values of the majority within a community, and communities do have >a right to pass laws, there is no difference (the community does >indeed have a "right" to impose values).

Not in the United States if those laws fail to recognize the rights we are GUARANTEED by the Constitution of the United States OR by the Constitution of their own State.

> Okay, I'll bite, if it is not the function of laws to impose the >will of the majority within a community (including their "values"), >what exactly is the function of laws? And who said so?

To protect people from harm.

Thomas Jefferson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and Ben Franklin, among others.

> Were any of the school shooters wearing hunting patches or hunting jackets?

They were carrying guns and in most cases their fathers were card-carrying NRA members. Let's save the kids in the schools--we'll declare the NRA a terrorist organization and put all the members in prison for supporting terrorism in the United States (which, under the new laws, the President of the United States now has the right to do with any organization he wishes).

>> Islamic terrorists are linked to the World
>> Trade Center tragedy--how many schools do >> you think could get away with banning >> traditional muslim dress?
>
> Was the WTC located in a school?

It had a preschool in it--as, of course, did the Federal Building in Oklahoma City.

> Which of our schools are located in the middle east?

The ones in Dearborn, MI are pretty close--the student bodies are almost exclusively Arab Muslims.

>> In the first place, wicca is NOT
>> satanism (snip)
>
> Addressed in another message, so for brevity will avoid here.

Inaccurately addressed in another message, to be precise.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3337. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:11:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <33C5563F91F6D42B.EA5E9FD34CA1F84E.23C0B155DD9D126E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26284

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 13:04:41 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Dwight Stewart wrote:
>>
>> CAM wrote:
>> >
>> > I'm always improving myself, Dwight. I'm >> > sorry that you think self-improvement is >> > impossible for you. :-)
>>
>> Not impossible, Cecil. Just not seriously needed. :-)
>
>If only I were as omniscient as you, Dwight.

Or as self-deluded.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3338. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:13:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D024B482BCA3223D.90D36DC9A7D04FB4.BBA2223A4798BDFD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26285

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 11:18:14 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Ah, the old Jimmy Carter's "lust in the heart." Anyway, I would >agree wholeheartedly with you, Sean. It is very hard to control what >we're thinking (some strange stuff is bouncing around inside all those >minds). But a thought is very different than an act.

Shame on you Dwight--you criticize Wicca and claim it to be Satanic--yet you ignore the principles of your OWN religion.

According to the bible (new testament, even) there IS no difference between committing adultery in reality and doing so "in your heart."

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3339. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:16:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <9EEE1ECE3625BBCE.588C3FBBE4CD11BA.AB01C0D9D22F3914@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26286

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 17:16:19 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Larry reminds me of Samson. He's trying to kill us with the jawbone >of an ass. :-)

ROTFLMAO!!!!

That was perfect (and accurate)!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3340. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:24:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E9DA4496254CF5D5.A640469A5ACB9299.AF9A524A567C3FD0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26287

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 17:24:01 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>> I doubt seriously you could cover THIS kind of costs with only >> a ten percent fee on contracts. Plus, all you are really doing by >> implementing a compulsory 10% on contracts is to create a new form of >> taxation (effectively there is no difference between a 10% contract >> fee and a 10% sales or excise tax), something the Libertarians oppose.
>
>Of course there's a difference between a fee and a tax, Rick.

Then if a state chooses to change it's sales tax to a transaction fee, it will suddenly become acceptable to the Libertarian Party?

Why?

>> Ok, then lets start with the Social Security programs and >> eliminate welfare for the elderly!
>
>Social Security is not welfare for me. I will never recover all I >paid into the Social Security program.

Really?

Sit down and total your payments into the system. Divide that number by the monthly amount you will receive at retirement. That's how many months of benefits you will receive before the government has to start paying you welfare. Don't count the interest you "Might" have made on other investments--you might ALSO have invested badly and lost all your money. Instead, treat that interest as having been paid as a tax (fee if you prefer) so that those who have NOT paid into the system (surviving spouses or children, the disabled, etc.) will be able to receive Social Security payments as well.

Now tell me you'll never recover it all.

>> Cecil, it isn't that I don't believe that there are serious >> problems with our welfare system--there are. But to simply treat the >> poor as an unwanted "herd" goes beyond reform to classism--

>Treating the poor as unwanted seems logical to me, Rick. Why would >you want anyone to be poor?

Cecil, I KNOW you can understand a message better than that!
No one wants people to be poor--that does NOT have the same meaning as not wanting the poor themselves, and we both know it.

This is a friendly debate, play fair!

>> Put yourself in this position: You are a young (18 years old),...
>
>I would gladly give everything I own for that.

To be an inner city black male youth of 18? Among MANY other disadvantages, your chances of being killed by violence before your 25th birthday would be one in four and your chances of dying from disease would be one in sixteen. What would you estimate YOUR chances of living past the next seven years will be?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3341. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:25:52 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <33677C3BE93FFB27.967BF5A9637BB53E.C25CF7DB27E76D56@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26288

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 15:28:58 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
wrote:

>> Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at >> Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation >> of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of >> conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state >> dinner by a sitting President).......
>
>Yuck. Prolly tasted like bong water. :-)

If it's made right, it's pretty good, actually. I've tried it in the past (don't ask how FAR in the past--I'd rather not think about that :-).

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3342. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:27:35 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C9EEA9EBF0958585.A1761F79A43A4C48.F09A8AE2B11F503E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26289

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 15:13:00 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>>
>> >I just heard some interesting trivia on the radio. Question:
>> >Before 9-11, who was the most famous suicide committed while >> >killing a bunch of people on the opposing side?
>>
>> George Armstrong Custer??? ;-)
>
>Nope. Hint: He earlier killed 1000 of those enemies with the
>jawbone of an ass.

Larry Roll committed suicide?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3343. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:29:45 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8252D74A879C3B2D.9B94049D604B3D1F.4CD4DD853FA5FD76@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26290

On 05 Dec 2001 01:41:32 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Rearrabge the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!

devil spelled backward is "lived"

evil spelled backward is "live"

now consider god ...

Rick <wondering who let the dog out preach, preach, preach...>

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3344. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:32:22 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <9FFDDDC15F55CFB9.0FBD03EE05CBCBE0.8496424BBAF61FDF@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26291

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 22:47:31 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>The lady playing Mary was obviously impregnated by a man, >not by God. Thus it is a vulgar and obscene slap at the >Virgin Mary.

Now Cecil.

That isn't fair to the churches that are putting on these productions.

I'm sure that the pregnant women they use for the role were impregnated the _same way_ Mary would have been.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3345. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:33:02 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <94B3B491ECBA0C74.7996BD3E4D8948D9.F8FC8F6BC9DC65C8@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26292

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 20:19:38 -0500, Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> wrote:

>> OK OK OK. Tell me how it's my problem, Larry. Maybe that'll help.
>
>It will cause the end of civilization as we know it. :-)

Promises, promises . . .

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3346. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:42:19 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C0DB3BA.2AE91A6@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 26293

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

>
>
> It was a stab at trying to get the equation of pentagram=satanic out of the > holder's head...because it's hogwash.
>
>

And then there's this thing with the number 666, like it's the area code for hell or something....

3347. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:47:42 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <7B768628800FC15F.186BC9241D8DE1D0.CD4E53D023119056@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26294
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 04:08:35 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl)
wrote:

>On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 18:08:27 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH"
><kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:

>>If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a >>legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable >>cause to search.
>
>The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
>a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.

Maybe not, but it's easy to walk into a truck stop that sells the things, take a few polaroids, and issue them to the beat officers for comparison. They're still not going to catch the guy with a modified 'normal' rig, but they'll be able to spot the 'export' radios.

As far as other services, there's only one mobile FRS rig that I'm aware of, and for any service requiring a license, they can look at the license.

OTOH, if you're using an export CB as your mobile 10m rig, I'd recommend having a copy of the applicable sections of Part 97 in the glovebox anyway.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3348. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 05:55:48 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C0DB6E4.FF6C934E@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 26295

>
>
> Of course there's a difference between a fee and a tax, Rick.

Someone in Congress or the Senate once said in session:
"If it looks like a duck, and quacks like a duck,....."

3349. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 06:27:57 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <A5F6F85E4BEA4250.58C619836ACF0D5A.E3A538B07CCA1853@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26296
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On 05 Dec 2001 06:13:16 GMT, Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com wrote:

>"Indication that it's not a legal rig from the outside of the vehicle"!?!?
>
>So a 9 foot stainless whip will clue them?
>
>Or perhaps a firestick?

Most cars have windows. They are allowed to look at anything they can see through the windows.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3350. Re: I need some help...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 06:56:18 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112042256.666dd9c3@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26297
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Dredg" <layne@neo.rr.com> wrote in message news:<MhdP7.92968$z55.12264702@typhoon.neo.rr.com>...
> Hey guys! I am new to the export radio business, I needed a little bit of > information from all the demi-gods of the cb radio forum. I purchased > recently a factory reburbished Northstar 9000. First of all what do you guys > think about this radio and what do you think its strong points?

OK, DREDG. LETS LOOK HERE AT THE SPECS ON YER NEW CB EXPORT
RADIO......

Northstar 9000 Ten Meter , Amateur Band Radioï¿½ï¿½

SPECIFICATIONS
Unit Dimensions: 8"Wï¿½ x 2-1/8"" H x 9.5"Dï¿½
Microphone Type: 4 Pin Screw-On Dynamikeï¿½
Frequency Control:ï¿½ Phase Lock Loop Synthesizerï¿½
RF Output Power:ï¿½ 3.5W Lo -ï¿½ 7 Watts Hi Channels: 28.315 to 28.755 MHz
SKU#:ï¿½ SS-NS-9000ï¿½
UPC#: 7 42486 10121 4ï¿½

> Secondly,
> The radio has been scoped and the radio has a 4 watt dead key and 35 watts > rms. Is there any amp that can be run in line that could handle this power > coming through? Thirdly, I have a 1994 chryler concord, it has a k40 > baseload trunk lip mount on it and I have been warned that I may be getting > a reflection, what causes the reflection, should I move the antenna, and how > detrimental is this to my setup? Also what is your best guess as to my range > with this whole setup?

I RECKON YOU SHOULD ASK SOME OF THE HAMS ON THIS NEWSSGROUP. THEY APPROVE OF THESE HERE EXPORT 10 METER RADIOS AND WILL SHOW YOU WAYS TO GIT AROUND THE LAW!

3351. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 10:45:23 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ul5jlskv4@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26298
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Dimmy Dimwit" <HiramHog@Anon.con> wrote in message news:9uk18s$k1h$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "Lloyd" <TheNewBARF@TheNewBARFgroup.net> wrote in message
> news:9ujk32jjo0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901
when
> > > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> > on
> > > 75 meters.
> > >
> >
> > NO arguement there Scheissman YOU ARE THE UNCONTESTED > > expert on Usenet when it comes to filthy obscene language!!!!!!!!!!
>
> Sure. Good old W4AMP. Trying to reason with him? After the sick, sad, crap
> this hillrat said about Oris in the past? The sick and flthy things AMP > called Oris' wife and daughters? One does not "reason" with AMP. This is how > he plays his sick game. He tries to act ever the nice guy, THEN he stabs
you
> in the back, over and over and over.
> Have you ever heard the sick, obscene language AMP used against Doc, AF2Y?
> It was pure filth.

Now Orass, you are the one who used profanity the other night on 3.901. One ham named Bill out in St. Louis said he'd never come back to the frequency because of your actions. You're stuck in the spin cycle, Orasssssss.
I'm sure somebody taped it and sent it in.

3352. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 10:47:14 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ul5joskv5@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26299
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Dimmy Dimwit" <HiramHog@Anon.con> wrote in message
news:9uk205$l2r$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in message
> news:9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901
when
> > > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights
ago
> > on
> > > 75 meters.
> >
> > You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
> > gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info > > has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
> > Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR
>
> Was what Oris said as bad as what AMP said to Doc no so long ago? Remember > that? AMP cussing and swearing like a drunken sailor? (one of the few things
> he learned from the Navy).

But AMP didn't cuss eevn when orasssss was cussing him out on 3.901 the other night.
But an anonymous COWARD like you only hears what he wants to hear.

> Roger is good at jamming. He and Riley are old friends when it comes to
that > sort of thing, eh, Rog?

But wait until Riley becomes your freind for transmitting unidentified.

3353. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 10:48:46 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9ul5jrskv6@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26300
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Dimmy Dimwit" <HiramHog@Anon.con> wrote in message news:9uk056$i78$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "CBRambo" <CBRambo@nowhereyouknowx.net> wrote in message
> > news:9uj32jrdt0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "KK4TL" <kk4tl@aol.com> wrote in message
> > > news:20011203204442.23871.00000548@mb-ca.aol.com...
> > > >> This would explain why you used the anon to talk tough?
> > >
> > >
> > > Apparently, Mr KK4TL has never been on the receiving end
> > > of anonymous late night hang up calls, anon calls to his employer,
> > > anonymous defamatory letters written to his neighbors, fraudulent
> > > magazine subscriptions, fraudulent COD orders, unidentified cars
> > > parked in front of his house after midnight, anonymous threatening
> > > emails, anon threats to harm members of your family, and a host > > > of other harassment and stalking activities which more often than > > > not originate from Hiram, Georgia. I wonder if Mr KK4TL has > > > ever been told on 14313 and 3901 that his minor daughters suck
> > > the dicks of truck drivers or that your wife sucks the dicks and > > > swallows the sperm of niggers (not my words, these were actual > > > recorded statements made on 14313 and 3901 by an operator in > > > Hiram, Georgia who readily identified himself with his legitimate > amateur
> > > call sign.) The same operator in Hiram, Georgia featured the photo > > > of an amateur, the same one with the minor daughters he said sucked
> > > truck driver's dicks, on a web page, claiming that this amateur was > > > the Olympic Park bomber and was being sought by federal law > > > enforcement authorities. The same operator, in a wild out of control > > > frenzy on 14313, heard by thousands of ham operators, threatened to > > > murder a ham in NJ. In yet another out of control frenzy on 14313,
the
> > > same Hiram, Georgia operator threatened to kick in the door of another > > > ham operator and assault him and his family. Both of these threats were > > > recorded, documented, and forwarded to Riley Hollingsworth for action
> > > or, should I say inaction.
> > >
> > > Riley Hollingsworth has long been aware of the activities of the > > > operator in Hiram, Georgia and has dozens of recordings of this > > > operator, made by OOs, the FCC, and individual ham operators.

> > >
> > > The station in Hiram, Georgia, is currently, once again, attacking > > > his perceived enemies on 14313 and 3901 and once again the > > > amateur community wonders why noting has ever been done by > > > Riley to remove the Hiram, Georgia station from amateur radio.
> > >
> > >
> > > So Mr KK4TL, just maybe now you might begin to see the need
> > > for people to post anonymously and why people post snide remarks > > > about Riley's impotence. Me, I see nothing to be gained in attacking > > > Riley, but that's only my opinion. I can readily understand the > > > frustration that the rest of the amateur community has with Riley's > > > inability or lack of action in addressing the blatant violations of
the > > > station in Hiram, Georgia.
> > >
> > > Here's a question for you, Mr KK4TL. How do you propose that
> > > Riley Hollingsworth can finally be motivated to remove the Hiram,
> > > Georgia operator from amateur radio?
> >
> > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
> > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
> > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
> on
> > 75 meters.
> >
> > > And yes, I am anon, for the protection of myself and my family > > > from a very unstable person.
> >
> > Try to spin a justification all you want, you're just an ANONYMOUS COWARD.
>
> Is that akin [blather]

Poor Orasssss.....Mysterian2001 heh. You really are stupid, aren't you?

Anonymous COWARD.

3354. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 14:09:39 UTC
From: John Kimball <johnkimb@hotmail.com> Message-ID: <9ul9p7eck0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26351
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

On Tue, 4 Dec 2001 18:00:21 -0500, "Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in Message id:
<9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net>:

>"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
>> I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901 when
>> W4AMP tried to reason with him.
>> N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights ago
>on
>> 75 meters.
>
> You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
>gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info >has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
>Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

Uh oh, is Woger going to get spanked again? Will he have to take the test for a third time?

BWAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!

--
"Dr. Seuess is above your reading level."
^^^^^^
Roger Wiseman, Rhodes scholar, blows his cover in Message-ID: <9u0smepoe0@dosa.alt.net>

3355. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 14:09:41 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <FUpP7.210745$3d2.9418990@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26352

> Kim-W5TIT writes:

> >Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.

"N2EY" wrote

> Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest decrease by far,

> >.maybe Riley's right
> >about my callsign...?

> Maybe.

> >NOT.

> How do you know?

Now, Jim, think about it...

How many Technician Plus Licenses expired this past year??? very very low!!!

How many Technician Plus Licenses were issued this past year??? ZERO!!!

How many Technician Plus Licenses were upgraded this past year??? many many!!!

Is your assertion that her call sign may be responsible for upgrades???

I'm confused...

I think anyone who worries about her callsign, could smell a fart in a hurricane.

Rich

3356. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:10:31 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E3906.115272DA@gte.net>
Source record: 26353
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

> >>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make > >>any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local > >>atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause > >>submitted before a judge.
> >
> >If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a > >legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable > >cause to search.
>
> The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
> a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.

Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there, then make the arrest. Let the lawyers settle the differences.

3357. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:17:31 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E3A08.FF033402@gte.net>
Source record: 26354
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> >RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
>
> Posted by a ham operator. Typical.
>
> If you're a ham (as I am), you really shouldn't be gloating over this.
>
> Do you think the average traffic cop can tell the difference between a CB > antenna and a ham antenna? Will he be able to tell your HR2600 10m mobile from > a Galaxy "export" CB? Doubtful.
>
> These new "local yokel" anti-CB laws are BAD NEWS for ALL operators of mobile > radio equipment. Just another excuse for unwarranted police harrassment.
> Anyone with an antenna will now be suspect.

He pulls you over. Sees the radio, asks for a ham license. In most states it is already illegal to have radios that can listen to police bands in cars if you do not have a license
so they just "expand" the law a bit. No license then you and the car are off the street.

Let the lawyers settle this. The police have radio techs who can determine if a radio is illegal. And the police might even start having military style signal intelligence units
to monitor radio traffic, to include cell phones.

3358. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:28:20 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E3C10.CC321C27@gte.net>
Source record: 26355
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> >Just turn the friggin thing off ,if you get >pulled over
>
> No, I will not. I have a FEDERAL LICENSE to operate my radio...and I'll be > damned if some local beat cop is going to have anything to say about it.
>
> If he pushes the issue, he'll find himself in court...defending his department > against a harassment and/or wrongful arrest lawsuit.
>
> Trust me on this one.

In the post Sept. 11th climate be careful that you are not labeled a terrorist or an anti government activist. That can get you dead.

And the local police have full rights to affirm that you are legally qualified to pursue a hobby on a federal license. After all they do so with those who hold federal firearms licenses such as FFLs or Class III tax permits.

3359. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:31:22 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E3DE8.B3BCF4B6@gte.net>
Source record: 26356
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

TooManyRadios wrote:

> >Again, the new CB enforcement laws automatically exempt anybody holding a > >valid ham license, regardless of what equipment they may be using. This > >exemption is clearly spelled out in the FCC ruling, which must be > >incorporated into all local ordinances providing local enforcement. There's > >no need for all the paranoia (if you are a licensed ham operator).
>
> On paper, this sounds good. But in the real world of overzealous local cops, > looking to make their arrest quotas for the month, it won't work this way.
>
> Want proof? Look no further than states which have mobile scanner bans and > amateur exemptions. How many hams have been harrassed and had their scanners > confiscated? Plenty. You're guilty until proven innocent. To prove your > innocence and get your property back, you need to go to court (often at > considerable expense) and "tell it to the judge."
>
> This will work the same way.

That is what lawyers are for. If you can not afford good legal help then you should not own guns or radios. Besides these are no longer hobbies for the little guys, only the rich.

3360. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:39:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0E3FB8.E6D51C8C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26357

Rick Adams wrote:
> Then if a state chooses to change it's sales tax to a > transaction fee, it will suddenly become acceptable to the Libertarian > Party?

Fees are for services performed. Exactly what service would the state be performing? However, a national sales tax would be superior to the regressive graduated income tax.

> Don't count the interest you "Might" have made ...

Why not? I made "interest" on my other investments while the government was holding my money interest-free against my will thus allowing inflation to erode my social security principle. And some of those years include 20% inflation. I would have been happy to invest that $55K over those 40 years and give the government the $55K when I retired. That would have left me with a couple of hundred thousand dollars profit.

> Now tell me you'll never recover it all.

I will never recover it all. I haven't touched the principle on my other investments. That $55K would have appreciated to more than a quarter of a million dollars by now. My present investments in put options are doing great.

> No one wants people to be poor--

That's where you are wrong, Rick. The liberals want to breed legions of poor people who collect their welfare checks and vote Democratic.
They also want more and more federal employees who collect their pay checks and vote Democratic.

> This is a friendly debate, play fair!

When you imply that my life and the products of my life belong to someone other than me, the debate ceases to be friendly. Muggers also believe that my life and the products of my life don't belong to me.

> >> Put yourself in this position: You are a young (18 years old),...
> >
> >I would gladly give everything I own for that.
>
> To be an inner city black male youth of 18?

Yes, yes, yes. I would get me a job and put myself through college just like I did before. Then, instead of going to work for Schlumberger,
I would make big bucks in the NBA.

The present welfare system encourages and subsidizes poverty. We need to do exactly the opposite, i.e. discourage poverty. How about we pass a law outlawing poverty?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3361. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 15:46:04 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0E413C.85BFD96F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26358

Rick Adams wrote:
> I'm sure that the pregnant women they use for the role were > impregnated the _same way_ Mary would have been.

God could have saved us all a lot of grief if he had arranged for an immaculate birth rather than an immaculate conception.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3362. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 16:13:53 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C0D8FB3.DE9554F1@mailcity.net>
Source record: 26359
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

KC8JBO wrote:

.
>
> But AMP didn't cuss eevn when orasssss was cussing him out on 3.901 the
> other night.
> But an anonymous COWARD like you only hears what he wants to hear.
>

What is 'eevn', learn to spell woger.

3363. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 16:35:18 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E4C8B.B61A3266@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26360

Rick Adams wrote:
> Christmas, for > example, falls close to the original date of Candlemas and All Saints > Day falls on All Hallow's Eve (Halloween).

All Saints Day is the day which follows Halloween.

Dave K8MN

3364. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 17:07:42 UTC
From: KA4MUJ <Mike@MikeAndJudyShow.com>
Message-ID: <9ulk41$ms4$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26361
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9ul5jeskv0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "A. Melon" <juicy@melontraffickers.com> wrote in message > news:f2bf1daaef2f31d7b3b89604b1907351@melontraffickers.com...
> > Yes it is true. W4AMP is performing daily > > again on 14313, and 3901 in the evenings.
> >
> > don't miss the Hiram Psycho in action, as > > he cusses Oris and others out....not suitable > > for viewing by those under 18.
>
> Wrong! N4CND cussed W4AMP out on 3.901 just a few nights ago.
> Smoke some more crack, maybe you'll get your lies straight.
>

Roger, don't know how long back you go in the 14313 wars, but those in here who go back several years will recall KA4MUJ of The 14313 Mike & Judy Show.
Poor Mike was not too swift in the brains dept., but he was a deaf & dumb blind supporter of KV4FZ. The Mooooj, as Mike was known, was the best friend Herbie ever had. Mike would support Herbie, even when the clear facts showed otherwise. Anyway, Herbie ended up fucking Mike and stealing money from Mike, but all the way to Mike's death bed, in Mike's eyes, Herbie was still always right. And you are going the same way Roger. You are one to never let the clear facts deter you from your preconceived opinions. You will blindly follow your faulted beliefs to the bitter end and defeat. You are going down the exact path that KA4MUJ followed.

3365. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 17:39:35 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9ullovsiv1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 26362

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C0D5D99.35726EE0@IEEE.org...
> Jim Kelley wrote:
> >
> > Rick Adams wrote:
> > > Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at > > > Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation > > > of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of > > > conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state > > > dinner by a sitting President).......
> >
> > Yuck. Prolly tasted like bong water. :-)
>
> What does bong water taste like, Jim? :-)

:-) I was almost sure you would know. It prolly tastes like marijuana wine.

3366. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 18:08:10 UTC
From: harddrive229@aol.com
Message-ID: <9ulnqakaj1@news.netmar.com>
Source record: 26363
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

In article <9ul5joskv5@dosa.alt.net>, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> writes:
>
>"Dimmy Dimwit" <HiramHog@Anon.con> wrote in message
>news:9uk205$l2r$0@pita.alt.net...
>>
>> "Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in message
>> news:9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net...
>> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
>> news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
>> > > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901
>when
>> > > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
>> > > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights
>ago
>> > on
>> > > 75 meters.
>> >
>> > You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
>> > gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info >> > has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
>> > Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR
>>
>> Was what Oris said as bad as what AMP said to Doc no so long ago? Remember >> that? AMP cussing and swearing like a drunken sailor? (one of the few >things
>> he learned from the Navy).
>
>But AMP didn't cuss eevn when orasssss was cussing him out on 3.901 the
>other night.
>But an anonymous COWARD like you only hears what he wants to hear.
>
>> Roger is good at jamming. He and Riley are old friends when it comes to
>that >> sort of thing, eh, Rog?
>
>But wait until Riley becomes your freind for transmitting unidentified.
++

Pure bullshit. Jimmy, Oris, Doc, Rich and all the rest. Riley ought to be FIRED.He's a Wyatt Earp with the aim of a cockeyed monkey. On Haps page I see letters on top of letters. Big shit. Twenty still sounds like a toilet and so does 75. Where is Sheriff Smiley Riley when needed? Out fishing. Sitting

there at his desk waiting for squealers, ass kissers, liars and bitch snitches to tip him off to whose doing what to who. What a crock. Smiley ain't worth his weight in used Kleenex.

----- Posted via NewsOne.Net: Free (anonymous) Usenet News via the Web ----- http://newsone.net/ -- Free reading and anonymous posting to 60,000+ groups NewsOne.Net prohibits users from posting spam. If this or other posts made through NewsOne.Net violate posting guidelines, email abuse@newsone.net

3367. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 18:08:37 UTC
From: harddrive229@aol.com
Message-ID: <9ulnr5kbe1@news.netmar.com>
Source record: 26364
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

In article <9ul5joskv5@dosa.alt.net>, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> writes:
>
>"Dimmy Dimwit" <HiramHog@Anon.con> wrote in message
>news:9uk205$l2r$0@pita.alt.net...
>>
>> "Polly" <PollyBARF@PollyBARFforever.edu> wrote in message
>> news:9ujkdckij0@dosa.alt.net...
>> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
>> news:9ujiuk$gf2$0@dosa.alt.net...
>> > > I heard N4CND use the vilest language just the other night on 3.901
>when
>> > > W4AMP tried to reason with him.
>> > > N4CND needs to be removed for his use of profanity just a few nights
>ago
>> > on
>> > > > 75 meters.
>> > >
>> > You made one very big mistake Wiseman, and that mistake
>> > gave yourself away as the unidentified jammer on 3901. All info >> > has been forwarded to Hollingsworth. Your license is toast Wiseman!
>> > Laugh all you want now, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR
>>
>> Was what Oris said as bad as what AMP said to Doc no so long ago? Remember >> that? AMP cussing and swearing like a drunken sailor? (one of the few >things
>> he learned from the Navy).
>
>But AMP didn't cuss eevn when orasssss was cussing him out on 3.901 the
>other night.
>But an anonymous COWARD like you only hears what he wants to hear.
>
>> Roger is good at jamming. He and Riley are old friends when it comes to
>that >> sort of thing, eh, Rog?
>
>But wait until Riley becomes your freind for transmitting unidentified.
++

Pure bullshit. Jimmy, Oris, Doc, Rich and all the rest. Riley ought to be FIRED.He's a Wyatt Earp with the aim of a cockeyed monkey. On Haps page I see letters on top of letters. Big shit. Twenty still sounds like a toilet and so does 75. Where is Sheriff Smiley Riley when needed? Out fishing. Sitting

there at his desk waiting for squealers, ass kissers, liars and bitch snitches to tip him off to whose doing what to who. What a crock. Smiley ain't worth his weight in used Kleenex.

----- Posted via NewsOne.Net: Free (anonymous) Usenet News via the Web -----
http://newsone.net/ -- Free reading and anonymous posting to 60,000+ groups NewsOne.Net prohibits users from posting spam. If this or other posts made through NewsOne.Net violate posting guidelines, email abuse@newsone.net

3368. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 18:25:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0E66AC.473DD4BD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26365

```
Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > What does bong water taste like, Jim? :-)
>
> :-) I was almost sure you would know.

I'm an old Bull Durham man, Jim. What's a bong?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3369. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 19:43:25 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A80C1779552085C2.E775368B48D64643.8D11B9706A3235C7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26366

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 09:39:36 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Fees are for services performed.

Then using a 10% fee for court services, in addition to not providing enough resources to cover the rest of the court and criminal justice system, would be radically overpricing a service--and by Libertarian principles the state would have to allow competition from an independent, privatized, court system which charged lower rates and handled civil cases only--a sort of "courtroom arbitration." The end result, of course, would be use of that system over the state sponsored one and the criminal justice system would end up unfunded.

>However, a national sales tax would be superior to
>the regressive graduated income tax.

Reverse order, Cecil. By definition, sales taxes are regressive; they impose a heavier load on the less well off--who must use the majority of their income to purchase needed products, and thus are taxed on the majority of their earnings--than they impose on the more affluent who are able to save or invest the majority of their earnings and thus end up paying a much lower effective rate of taxation.

Graduated income tax, otoh, when properly designed and absence any deductions (starting at a figure 10% above the poverty level, for example, the tax would be based on ALL income, and would be progressive to, perhaps, a 30% ceiling--resulting in more income than is now available, btw). That tax, unlike the sales tax, would be progressive.

From a personal perspective, btw, I believe in a flat tax. By setting a tax rate of, for example, 20% across the board (starting, as above, from a point just above the poverty level--in this case 25% above it to insure that increased income did NOT result in loss) the rate would be the same for everyone--20% of their earnings--and would be neither progressive (hated by the affluent) nor regressive (unfair to the poor). It would also generate enough income (with no permissible deductions, of course) to replace all other taxes in the US apart from Social Security--which itself could be covered by an "employee tax" on all businesses of any size (flat rate, not regressive or progressive, of course)--thus effectively serving as a "universal benefit" to all citizens and paid for by the slightly higher cost of goods that would result from the tax being passed on to the consumer.

>> Don't count the interest you "Might" have made ...
>
>Why not? I made "interest" on my other investments while the government >was holding my money interest-free against my will thus allowing inflation >to erode my social security principle. And some of those years include 20% >inflation. I would have been happy to invest that $55K over those 40 >years and give the government the $55K when I retired. That would have >left me with a couple of hundred thousand dollars profit.

Would you have been as content to avoid paying for Social Security and been disabled in your first or second year of working? Who, given your opposition to transfer programs and decision to "opt out" of Social Security, would provide your medical expenses, long term care, or support? Who would care for your children if you died at 25 or 30 years of age?

Perhaps in your case you could have invested the money more wisely than the government--so could I and a lot of other people--but not everyone has either the investment skills or the money to invest in the first place. If the choice is between paying your Social Security and paying for a car in good condition to replace public transportation, people now must pay their Social Security--but do you really believe anyone would invest in preference to purchasing transportation? Maybe you would--but do you _really_ believe everyone would?

The result of eliminating Social Security (beyond the breech of contract actions that would result under a Libertarian state [where prohibitions on suing the government would, by necessity, be removed] when the state was no longer able to fulfill the terms of my--and everyone else's--contract with the Social Security system) would be to create an incredible number of people who were seniors, widows, minor children, and disabled who had no source of income and who would represent a "new poor" of enormous proportions to augment the "old poor" you would likewise remove state support from.

Isn't that "just a bit" elitist--not to mention short sighted?

>> Now tell me you'll never recover it all.
>
>I will never recover it all. I haven't touched the principle on my >other investments. That $55K would have appreciated to more than >a quarter of a million dollars by now. My present investments in >put options are doing great.

Ok, let's take your own figures of $250,000.00 (I would argue that you could as easily have NOTHING at all as a result of bad investments, but let's take that number alone). Assume (since I don't know your income, this is just a "throw-away" figure) that you would receive $1,500.00/mo. from Social Security. Assume also that you live 15 years beyond retirement (with good health care you should). That would mean you would receive the entire $250,000.00 you cite with an additional $20,000.00 in interest for good measure). In that case, you would obviously neither profit or lose from your investment in Social Security--but would earn the same amount that you would earn by investing it privately (and optimally).

Now let's look at alternatives. Assume that instead of reaching retirement age, you were disabled at the age of 45 by an illness or natural disaster (i.e., in a manner that did not allow you to sue for damages). Assume also that while the disability would prohibit working, it would NOT result in a serious shortening of your life (a very reasonable assumption for many forms of disability). Since you are now about 60, that would mean you were disabled fifteen years ago, or in other words, you would have lost 1/3 of your working life--the portion which, in most people, should have had the highest overall earnings. Because it WOULD have cut the most productive years, and the ones when (after your kids were grown) you would have been able to invest the largest portion of your income, it isn't unreasonable to assume that as of the time of the disability you would have earned no more than 1/2 of the $250,000.00 you cite above, or $125,000.00. Even assuming you have medical insurance that would (1) cover all the expenses of your disability for life and; (2) would not require any further payment on your part as of the disability (both rather unlikely), you would have $125,000.00 to live on for the rest of your life. At the rate we used above, $1,500.00/mo. that would run out by your 52nd birthday. What, precisely, would have allowed you to survive until today?

And THOSE assumptions, Cecil, take the figures you, yourself provided as given and assume that your investments would be as successful as you feel they would have been. Clearly, if everyone was in the same position, the earnings on investments would be significantly lower (the more people willing to invest, the lower the required yield--a very reasonable expectation and one in line with Libertarian economic thought), and your $250,000.00 may well be only $125,000.00 instead--with the result that even normal retirement income would only last for 7 years after which if you couldn't find a private charity to support you, you would simply starve to death.

The average citizen would, of course, be even worse off than you would in that scenario since he or she would not necessarily have either the earning capacity to free money for investment or the investment skills necessary to earn that return. In their case, they would simply starve to death earlier (and if you believe that private charities could take over the kind of load loss of Social Security would lead to, you have a LOT more faith in people than I have).

Be realistic, Cecil, how many people are going to vote for a party that would be willing to create a culture of poverty among the elderly in order to make things easier for the rich and successful, regardless of HOW many great strides it might take in the direction of personal freedom.

>> No one wants people to be poor--
>
>That's where you are wrong, Rick. The liberals want to breed legions >of poor people who collect their welfare checks and vote Democratic.

Cecil--that's as self-righteous (and wrong) as the views I've been reading here about Muslims and women! I expected far more of you than an absurd dig at the liberals like that one.

>They also want more and more federal employees who collect their pay >checks and vote Democratic.

Again, pure hype. We both know that bureaucracies--WHATEVER party creates them (including the Libertarians--even they can't exist as a government without them) are self-perpetuating. It isn't necessary for "liberals" to create them to garner votes--if anything the opposite is true. A society in which there is high unemployment is FAR more likely to vote liberal than one in which everyone has a good income.

Democrats may not share the Libertarian perspective, Cecil, but that doesn't make them the monsters you depict them as. They, unlike the Libertarians, simply want to help those in need. They may be doing so badly, but at least they DO care about them--and don't want to simply shut them off from society and encourage them to die off.

>When you imply that my life and the products of my life belong to someone >other than me, the debate ceases to be friendly. Muggers also believe >that my life and the products of my life don't belong to me.

Then by the same token you have no right to demand that anyone else part with any of the products of their life to assist you. Thus if you are sick or injured it is only fair to let you die instead of being forced (by moral commitments) to donate money to a charity to care for you.

Think about that a bit.

>> To be an inner city black male youth of 18?
>
>Yes, yes, yes. I would get me a job and put myself through college >just like I did before. Then, instead of going to work for Schlumberger,
>I would make big bucks in the NBA.

What an abominable stereotype. I thought better of you than that. The NBA, Cecil? Why not the watermelon and chicken eaters association?

Cecil, there are only 1,500 blacks in the United States right now who are able to earn their living from professional sports. That's 1,500 out of 35,700,000 African-Americans in our nation. In other words the chance that a given black individual will achieve this status is one in 23,800 and represents the top 0.07% of the African American population. Unless you can demonstrate that you would be in the top 0.07% of your field (are you NOW???) you have no reason to expect that you would have become one of those NBA players. For that matter, if you can play basketball at that level, why aren't you making big bucks from the NBA _now_? There certainly isn't any requirement that you be black to do so.

In addition, you state you would "get a job and put yourself through college." Given the circumstances I outlined, would you care to explain how you would go about doing that? Why are _you_ better able to do that than other black men in the inner city?

You state you did that before. Did you? Did you start from abject poverty, living in a community with inadequate schools or role models? Do you belong to a minority group that is discriminated against, feared, and assumed to be dishonest or lazy? Did you come from a broken home where your mother needed your income (as a teen) to survive? If not, how can you possibly make a statement such as the one you made above?

>The present welfare system encourages and subsidizes poverty. We need >to do exactly the opposite, i.e. discourage poverty. How about we pass >a law outlawing poverty?

As long as the punishment is the requirement that you live in luxury (provided by the state), I'll go along with that one! :-)

We agree that we need to reduce poverty (you will NEVER eliminate it completely--with the exception of doing so through a legal fiction such as under defining the poverty line). And we even agree that there is a serious problem with the current welfare system. But that's where we part company on the issue. You believe that by simply removing those social supports and encouraging private charity to take over the responsibility the problem can be resolved. I think from studying society and culture rather intensely that your solution is completely unrealistic--all that would happen is that the charities would themselves become, or influence, political powers (take a look at the American Red Cross or the United Way Fund for examples of that occurring directly or indirectly) even more than they are capable of doing today. More, it shifts the burden from society as a whole (where the per-person cost is tempered by the numbers of contributors) to those with a social conscious (who, being smaller in numbers, would either be unable to provide enough support to do the job or would be forced to make sacrifices in their own lives to do so out of a feeling of obligation).

Sorry, Cecil, but if I ever needed sound reasons NOT to vote Libertarian, you've provided them for me in this discussion.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3370. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 20:39:59 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <63e8fb491337b9be839012a438d7342e.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 26367
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E3906.115272DA@gte.net...

> > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
> > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>
> Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> then make the arrest.

Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?

You're out to lunch on this one!

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted from mplsapanas05poolc190.mpls.uswest.net [65.103.11.190]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3371. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 20:41:13 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9um6oroh3@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26373
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Jizzwallowing Retard" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C0D8FB3.DE9554F1@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
> .
> >
> > But AMP didn't cuss even when Orasssss was cussing him out on 3.901 the
> > other night.
> > But an anonymous COWARD like you only hears what he wants to hear.
> >
>
> What is [spell lame]

Learn to use English, Fairy Perry the anonymous COWARD.

3372. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 20:55:03 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26374
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

Anonymous COWARD and not
"KA4MUJ" <Mike@MikeAndJudyShow.com> wrote in message news:9ulk41$ms4$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9ul5jeskv0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "A. Melon" <juicy@melontraffickers.com> wrote in message > > news:f2bf1daaef2f31d7b3b89604b1907351@melontraffickers.com...
> > > Yes it is true. W4AMP is performing daily > > > again on 14313, and 3901 in the evenings.
> > >
> > > don't miss the Hiram Psycho in action, as > > > he cusses Oris and others out....not suitable > > > for viewing by those under 18.
> >
> > Wrong! N4CND cussed W4AMP out on 3.901 just a few nights ago.
> > Smoke some more crack, maybe you'll get your lies straight.
> >
>
> Roger, don't know how long back you go in the > 14313 wars, but those in here who go back several years
> will recall KA4MUJ of The 14313 Mike & Judy Show.

Too bad you aren't him since he's dead. You are an anonymous COWARD.

> Poor Mike was not too swift in the brains dept., but he was > a deaf & dumb blind supporter of KV4FZ. The Mooooj, > as Mike was known, was the best friend Herbie ever had. Mike > would support Herbie, even when the clear facts showed > otherwise. Anyway, Herbie ended up fucking Mike and > stealing money from Mike, but all the way to Mike's death > bed, in Mike's eyes, Herbie was still always right. And you > are going the same way Roger. You are one to never let the > clear facts deter you from your preconceived opinions. You > will blindly follow your faulted beliefs to the bitter end and > defeat. You are going down the exact path that KA4MUJ > followed.

But at least I'm not an anonymous COWARD who hides because of that yellow streak running down that hunched back of yours. I know what I heard, and N4CND clearly used profanity directed towards W4AMP. I wish that I'd have recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so I can record very soon.

3373. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 21:20:46 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112051320.47c9cb43@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26368

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:<FUpP7.210745$3d2.9418990@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > Kim-W5TIT writes:
>
> > >Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.
>
> "N2EY" wrote
>
> > Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest decrease by > far,
>
> > > >.maybe Riley's right
> > > >about my callsign...?
>
> > Maybe.
>
> > > >NOT.
>
> > How do you know?
>
>
> Now, Jim, think about it...

I have. Correlation is not causation.
>
> How many Technician Plus Licenses expired this past year??? very very low!!!

Actually, quite a few. Check

http://www.ah0a.org

He lists all sortsa numbers, including expirations, cancellations, renewals and renewal-in-the-grace-period.
>
> How many Technician Plus Licenses were issued this past year??? ZERO!!!

Yup.
>
> How many Technician Plus Licenses were upgraded this past year??? many
> many!!!

Impossible to know exactly from the raw database.

Another point:

Tech Pluses are being renewed as Techs.
>

> Is your assertion that her call sign may be responsible for upgrades???

Nope!!
>
> I'm confused...

There are now more Extras than Advanceds, Tech Pluses or Novices.
>
> I think anyone who worries about her callsign, could smell a

(expletive deleted)

> in a hurricane.

I don't worry about any callsign except my own. But I do think that Kim made an inappropriate choice. One which does harm to the ARS. Not much harm, but a little.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3374. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 21:41:37 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112051341.310ef26a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26369

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C0E3FB8.E6D51C8C@IEEE.org>...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Then if a state chooses to change it's sales tax to a > > transaction fee, it will suddenly become acceptable to the Libertarian > > Party?
>
> Fees are for services performed. Exactly what service would the state > be performing?

The govt. protects both businesses and customers by enforcing things like fair trade practices, health laws, etc. plus programs that benefit business. That's what sales taxes/fees should be used for.

> However, a national sales tax would be superior to
> the regressive graduated income tax.

A single, uniform national sales tax, yes. Current social security taxes are highly regressive while income taxes are progressive. Then there's the marriage tax penalty....
>
> > Don't count the interest you "Might" have made ...
>
> Why not? I made "interest" on my other investments while the government > was holding my money interest-free against my will thus allowing inflation > to erode my social security principle. And some of those years include 20% > inflation. I would have been happy to invest that $55K over those 40 > years and give the government the $55K when I retired. That would have > left me with a couple of hundred thousand dollars profit.

Only if you realized a certain level of gain on the investments - after taxes. One of the main reasons SS exists in the first place is because people made poor investment decisions.

> > Now tell me you'll never recover it all.
>
> I will never recover it all. I haven't touched the principle on my > other investments.

Principal

>That $55K would have appreciated to more than > a quarter of a million dollars by now. My present investments in > put options are doing great.

The yardstick to use is govt. bonds. Suppose that you could have invested all that SS money in, say, US savings bonds. Many of them would be convertible to HH bonds now. Wonder what the principal and income would be, compared to SS benefits....

>
> > No one wants people to be poor--
>
> That's where you are wrong, Rick. The liberals want to breed legions > of poor people who collect their welfare checks and vote Democratic.
> They also want more and more federal employees who collect their pay > checks and vote Democratic.

Nope. Nobody wants that.

The problem is that the real solutions are not simple or easy.
>
> > This is a friendly debate, play fair!
>
> When you imply that my life and the products of my life belong to someone > other than me, the debate ceases to be friendly. Muggers also believe > that my life and the products of my life don't belong to me.

You choose to live in the USA, Cecil. You could have avoided all this taxation by moving to some other country.

Muggers take your money without giving you a choice. Does a mugger say "give me your money or run away? No.

The govt. takes your money because you choose to live here.
>
> > >> Put yourself in this position: You are a young (18 years old),...
> > >
> > >I would gladly give everything I own for that.
> >
> > To be an inner city black male youth of 18?
>
> Yes, yes, yes. I would get me a job and put myself through college > just like I did before.

You have any idea what college costs today, Cecil? Minimum wage doesn't cut it.

Which raises a question: WHY have college costs risen so dramatically for so long? The cost of a college education has far outpaced the rate of inflation for decades. Yet much of the real work is done by poorly paid grad students.

> Then, instead of going to work for Schlumberger,
> I would make big bucks in the NBA.

Maybe. No guarantee you'd come back as Shaq or Allan Iverson.

The real question is - 18 under what conditions? 18 today or 18 when you were 18? Knowing what you know now, or knowing what you knew at 18? And 18 where, with what background? All sorts of things.

> The present welfare system encourages and subsidizes poverty.

Absolutely agree. It also encourages things like single-parent families.

> We need to do exactly the opposite, i.e. discourage poverty. How about we pass > a law outlawing poverty?

Bricks without straw.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3375. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 21:53:00 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net>
Source record: 26370
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

```
>
>
> > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> >
> > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > then make the arrest.
>
> Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
>
> You're out to lunch on this one!

That is what happens in my state with respect
to firearms. If you do not have a license, and are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then you are arrested. That even goes for family members.
```

3376. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 21:53:33 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <wHwP7.1031$292.238197@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 26371
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E3A08.FF033402@gte.net...
> > >RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
> >
> > Posted by a ham operator. Typical.
> >
> > If you're a ham (as I am), you really shouldn't be gloating over this.
> >
> > Do you think the average traffic cop can tell the difference between a CB
> > antenna and a ham antenna? Will he be able to tell your HR2600 10m mobile from > > a Galaxy "export" CB? Doubtful.
> >
> > These new "local yokel" anti-CB laws are BAD NEWS for ALL operators of mobile > > radio equipment. Just another excuse for unwarranted police harrassment.
> > Anyone with an antenna will now be suspect.
>
> He pulls you over. Sees the radio, asks for > a ham license. In most states it is already > illegal to have radios that can listen to police
> bands in cars if you do not have a license
> so they just "expand" the law a bit. No license > then you and the car are off the street.
>

There you go, it's as simple as that. Why all the needless paranoia (unless you are operating illegally) ?

73 de W6DKN

3377. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 22:07:45 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 26372
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

One more SMF for the kill file!
Train

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> >
> >
> > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > >
> > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > then make the arrest.
> >
> > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> >
> > You're out to lunch on this one!
>
> That is what happens in my state with respect
> to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> you are arrested. That even goes for family
> members.
>
>
>

3378. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 22:33:16 UTC
From: Pipedreans <pipedream@hotmail.comspa>
Message-ID: <20011205173318.253$6A@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 26375
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

Thats it Train Kill file anyone who's views don't agree with your criminal mind.

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message news:RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net...
> One more SMF for the kill file!
> Train
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > > >
> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > then make the arrest.
> > > >
> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > >
> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> > >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
> >
> >
> >
>
>

3379. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 23:32:59 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0EAEAB.F3FE240E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26376

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >Fees are for services performed.
>
> Then using a 10% fee for court services, in addition to not > providing enough resources to cover the rest of the court and criminal > justice system, would be radically overpricing a service--

How do you know that? I don't know if 10% would be overpriced or under-priced. It was a WAG.

> >However, a national sales tax would be superior to > >the regressive graduated income tax.
>
> Reverse order, Cecil.

Sorry, I obviously meant progressive tax.

> From a personal perspective, btw, I believe in a flat tax.

OK, until something better comes along, I'll buy that. The feds mugged me for half a mil during my last three years of work.

> Who, given your opposition to transfer programs and decision to "opt > out" of Social Security, would provide your medical expenses, long > term care, or support? Who would care for your children if you died at > 25 or 30 years of age?

All that is MY responsibility, not anyone else's. I've always carried health, disability, and life insurance. It's just one other thing to budget for.

> Perhaps in your case you could have invested the money more > wisely than the government--so could I and a lot of other people--but > not everyone has either the investment skills or the money to invest > in the first place.

Not my problem. I do not desire to protect people from themselves and I would appreciate that same consideration for myself.

> ... --but do you > really believe anyone would invest in preference to purchasing > transportation? Maybe you would--but do you _really_ believe everyone > would?

Nope, and that's not my problem any more than providing shoes for people who would rather spend their money on drugs and booze.

> The result of eliminating Social Security (beyond the breech > of contract actions that would result under a Libertarian state [where > prohibitions on suing the government would, by necessity, be removed] > when the state was no longer able to fulfill the terms of my--and > everyone else's--contract with the Social Security system) would be to > create an incredible number of people who were seniors, widows, minor > children, and disabled who had no source of income and who would > represent a "new poor" of enormous proportions to augment the "old > poor" you would likewise remove state support from.

Bush is somewhat following the Libertarian lead when he talks about phasing out the present Social Security system and phasing in privatization of Social Security. There would be no breech of contract, just a gradual switching of systems over a couple of generations.

> In that case, you > would obviously neither profit or lose from your investment in Social > Security--but would earn the same amount that you would earn by > investing it privately (and optimally).

Funny how it works out that way, isn't it? The government would be much better off if they had allowed me to manage my own Social Security instead of them mismanaging it for me.

> Now let's look at alternatives. Assume that instead of > reaching retirement age, you were disabled at the age of 45 ...

Disability would be handled by a completely different system, Rick.
One of the reasons that Social Security is in such a mess is that they tried to do too much with the system and it is in the process of failing because of that.

> Be realistic, Cecil, ...

Nope, I would much rather choose to be principled than pragmatic.

> Then by the same token you have no right to demand that anyone > else part with any of the products of their life to assist you. Thus > if you are sick or injured it is only fair to let you die instead of > being forced (by moral commitments) to donate money to a charity to > care for you.

If I am too stupid to prepare for probable risks, then I deserve to be eliminated from the gene pool.

> What an abominable stereotype. I thought better of you than > that. The NBA, Cecil? Why not the watermelon and chicken eaters > association?

Because all I lacked being a great basketball player was the NBA genes.

> There certainly isn't any requirement that you be black to do so.

What's the percentage of blacks in the general population? What's the percentage of blacks in the NBA? Their basketball genes are just better than mine.

> In addition, you state you would "get a job and put yourself > through college." Given the circumstances I outlined, would you care > to explain how you would go about doing that? Why are _you_ better > able to do that than other black men in the inner city?

Because I would refuse to be kept like the government's domestic animal.

> You believe that by > simply removing those social supports and encouraging private charity > to take over the responsibility the problem can be resolved.

The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually do some hard work for that income. A local TV station went into the homeless shelter and offered jobs to a dozen individuals. They offered them baths and clean clothes to get started. ONE of them showed up. Even he didn't show up the second day.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3380. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 23:36:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0EAF6C.CC6E4A5B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26377
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote:
> That is what happens in my state with respect
> to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> you are arrested. That even goes for family
> members.

I have a rifle that isn't type accepted in CA. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3381. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 23:51:00 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9umbr201uu9@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26378

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C0E3FB8.E6D51C8C@IEEE.org...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Then if a state chooses to change it's sales tax to a > > transaction fee, it will suddenly become acceptable to the Libertarian > > Party?
>
> Fees are for services performed. Exactly what service would the state > be performing? However, a national sales tax would be superior to > the regressive graduated income tax.

Do you know who the first one's would be to oppose such a tax? The IRS.
Their power to pry into the lives of every American would be severely hampered if we switched to a sales tax.

3382. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 23:53:08 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9umbv501v6a@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26379

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C0E66AC.473DD4BD@IEEE.org...
> I'm an old Bull Durham man, Jim. What's a bong?

It's a sound effect from old Three Stooges shorts when Moe hit Curly in the head with a hammer.

3383. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-05 23:57:20 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9umc7001vmm@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26380

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:8252D74A879C3B2D.9B94049D604B3D1F.4CD4DD853FA5FD76@lp.airnews.net...
> On 05 Dec 2001 01:41:32 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >Rearrabge the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!
>
> devil spelled backward is "lived"
>
> evil spelled backward is "live"
>
> now consider god ...
>
> Rick <wondering who let the dog out preach, preach, preach...>

Don't forget Stephen King's favorite aperitif - Red Rum.

3384. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 00:59:43 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <MkzP7.102029$8n4.6420029@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 26381
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk having your equipment damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am th' law 'round hyar, boy) to take time to examine your papers and find out that you are not doing anything wrong? I don't think so--not me. If some rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the license I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue the SOB and his agency and cause him as much trouble as I can.

Jerry

W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net> wrote in message
news:wHwP7.1031$292.238197@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E3A08.FF033402@gte.net...
> > > >RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
> > >
> > > Posted by a ham operator. Typical.
> > >
> > > If you're a ham (as I am), you really shouldn't be gloating over this.
> > >
> > > Do you think the average traffic cop can tell the difference between a > CB
> > > antenna and a ham antenna? Will he be able to tell your HR2600 10m > mobile from > > > a Galaxy "export" CB? Doubtful.
> > >
> > > These new "local yokel" anti-CB laws are BAD NEWS for ALL operators of > mobile
> > > radio equipment. Just another excuse for unwarranted police > harrassment.
> > > Anyone with an antenna will now be suspect.
> >
> > He pulls you over. Sees the radio, asks for > > a ham license. In most states it is already > > illegal to have radios that can listen to police
> > bands in cars if you do not have a license
> > so they just "expand" the law a bit. No license > > then you and the car are off the street.
> >
>
> There you go, it's as simple as that. Why all the needless paranoia (unless > you are operating illegally) ?

>
> 73 de W6DKN
>
>

3385. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 02:10:59 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <TsAP7.145577$WW.9288535@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26382

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112051320.47c9cb43@posting.google.com...
> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:<FUpP7.210745$3d2.9418990@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > > Kim-W5TIT writes:
> >
> > > >Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.
> >
> > "N2EY" wrote
> >
> > > Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest decrease by > > far,
> >
> > > >.maybe Riley's right
> > > >about my callsign...?
> >
> > > Maybe.
> >
> > > >NOT.
> >
> > > How do you know?
> >
> >
> > Now, Jim, think about it...
>
> I have. Correlation is not causation.
> >
> > How many Technician Plus Licenses expired this past year??? very very low!!!
>
> Actually, quite a few. Check
>
> http://www.ah0a.org
>
> He lists all sortsa numbers, including expirations, cancellations, > renewals and renewal-in-the-grace-period.
> >
> > How many Technician Plus Licenses were issued this past year???
ZERO!!!
>
> Yup.
> >
> > How many Technician Plus Licenses were upgraded this past year??? many

> > many!!!
>
> Impossible to know exactly from the raw database.
>
> Another point:
>
> Tech Pluses are being renewed as Techs.
> >
> > Is your assertion that her call sign may be responsible for upgrades???
>
> Nope!!
> >
> > I'm confused...
>
> There are now more Extras than Advanceds, Tech Pluses or Novices.
> >
> > I think anyone who worries about her callsign, could smell a
>
> (expletive deleted)
>
> > in a hurricane.
>
> I don't worry about any callsign except my own. But I do think that > Kim made an inappropriate choice. One which does harm to the ARS. Not > much harm, but a little.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Without having a clue how it happens, 141 Tech Pluses have been renewed since der Tag including one in November. The last one expires in December 2011.

3386. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 02:36:06 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9umlgl0b5s@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26385
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...

> But at least I'm not an anonymous COWARD who hides because of that yellow

<snip>

20,000 plus newsgroups are available on usenet. It allows you to post (semi) anonymously, and most people accept that, flames and trolls. Most people accept that they don't know the true identity of the person at the other end of the message. (Although it does tend to prove Oscar Wilde's claim about men and masks.)

...except for the rec.radio.amatuer.* newsgroups.

A few people expect you to post a callsign, (if you have one) thus giving away information about yourself. With the publicity about internet stalking and identity theft, you'd be foolish to post such information. If I'm to be branded as an anonymous coward, simply because I have a different opinon, so be it.

3387. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 02:40:21 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0edb5d$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26383

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:8252D74A879C3B2D.9B94049D604B3D1F.4CD4DD853FA5FD76@lp.airnews.net...
> On 05 Dec 2001 01:41:32 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >Rearrabge the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!
>
> devil spelled backward is "lived"
>
> evil spelled backward is "live"
>
> now consider god ...
>
> Rick <wondering who let the dog out preach, preach, preach...>
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Ronald Wilson Reagan

use each letter of above name only once:

Insane Anglo Warlord.

Kim W5TIT

3388. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 02:50:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c0edda9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26384

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:TsAP7.145577$WW.9288535@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:9f4bfe89.0112051320.47c9cb43@posting.google.com...
> > "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> news:<FUpP7.210745$3d2.9418990@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT writes:
> > >
> > > > >Hmmmm, we'll have to watch those decreases.
> > >
> > > > "N2EY" wrote
> > >
> > > > Your license class is the one that has encountered the biggest > decrease by > > > > far,
> > >
> > > > >.maybe Riley's right
> > > > >about my callsign...?
> > >
> > > > Maybe.
> > >
> > > > >NOT.
> > >
> > > > How do you know?
> > >
> > >
> > > > Now, Jim, think about it...
> >
> > I have. Correlation is not causation.
> > >
> > > > How many Technician Plus Licenses expired this past year??? very very > low!!!
> >
> > Actually, quite a few. Check
> >
> > http://www.ah0a.org
> >
> > He lists all sortsa numbers, including expirations, cancellations, > > renewals and renewal-in-the-grace-period.
> > >
> > > > How many Technician Plus Licenses were issued this past year???
> ZERO!!!
> >

> > Yup.
> > >
> > > How many Technician Plus Licenses were upgraded this past year??? many > > > many!!!
> >
> > Impossible to know exactly from the raw database.
> >
> > Another point:
> >
> > Tech Pluses are being renewed as Techs.
> > >
> > > Is your assertion that her call sign may be responsible for > upgrades???
> >
> > Nope!!
> > >
> > > I'm confused...
> >
> > There are now more Extras than Advanceds, Tech Pluses or Novices.
> > >
> > > I think anyone who worries about her callsign, could smell a
> >
> > (expletive deleted)
> >
> > > in a hurricane.
> >
> > I don't worry about any callsign except my own. But I do think that > > Kim made an inappropriate choice. One which does harm to the ARS. Not > > much harm, but a little.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> Without having a clue how it happens, 141 Tech Pluses have been renewed > since der Tag including one in November. The last one expires in December > 2011.
>
>

I think, if anything, you all are going to have to start realizing that if my callsign harms anyone, it is me; though I don't believe it harms anyone at all.

Now, if a scapegoat is needed for harm done to the ARS, well I suppose it's just as well I am chosen. Someone else might really decide to be offended by being told they harm the ARS. :o

Kim W5TIT

3389. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 03:32:45 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0EE68E.A98D081@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26386

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) If we send a man or woman to prison > for natural life, and ten years later we > discover that he or she was innocent, that > person can be released and at least > partially compensated for the harm that was > done to them. But if we have already killed > him or her it's just a little bit late to > say "sorry."

On the other hand, if you're going to keep judging evidence for ten, twenty, or thirty years, you could probably find almost everyone innocent. This has been the problem with so many cases where DNA results have gotten people off. These people are not necessarily innocent - they're released because DNA evidence has raised questions about key evidence used in the first trial. However, that process ignores the remaining evidence from the original trial that still points strongly to the person's guilt. Sadly, once the person is released after so many years, it is almost impossible to try them again since that other evidence often no longer exists (decayed, lost, thrown away, witnesses moved away or died, or whatever). So what you have now is a truly guilty person walking the street who simply cannot be tried again for the crime he actually committed.

> (snip) Perhaps if the death penalty actually > accomplished its goal (deterrence) it might > be worth the risk of such results--but it > doesn't. Every study that has ever been > conducted has shown that the presence or > absence of a death penalty in a state has > no effect on the crime rate whatever.

Deterrence is only one aspect of the death penalty - it also serves as just punishment for a serious crime and as an ultimate means to safeguard others. If you take one aspect out of context, such as deterrence alone, then indeed the death penalty does appear not to accomplish it's goal. However, when taken together, the various aspects are well served by the death penalty.

> (snip) Incidently, the reason so many death > row inmates are being found innocent today > has little to do with the appeals process > directly. Several years ago a project was > started by law students at the University > of Illinois to examine DNA evidence in the > cases of capital crimes. The result was > that using modern DNA testing, in the case > of fully 10% of the convicted inmates it > was shown that they could NOT have been > the perpetrator.

No, that is not what the DNA shows - instead all it shows is that a particular piece of evidence used in a trial did not come from the perpetrator. In other words, it shows that blood found, or semen found, and used as evidence in the original trial, did not come from the perpetrator. But that DOES NOT prove innocence.

Let me give an example to illustrate this. A girl has sex with her boyfriend. On the way home, she is killed by the perpetrator. Later, the perpetrator is arrested and the blood type of the semen is used in his trial as evidence she was also raped. Twenty years later, law students from the University of Illinois, edged on by their anti-death penalty advocate teacher, comes up with DNA evidence to show the semen could not have come from the perpetrator. Because some of the evidence used in the original trial is now suspect, the perpetrator is released pending a new trial. Of course, the perpetrator cannot be tried again because the remaining evidence from the original trial is long gone. So, in the end, the law students have simply released a killer back onto the streets who will now never pay for his crime. And, of course, the very happy perpetrator warmly thanks the law students (for being idiots) and goes off to celebrate his success at beating the system.

And this scenario, with only slight variations to fit the crime situation, is repeated over and over in cases where DNA is used to bring into question evidence from decades old death penalty trials. And, of course, the media, with it's liberal stance on the death penalty, continues to promote the lie that DNA has proven these people innocent. And, either through ignorance or equal dishonesty, that media refrain is picked up and repeated by other people also opposed to the death penalty, such as yourself.

> (snip) DNA evidence has been used in a very > substantial number of cases to prove that the > person executed did NOT commit the crime --the > research was conducted as a part of the > Illinois Legal Defense Project. That isn't > opinion, it's solid, legally admissible, proof > that innocent men and women were executed by > the state.

Again, that is _NOT_ at all what DNA evidence proves. All it proves is that a particular piece of evidence used in a trial did not come from the perpetrator. The perpetrator is not released as a person proven innocent - he is released pending a new trial. Again, the perpetrator is seldom retried because the other evidence pointing to guilt is often no longer available.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3390. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 03:35:45 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <IIBP7.251520$W8.9189263@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26387

> Richard Plourde wrote

> > Now, Jim, think about it...

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112051320.47c9cb43@posting.google.com...

> I have. Correlation is not causation.

Does that imply you don't know? ;-)

> > How many Technician Plus Licenses expired this past year??? very very low!!!

> Actually, quite a few. Check
> He lists all sortsa numbers, including expirations, cancellations, > renewals and renewal-in-the-grace-period.

I did...

The rate of Technician Plus expirations was 474 per month December 1, 2000 to November 1, 2001
(top of Speroni's chart)

The rate of Technician Plus expirations was 712 per month June 1, 1997 to
May 1, 1998
(bottom of Speroni's chart)

I'm not sure what it means but it sounds like things are much better now... but I have a feeling you're going to tell me... ;-)

> > How many Technician Plus Licenses were issued this past year??? ZERO!!!

> Yup.

> > How many Technician Plus Licenses were upgraded this past year??? many
> > many!!!

> Impossible to know exactly from the raw database.

Wrong, Jim, IT IS as I said... (many many!!!) we do know the facts.

1) Technician Plus licensees decreased by 41,660. (your previous post)

2) 5,691 Technician Plus license expirations

3) 180 Technician Plus license cancelations

4) 73 Technician Plus license renewals (on time)

5) 7 Technician Plus license renewals (during grace period)

So... let's see...

We lost 41,660 but...
5,691 were expirations, so subtract them...
we know where they went...
that leaves 35,969 unaccounted for...

180 were cancelations, so subtract them...
we know where they went...
that leaves 35,789 unaccounted for...

80 (73 + 7) wer renewals, so add them... we know where they came from...
that means 35,869 are unaccounted for...
hmmmm.... could they be upgrades???? :^

> Another point:
>
> Tech Pluses are being renewed as Techs.

Mox nix... We still see them as Technician Plus renewing.... they're NOT hidden.

> > Is your assertion that her call sign may be responsible for upgrades???

> There are now more Extras than Advanceds, Tech Pluses or Novices.

In 1999 I said the Technician Plus licensees would do exactly this... they're upgrading in droves because the license is a loser... it's obvious that they DO NOT want to remain Technician Plus. Witness that only an average of 6 per month renews on time and only a HALF A HAM per month renews in the grace period. Don't get me wrong I think the people who renew are important because the renewal tells me they actually use their license and that's a good thing but the license class has virtually no redeeming qualities. Given that, the logical conclusion is it's a vulgar, base, (classless) license. ;-) (and I almost mean that...)

> > I think anyone who worries about her callsign, could smell a
>
> (expletive deleted)
>
> > in a hurricane.
>
> I don't worry about any callsign except my own. But I do think that > Kim made an inappropriate choice. One which does harm to the ARS. Not > much harm, but a little.

TSK TSK TSK... That, sir. is a baseless assumption. But it aligns with your belief system so who am I to say you are incorrect. I'll say this... "You are right; that it is your assertion..." ;-)

Sorry about the expletive. I should have said...

I think anyone who worries about her callsign, couldn't tell anybody what the hurricane smelled like... ;-)

Oh, for the record after the past 12 months 87% of Advanced are still standing... 82% of Novices are still there... but less than 68% of Technician Plus are still there... in other words... there were almost 50% more Technician Plus operators last year!!!!

Oh one last thing... (really the last...) ;-)

You mentioned Technician Plus renewing as Technicians in the database. True, and that will matter the NEXT time they renew; we won't see them. Good news though, there will only be about, let's see, 80 times 10 years.... 800 of them!!!! :-)

Rich

3391. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 03:41:29 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0EE899.10181E7@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26388

CAM wrote:
>
> Yes, and in the process, they compromised > their most sacred principles. Libertarians > refuse to compromise their principles. Do > you compromise your principles, Dwight?

Actually, yes. In fact, often on a daily basis. There are many things that I don't like or believe in, and many things that I do like or believe in, that I don't attempt to force into the situation of the moment. I simply realize that not all are going to share my principles and it is not my place to demand they do. So, instead, I bend a little to fit the situation, reserving a fight for my principles to a more appropriate and fruitful time. Don't you do the same?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3392. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 03:52:27 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0EEB2A.D54EB90B@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26389

CAM wrote:
>
> If you don't have an open marriage, Dwight, you > are unlikely to encounter open marriages. (snip)

We're not prudes, Cecil. We've had our experiences with other couples engaged in open marriages or just experimenting with such. But nothing in those marriages backed up the claims of those advocating open marriages (longer, happier, relationships and so forth).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3393. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:11:44 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0EF000.8D86B97@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26391

Krell wrote:
> Do you know who the first one's would be to oppose such a tax? The IRS.
> Their power to pry into the lives of every American would be severely > hampered if we switched to a sales tax.

And wouldn't that be nice?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3394. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:12:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0EF03B.CA0BF434@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26392

```
Krell wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C0E66AC.473DD4BD@IEEE.org...
> > I'm an old Bull Durham man, Jim. What's a bong?
>
> It's a sound effect from old Three Stooges shorts when Moe hit Curly in the > head with a hammer.

Amazingly, there is a cable movie on right now named, "Bongwater".
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3395. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:13:52 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0EF02A.3282D8AE@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26390

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote...
> >
> > Cheating cannot possibly start without > > opportunity - the integrity comes from > > not seeking the opportunity.
>
> I think I'd have to argue that integrity > is keeping the promises you've made, > regardless of what they are.

We were talking about "cheating" when I made that statement, not about promises made in any type of marriage.

> (snip) Successful polygamous relationships > are not nearly as rare as you might wish to > believe.

I don't "wish" to believe anything. I want to see evidence and I've seen none to support an argument for or against.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3396. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:14:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0EF0C1.164F7278@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26393

```
Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Yes, and in the process, they compromised
> > their most sacred principles. Libertarians > > refuse to compromise their principles. Do > > you compromise your principles, Dwight?
>
> Actually, yes. In fact, often on a daily basis. There are many > things that I don't like or believe in, and many things that I do like > or believe in, that I don't attempt to force into the situation of the > moment. I simply realize that not all are going to share my principles > and it is not my place to demand they do. So, instead, I bend a little > to fit the situation, reserving a fight for my principles to a more > appropriate and fruitful time. Don't you do the same?

I keep my mouth shut or bite my tongue sometimes, but I try never to compromise my principles.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

3397. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:17:12 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <cjCP7.145735$WW.9302360@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26394

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c0edda9_1@newsa.ev1.net...

> I think, if anything, you all are going to have to start realizing that if > my callsign harms anyone, it is me; though I don't believe it harms anyone > at all.

Correct... it harms no one. There are some who insist on telling you how sacrosanct they are, but, they fail because they are making sacrilegious protestations revealing their sanctimonious selves.

> Now, if a scapegoat is needed for harm done to the ARS, well I suppose
it's > just as well I am chosen. Someone else might really decide to be offended > by being told they harm the ARS. :o

That right... just do as the saints would do... turn the other cheek.

"tout comprenore est tout pardonner"

Rich

Remember... you never heard Mother Theresa say... "I'm one holy Mother!"
;-)

3398. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:25:49 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <hrCP7.145744$WW.9302287@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26395

Richard McCollum wrote

> Without having a clue how it happens, 141 Tech Pluses have been renewed > since der Tag including one in November. The last one expires in December > 2011.

Whats a "der Tag"?

Rich

3399. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:26:25 UTC
From: Hans Brakob <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <a1778fbe9a0646673d69abba89e9423c.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 26396
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...

> >
> >
> > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > >
> > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > then make the arrest.
> >
> > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> >
> > You're out to lunch on this one!
>
> That is what happens in my state with respect
> to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> you are arrested. That even goes for family
> members.

What state do you live in? Russia? Sure must suck to be you! Here they look at you suspiciously
if you _don't_ have at least a deer rifle in the car!

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted from 1cust130.tnt1.minneapolis3.mn.da.uu.net [63.30.251.130]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

3400. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:30:54 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0EF426.7EB131F5@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26397

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> I've worked in several large companies in > several locations and not once have I heard > of a single lawsuit filed because of > inappropriate behavior that wasn't truly > inappropriate. And I'm not sure I've ever > heard of a lawsuit being filed -- I have > heard of one (maybe two) women (rightfully) > complaining they had been treated > inappropriately. There were probably others > of that sort I did not hear about. But I > really believe that if two employees being > involved in a civil lawsuit was commonplace,
> I would've heard about it. (snip)

Yea, like several thousand you did not hear about. According to an Stars & Stripes article I read a few years ago, there have been over 200 sexual harassment lawsuits brought against the military alone. And I'd speculate there has been several thousand brought against companies over the last few decades. And you've never heard of these lawsuits? Where have you been, Sean?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3401. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:52:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E2A7CF2E831F23FE.52B5C0ADC3341D24.0A9FAF15BE23DA7E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26398

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 16:35:18 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>All Saints Day is the day which follows Halloween.

Leaves a lot of time to travel from the site of your gathering to your home in time to make it to early mass on All Saints Day, doesn't it?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3402. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:52:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0003237759EB5296.2EF792B13CA5E913.E00FCDB6ADED3BE1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26399

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 00:42:19 -0500, Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> wrote:

>And then there's this thing with the number 666, like it's the area >code for hell or something....

The area code for Hell is 734.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3403. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:52:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2E3113992F1CE1DA.A460C8A19F9816E2.E297E2C6500CCEAD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26400

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 09:46:04 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>> I'm sure that the pregnant women they use for the role were >> impregnated the _same way_ Mary would have been.
>
>God could have saved us all a lot of grief if he had arranged for >an immaculate birth rather than an immaculate conception.

It would have saved a lot of cleaning-up as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3404. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:52:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <0251E36B39C47C40.29B19426915443DC.3EB9DF7F56135859@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26451

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 17:32:59 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>> Then using a 10% fee for court services, in addition to not >> providing enough resources to cover the rest of the court and criminal >> justice system, would be radically overpricing a service--
>
>How do you know that? I don't know if 10% would be overpriced or under->priced. It was a WAG.

The specific number doesn't matter Cecil. The important point is that _any_ fee charged for civil court services which was intended to pay for criminal court costs as well would, by necessity, be overpriced since, sans the cost of criminal courts, a good profit could be made at a lower price. Thus the private sector would inevitably be able to underprice the government and take over essentially all transactions with the result that no money would be collected by the courts to pay for criminal court costs.

>> >However, a national sales tax would be superior to >> >the regressive graduated income tax.
>>
>> Reverse order, Cecil.
>
>Sorry, I obviously meant progressive tax.

Why are progressive taxes any more offensive that regressive ones? A flat-percentage on all income is reasonable, but anything that either increases the tax burden (percentage of income wise) of a person based on his or her earning capacity or increases the tax load (percentage of income wise) on a person based on his or her saving capacity is a tax that discriminates.

>> From a personal perspective, btw, I believe in a flat tax.
>
>OK, until something better comes along, I'll buy that. The feds >mugged me for half a mil during my last three years of work.

You needed a better accountant!

I have friends who are multi-millionaires and pay significantly less taxes than that.

>> Who, given your opposition to transfer programs and decision to "opt
>> out" of Social Security, would provide your medical expenses, long >> term care, or support? Who would care for your children if you died at >> 25 or 30 years of age?

>
>All that is MY responsibility, not anyone else's. I've always carried >health, disability, and life insurance. It's just one other thing to >budget for.

It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that responsibility? Is it reasonable that the state ignore the needs of children because their fathers and mothers didn't demonstrate sound financial planning?

Consider, also, the age I listed. Assuming the _average_ couple marry soon after graduation from college (and even the Libertarian party can't possibly expect people to wait until they are financially solvent to marry and start raising a family--that is simply unrealistic and, in many ways, undesirable). Assume further that by the time they are 30, they have two children (also very logical and desirable from social and even physiological perspectives). Are you seriously suggesting that the average couple could reasonably be expected to have made adequate arrangements for the care of the children and assistance for the surviving partner if they die at this age? Cecil, that just isn't realistic!

>> Perhaps in your case you could have invested the money more >> wisely than the government--so could I and a lot of other people--but >> not everyone has either the investment skills or the money to invest >> in the first place.
>
>Not my problem. I do not desire to protect people from themselves and >I would appreciate that same consideration for myself.

No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves." On the other hand if everyone, or even most everyone, were to invest using a sound plan of investment, it would flood the money market to the extent that interest rates of 2-4% would become the norm (supply and demand fix equilibrium point in a free market--including an equilibrium point for investment funds)--a profit totally incapable of providing for the future for anyone, sound investor or not. The ONLY people who would be expected to profit significantly from investments in such circumstances would be those who made high risk investments--precisely the kind of investment that would be highly unwise for someone who was trying to save for the future.

>> ... --but do you >> really believe anyone would invest in preference to purchasing >> transportation? Maybe you would--but do you _really_ believe everyone >> would?
>
>Nope, and that's not my problem any more than providing shoes for >people who would rather spend their money on drugs and booze.

Cecil, try to post w/o the false stereotypes of welfare recepients--you're beginning to sound like Dick Carroll speaking about Muslims!

What on earth do drugs and booze have to do with the logical decision to purchase a car for transportation (which is used to get to work, after all) rather than investing for retirement?

>Bush is somewhat following the Libertarian lead when he talks about >phasing out the present Social Security system and phasing in privatization >of Social Security. There would be no breech of contract, just a gradual >switching of systems over a couple of generations.

And, of course, the risk of total loss. Your assumption is that the private sector will manage the Social Security funds in a manner that will guarantee the contracts the government has made with the citizenry will be paid. But while the private sector can normally do a much better job of managing funds than the government, that isn't a guarantee that they will do so in this case. Assume the same form of mismanagement or outright fraud affected the program that did the Savings & Loan firms some years ago. Who is going to make up for the loss to the citizenry? Not the state, if the Libertarians are in power. Not the private sector. Just a complete "wipe-out" of their funds. And this is only one potential risk that could occur from this move.

Sorry, but ANYTHING George Wimpus does I greet with an enormous amount of skepticism.

>> In that case, you >> would obviously neither profit or lose from your investment in Social >> Security--but would earn the same amount that you would earn by >> investing it privately (and optimally).
>
>Funny how it works out that way, isn't it? The government would be much >better off if they had allowed me to manage my own Social Security >instead of them mismanaging it for me.

In one case, perhaps.

But what about the majority of the people who would NOT have invested successfully? Who takes care of them--and "who cares" is NOT a reasonable response for any political party that wants to achieve higher office than county clerk or dog catcher.

>> Now let's look at alternatives. Assume that instead of >> reaching retirement age, you were disabled at the age of 45 ...
>
>Disability would be handled by a completely different system, Rick.

Why?

Give me one reason I owe even a PENNY more to a person because he or she is disabled than I owe if he or she is destitute and homeless? As you put it yourself:

>All that is MY responsibility, not anyone else's. I've always carried >health, disability, and life insurance. It's just one other thing to >budget for.

Thus if people don't have disability insurance, they have no more right to expect help from the state than they do if they are in poverty--both were results of their own decisions, right?

>One of the reasons that Social Security is in such a mess is that >they tried to do too much with the system and it is in the process >of failing because of that.

On the contrary, the problem was that the funds were made available for uses other than the Social Security program itself. SS funds should NEVER have been used for any other purpose, but our legislators really didn't pay much attention to that obvious concept.
That, and lack of foresight in planning for the end of the rapid population growth era, not "doing too much" was the key to the problem.

>> Be realistic, Cecil, ...
>
>Nope, I would much rather choose to be principled than pragmatic.

Do your principles include stereotyping the poor, allowing children to go hungry if their parents can't afford food, and providing education based on the ability to pay?

Sorry, but I can't see ANY of those as being "principled," only as self-serving.

>> Then by the same token you have no right to demand that anyone >> else part with any of the products of their life to assist you. Thus >> if you are sick or injured it is only fair to let you die instead of >> being forced (by moral commitments) to donate money to a charity to >> care for you.
>
>If I am too stupid to prepare for probable risks, then I deserve >to be eliminated from the gene pool.

And your children with you?

More to the point, from a political perspective, do you seriously believe that a party with that kind of attitude could conceivably win a large percentage of the vote?

>> What an abominable stereotype. I thought better of you than >> that. The NBA, Cecil? Why not the watermelon and chicken eaters >> association?
>
>Because all I lacked being a great basketball player was the NBA
>genes.

Cecil, I'm losing a lot of respect for you. First you stereotype the poor, now it's blacks. For someone who was adamant in his objections to stereotyping of Muslims, you are remarkably willing to stereotype others.

Blacks have absolutely NO genetic advantage when it comes to sports, Cecil, you are certainly educated enough to know that.

>> There certainly isn't any requirement that you be black to do so.
>
>What's the percentage of blacks in the general population? What's >the percentage of blacks in the NBA? Their basketball genes are >just better than mine.

No, Cecil, they don't have "basketball genes" that are superior to yours or anyone else's--there is no such thing and you should well be aware of it.

Blacks do unusually well in basketball because it has long been seen (rightly or wrongly) as a way to escape poverty. While you were spending your leisure time in a variety of recreational activities, those black athletes were practicing (and improving) their games. While you were attending extra curricular activities at your high school, those black athletes were practicing (and improving) their games. While you were studying advanced subjects in high school to improve your chances of getting into a good college or earning a scholarship--subjects that may not even have BEEN available in their schools whether they wanted to study them or not--those black athletes were practicing (and improving) their games. Because, unlike you, those sports may have been the ONLY way they would ever get into college and have a future.

If you had the basic skills necessary, and the height (and blacks, as a group, are no taller than whites) to succeed at basketball and had been willing to put in the kind of work those men did, you, too, could have had one chance in 28,000 of becoming an NBA professional.

You had options. They had different ones. Yours were unquestionably better options than were available to them.

>> In addition, you state you would "get a job and put yourself >> through college." Given the circumstances I outlined, would you care >> to explain how you would go about doing that? Why are _you_ better >> able to do that than other black men in the inner city?
>
>Because I would refuse to be kept like the government's domestic animal.

Cecil,you can refuse what you like--but if there are no jobs available to you, how do you plan to support yourself? Through crime?

You have always had the ability to get a job. Not all inner city minorities have that kind of opportunity--nor, for that matter, do the even greater number of poor (mostly white, btw) in rural American or in areas where the economy is depressed.

>> You believe that by >> simply removing those social supports and encouraging private charity >> to take over the responsibility the problem can be resolved.
>
>The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually >do some hard work for that income.

I agree to an extent--but lacking skills and living in an economically depressed area, who is going to hire them? We could, of course, create WPA type programs in which they would work for the state, but that not only means the state would still be responsible for the funding (which you oppose) and that an additional, expensive, bureaucracy would have to be created to administer it (which we BOTH oppose) but that the work they did would, by necessity, either be useless work or work that, had they not done it, would have meant jobs for others who would then be unable to earn their own way as a RESULT of the government.

> A local TV station went into the >homeless shelter and offered jobs to a dozen individuals. They offered >them baths and clean clothes to get started. ONE of them showed up. Even >he didn't show up the second day.

A homeless shelter is NOT typical of the poor in this country.

The average welfare recipient (as I described before and you ignored) is a young woman, formerly married, with 2 LEGITIMATE children, at least one of which is a pre-schooler, who has been widowed, divorced, or deserted by her husband (or, in the case of over 40% of all homeless in the United States--few of whom ever risk the extreme violence in the shelters [where a woman has a 50% chance that she or any daughter over the age of 12 will be raped on any given night], is fleeing an abusive spouse in fear of her life), and who will spend less than 2 years of her entire life on welfare.

THAT, Cecil, not some wino in the gutter, is the person you are claiming is not worth our time to help.

Sorry, but nothing on earth could convince me to vote for--or support--a party with a set of values like that.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3405. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:52:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <81B02902167A2525.CDE8D2984A467548.151E80DF058FE59B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26452

On Wed, 5 Dec 2001 18:57:20 -0500, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:

>
>"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
>news:8252D74A879C3B2D.9B94049D604B3D1F.4CD4DD853FA5FD76@lp.airnews.net...
>> On 05 Dec 2001 01:41:32 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>>
>> >Rearrabge the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!
>>
>> devil spelled backward is "lived"
>>
>> evil spelled backward is "live"
>>
>> now consider god ...
>>
>> Rick <wondering who let the dog out preach, preach, preach...>
>
>Don't forget Stephen King's favorite aperitif - Red Rum.
>
Sounds like a "killer" drink to me!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3406. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 04:58:09 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <4751BF581C429799.57A49A12AF6341EE.067F890AE3361631@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26453

On Wed, 5 Dec 2001 20:40:21 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>Ronald Wilson Reagan
>
>use each letter of above name only once:
>
>Insane Anglo Warlord.

Now be nice, Kim.

After all--how many world leaders have taken the time to support and sign legislation that made potato bugs illegal?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3407. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:07 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000307.05154.00000053@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26455

In article <3C0CE8BD.297DA235@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>> >Actually, it says that we shouldn't contribute to breeding herds >> >of poor people.
>>
>> Which, of course, assumes that poverty is caused by genetics.
>
>Nope, it assumes that poverty will increase if poverty is subsidized.
>The way to reduce poverty is to stop subsidizing poverty, i.e.
>require welfare people to work to earn their keep.

Work or do something else constructive, like going to school and making the grade.

The problem is that the benefits are not tied to responsible behaviors that will lead the dependent person to become independent.

>
>> Your view would simply take the attitude >> that only those who are successful deserve to have children.
>
>In a way, that is true. Only people who can afford children should >have children. If one cannot afford to have children, one shouldn't >have any.

At first blush, this sounds cruel, Cecil. But upon reflection one must ask a simple question: If a person cannot take care of him/herself, how will that person take care of others who are even more dependent?

It comes down to every right or freedom having a related responsibility.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3408. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:07 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000307.05154.00000052@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26459

In article <B37622189F6F5680.BCD1E72B62A798F1.0E3DB91600B0313A@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>But you can't expect those fees to cover the cost of the >criminal justice system--particularly if you include corrections. And >while it might be nice to picture convicts paying their own board and >room there would be two problems with that:
>
> 1. It would permit successful criminals (who have considerable >savings on the outside) to afford a better level of treatment than >less successful ones--which rewards success at crime, hardly the >optimum situation.

Not if all convicts had to work to earn their keep, and could not use significant amounts of outside money to support themselves while in prison.

> 2. If convicts are required to do productive work to pay their >way, that means that jobs for honest citizens will be taken away and >given to them.

Nope. It means that fewer tax dollars would need to be spent on convicts' care, if done correctly.

Example: Each convict is given a small plot of ground, some basic hand tools, ans seeds, and is REQUIRED to have a garden to grow food - which the convict then gets to eat.

>Again, this is a way of rewarding dishonest behavior >and penalizing honest behavior.
>
Allowing convicts to be nonproductive while honest citizens work to feed, clothe, and shelter them rewards dishonest behavior and penalizes honest behavior. '

The convicts have a debt to pay society, not the other way around.

>>> My strongest conflict with the Libertarian party, however,
>>> comes in the area of social programs.
>>
>>Yep, and that's an area where we will have to agree to disagree.
>>I simply don't believe in rewarding failure and penalizing success.
>>Over my lifetime, the government has done me more financial harm >>than criminals have done to everyone else that I personally know.
>
> Sorry, Cecil, but that's way too elitist for me.

It's not elitist at all. It's just a simple fact. Cecil has paid far more in taxes than he and those he knows have lost to thieves.

However, Cecil does not consider that part of the money he paid in taxes went to keep the thieves away from his and others' property. And to educate his kids and grandkids, defend our country, etc.

> What about battered women, widows with small kids, people who >are disabled, seniors with no pensions, the mentally ill, those who >are learning disabled or retarded, displaced workers, those who are >laid off, or unemployed workers in a depressed economy? For that >matter what about medical coverage for those who can't afford it? Do >we just let children starve or become ill because the parents can't >afford to pay for their food and medical expenses--or do we terminate >their rights as parents because they are poor and place the kids with >strangers?

There should be effective programs for all of the above. But those programs must require responsible behavior on the part of those getting the benefits.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3409. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:08 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000308.05154.00000054@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26457

In article <3C0CCD74.C46190D@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> But the biggest cause for divorce has >> little to do with any of the above. The >> 800 pound gorilla problem is that many >> people get married without the necessary >> knowledge and skills to stay married. A >> marriage license is one of the easiest >> licenses to get, yet one of the most >> important.
>
>
> Amen to that.

Yea, verily. The most important decison most people make, and yet it is made with almost no training.

>For all our advances, most are so poorly skilled today >when it comes to basic human relationships (of any kind). In fact, it >seems many are less skilled in this regard than those who grew up >decades ago (at least most of them knew how to cook something before >leaving home, unlike so many of the kids today). Of course, in many >regards, life was less complicated back then, but that only makes it >more important for these kids to be better equipped today.

I think life has always been complicated. The problem lies elsewhere.

For one thing, the rate of change in modern societies has made relationship skills much more difficult to maintain. It can be difficult to see how the experiences of past generations applies to today's problems.

The increased specialization of modern life means we spend less time together relating as people and more time relating as functions. Greater mobility means less community. Greater "diversity" and "choice" means less social stability and fewer applicable role models.

>Add in an >easy marriage license and you have nothing but a recipe for failure.
>By the way, for the kids reading, "recipe" is a cooking term. :-)
>
HAW!!

For some odd reason, as a kid I was driven to learn how to do practical things.
Still am. Like cooking, carpentry, raising vegetables, rebuilding cars, all sorts of stuff. Are there kids today like that?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3410. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:09 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000309.05154.00000055@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26458

In article <0DF0B6103914F28E.55F720DE920DCCF9.EB543EB71E45DD81@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>Wiccan and pagan faiths can trace their roots to the >polytheistic nature religions of Greece and Rome and to the pagan >faiths of Germany and England.

Yup. But ya don't see pentagrams on the Acropolis or in the Pantheon.

>They were in existence LONG before >Christianity attempted to eradicate them by claiming they were >"Satanic."

The Roman and Greek "nature religions" tried for centuries to eradicate Christianity and its source religion, Judaism. Do you know who Antiochus was?

Constantine changed all that.

>Most Christian holidays, in fact (including Christmas, All >Saints Day, and others) were deliberately scheduled to fall on, or >near, major pagan celebrations (thus requiring the pagans who were
>"passing" in the community to cut short their religious observations >in order to attend [compulsory] Christian services).

Nice try, but that's not the reason at all.

>Christmas, for >example, falls close to the original date of Candlemas

see below

>and All Saints Day falls on All Hallow's Eve (Halloween).

Nope. All Saints Day is Nov. 1, the day AFTER Halloween.

Most religions have feast days because people need them, spiritually and psychologically. For example, most European religions have some sort of winter equinox celebration because of the effects lack of daylight causes in many people. For peoples with limited understanding of how the seasons and weather work, and with limited artificial lighting, the loss of the Sun at the end of December could be very disturbing. Equinox celebrations, whatever they are called, remind us that the Light will return and spring will comne again. It was natural for the Christians to put Christmas on the first day when the daylight gets noticeably longer using simple methods of measurement.

> The pentagram, for your information, was a religious symbol in >Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and among the >Norse peoples--NONE of which groups "stole" it from Christianity.

The Egyptians, Greeks and Romans hid it pretty well.

>If >anything, it is the Christian faith that has been guilty of stealing >symbols from older religions (including, btw, the cross) and using >them to further their own ends.
>
Who used the cross as a religious symbol before Christians? It derives from a Roman method of execution, not another religion.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3411. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:10 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000310.05154.00000057@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26454

In article <8252D74A879C3B2D.9B94049D604B3D1F.4CD4DD853FA5FD76@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 05 Dec 2001 01:41:32 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Rearrange the letters in "Santa" and you get "Satan". How convenient!
>
> devil spelled backward is "lived"
>
> evil spelled backward is "live"
>
> now consider god ...

Ya missed the joke, Rick. Didn't watch SNL, huh?

73 de Jim, N2EY

.....remembering the insomniac dyslexic agnostic, who stayed up all night doubting the existence of dog....

3412. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:03:10 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206000310.05154.00000056@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 26456

In article <E9DA4496254CF5D5.A640469A5ACB9299.AF9A524A567C3FD0@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>Sit down and total your payments into the system. Divide that >number by the monthly amount you will receive at retirement. That's >how many months of benefits you will receive before the government has >to start paying you welfare.

If you consider SS to be the equivalent of stuffing money in a mattress, yes.

>Don't count the interest you "Might" have >made on other investments--you might ALSO have invested badly and lost >all your money.

Why not count it? Many investments are fully backed by the feds, who are the same folks as run SS. At the very least, the calcualtion should consider what would have piled up if Cecil had been allowed to use the money to buy US Savings Bonds and let them pile up.

A few years ago I cashed in a Series E bond that had been bought for me as a baby. It cost something like $18.75 new and cashed in at over $100 - and those ancient 1950s bonds had very low interest. Take a working career's worth of SS contributions and figure what they'd amount to invested that way. It's a lot more than just what was put in.

>Instead, treat that interest as having been paid as a >tax (fee if you prefer) so that those who have NOT paid into the >system (surviving spouses or children, the disabled, etc.) will be >able to receive Social Security payments as well.

Which proves Cecil's point - HE may not get back what he put in, plus interest.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3413. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:14:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <45CCF86700BB998B.4D4B70BFD3A8AA19.AAC9A6727B3AB43F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26460

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 23:13:52 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

>> (snip) Successful polygamous relationships >> are not nearly as rare as you might wish to >> believe.
>
>
> I don't "wish" to believe anything. I want to see evidence and I've >seen none to support an argument for or against.

http://www.polyamory.org/
http://www.nasca.com/
http://www.ejhs.org/volume3/swing/body.htm
Adams, R. (2001). _Social Effects of Internet Communications on Alternative Lifestyles: A three year study of the effect of electronic communications on couples involved in open marriage, polygamy, and swinging._ Doctoral Dissertation. Available: Xerox Microfilms.
Gould, T. (2000). _The Lifestyle._ New York: Firefly.

The last three are studies of the swinging lifestyle from various perspectives. The First one is a study of swinging and open marriage by experts in human sexuality, the second is a rather complex (and boring) documentation of the effects of the Internet on swinging and open marriage, and the third is a journalistic investigation of the swinging lifestyle in the United States. All contain very extensive bibliographies and references to other primary and secondary sources. The last one, incidently, discusses the role of evolutionary psychology on non-monogamy as well, as does the second one in more technical terms.

Hope they help,

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3414. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:21:15 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <ffDP7.960$Pp1.232138@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 26462
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
news:MkzP7.102029$8n4.6420029@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk
> having your equipment > damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am th' law 'round hyar,
> boy) to take > time to examine your papers and find out that you are not doing anything > wrong? I don't think > so--not me. If some rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) > while ignoring the license
> I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue
the > SOB and his agency
> and cause him as much trouble as I can.
>
> Jerry

Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...

73 de W6DKN

3415. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:35:14 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F0327.267492CB@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26461

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> You guys must be a lot more "aware" of > situations where litigation is a > prohibitive for having business lunches.
> I have female supervisors, married ones
> at that, who have business lunches every > day with their married, male subordinates.
> There are lunches, every day, where > married men and women go alone with each > other--just for the heck of it.

And just wait until one of those women realises she can sue the company, and that 99% of the time the company will fire the male employee and settle with the woman, to see how fast that situation ends. It's going on from one end of the country to the other.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3416. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:51:31 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F06F3.E3851421@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26463

CAM wrote:
>
> Y > e > s
> ,
>
> m > u > c > h
>
> b > e > t
> t
> e > r
> .
>
> W
> h
> y
>
> h
> a > v
> e
>
> t > h > r
> e
> e
>
> s > c > r
> e
> e > n
> s
>
> w

> h > e > n
>
> y > o > u
>
> c
> a > n
>
> p > u > t
>
> i > t
>
> a > l > l
>
> o > n
>
> o > n
> e
>
> s > c > r
> e
> e > n
> ?
>
> O
> r
> ,
>
> i > f
>
> w
> h
> a > t
>

> y > o > u
>
> a > r
> e
>
> d > o
> i > n > g
>
> i > s
>
> s > o
>
> g > o
> o
> d,
>
> w
> h
> y
>
> n > o
> t
>
> p > u > t
>
> o > n
> e
>
> l
> e > t
> t
> e > r
>
> p
> e

> r
>
> l
> i > n
> e
> ?
>
> (
> s > n
> i > p
>)

Did you really scroll all the way down to here to see what I was going to say? Too bad - it took so long to edit the above, I forgot what I was going to say. :-)

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3417. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 05:52:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B3F55C0F922956B8.32D1C647C22DFB80.BD4F73FC4B2F5389@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26464

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 22:32:45 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> On the other hand, if you're going to keep judging evidence for ten, >twenty, or thirty years, you could probably find almost everyone >innocent.

If we are talking about _legitimate_ evidence, that would mean that almost everyone IS innocent. Think about it.

>This has been the problem with so many cases where DNA >results have gotten people off. These people are not necessarily >innocent - they're released because DNA evidence has raised questions >about key evidence used in the first trial.

Not usually. Far more common is the case were DNA testing has been able to prove conclusively that the person who was convicted could NOT have been the offender.

The most common case is that of a sex crime. In such crimes, there is normally physical evidence (sperm, skin scrapings, hair, etc.) that still exists in the files years after conviction. If a DNA test of that evidence demonstrates that it did NOT originate with the inmate, that's plenty of proof that the conviction should not have occurred.

>However, that process >ignores the remaining evidence from the original trial that still >points strongly to the person's guilt.

But that evidence is irrelevant if it can be shown that he could NOT be the person who did so.

The most common evidence (apart from the physical evidence above--which can conclusively be proven or disproven by DNA testing) is eyewitness testimony. But ANY criminal justice professional will tell you that, TV stories notwithstanding, eyewitness testimony is the LEAST reliable form of evidence. Eyewitnesses are found totally wrong almost daily--even in cases where they are absolutely sure their identification is correct. This is a common phenomenon in criminal justice and one prosecutors and police are well aware of. Simply put:
under stress people make mistakes. DNA evidence, in contrast, isn't subject to "stress" and thus can be counted on to be accurate.

> Sadly, once the person is >released after so many years, it is almost impossible to try them >again since that other evidence often no longer exists (decayed, lost, >thrown away, witnesses moved away or died, or whatever).

That's the state's problem. The alternative is to keep people in prisons who are totally innocent, a completely unacceptable alternative given the nature of our Constitution (Eighth Amendment).

> So what you >have now is a truly guilty person walking the street who simply cannot >be tried again for the crime he actually committed.

Very seldom. In nearly all cases, what you have is an innocent man who has spent years of his life in prison because of mistaken witnesses or circumstantial evidence, and who has finally been freed because of science.

>> (snip) Perhaps if the death penalty actually >> accomplished its goal (deterrence) it might >> be worth the risk of such results--but it >> doesn't. Every study that has ever been >> conducted has shown that the presence or >> absence of a death penalty in a state has >> no effect on the crime rate whatever.
>
>
> Deterrence is only one aspect of the death penalty

It is the primary one, according to all experts.

> - it also serves as just punishment for a serious crime

Nope.

Punishment exists to affect change in the behavior of the person being punished--something rather impossible for the death penalty to affect.

What it DOES do is serve as a form of vengence--something we as a civilized nation have no need for in our legal system.

>and as an ultimate means to >safeguard others.

That part, incapacitation, IS correct. But the same can be accomplished (as can EFFECTIVE punishment) by incarceration instead of death. And, btw, at a considerably lower cost to the taxpayer.

> If you take one aspect out of context, such as >deterrence alone, then indeed the death penalty does appear not to >accomplish it's goal. However, when taken together, the various >aspects are well served by the death penalty.

How?

If we seek vengeance, then yes they are--but is that the model we want for our society?

If we want protection, other methods are just as effective.

And if we want deterrence, other methods (i.e., life without parole) are MORE effective according to studies. Criminals are FAR more afraid of being imprisoned for the rest of their lives than the are of being sentenced to death--they know the punishment is FAR more likely to be administered.

But leaving these issues aside, the main key is the fact that we DO make mistakes. There ARE people on death row who are innocent, just as there are people in our other prison settings who are. How can we even remotely pretend to be a civilized people, let alone a compassionate or even law abiding people when we knowingly permit the risk of killing innocent men and women (and, in many cases, children--the youngest inmate on death row in the USA is 13 years old!) by our legal system? That simply isn't the act of a civilized people.

If we could be absolutely sure that the person convicted was guilty of the offense, then perhaps the death penalty wouldn't be quite as offensive. But we can't be sure. And that, alone, is more than sufficient reason not to administer it.

> No, that is not what the DNA shows - instead all it shows is that a >particular piece of evidence used in a trial did not come from the >perpetrator. In other words, it shows that blood found, or semen >found, and used as evidence in the original trial, did not come from >the perpetrator. But that DOES NOT prove innocence.

In other words, if the semen found in the body of a rape-murder victim was NOT from the accused, it isn't proof that he didn't rape and kill her?

Assuming there is no evidence to suggest that there were more than one assailant (and usually there was not in such cases), there is absolutely no grounds for letting a conviction stand if it is known that the physical evidence is not connected to the accused!

> Let me give an example to illustrate this. A girl has sex with her >boyfriend. On the way home, she is killed by the perpetrator. Later, >the perpetrator is arrested and the blood type of the semen is used in >his trial as evidence she was also raped.

At the trial, evidence would have been introduced that the boyfriend had sex with her. No defense attorney would allow such evidence to be introduced unchallenged if the slightest chance existed to demonstrate that it was NOT related to the defendent--and no honest prosecutor would consider going forward with such a case without first investigating such events him or her-self.

>Twenty years later, law >students from the University of Illinois, edged on by their anti-death >penalty advocate teacher,

Sorry--it was the students, not the prof, who came up with the idea. The professor serves as faculty advisor and attorney of record for the group, and that's pretty much it. The group themselves are all 3L's.

>comes up with DNA evidence to show the semen >could not have come from the perpetrator. Because some of the evidence >used in the original trial is now suspect, the perpetrator is released >pending a new trial. Of course, the perpetrator cannot be tried again >because the remaining evidence from the original trial is long gone.

Then where did the sample that was tested for DNA come from?
You mean that the semen or blood sample was kept but nothing else was?
That's really stretching it, Dwight.

>So, in the end, the law students have simply released a killer back >onto the streets who will now never pay for his crime. And, of course, >the very happy perpetrator warmly thanks the law students (for being >idiots) and goes off to celebrate his success at beating the system.

You DO grope at straws to justify your stand, don't you?

> And this scenario, with only slight variations to fit the crime >situation, is repeated over and over in cases where DNA is used to >bring into question evidence from decades old death penalty trials.

That, as ANY crj professional will tell you, is absolute nonsense.

>And, of course, the media, with it's liberal stance on the death >penalty, continues to promote the lie that DNA has proven these people >innocent.

It has--get out of your right wing "kill em' all & sort em' out later" frame of mind and you'll see that, too.

What puzzles me is why you think a jury in the first trial had to be infallible? We ALL know that juries make mistakes or are influenced by more than the evidence (the skills of the attorneys, the appearance of the defendant, how convincing a [often rehearsed] witness is on the stand--even the attractiveness of the defendant plays a part). Why is it that you are unwilling to accept scientific evidence that was not available at the time of the trial (because the testing wasn't available) but are willing to accept the non-physical evidence that was used to secure a conviction?

> And, either through ignorance or equal dishonesty, that >media refrain is picked up and repeated by other people also opposed >to the death penalty, such as yourself.

Dwight--you assume that anyone who disagrees with you is influenced by the "liberal media" or similar sources. My influence came from my education--I TEACH Criminal Justice classes (CRJ Psychology, Criminology, Juvenile Delinquency, Sex Crime Analysis, Forensic Profiling, Human Relations in Corrections, Institutional Populations, and Psychopharacology for Law Enforcement, to name a few. I probably have more graduate hours in criminal justice courses than you have graduate OR undergraduate hours in your major (assuming you don't have a doctorate)--and those courses weren't taken from the "liberal media" they were taken from the Criminal Justice and Sociology departments of major Universities. My students will work in law enforcement, corrections, forensics, and some will go on to become attorneys and work for prosecutor's offices. In short, I am NOT parroting the media, I am making statements of fact--try learning the difference.

>> (snip) DNA evidence has been used in a very >> substantial number of cases to prove that the >> person executed did NOT commit the crime --the >> research was conducted as a part of the >> Illinois Legal Defense Project. That isn't >> opinion, it's solid, legally admissible, proof >> that innocent men and women were executed by >> the state.
>
> Again, that is _NOT_ at all what DNA evidence proves. All it proves >is that a particular piece of evidence used in a trial did not come >from the perpetrator. The perpetrator is not released as a person >proven innocent - he is released pending a new trial.

That depends on the decision of the prosecutor in the case. If it is apparent (as it is in a surprising number of cases) that the only real evidence against the individual was the physical evidence thus disproved, the odds that he or she will be retried are vanishingly small. In addition, in MANY cases the statute of limitations for discovery of new evidence have run out and the person is released by Gubernatorial clemency.

>Again, the >perpetrator is seldom retried because the other evidence pointing to >guilt is often no longer available.

Or was non-existant in the first place.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3418. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 06:00:02 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011206010002.19213.00000152@mb-fo.aol.com>
Source record: 26465

In article <C9EEA9EBF0958585.A1761F79A43A4C48.F09A8AE2B11F503E@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>Nope. Hint: He earlier killed 1000 of those enemies with the >>jawbone of an ass.
>
> Larry Roll committed suicide?
>
> Rick

Rick:

The rumors of my death are inaccurate.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3419. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 06:00:02 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011206010002.19213.00000153@mb-fo.aol.com>
Source record: 26466

In article <94B3B491ECBA0C74.7996BD3E4D8948D9.F8FC8F6BC9DC65C8@lp.airnews.net>, Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>> OK OK OK. Tell me how it's my problem, Larry. Maybe that'll help.
>>
>>It will cause the end of civilization as we know it. :-)
>
> Promises, promises . . .
>
> Rick

Rick:

Apparently you have no problem with "the end of civilization as we know it." This begs the question: If civilization as we know it does end, what kind of civilization would you like to take it's place?

73 de Larry, K3LT

3420. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 06:50:03 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F149F.FFEC859@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26467

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) Wiccan and pagan faiths can trace > their roots to the polytheistic nature > religions of Greece and Rome and to the > pagan faiths of Germany and England.

And few, if any, of the wiccan or pagan groups in this country today can trace their roots back to those ancient religions in Greece or Rome. Instead, like I said, these are modern day offshoots of satanic groups trying to legitimize their existence by claiming to be descendants of those ancient religions (when no such link to these religions exists). And, while doing so, they engage in occult practices, witchcraft, and other activities commonly associated with satanism, while engaging in little or no activities commonly associated with the ancient wiccan or pagan religions. Sorry, Rick, it all comes down to an old saying - if is looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

By the way, you can see for yourself the connection between satanism and these groups (pagans and wiccans). Go to any internet search engine, enter "satanism," and watch how many wiccan and pagan web sites pop up on the list. If these groups have no link to satanism, why would so many mention satanism on their web sites?

> (snip) It is a completely false statement > perpetuated by the Christian church in an > attempt to hide the actual nature of the > religions. (snip)

Well, sorry, my friend. I'm not the "Christian church." I'm a person with eyes that can see what is right in front of my face. Again, if is looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

> (snip) The pentagram, for your information,
> was a religious symbol in Egypt, Macedonia,
> Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and
> among the Norse peoples-- (snip)

This isn't Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, or India, Rick. In this country, in modern times, the pentagram and penticle are used as satanic symbols. And both groups (wiccan and pagan) selected those symbols exactly because of their association to satanism. Once again, if is looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

> NONE of which groups "stole" it from > Christianity. (snip)

?? Did anyone say they did? I know I didn't.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3421. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 06:56:50 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F1635.C8E9B5FE@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26468

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> I think someone, maybe even you, was > making the point that something shaped > like a pentagram was satanic. The > Pentagon building, shaped as it is,
> holds the foundation for a pentagram,
> does it not?

I never made any such claim. I said the pentagram itself was a satanic symbol.

> It was a stab at trying to get the > equation of pentagram=satanic out of > the holder's head...because it's hogwash.

Well, to get the connection between the pentagram and satanism out of my head, you'd have to tell me to ignore several hundred years of history - that symbol has been used by self proclaimed satanists for at least that long (possibly longer).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3422. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 06:59:55 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052259.2bdd8838@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26469
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

So what???
If one in 1 million of these fags gets busted its great!!
It will be in QST and on the web pages, etc...the fags will get what they FEAR...exposure...

billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl) wrote in message news:<3c0d9c4d.6548917@news.mindspring.com>...
> On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 18:08:27 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" > <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:
>
> >On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 14:11:14 GMT, "Kenneth Vaughan" > ><kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
> >
> >>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make > >>any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local > >>atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause > >>submitted before a judge.
> >
> >If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a > >legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable > >cause to search.
>
> The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
> a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>
> Cheers,
> Bill K2UNK

3423. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:00:47 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112052300.167ddbcd@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26470
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Dave Hall <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net> wrote in message news:<3C0D2B31.3CA6@worldlynx.net>...

>
> If the signal is NOT weak, then it becomes more practical to use a phone > mode. IF CW is the only mode that works, then the signal is weak by > definition. EME'er regularly work ssb if they have any sort of decent > station.
>
A Real Ham runs the mode that works on the specific freq at the specific time, if there's a new one on EME for instance and you need to log him a Real Ham runs the mode of the moment, doesn't matter if we're talking 2m or 160m.
>
> >
> > "Voice has replaced CW"??? Ask the SSB ops that wanted a contact with the > > VP8 in the Shetlands. He never went to SSB. Though the SSB ops were > > BEGGING for it to happen!
>
> I have no desire to exchange anything with an elitist mode snob. If he > can't talk to me on the modes I use, "uck 'em".
>
>
Talk about mode snobs! Bwaaahaha! And/or good, while you're waiting for the guy to switch to ssb I already beeped him into my log and I didn't have any QRM from YOU in the pileup down the band. Thankew bunches for helping keep the size of the cw pileup down.
>
> >
>
> . . . . CW is not a very > robust digital mode, and it is severely limited in speed if done > manually.
>
>
Walking, jogging and bicycling are not very "robust" modes of transportation and are quite speed-limited too. But didja ever notice how many folk use these modes anyway? There is beauty and invigoration in simplicity, relaibility and the use of learned personal capabilities.
> >

>
> For every one CW op in a pileup there are 10 or 20 in the SSB pileup.

>
Hee! Damned straight. You just reinforced the wisdom of running in the cw piles instead of in the phone piles. Makes me wonder if you're a troll . . ?
>
>
>
> CW is kept alive mostly by nostalgic old timers that are still living > out their childhood fantasies,
>
No, we're just exercising the skills we worked to develop in our childhoods.
>
>
>and die hard weak signal dxers.
>
>
Isn't that the topic of this thread?
>
>
>For those > of us that just want to socialize, it's much easier to just TALK.
>
>
It's even easier to pick up the telephone to just talk and socialize yer buns off. No QRM or FCC licensing pushups involved. What's your point please?
>
> >
> > We all have our specific likes and dis-likes. Just because you don't like > > CW doesn't mean you should put it down. To each there own...right?
>
> I only "put down" the exhaltation that many "CW forever" types exhibit > for the mode. CW is a MODE, no different than AM, SSB, FM, FSK or > whatever.
>
>
I agree with that.
>
>
>Yet no other mode has created such a divide among hams.
>
>
Utter nonsense, the mode didn't "create" the schism, that's asinine, cw is just another mode. The people who are looking for free passes to the bands without having demonstrated any competence in the mode created the divide.
>
>
> I'll make you a promise. I won't put CW down, if you don't tell me how > great it is.

>
Can't deal with it eh?
>
>
> Dave
>
w3rv

3424. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:04:55 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052304.43fdc08c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26471
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:<RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net>...
> One more SMF for the kill file!
> Train
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > >
> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > then make the arrest.
> > >
> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > >
> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
> >
> >

> >

3425. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:08:25 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052308.422a9dac@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26472
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
vTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:<RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net>...
> One more SMF for the kill file!
> Train
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > > >
> > > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > > then make the arrest.
> > > >
> > > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > > >
> > > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> > >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect

> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
> >
> >
> >

3426. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:10:39 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052310.548c22a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26473
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:<RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net>...
> One more SMF for the kill file!
> Train
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > > >
> > > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > > then make the arrest.
> > > >
> > > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > > >
> > > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> > >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
> >
> >
> >

3427. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:11:36 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052311.2406b3cb@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26474
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A

FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
v"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message news:<7B768628800FC15F.186BC9241D8DE1D0.CD4E53D023119056@lp.airnews.net>...
> On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 04:08:35 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl)
> wrote:
>
> >On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 18:08:27 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" > ><kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:
>
> >>If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a > >>legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable > >>cause to search.
> >
> >The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > >a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>
> Maybe not, but it's easy to walk into a truck stop that sells the > things, take a few polaroids, and issue them to the beat officers for > comparison. They're still not going to catch the guy with a modified > 'normal' rig, but they'll be able to spot the 'export' radios.
>
> As far as other services, there's only one mobile FRS rig that I'm > aware of, and for any service requiring a license, they can look at > the license.
>
> OTOH, if you're using an export CB as your mobile 10m rig, I'd > recommend having a copy of the applicable sections of Part 97 in the > glovebox anyway.
>
>
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH

> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3428. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:12:41 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052312.6d4bcfb0@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26475
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:<RUwP7.4251$MX1.981753@news02.optonline.net>...
> One more SMF for the kill file!
> Train
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0E974A.9F5A6DA1@gte.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > > > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't

> > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > >
> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > then make the arrest.
> > >
> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > >
> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
> >
> >
> >

3429. TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:14:30 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052314.492aa3b6@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26476
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:<3C0B8E50.56C82205@gte.net>...
> RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
>
>
>
> Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11 meter C-B
>
> operators from using non-FCC certified transmitting equipment. Adopted > last September 12th but only now becoming widely known, Tacoma City > Ordinance 26851 amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.
>
> First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of non-approved > radio equipment by CB'ers. And if a CB'er breaks the new law he or she > is subject to Section
>
> 8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a misdemeanor punishable to a > fine of up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.
>
>
>
> Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an earlier amendment to the > Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which was adopted by Congress a > couple of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, not an FCC > action, any challenges by C-B operators to the new Tacoma local law > would have to go through the federal courts. As far as we can > determine, the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators
>
> and no other radio operators in the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)
>
>
>
> **
> ftp://ftp.arnewsline.org/quincy/News/news.txt

3430. TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:15:07 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052315.33e15857@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26477
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message news:<3C0B959F.9A960A51@spam.me.not>...
> Ok... now this is the third time this has been posted to rec.radio.cb...
>
> Think we could stop plastering the newsgroup? It's been discussed, > argued, stirred up, and beaten to death already... Could we just stop > it?
>
> de AB8LR
>
> -SSB
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> <Another repetitive, annoying, troll-like post, snipped for your > protection>

3431. TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:15:44 UTC
From: twithedsmaster@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <8f86ecaf.0112052315.3e80bf7f@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26478
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
"Leland C. Scott" <kc8ldo@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:<e02358f67ea6c52f7c42ba0f221dc153.47899@mygate.mailgate.org>...
> Even on 2 meters, the supposedly codeless band i still can't get away from > those confounded beeps! I hate them. I'm hearing morse in my sleep and its > haunting me because I can not understand what the "Green Men" are trying to > tell me. Help me!
>
> --
> Leland C. Scott

> KC8LD0
>
> Saw this on a Tee-shirt:
>
> "I am a bomb technician. If you see
> me running, try to keep up. "

3432. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 07:36:30 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F1F73.7D769FA4@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26479

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> > Rearrange the letters in "Santa" and you > > get "Satan". How convenient!
>
> devil spelled backward is "lived"
>
> evil spelled backward is "live"
>
> now consider god ...
>
> Rick <wondering who let the dog out > preach, preach, preach...>

And your last name rearranged spells "Sadam."

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3433. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 08:24:42 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <F7663ECC02DF41D5.DE1E1CB09208BE46.903FBEC19F4F49B8@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26480
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

On 5 Dec 2001 23:12:41 -0800, twithedsmaster@yahoo.com (Twithed's Master) wrote:

>TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
>FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT

Train, stop advertising in here. Go to a personals group or something.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3434. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 09:15:38 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F3695.9A4BD55B@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26481

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) A case like this is not, however, > grounds for banning tattoo parlors or > piercing salons, as the original message > in this sub-thread postulated. (snip)

I'm glad you added the last part to that sentence, because I've never advocated any such ban. My comments have been limited solely to minors.

> (snip) Only when charged as an adult. (snip)

I thought you asked about children charged as an adult.

> (snip) I agree that these crimes are far > more serious. But it seems that those who > want criminal trials for such offenders > simultaneously want to treat the same youths > as children incapable of making a decision > in other cases. Think about it, if a person > is not capable of making an adult decision > as to whether or not he should get a tattoo, > how can anyone possibly expect him to make > an adult decision as to whether to commit > a crime? (snip)

Actually, I think it's common sense. While a teenager might not see any harm in getting a tattoo (everybody's doing it), they darn sure know killing someone is both serious and wrong. So I don't see the conflict. As adults, we use our adult experience to protect kids from things that might have negative ramifications in the future (even if the kids don't see that yet). Therefore, it makes sense to restrict kids from participating in certain things they might want to do.
However, no kid should want to participate in a killing. And, if they do kill, then we need to come down hard on them.

> (snip) Either a person is or is not mature > enough to be treated as an adult. If not, > they should NEVER be treated that way; if > so they ALWAYS should (snip)

Laws don't work on such absolutes, Rick. Laws are designed for the circumstances. For example, we don't have one absolute speed limit in this country. Instead, speed limits are based on the circumstances at any given point along a road. We have laws to allow alcohol consumption in some places while not in others. We lock people up for fighting in public while allowing others to pay to attend public boxing or wrestling events. We allow a person to kill in self defense while strapping them to a table if they did it for some other reason. And the list goes on and on. Likewise, we restrict certain activities of some age groups while allowing it for others. Now, you might argue that's unfair, but I suggest an absolute system of laws would be far less fair.

> (snip) As far as the "old driver" rules you > cite -- most states don't have them (here in > Michigan the senior lobby is far to strong to > limit the driving of the elderly-- (snip)

Actually, most states still have them, but they're often not based on age anymore (the appearance of age discrimination). Instead, they're based on driving competency. Sadly, because these laws are dependant on the police officer detecting the problem driver, instead of some type of test, they often don't work until it is too late (an accident). And the result is exactly the example you gave.

> (snip) Not in the United States if those laws > fail to recognize the rights we are GUARANTEED > by the Constitution of the United States OR > by the Constitution of their own State.

Well, that's rather of a given, isn't it? I was talking about laws (and values) that don't conflict with that.

> (snip) To protect people from harm.

Again, semantics. The majority within a community are the ones who decide what causes harm and what harms they want to address.

> (snip) They were carrying guns and in most cases
> their fathers were card-carrying NRA members.
> Let's save the kids in the schools--we'll > declare the NRA a terrorist organization and > put all the members in prison for supporting > terrorism in the United States (snip)

The NRA is a political lobbying group, not a group involved in terrorism. You would have a hard time proving such a charge in court and I certainly would not want to attempt the arrest of the ten million or so NRA members based solely on their membership in that organization. Somehow, I think you would end up with one heck of a fight on your hands (especially if a few million more gun owners join them).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3435. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 09:21:54 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F380D.7877DA8F@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26482

CAM wrote:
>
> If only I were as omniscient as you, Dwight.

It's a tough burden to bear, Cecil.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3436. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 09:24:57 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F38C2.13F32E0@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26483

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Shame on you Dwight--you criticize Wicca and > claim it to be Satanic--yet you ignore the > principles of your OWN religion. (snip)

My own religion? I didn't know I even had a religion. Care to elaborate?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3437. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 09:33:02 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F3AA6.3EAFBD72@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26484

Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> That's almost right. Ask MOST any Arab, and > he'll tell you that he was told by his imam
> he should be angry and hateful. The reason?
> Well it's because there's a great satan - > sorta like the boogie man, only meaner. You > see, he must rely on his religious leaders > for all his information because he's too
> illiterate to discover the truth for himself.
> Of course even if he can read, the Arab > press will tell him that he should be angry
> and hateful.

Sounds a little like our own country, doesn't it? Replace "imam" with "government," "religious leaders" with "political leaders," and the "Arab press" with the "American press."

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3438. custom-designed emblems

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 09:52:37 UTC
From: shuhsunw@yahoo.com.tw
Message-ID: <fc135f4b.0112060152.21f3f0f8@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26485
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.swap,rec.roller-coaster,rec.scuba

Hi,

Here is the source of lapel pins and embroidered patches. It contains the American flag and custom-designed emblems with good price.
www.emblem-badge.com

3439. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 10:39:11 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <jVHP7.145981$WW.9330005@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26486

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:hrCP7.145744$WW.9302287@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Richard McCollum wrote
>
> > Without having a clue how it happens, 141 Tech Pluses have been renewed > > since der Tag including one in November. The last one expires in December
> > 2011.
>
> Whats a "der Tag"?
>
> Rich

The Day. Since the Tech Plus supposedly no longer existed

3440. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 10:59:42 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ycIP7.145985$WW.9331503@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26487

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011206000310.05154.00000056@mb-fm.aol.com...
> In article
<E9DA4496254CF5D5.A640469A5ACB9299.AF9A524A567C3FD0@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >Sit down and total your payments into the system. Divide that > >number by the monthly amount you will receive at retirement. That's > >how many months of benefits you will receive before the government has > >to start paying you welfare.
>
> If you consider SS to be the equivalent of stuffing money in a mattress, yes.
>
> >Don't count the interest you "Might" have > >made on other investments--you might ALSO have invested badly and lost > >all your money.
>
> Why not count it? Many investments are fully backed by the feds, who are
the > same folks as run SS. At the very least, the calcualtion should consider what > would have piled up if Cecil had been allowed to use the money to buy US > Savings Bonds and let them pile up.
>
> A few years ago I cashed in a Series E bond that had been bought for me as a > baby. It cost something like $18.75 new and cashed in at over $100 - and those > ancient 1950s bonds had very low interest. Take a working career's worth of SS > contributions and figure what they'd amount to invested that way. It's a lot > more than just what was put in.
>
> >Instead, treat that interest as having been paid as a > >tax (fee if you prefer) so that those who have NOT paid into the > >system (surviving spouses or children, the disabled, etc.) will be > >able to receive Social Security payments as well.
>
> Which proves Cecil's point - HE may not get back what he put in, plus interest.
>
>

> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Which proves little else except that SS is a welfare program well hidden with a barrage of bullshit. In days of old, both Grandma and the kids hoped she did not live too long as supporting her was a pain; SS spread everyone's granny over everyone's grandkids, nothing else. Gave Granny some money and dignity however.

Granny at least had the sense to have lotsa grandkids, we are not that bright (?).

Whenever you have something like the post WW2 baby boom, all hell is going to break loose as the boom and its echoes work its way thru the system. There is simply no way to remove enough money from a functioning economy to fund SS on some reasonable actuarial basis, invest it at the assumed rate, and then withdraw it to pay the bills. That makes it welfare, income transfer on a current basis. Even makes you wonder about the viability of 401k plans over the next 40 years or so; assets are admirable if you have someone to sell them to.

I am not entirely anti-SS but as has been noted many times, solutions begin by calling things what they are. In the long run of things, the problem may not actually have a solution. By bringing in Jose, Abdul, and Wun Hung Lo however, we have begun the best attempt.

Dick, N BK

3441. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 12:20:47 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206072047.10110.00000046@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 26488

In article <3C0EF426.7EB131F5@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>According to an
>Stars & Stripes article I read a few years ago, there have been over >200 sexual harassment lawsuits brought against the military alone. And >I'd speculate there has been several thousand brought against >companies over the last few decades.

Exactly, Dwight.

In addition, it doesn't take a lawsuit to cause damage. All it takes is a complaint to do all sorts of damage.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3442. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 12:20:47 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011206072047.10110.00000045@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 26489

In article <0251E36B39C47C40.29B19426915443DC.3EB9DF7F56135859@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 17:32:59 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
>wrote:

> Why are progressive taxes any more offensive that regressive >ones? A flat-percentage on all income is reasonable, but anything that >either increases the tax burden (percentage of income wise) of a >person based on his or her earning capacity or increases the tax load >(percentage of income wise) on a person based on his or her saving >capacity is a tax that discriminates.

Which is not a bad thing. There is a cost attached to the basic level of independent existence. IOW, the necessities. Taking, X% of the gross income of someone at the bottom of the wage scale has a much bigger impact on that person's life than taking the same percentage from someone at the top.

The present SS+IRS system is regressive for many people, because once a certain level of income is reached they max out the SS contributions.

>>> Who, given your opposition to transfer programs and decision to "opt
>>> out" of Social Security, would provide your medical expenses, long >>> term care, or support? Who would care for your children if you died at >>> 25 or 30 years of age?
>>
>>All that is MY responsibility, not anyone else's. I've always carried >>health, disability, and life insurance. It's just one other thing to >>budget for.
>
> It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that >responsibility? Is it reasonable that the state ignore the needs of >children because their fathers and mothers didn't demonstrate sound >financial planning?

Is it reasonable that the state take over the responsibilities of parents, thereby penalizing those who are responsible?
>
> Consider, also, the age I listed. Assuming the _average_ >couple marry soon after graduation from college (and even the >Libertarian party can't possibly expect people to wait until they are >financially solvent to marry and start raising a family--that is >simply unrealistic and, in many ways, undesirable).

WHOA!!! WHY is it unrealisitc and undesirable? I know MANY couples who waited and worked until they were reasonably situated financially before taking on more responsibilities.

>Assume further >that by the time they are 30, they have two children (also very >logical and desirable from social and even physiological >perspectives).

WHY?? Many people today are not ready to have any children by the time they are 30.

>Are you seriously suggesting that the average couple >could reasonably be expected to have made adequate arrangements for >the care of the children and assistance for the surviving partner if >they die at this age? Cecil, that just isn't realistic!

Sure it is. Many people do just that. It's what life insurance, mortgage insurance and relatives/friends are for.

Anyone who has dependent kids should have a will. And in the will the guardians of the children should be spelled out in advance (with their consent, of course) so that if both parents die or are incapacitated the children will be cared for by people who the parents trusted.

Term life insurance for healthy people of the age you specify is not expensive, either.

All Cecil is proposing is that people take some responsibility.
>
>>> Perhaps in your case you could have invested the money more >>> wisely than the government--so could I and a lot of other people--but >>> not everyone has either the investment skills or the money to invest >>> in the first place.
>>
>>Not my problem. I do not desire to protect people from themselves and >>I would appreciate that same consideration for myself.
>
> No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves."

Sure they are. SS protects people from using the money to make poor investment choices. That's why it started in the first place.

>On the >other hand if everyone, or even most everyone, were to invest using a >sound plan of investment, it would flood the money market to the >extent that interest rates of 2-4% would become the norm (supply and >demand fix equilibrium point in a free market--including an >equilibrium point for investment funds)--a profit totally incapable of >providing for the future for anyone, sound investor or not.

Incorrect. It all depends on things like the rate of inflation and how long the investing goes on.

Consider the couple who begin investing in their mid-20s and retire in their late '60s (longer life expectancy necessitates later retirement - no way around that). If their investments outpace inflation, are not subject to tax until used, and they keep to a plan, they can put away quite a pile.

>The ONLY
>people who would be expected to profit significantly from investments
>in such circumstances would be those who made high risk >investments--precisely the kind of investment that would be highly >unwise for someone who was trying to save for the future.

Run the numbers, Rick.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3443. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 12:58:45 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9unuggfac5@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26492
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9umlgl0b5s@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
>
> > But at least I'm not an anonymous COWARD who hides because of that yellow
>
> <snip>
>
> 20,000 plus newsgroups are available on usenet. It allows you to post (semi) > anonymously, and most people accept that, flames and trolls. Most people > accept that they don't know the true identity of the person at the other end > of the message. (Although it does tend to prove Oscar Wilde's claim about > men and masks.)
>
> ...except for the rec.radio.amatuer.* newsgroups.
>
> A few people expect you to post a callsign, (if you have one) thus giving > away information about yourself. With the publicity about internet stalking > and identity theft, you'd be foolish to post such information. If I'm to be > branded as an anonymous coward, simply because I have a different opinon, so
> be it.

So you ARE an anonymous COWARD. Any "stalking" can be dealt with through law enforcement channels, you insufferable dunce.

3444. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 13:37:17 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9uns8g02ave@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26490

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:0003237759EB5296.2EF792B13CA5E913.E00FCDB6ADED3BE1@lp.airnews.net...
> The area code for Hell is 734.
>
> Rick

...and it freezes over every year!

3445. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 13:39:58 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9unsdg02b75@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26491

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011206072047.10110.00000046@mb-mb.aol.com...
> In addition, it doesn't take a lawsuit to cause damage. All it takes is a > complaint to do all sorts of damage.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

It's not so much the complaint, as it is inaction against it.

3446. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 14:15:02 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <G3LP7.8905$MX1.3057076@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 26493
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

Hey Joe,
Fuck off and die!
Train

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message
news:F7663ECC02DF41D5.DE1E1CB09208BE46.903FBEC19F4F49B8@lp.airnews.net...
> On 5 Dec 2001 23:12:41 -0800, twithedsmaster@yahoo.com (Twithed's > Master) wrote:
>
> >TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> >FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
>
> Train, stop advertising in here. Go to a personals group or > something.
>
>
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3447. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 14:20:25 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uo12vlfq0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26496
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"DT" <DT2314@ncvillage.net> wrote in message news:3204442.23871@ncvillage.net...
>
> On Wed, 5 Dec 2001 15:42:51 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> >
> > Oh, I don't know.....he may be listening more than you think. He got
on > > 14.313 recently and talked to Dan.
> >
>
> We can take care of things ourselves instead of waiting around for Mr.
> No Show. I have a Collins KWM-2 all hooked up and ready to take Dimmy > out whenever he shows up and starts his profanity again.

So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't it?
BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.

3448. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 14:32:14 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F818E.B3737975@gte.net>
Source record: 26495
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

> > >
> > >
> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> > > >
> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> > > > then make the arrest.
> > >
> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> > >
> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> >
> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> > members.
>
> What state do you live in? Russia? Sure must suck
> to be you! Here they look at you suspiciously
> if you _don't_ have at least a deer rifle in the car!

Indiana. We have one of the most pro gun set of laws in the country. One of the oldest personal protection permits. But you had better have a permit if you have a handgun in the vehicle.

Rifles and shotguns are a bit different. Even a kid can have one, if he has written permission from his parents. But too many have gone to jail because dad left his handgun in the car.

3449. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 14:42:55 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F8408.514598D7@gte.net>
Source record: 26494
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk > having your equipment damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am > th' law 'round hyar, boy) to take time to examine your papers and find out > that you are not doing anything wrong? I don't think so--not me. If some > rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the license
> I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue the > SOB and his agency
> and cause him as much trouble as I can.

If you can not afford to have attorneys then you really should not be in either the radio hobby or in the shooting hobbies. Modern America requires that you have an attorney
for everything you do.

And the cops do not hassle decent people,
especially if they know them. What cops go after are those who look like they are trouble makers.

Drive a decent, newer car but not too expensive.
Dress well, a bit conservative. Wear short hair and avoid the hillbilly beard look. Learn to speak as if you were college educated. Do that and the cops generally leave you alone.

3450. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 15:01:25 UTC
From: Daniel Nicholson <dnicholson@socket.net> Message-ID: <u0v23vt78kkl64@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 26497
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

GAWD Oh MIghty!! this conversation is soooo funnny!! I needed a good belly laugh! Keep it going for those of us the dont care one way or the other!
For me Ham radio is fun no matter what mode is used!!!!!

Dan/N�FPE

3451. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 15:40:55 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <71E8B5A34BC82906.72D2177CEF862180.E4ABE684AFB9FF66@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26498
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 14:15:02 GMT, "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
wrote:

>Hey Joe,
>Fuck off and die!

Creative. Did you think that one up yourself, or did your mommy tell it to you?

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3452. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 15:50:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0F93B2.D8EAA515@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26499

Rick Adams wrote:
> Thus the private sector would > inevitably be able to underprice the government and take over > essentially all transactions with the result that no money would be > collected by the courts to pay for criminal court costs.

That doesn't compute. How could the private sector take over enforcing legal contracts? Hire the Mafia?

> Why are progressive taxes any more offensive that regressive ones?

Because they are overpriced.

> You needed a better accountant!

Yeah, like the guy in CA who kept his stock instead of turning it into cash? Now he owes the government 6 million dollars on one million dollars worth of stock.

> I have friends who are multi-millionaires and pay > significantly less taxes than that.

See above.

> It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that > responsibility?

Same thing that happens when I don't meet my other responsibilities.
I am held responsible for it. Why should half the population be responsible for themselves and ALSO responsible for the other half?

> No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves."

Give us a break, Rick. Social Security is exactly an attempt to protect people from themselves. Social Security provides the majority of people an incentive not to provide for their retirement.

> Cecil, try to post w/o the false stereotypes of welfare > recepients--you're beginning to sound like Dick Carroll speaking about > Muslims!

I know a few of those walking, talking stereotypes, Rick. I've been taken to the cleaners by them.

> What on earth do drugs and booze have to do with the logical > decision to purchase a car for transportation (which is used to get to > work, after all) rather than investing for retirement?

I bought a car for my adopted daughter's father. He sold it and bought drugs and booze.

> But what about the majority of the people who would NOT have > invested successfully?

That's their responsibility, Rick, not yours or mine. Let the buyer beware.

> Do your principles include stereotyping the poor, allowing > children to go hungry if their parents can't afford food, and > providing education based on the ability to pay?

Do your principles include forcing me to support someone else's children as well as my own? Know how the cowbird operates? She lays her eggs in the nest of other birds. The young cowbird kicks the legitimate eggs out of the nest.

> And your children with you?

If the children are worth saving, then charities/churches will come to the rescue. I have done more than my share of charitable work.

> More to the point, from a political perspective, do you > seriously believe that a party with that kind of attitude could > conceivably win a large percentage of the vote?

Yep, when the American people come to their senses and object to being forced to support a welfare system that breeds herds of non-producers.

> Cecil, I'm losing a lot of respect for you.

Most people do until they realize that I am leading them down the primrose path. And I'll take either side of the argument. Once, during a high school debate, a member of our team fell ill and I had to argue one side in one debate and the opposite side in the other debate. I won both debates. :-)

> No, Cecil, they don't have "basketball genes" that are > superior to yours or anyone else's--there is no such thing and you > should well be aware of it.

Of course they do, Rick. It is partially the result of selective breeding during the time of slavery.

> If you had the basic skills necessary, and the height (and > blacks, as a group, are no taller than whites) ...

Ever been to Waitusi territory?

> Cecil,you can refuse what you like--but if there are no jobs > available to you, how do you plan to support yourself?

There are always jobs if one is willing to work hard. During the depths of the Great Depression, my dad worked 12 hours a day as a cook for one dollar a day.

> You have always had the ability to get a job. Not all inner > city minorities have that kind of opportunity--nor, for that matter, > do the even greater number of poor (mostly white, btw) in rural > American or in areas where the economy is depressed.

Anybody who has prepared himself for work can get a job. The men who can't get a job have usually chosen to be lazy and uneducated.
I've met a number of them and they are the way they have chosen to be. And it doesn't have anything to do with race. There are probably more lazy, uneducated whites than any minority group.

> >The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually > >do some hard work for that income.
>
> I agree to an extent--but lacking skills and living in an > economically depressed area, who is going to hire them?

Remember the CCC camps? My dad cleaned out Colossal Cave in Arizona. Now we can't even require prisoners to work.

> Sorry, but nothing on earth could convince me to vote for--or > support--a party with a set of values like that.

Good, we don't want you.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3453. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 15:53:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0F9483.80CC3FA3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26500

N2EY wrote:
> The problem is that the benefits are not tied to responsible behaviors that > will lead the dependent person to become independent.

That's a major fly in the ointment.

> At first blush, this sounds cruel, Cecil. But upon reflection one must ask a > simple question: If a person cannot take care of him/herself, how will that > person take care of others who are even more dependent?

I could be less blunt but then being less blunt wouldn't raise as many hackles. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3454. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 15:57:09 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0F9555.A185006E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26401

N2EY wrote:
> At first blush, this sounds cruel, Cecil. But upon reflection one must ask a > simple question: If a person cannot take care of him/herself, how will that > person take care of others who are even more dependent?

I hate to admit it, but the Chinese have a good idea. The state will support the first two children. Any more than two and you are on your own. That would eliminate the women who choose to have kids for the purpose of collecting welfare on them.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3455. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 16:41:08 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0F9FA4.3116DA2C@uci.edu>
Source record: 26402

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> Jim Kelley wrote:
> >
> > That's almost right. Ask MOST any Arab, and
> > he'll tell you that he was told by his imam
> > he should be angry and hateful. The reason?
> > Well it's because there's a great satan -
> > sorta like the boogie man, only meaner. You > > see, he must rely on his religious leaders
> > for all his information because he's too
> > illiterate to discover the truth for himself.
> > Of course even if he can read, the Arab > > press will tell him that he should be angry
> > and hateful.
>
> Sounds a little like our own country, doesn't it?

No. It doesn't sound anything at all like the country I live in,
Dwight.
Ur a little bit on the negative side there, don't ya think?

3456. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 17:02:42 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0FA4B2.B79F271A@uci.edu>
Source record: 26403

CAM wrote:
> What's a bong?

It's the root word to a joke I made a couple posts back.

3457. Re: TWISTEDHED DEMANDS RESPECT FOR FREEBAND BOOTLEGGERS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 17:22:37 UTC
From: eustiscornhauser@yahoo.com Message-ID: <e9af79fa.0112060922.4e24cea1@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26404

The hams should hide their head in shame!! I have never seen a more incompetent bunch of boobs than the new no-coders on two meter fm in this area.

The average freebander works more dx, knows more about radio, and is much more polite than those stupid no-coders will ever be.

The no-coders are the new scum of the radio world. All the no-coders do is sit around in the trailer park, jerking off and kerchunking the local repeater. If you listen you will find that the most exciting thing in their life is picking up their welfare checks.

The no-coders also spend a fair amount of time stealing radios.

The technician class license has always been made up of bums who are just too lazy or too stupid to upgrade. With the advent of the no-code license things have gone from bad to worse.

At least the freebanders have an excitement about radio, they are constantly improving their stations and learning as much as they can.

No-coders are simply cell-phone user wanna-bees. They wish they could afford a cellular phone.

So, it's time for those who critisize the freebanders to get their heads out of their asses and do what they can to rid the amateur radio service of technician class operators. No-coders first, those with code second.

keyclownslappa@hotmail.com (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote in message news:<ce9e428e.0112022222.1854c2f4@posting.google.com>...
> From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
> Subject: Respect For Freebanders
> Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.misc
> Date: 2001-04-06 00:22:05 PST
>
> I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in this > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the frequencies > from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might think.
> We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip conditions.
> We use Yeasus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do, so we know technical > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us is > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This should > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do.
> For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding is > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying is > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander you might talk with him before > you condemn him.

>
> I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
>
> Unit 2711, Florida

3458. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 17:53:27 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnwh4l0.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26405

[No readable article body recovered]

3459. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 18:23:08 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112061023.50d61cc4@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26406

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0EF426.7EB131F5@sccoast.net>...
> Sean G Gilley wrote:
> > But I > > really believe that if two employees being > > involved in a civil lawsuit was commonplace,
> > I would've heard about it. (snip)
>
>
> Yea, like several thousand you did not hear about. According to an > Stars & Stripes article I read a few years ago, there have been over > 200 sexual harassment lawsuits brought against the military alone. And > I'd speculate there has been several thousand brought against > companies over the last few decades. And you've never heard of these > lawsuits? Where have you been, Sean?

I meant within the companies that I worked for.

However, by far, the majority of those cases have nothing to do with casual contact between peers -- or even casual contact between employer and employee. The majority of the cases brought for sexual harassment have to do with an employer or manager harassing an employee in some manner. That manner may include being asked out to lunch or something like that, but that sort of activity is rarely the base of the lawsuit.

If there was a female empoyee at my company that I saw often or worked with often, I wouldn't be worried about hasassment for asking her to lunch with me any more than I'd worry about the same if I asked a male employee to go to lunch.

That's what I thought we were discussing -- casual lunches and other casual contacts between a male and female.

Sean.

3460. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 18:34:41 UTC
From: uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org
Message-ID: <ff37aa44.0112061034.cde2ef2@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26407

Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0EE68E.A98D081@sccoast.net>...
> Deterrence is only one aspect of the death penalty - it also serves > as just punishment for a serious crime [...]

Out of curiosity, could you explain why killing someone is a just punishment for a crime?

Sean.

3461. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 18:50:15 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0FBDE7.617D1AF@uci.edu>
Source record: 26408

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 15:28:58 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
> wrote:
>
> >> Of course, George Washington grew 40,000 marijuana plants at > >> Mt. Vernon, and provided detailed instructions as to the preparation > >> of marijuana wine (his favorite--and viewed by a substantial number of > >> conservative historians as being the first wine served at a state > >> dinner by a sitting President).......
> > >
> > >Yuck. Prolly tasted like bong water. :-)
> >
> > If it's made right, it's pretty good, actually. I've tried it > > in the past (don't ask how FAR in the past--I'd rather not think about > > that :-).
> >
> > Rick

Hey, Rick.

I've heard of trying to squeeze water from a stone. I'd have to think that squeezing juice from a rope would have to be a pretty close second to that. But I guess where there's a will there's a way.

;-)

73 de ac6xg

> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3462. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 18:53:38 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F4096A0B6D435DBA.C34FB1B26A756925.A2B9BA49F174A979@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26409

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:10 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Which proves Cecil's point - HE may not get back what he put in, plus interest.

True--but if Social Security did not exist, he would have paid that difference, probably plus some, into additional taxes to support welfare for those who _didn't_ have sufficient investments for their old age, or who were surviving children and spouses.

You cite the fact the your investments would have been government insured--but that misses Cecil's entire point that NOTHING should be paid for by the government other than certain essential services. Your investments are insured by other people's tax dollars, and were it not for those there would be absolutely no guarantee that any investment, fund, bank or other financial institution would not simply go broke and leave you destitute.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3463. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 18:55:47 UTC
From: kb9rvb@arrl.net
Message-ID: <77f1797e.0112061055.5f676b89@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26410
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

kelly@dvol.com (Brian Kelly) wrote in message news:<d22b54c3.0112052300.167ddbcd@posting.google.com>...

> Dave Hall <nojunkmail_n3cvj@worldlynx.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0D2B31.3CA6@worldlynx.net>...
> > CW is kept alive mostly by nostalgic old timers that are still living > > out their childhood fantasies,
> >

> No, we're just exercising the skills we worked to develop in our > childhoods.
> w3rv

And some of us are picking it up in old age (but a rookie in ham-dom) because it is a mode that allows us to use lower power (remember the admonition to use only what is necessary) and do some technical experiments that give us a better understanding of the technology we are using when we do UHF, VHF and HF phone.

73 KB9RVB
Carl

3464. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 19:19:50 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112061119.6c08fb5@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26411

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C0F93B2.D8EAA515@IEEE.org>...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Thus the private sector would > > inevitably be able to underprice the government and take over > > essentially all transactions with the result that no money would be > > collected by the courts to pay for criminal court costs.
>
> That doesn't compute. How could the private sector take over > enforcing legal contracts? Hire the Mafia?

Simply make them an offer they couldn't refuse.
>
> > It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that > > responsibility?
>
> Same thing that happens when I don't meet my other responsibilities.
> I am held responsible for it. Why should half the population be > responsible for themselves and ALSO responsible for the other half?

Precisely. I have no problem with my tax money being spent of social programs IF those programs link responible behavior to benefits.
>
> > No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves."
>
> Give us a break, Rick. Social Security is exactly an attempt to > protect people from themselves. Social Security provides the > majority of people an incentive not to provide for their retirement.

Actually, there's nothing wrong with trying to protect people from themselves IF that is done by teaching people responsible behavior. If SS teaches people not to be responsible, then it is doing exactly the opposite.

> > What on earth do drugs and booze have to do with the logical > > decision to purchase a car for transportation (which is used to get to > > work, after all) rather than investing for retirement?
>
> I bought a car for my adopted daughter's father. He sold it and > bought drugs and booze.

Be sure to include tobacco under the heading of drugs.
>
> > But what about the majority of the people who would NOT have > > invested successfully?
>
> That's their responsibility, Rick, not yours or mine. Let the buyer

> beware.

Who says the majority of people would not invest successfully? Suppose Cecil had invested just half of his SS money into US Savings Bonds from day one - what would they be worth today?

> Once,
> during a high school debate, a member of our team fell ill and > I had to argue one side in one debate and the opposite side in > the other debate. I won both debates. :-)

Cecil is a master debater.
>
> > >The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually > > >do some hard work for that income.
> >
> > I agree to an extent--but lacking skills and living in an > > economically depressed area, who is going to hire them?
>
> Remember the CCC camps? My dad cleaned out Colossal Cave in > Arizona. Now we can't even require prisoners to work.

Something like CCC is one answer. If people can't find work where they are, with the skills they have, they should go where the work is.
Cecil, how many times in your life have you moved to follow the work?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3465. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 19:40:40 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <726E69BAEBB166C4.C4A66C32562317FC.3574AD064A7BF17B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26412

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:07 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>> 1. It would permit successful criminals (who have considerable >>savings on the outside) to afford a better level of treatment than >>less successful ones--which rewards success at crime, hardly the >>optimum situation.
>
>Not if all convicts had to work to earn their keep, and could not use >significant amounts of outside money to support themselves while in prison.

Two problems with that:

1. It defeats the entire Libertarian Party argument that your money is yours to do with as you will. Simply because a person is incarcerated that does NOT abrogate that right.

2. By giving prisoners work beyond that needed to support the operation of prison itself (a minimal amount) such as cooking, etc., you end up giving them jobs that would otherwise be done by honest wage earners. Thus you "reward" the prisoner with work while penalizing the honest worker by taking his or her job away.

>> 2. If convicts are required to do productive work to pay their >>way, that means that jobs for honest citizens will be taken away and >>given to them.
>
>Nope. It means that fewer tax dollars would need to be spent on convicts' care,
>if done correctly.

You're ignoring the fact that under the system Cecil is discussing there wouldn't BE any tax dollars to be spent on convict's care.

>Example: Each convict is given a small plot of ground, some basic hand tools, >ans seeds, and is REQUIRED to have a garden to grow food - which the convict >then gets to eat.

Ok.

That only takes a small amount of work. A couple questions, however:

1. Under a Libertarian system, any land owned by the state must either be used for government services or sold to the private sector. Who do you deprive of the land used for the private gardens?
How does the government handle the legitimate (to a Libertarian) charge that it is depriving a farmer of legitimate income by using the land for such a purpose?

2. What happens if there is a natural reason (drought, unseasonable freeze, infestation by a new version of a plant predator, etc.) that the convict--who sincerely tries but has neither the skills nor the equipment (sprayers, irrigation systems, etc.) of a professional farmer--is unable to extract enough food from the plot to survive? Is he allowed to starve, or are the taxpayers forced to pay for his food anyway?

3. Assume the opposite; that the convict has a "bumper crop."
What happens to the surplus? According to Libertarian policy, if he has extra he should be able to sell that extra. But if he is permitted to do so, how do you justify the competition with honest farmers?

>Allowing convicts to be nonproductive while honest citizens work to feed, >clothe, and shelter them rewards dishonest behavior and penalizes honest >behavior. '

No one suggests they be non-productive. Education and rehabilitation programs, however, offer a much greater opportunity to prevent recidivism. In addition, because we are NOT discussing the current prison system, but one under a Libertarian state, it is not only necessary that the convict pay for his or her own food & clothing, but that they pay for their own cost of imprisonment as well. Yet if we agree they have to do that, we must allow them the opportunity, in fact the obligation, to earn $33,000.00 per year (the cost of incarceration currently in the US). In order to do that, the convict MUST come into competition with the private sector, and once again that isn't fair to the honest worker.

>The convicts have a debt to pay society, not the other way around.

True. But it has to be paid in a way that does not harm the person or property of anyone in society at the same time. Putting them in competition with the private sector violates that principle.

>>>Yep, and that's an area where we will have to agree to disagree.
>>>I simply don't believe in rewarding failure and penalizing success.
>>>Over my lifetime, the government has done me more financial harm >>>than criminals have done to everyone else that I personally know.
>>
>> Sorry, Cecil, but that's way too elitist for me.
>
>It's not elitist at all. It's just a simple fact. Cecil has paid far more in >taxes than he and those he knows have lost to thieves.

So? What does that have to do with providing social programs to help the needy instead of just ignoring them? Those taxes didn't go to pay for welfare (only a very small part of our Federal budget goes to such programs) for the most part it went to pay for inessential bureaucracies (did you know we STILL have a "Helium Trust" that costs us millions of dollars each year--the purpose of which is to buy and stockpile Helium to fuel blimps which can then fly over enemy lines in a war to spy on troop movements safely, since they would be too high to shoot down--a program implemented during WWI?), the military, and Federal law enforcement, much of which is aimed at those who commit acts which harm no one but themselves (consensual crimes). Why is it whenever people talk about taxes being to high they blame the poor? Is it simply because the poor aren't in a position to defend themselves against the stereotypes and the accusations?

Do you REALLY believe we are justified in turning our backs on the poor and letting them starve or die of illness? Libertarians obviously do.

>However, Cecil does not consider that part of the money he paid in taxes went >to keep the thieves away from his and others' property. And to educate his kids >and grandkids, defend our country, etc.

This part isn't clear. Are you saying that Cecil is ignoring the percentage of his taxes that went to those uses instead of for transfer payments? If so, you have to bear in mind that he doesn't want to pay taxes for THOSE purposes either.

According to the Libertarian Party, each of those activities would be privatized, and those who could not afford them would do without. Thus if his kids and grandkids did not have the money for an education, they would not get one at all. If you don't have the money to pay for police services, you are NOT protected from thrives (although you may sue them after they rob you--provided you can afford an attorney to represent you). And the military would be limited to a far smaller size than today, it would be privatized on a fee basis (I've never been clear on what the Librarian party would do if a large number of people elected NOT to pay--and stated they did NOT want to be protected from invasion. How, precisely would they protect SOME citizens from foreign invasion, but not others--and if the require payment from all regardless of their desires they simply replace the word "tax" with "fee" and it acts precisely the same). Of course the military would be much smaller under the Libertarians, since it would NOT be used for anything except national defense--other nations would do totally without our assistance--the Monroe Doctrine extended to the max.

>> What about battered women, widows with small kids, people who >>are disabled, seniors with no pensions, the mentally ill, those who >>are learning disabled or retarded, displaced workers, those who are >>laid off, or unemployed workers in a depressed economy? For that >>matter what about medical coverage for those who can't afford it? Do >>we just let children starve or become ill because the parents can't >>afford to pay for their food and medical expenses--or do we terminate >>their rights as parents because they are poor and place the kids with >>strangers?
>
>There should be effective programs for all of the above. But those programs >must require responsible behavior on the part of those getting the benefits.

Back up a minute, Jim. We're not talking about the current political system here, remember? Under a Libertarian state those programs would exist ONLY if the victims themselves paid for them. Otherwise, it would be entirely up to private charities (who would receive virtually no tax benefits by doing so, btw) to do so, or those people would simply not receive any assistance.

I have no argument with either a revision of our social support systems and welfare system--clearly our current approach is a "throw money--don't try to help people succeed and instill self-respect and self-sufficiency" one that doesn't work. In the same way, I believe (and have a lot of evidence to back my belief) that our criminal justice system needs some serious overhauling. But these arguments assume the current form of government--under the Libertarians the idea of revision of social programs becomes one of elimination alone, and the criminal justice system simply becomes a self-supporting commercial enterprise, as do nearly all activities currently engaged in by the government.

There is SOME justification in that approach--the private sector IS better able to operate with efficiency than the state. But on the other hand, the private sector has no possible reason to think of the best interests of the public, only those of the stockholders.

Here's an interesting example. When I studied Strategic Management for my MBA they presented a very simple question. Given that you are an executive with an industrial firm that exceeds EPA pollution standards do you install the required scrubbers to clean your emissions below the legal limit, or do you fail to do so, continue to pollute the environment, and become subject to fines for your violation?

According to modern practice, before making a decision you need only prorate the cost of the emissions control devices (the scrubbers), compare the annual cost of them to the annual cost of the fines you would pay for NOT implementing them, and, if the fines represent a lower cost (which they often do), continue to pollute. You would install the scrubbers ONLY if it were economically more beneficial to your firm to do so than not to do so.

From a business perspective, that makes sense. The purpose of a corporation is to increase stockholder equity--NOT to serve the needs of the public. But if _everything_ is privatized, nothing at all exists that places the needs of the public first. As poor as our current system is, at least it doesn't reach the excesses that would inevitably result from the implementation of a strictly Libertarian state. Pollution? Not the business of government--regulation stifles free trade. Ham Radio? Don't be ridiculous--that part of the spectrum can be SOLD at a profit, why should it be protected for hobbyists and experimenters? If people want to experiment they can work for a commercial firm or "rent" airspace from one instead. Help for the poor? You can't be serious. If they aren't capable of self-support, let them die off and "better genes" take their place. Education? If you can't afford it, you'll just have to do without it. Museums and cultural centers? If people want them, and are willing to pay for them, the private sector will provide them at a price. If not, who cares about art or culture? National Parks? Sell them to the private sector to use as they wish--they can keep them pristine and charge admission (probable for parks such as Yellowstone or Glacier National Park), they can log them out (probable for parks such as Yosemite and Sequoia National Forest) or they can divide them into tracts and sell them to people to build on (probable in the case of National Seashores and Angel Island).

Sorry, Jim, but there are a LOT of very offensive concepts there for anyone who cares about people or the environment.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3466. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 19:45:41 UTC
From: "Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net> Message-ID: <FVPP7.212272$3d2.9554434@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26413

Jim, N2EY wrote:

> ....For example, most European religions have some sort of winter > equinox celebration because of the effects lack of daylight causes in many > people. For peoples with limited understanding of how the seasons and weather > work, and with limited artificial lighting, the loss of the Sun at the end of > December could be very disturbing. Equinox celebrations, whatever they are > called, remind us that the Light will return and spring will comne again.

Yeah, but those were really WINTER SOLSTICE celebrations! <smirk>

Equinox celebrations were when the ancients would set their clocks ahead one hour, or behind one hour, and then get really confused for the next couple of weeks trying to remember whether it was "Spring back, Fall forward", "Spring ahead, Fall back" or
"Move to Arizona".

> .....It
> was natural for the Christians to put Christmas on the first day when the > daylight gets noticeably longer using simple methods of measurement.

You woulda thought that with omniscience and all that stuff that Jesus coulda arranged to be born at a time when ice storms wouldn't bolix-up airline travel plans so much.

--
Jim Bromley, K7JEB k7jeb@arrl.net
Glendale, Arizona

3467. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 19:46:06 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <32E66B00688E1FAC.6E4880AD94FB3AFD.6ACF00FD3AD58309@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26414

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:07 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Work or do something else constructive, like going to school and making the >grade.

But according to Cecil we shouldn't be paying for school for those who can't afford it either.

>The problem is that the benefits are not tied to responsible behaviors that >will lead the dependent person to become independent.

Here I agree. But under the Libertarian Party the consideration isn't for changing the programs into ones that WILL work--it's on eliminating them w/o replacement.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3468. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 19:49:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <95C6D651077DCA7A.DE8B9C23D5C0B721.0113E38459B4D118@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26415

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:08 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Yea, verily. The most important decison most people make, and yet it is made >with almost no training.

Actually, the decision to marry isn't the critical one.
Marriage is simply a "legalized" version of living together.

The important decision is whether or not to have children.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3469. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 20:10:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <106EDAA36CBDB0CF.FBB270E149FC9B39.475A7CE35203100A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26416

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:09 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Yup. But ya don't see pentagrams on the Acropolis or in the Pantheon.

You see them in ancient ruins in Northern Europe, in the Temples of India and Sri Lanka, in parts of Egypt, and in the ruins of Sumarian lands.

You don't see CRUCIFIXES in those settings, either, so obviously that justifies viewing the Crucifix as a Satanic symbol, right?

>The Roman and Greek "nature religions" tried for centuries to eradicate >Christianity and its source religion, Judaism. Do you know who Antiochus was?

So?

The Christians did a pretty good job of reversing that trend
when it came to the Pagan faiths of Northern Europe--as well as the Jewish faith in Spain--or did the Inquisition slip past you unnoticed.

>Constantine changed all that.

And a RC Pope restarted the killing.

Perhaps you can see a difference between a Roman killing a person for his or her religion and a Christian doing the same.
Personally, I can't.

Speaking of killing people for their religion, here's a completely accurate description of an historically important person.
See if you can identify him:

"<he> was both a passionate anti-Semite and a ferocious believer in absolute obedience to political authority. He wanted (his nation is named here) rid of the Jews and he advised that the be deprived of "All their cash and jewels and silver and gold" and furthermore, "that their synagogues or schools be set on fire, that their houses be broken up and destroyed . . . and they be put under a roof or stable, like the gypsies . . . in misery and captivity as they incessantly lament and complain to God about us"--advice that was later followed literally."

He also referred to the peasants who opposed the government as
"mad dogs," and employed a "coarseness and brutality of language unequaled in <nation> history."

Let's see how good your knowledge of history is. Who is the person I refer to above?

>Most religions have feast days because people need them, spiritually and >psychologically. For example, most European religions have some sort of winter >equinox celebration because of the effects lack of daylight causes in many >people. For peoples with limited understanding of how the seasons and weather >work, and with limited artificial lighting, the loss of the Sun at the end of >December could be very disturbing. Equinox celebrations, whatever they are >called, remind us that the Light will return and spring will comne again. It >was natural for the Christians to put Christmas on the first day when the >daylight gets noticeably longer using simple methods of measurement.

Which "conveniently" fell directly on a Pagan festival day, of course, as did other Christian holy days.

>> The pentagram, for your information, was a religious symbol in >>Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and among the >>Norse peoples--NONE of which groups "stole" it from Christianity.
>
>The Egyptians, Greeks and Romans hid it pretty well.

Not particularly, if you examine the writings of the time (in Rome and Greece at least). It appears there with regularity. That it isn't used often in buildings is irrelevant--how many Christian churches do you see with a prominent image of a fish--the ORIGNIAL symbol of Christianity?

>Who used the cross as a religious symbol before Christians?

The Mesopotamians, the Sumarian, and many other cultures. It is the extended cross (the cross with a longer leg at the bottom) that is uniquely Christian--just as the inverted Pentagram with the head of a goat filling it's outline is, unlike the standard pentagram, a symbol of Satanism or the Satanic Church.

The Swastika, for example, is a form of the cross that predates Christianity, as are many other forms readily found in other religions (including several Eastern religions, of course).

> It derives from a Roman method of execution, not another religion.

No, the CRUCIFIX derives from the Roman method of execution, not the cross which predates considerably.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3470. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 20:11:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <428F28AB3315099B.7796FEA08D6E5593.8DB018FBD6E9BAD3@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26417

On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:10 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Ya missed the joke, Rick. Didn't watch SNL, huh?

Not since the original version. I was more of a "Friday's" person myself.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3471. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 20:44:02 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A40CCDA44AD350FE.7B9BEFE3F243D58C.0DFB18090AD4DAB1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26418

On 06 Dec 2001 12:20:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>The present SS+IRS system is regressive for many people, because once a certain >level of income is reached they max out the SS contributions.

Here, at least, we agree!

>> It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that >>responsibility? Is it reasonable that the state ignore the needs of >>children because their fathers and mothers didn't demonstrate sound >>financial planning?

>Is it reasonable that the state take over the responsibilities of parents, >thereby penalizing those who are responsible?

If those parents are not capable for providing for the needs of their children it HAS to be the responsibility of the state to do so. The alternative is to perpetuate precisely the kind of poverty that is affecting them in the first place. No child should be punished for the mistakes or failings of his or her parents--but the Libertarian approach would do precisely that.

>> Consider, also, the age I listed. Assuming the _average_ >>couple marry soon after graduation from college (and even the >>Libertarian party can't possibly expect people to wait until they are >>financially solvent to marry and start raising a family--that is >>simply unrealistic and, in many ways, undesirable).
>
>WHOA!!! WHY is it unrealisitc and undesirable? I know MANY couples who waited >and worked until they were reasonably situated financially before taking on >more responsibilities.

Unrealistic because it defies the social conventions of our society. Unless our society agrees that marriage is NOT a socially desirable prerequisite to sex and living together, it must either encourage marriage as a young adult or expect people to violate social convention anyway--a self-defeating concept.

Undesirable because women who are over thirty at their first birth have increased likelihood of problem pregnancies and the children have increased likelihood of birth defects or retardation (those odd increase as a woman ages). In addition, the younger parent is better able to relate to the needs of the child, and is far more likely to survive long enough him/her self to insure the child has adequate care and education to reach a successful adulthood.

It depends on how you define "reasonably situated financially." Do you mean that the person was well established in a career path, or that the person had sufficient investments to support his/her family if he/she were to die suddenly? Does it assume that if the person's career is halted by disability or a change in our national economy (i.e., the high tech jobs that disappeared in the Seattle area following the down scaling of SDI and Boeing's problems) he or she can still support him or her-self and their family on investment income? Your definition of "reasonably situated" may be very different from that of someone else. If you mean that the person has reason to believe that unless something occurs that is unforeseeable at that time (early death, disability, etc.) his or her career is secure enough to raise a family, I may agree that this is the right time to start a family. But more than that is absurd to expect of people.

>WHY?? Many people today are not ready to have any children by the time they are >30.

Nonsense.

Most people today DO have children by that age. Thus, by definition, they are "ready" to do so.

>>Are you seriously suggesting that the average couple >>could reasonably be expected to have made adequate arrangements for >>the care of the children and assistance for the surviving partner if >>they die at this age? Cecil, that just isn't realistic!
>
>Sure it is. Many people do just that. It's what life insurance, mortgage >insurance and relatives/friends are for.

Leave relatives/friends out of it--to base any sort of program on the obligation others may feel to assist a family member or friend, simply imposes an unfair obligation on that person.

As far as insurance goes--if you agree that a person has an obligation to pay for that, why is it any different than paying taxes to fund a reserve that will provide help for ANYONE in that spot instead? Is it the fault of the child that the insurance doesn't exist?

>Anyone who has dependent kids should have a will. And in the will the guardians >of the children should be spelled out in advance (with their consent, of >course) so that if both parents die or are incapacitated the children will be >cared for by people who the parents trusted.

That, of course, has nothing to do with the Libertarian perspective on social support programs, the subject of the sub-thread.

>Term life insurance for healthy people of the age you specify is not expensive,
>either.

But it IS a matter of choice. Expensive is relative. It's not expensive to buy $100,000 in term life if you make an average income.
What if you are struggling to get by on minimum wage? Or if you have a family history of heart disease? Or any of a dozen other reasons that insurance costs could cut into badly needed money for food, shelter, education, etc.? Are you arguing that the minimum wage worker has no right to have children because he can't support them if he dies or is disabled? That would be a pretty classist position to take for anyone (of course, it IS the Libertarian Party position, but . . .).

>All Cecil is proposing is that people take some responsibility.

No, he's proposing that all social support programs be eliminated if they operate at the taxpayer's expense. Ask him.

>>>Not my problem. I do not desire to protect people from themselves and >>>I would appreciate that same consideration for myself.
>>
>> No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves."
>
>Sure they are. SS protects people from using the money to make poor investment >choices. That's why it started in the first place.

It also protects people who don't have the time to build up an investment portfolio, people who don't have enough income to invest, and the spouses and children of people who don't have adequate investments to support them if they die.

>>On the >>other hand if everyone, or even most everyone, were to invest using a >>sound plan of investment, it would flood the money market to the >>extent that interest rates of 2-4% would become the norm (supply and >>demand fix equilibrium point in a free market--including an >>equilibrium point for investment funds)--a profit totally incapable of >>providing for the future for anyone, sound investor or not.
>
>Incorrect. It all depends on things like the rate of inflation and how long the >investing goes on.

I repeat. If EVERYONE invested soundly the interest rate would drop to very little. It's a simple case of supply and demand. IF there is an abundant supply of investment capital there will only be a limited demand for it and the Equilibrium Point (in terms of interest) will be quite low. The less investors in a given market, the higher the end price (in terms of interest) will be for the investment dollar.

>Consider the couple who begin investing in their mid-20s and retire in their >late '60s (longer life expectancy necessitates later retirement - no way around >that). If their investments outpace inflation, are not subject to tax until >used, and they keep to a plan, they can put away quite a pile.

But with unlimited investment funds, how COULD their investments outpace inflation? Given the nature of monetary theory the greater the available investment pool, the quicker inflation will increase. The Fed raises the prime rate to slow inflation and lowers it to reduce unemployment. But w/o the Fed (which Libertarians would do away with immediately--ask Cecil) the only regulation on interest rates would be a free market--and if everyone invested the enormous availability of liquid assets would drop that rate through the floor, just as would occur if the Fed withdrew from the equation and allowed increasing amounts of currency to be printed.

>>The ONLY
>>people who would be expected to profit significantly from investments
>>in such circumstances would be those who made high risk >>investments--precisely the kind of investment that would be highly >>unwise for someone who was trying to save for the future.
>
>Run the numbers, Rick.

Do so yourself. The figures the Fed uses are good enough for me.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3472. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 21:09:03 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C0FDD4E.50FE0494@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26419

Phil Kane wrote:

" ". "
", he added.

Well, Phil,

" ". That's my final word on the subject.

Dave K8MN

3473. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 21:12:53 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C0FDF55.800CA2A6@uci.edu>
Source record: 26420

N2EY wrote:
> I don't worry about any callsign except my own.

I think that's true of most people in the ARS.

> But I do think that > Kim made an inappropriate choice. One which does harm to the ARS. Not > much harm, but a little.

How does this harm to the ARS manifest itself? Do the callsigns with CUM in the suffix likewise harm the ARS?

3474. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 21:37:44 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F2D1B.6D9DEC41@mailcity.net>
Source record: 26421
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

KC8JBO wrote:

>
> So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with > another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't it?
> BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.

You're certainly one to talk woger after Riley spanked you for jamming.

3475. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 21:45:56 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6210B109116CBE0E.AD9522936A897E8D.F5D91670C61A98A9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26422

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 09:50:10 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>That doesn't compute. How could the private sector take over >enforcing legal contracts? Hire the Mafia?

Easy.

When the suit is filed, a person would have a choice to have the trial conducted by the government at fee "X" or by the private sector at fee "Y" either of which would be binding. It doesn't differ at all from the current arbitration system, except it would include a complete trial instead of just the services of an arbitrator.

>> Why are progressive taxes any more offensive that regressive ones?
>
>Because they are overpriced.

So are regressive ones.

>> You needed a better accountant!
>
>Yeah, like the guy in CA who kept his stock instead of turning it >into cash? Now he owes the government 6 million dollars on one >million dollars worth of stock.

No, more like the many people who shelter their funds. My father-in-law is a millionaire and, before he retired some years ago, complained about paying taxes that were less than my own at the time (and I was NOT a millionaire).

>> I have friends who are multi-millionaires and pay >> significantly less taxes than that.
>
>See above.

Same here.

>> It may be your responsibility, but what if you don't meet that >> responsibility?
>
>Same thing that happens when I don't meet my other responsibilities.
>I am held responsible for it. Why should half the population be >responsible for themselves and ALSO responsible for the other half?

Because the alternative is to admit we are NOT civilized and allow our poor (including children) to starve.

Of course, they wouldn't actually starve. Once a government came into existence that no longer concerned itself with their poverty, you would without any question see a second revolution in this nation--one that would be VERY communist in nature. But, if I lived in a nation that had no more care for its poor than that, I'd begin to agree with communist principles myself.

>> No one is trying to "Protect people from themselves."
>
>Give us a break, Rick. Social Security is exactly an attempt to >protect people from themselves. Social Security provides the >majority of people an incentive not to provide for their retirement.

Cecil, most people CAN'T provide for their retirement. Stop looking at things from a personal perspective only and look at reality. The reality is NOT that people are all Upper Middle Class wage earners, well educated, and knowledgeable about investments. The reality is that most people have far less education (in many cases because it is all they can afford), earn wages that are marginally adequate to cover their cost of living with very little left over to invest, and don't know anything about investing anyway (and would thus be more likely to lose their money in investments than to gain from them).

>> Cecil, try to post w/o the false stereotypes of welfare
>> recepients--you're beginning to sound like Dick Carroll speaking about >> Muslims!
>
>I know a few of those walking, talking stereotypes, Rick. I've been >taken to the cleaners by them.

There are a few losers in any group, Cecil. There are, as we all know far too well, Muslims who believe in (and practice) terrorism as well. But just as it isn't reasonable to blame all Muslims for the acts of a very minute percentage of their number, the same holds true of the poor.

One of the greatest problems we have with addressing poverty in this country is one of perception. We perceive the poor to be represented by the people we see living on the streets or going to homeless missions and by the media stereotypes we are presented.
Certainly there are poor like that--there are Muslims like bin Laden as well. But the vast majority of the poor are "invisible." They don't live on the streets, or in the shelters. They aren't alcoholics or drug abusers. They don't abuse their kids, or have one after another to "stay on welfare." And they don't LOOK like "welfare bums." They are simply people who don't have enough income to support themselves and their families without help from the rest of us. People who are working at minimum wage (because it's all they CAN do--and if you feel they don't belong in our society, ask yourself who will do those jobs if they AREN'T here to do them) and can't afford to house and feed their families without help in the form of food stamps or government benefits. People who can't afford the very high cost of medical care (even preventative medicine--which is OBVIOUSLY the best medical investment to make) without the help of the government. Those, not the small minority who meet the stereotypes, are the poor we need to consider in this nation--and the Libertarian Party would fail them as completely as it would the ones who meet the stereotypes.

>> What on earth do drugs and booze have to do with the logical >> decision to purchase a car for transportation (which is used to get to >> work, after all) rather than investing for retirement?
>
>I bought a car for my adopted daughter's father. He sold it and >bought drugs and booze.

So?

Does that personal experience mean that all--or most--people who are poor would act that way?

Cecil, you take one isolated case with which you have personal experience and assume that represents the norm. It doesn't. Of course there are people like that--but for every one who IS that type there are hundreds who are honest and want only a chance to succeed.

A major research organization (I _think_ it was the Rand Corporation, but I'm not certain) conducted research on the extent to which various government programs were being defrauded by clients. They ignored such minor "frauds" as "failure to report a $10 Christmas gift" or "failure to report earnings less than $25.00/mo from such occupations as baby sitting, lawn mowing, etc." In short, they ignored offenses that were so petty as to be irrelevant in the context of the study. Two groups were singled out for in depth study. Those who receive disability benefits from the government and those who receive ADC benefits.

The disabled group demonstrated four TIMES the amount of fraud as the ADC group did.

If you were to base your stereotypes on that kind of study, you would be forced to conclude that it is the disabled who are dishonest and an unfair drain on our government, not the poor. If that doesn't fit with your current stereotypes of the disabled, then perhaps the poor don't really fit with your stereotypes of them, either.

>> But what about the majority of the people who would NOT have >> invested successfully?
>
>That's their responsibility, Rick, not yours or mine. Let the buyer >beware.

And his children starve.

>Do your principles include forcing me to support someone else's >children as well as my own? Know how the cowbird operates? She >lays her eggs in the nest of other birds. The young cowbird kicks >the legitimate eggs out of the nest.

True. And if you limit your social interactions to those of a cowbird, by any stretch of the imagination it is unreasonable for you to provide for the disabled, the infirm, or the military dependent either. Far better to focus ONLY on what you personally want and let everyone else starve if they can't afford food.

Of course, that means that--like the cowbird--you accept the fact that YOU are legitimate prey for others. Thus is someone comes along and takes what is yours, you really don't have any grounds to complain. Why should MY dollars support YOUR protection from crime? If _I'M_ not being robbed, why on earth should I even consider spending money to prevent that from happening to you?

Obviously, your kids have been provided for. But are you willing to HONESTLY state here that, if you had NOT done so, you would be willing to live up to your Libertarian principles by allowing your children to starve or do without the necessities of life--and agreeing that no one had any reason to help them since you failed to do so?

>> And your children with you?
>
>If the children are worth saving, then charities/churches will >come to the rescue. I have done more than my share of charitable >work.

Let's take that apart.

Charities. How many non-religious charities can you name that would even EXIST if no tax advantages existed for people to donate to them? Don't claim people have a social conscious--you are arguing that YOU have no obligation to help others economically (you begrudge the use of your money for that purpose by the state), why would anyone else feel differently? In a Libertarian state the entire emphasis would be on personal responsibility--if people can't survive on their own, others won't feel at all obligated to help them at all. Look at your own stereotypes of the poor--are THOSE people you would help?

Churches. Even if the churches didn't use such a position to recruit ("if you want us to feed you, you MUST attend our services and learn about God," a view ALREADY demonstrated by the current food kitchens for the poor), do you seriously believe that the money would be there to do more than help their own parishioners if the state stopped assisting the poor?

In NEITHER case would enough money be available to provide for those needs. Of course, after enough people ended up homeless and enough children died from nutrition or environment related conditions, the poor would undoubtedly organize (they do now to some extent) and the results would be a LOT more violence and destruction than you would enjoy seeing in our society. People will only put up with so much disparity between their goals and their reality. If they see a classist society in which they are NOT permitted to participate by reason of poverty, they WILL stage a revolution to get what they lack--that's been demonstrated over and over in other nations, and would be rather quickly demonstrated here as well. All those guns accumulated by the gangs and drug dealers (as well as by many others) would come out and the result would be complete anarchy until order was restored--probably under a Communist government.

>> More to the point, from a political perspective, do you >> seriously believe that a party with that kind of attitude could >> conceivably win a large percentage of the vote?
>
>Yep, when the American people come to their senses and object to >being forced to support a welfare system that breeds herds of >non-producers.

Perhaps it is the Libertarians who need to "come to their senses" Cecil. The rest of us feel that caring for our needy is a pretty important task of government. We may feel that it isn't being done right, and that far more productive ways to address poverty than "throwing money at it" are called for--but most of us recognize that SOME forms of social support are essential.

Unlike you, most people don't view the welfare system as a way to breed "herds of non-producers." Most of us don't view the poor as being parts of a "herd," we generally reserve that image for cattle or sheep.

>> Cecil, I'm losing a lot of respect for you.
>
>Most people do until they realize that I am leading them down the >primrose path. And I'll take either side of the argument. Once, >during a high school debate, a member of our team fell ill and >I had to argue one side in one debate and the opposite side in >the other debate. I won both debates. :-)

Nothing wrong with that--except that what you are arguing IS the Libertarian Party position--and you have consistently claimed to be a practicing Libertarian.

I'll be more than glad to switch sides in this debate (which will completely confuse the more "reality challenged" of our readers) if you will. Let's see if you can make MY points better than I do, or if I can make yours in the same manner.

>> No, Cecil, they don't have "basketball genes" that are >> superior to yours or anyone else's--there is no such thing and you >> should well be aware of it.

>Of course they do, Rick. It is partially the result of selective >breeding during the time of slavery.

Gee, if that's the case, since the primary skills needed from a slave were endurance and physical strength, how is it that the top competitors in weight lifting, pentathlon, and body building are all caucasian? If a few generations of "selective breeding" made that significant a change in black physiology, those, not basketball (which wasn't really a skill in great demand on plantations) should be the sports at which they excel.

>> If you had the basic skills necessary, and the height (and >> blacks, as a group, are no taller than whites) ...
>
>Ever been to Waitusi territory?

They're balanced by the hottentots and pigmys.

>> Cecil,you can refuse what you like--but if there are no jobs >> available to you, how do you plan to support yourself?
>
>There are always jobs if one is willing to work hard. During the >depths of the Great Depression, my dad worked 12 hours a day as >a cook for one dollar a day.

Cecil, during the late fifties and early sixties, as a runaway on the streets of NYC, I frequently worked for _far_ less than that (you'd be amazed what people can get away with paying a runaway or a throwaway who can't earn a living in a legitimate employment setting because he can't get a work permit w/o being picked up for running away or truancy). Does that mean that I should have been able to support myself on the income? I was barely able to buy something to eat (cheap--you CAN make macaroni & cheese in a coffee can over an oil barrel fire if you have to--and can stretch one box enough that it will provide two days of food), let alone pay for shelter (did you know that people are KILLED for refrigerator and washing machine boxes in parts of NYC--those can be HOMES for runaways and street people).
During the time you speak of your father working for one dollar a day, the pay for a private in the US Army was $21.00/month. He made more than a corporal!

>> You have always had the ability to get a job. Not all inner >> city minorities have that kind of opportunity--nor, for that matter, >> do the even greater number of poor (mostly white, btw) in rural >> American or in areas where the economy is depressed.
>
>Anybody who has prepared himself for work can get a job. The men >who can't get a job have usually chosen to be lazy and uneducated.
>I've met a number of them and they are the way they have chosen >to be. And it doesn't have anything to do with race. There are >probably more lazy, uneducated whites than any minority group.

More stereotypes, Cecil. The vast majority of poor people simply CAN'T find work or support themselves without help. Sure there are some losers such as those you describe, but they are a minority as can be proven by ANY legitimate research project you care to name.

>> >The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually >> >do some hard work for that income.
>>
>> I agree to an extent--but lacking skills and living in an >> economically depressed area, who is going to hire them?
>
>Remember the CCC camps? My dad cleaned out Colossal Cave in >Arizona. Now we can't even require prisoners to work.

Now, also, we would be taking the opportunity to earn a living away from others if we IMPLEMENTED such programs. Is it fair to cost one man a job to give it to someone else?

>> Sorry, but nothing on earth could convince me to vote for--or >> support--a party with a set of values like that.
>
>Good, we don't want you.

Or the majority of the population of the US, given the points you raise. Which means you don't want to be elected to significant office either.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3476. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 21:58:16 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9uopk402mqk@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26426
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9unuggfac5@dosa.alt.net...

> So you ARE an anonymous COWARD. Any "stalking" can be dealt with through law > enforcement channels, you insufferable dunce.

Give it up, Roger. You can't even write a clever insult, let alone an intelligent rebuttal.

3477. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:02:14 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <999455FBF9A8A12C.B8172CE8FCA5096C.08D82B8FEED83204@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26423

On 6 Dec 2001 11:19:50 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Precisely. I have no problem with my tax money being spent of social >programs IF those programs link responible behavior to benefits.

Here I agree as well. But in Cecil's case the intent is not to link programs to responsible behavior, but to simply eliminate them completely and ignore those who can't make it without help at this time.

>Actually, there's nothing wrong with trying to protect people from >themselves IF that is done by teaching people responsible behavior. If >SS teaches people not to be responsible, then it is doing exactly the >opposite.

True. But if it provides support for those who need (and deserve) it shouldn't it exist?

>> I bought a car for my adopted daughter's father. He sold it and >> bought drugs and booze.
>
>Be sure to include tobacco under the heading of drugs.

Yup!

And tobacco taxes as regressive as well.

>> > But what about the majority of the people who would NOT have >> > invested successfully?
>>
>> That's their responsibility, Rick, not yours or mine. Let the buyer >> beware.
>
>Who says the majority of people would not invest successfully? Suppose >Cecil had invested just half of his SS money into US Savings Bonds >from day one - what would they be worth today?

If everyone did the same how could the government afford the interest payments?

A saving bond is nothing more than a loan to the state (as are T-Bills, of course). The state is expected to repay that loan with interest. But in the absence of a tax base (remember, Libertarian party principles--which Cecil is arguing--require the elimination of all forms of government debt and all taxes) how is that interest to be paid? In Cecil's government, there would BE no savings bonds or T-Bills (or any other government bond issue, for that matter) because the government would have neither the authority to borrow nor the tax base to repay the loans the bonds represent.

The entire creedo of the Libertarian Party can be summed up in a few simple statements: All rights are based on property (including personal rights as your body is your most intimate property). Taxation of any form is theft of property. All activities related to economics should be conducted by the private sector unencumbered by government intrusion or regulation. The buyer is unprotected from anything but outright fraud (if that) and is responsible for his own loss if he is convinced to participate in a poor investment by misleading professionals. People who are capable will rise to the top and the rest are better off dying off and not propagating their genes.

No thanks. I think I prefer a "kinder and gentler government" that cares about people a bit more than that.

>> Once,
>> during a high school debate, a member of our team fell ill and >> I had to argue one side in one debate and the opposite side in >> the other debate. I won both debates. :-)
>
>Cecil is a master debater.

Use the European method of stating that.

Cecil is Master de Bate.

Or, to angelicize that term: Cecil is Master Bate.

Now, if you correct the grammar in that statement adding a required article and matching the tenses, . . . ;-)

>> > >The first step would be requiring healthy people on welfare to actually >> > >do some hard work for that income.
>> >
>> > I agree to an extent--but lacking skills and living in an >> > economically depressed area, who is going to hire them?
>>
>> Remember the CCC camps? My dad cleaned out Colossal Cave in >> Arizona. Now we can't even require prisoners to work.
>
>Something like CCC is one answer. If people can't find work where they >are, with the skills they have, they should go where the work is.
>Cecil, how many times in your life have you moved to follow the work?

How do the poor go about doing so? Simply pack up the family and start hitchhiking with no place to live (and no money to pay for one) when they arrive?

I totally support a revision of our welfare policy and the creation of programs designed to make people self-sufficient (where ever possible, obviously the retarded, the disabled, and the mentally ill can't be expected to be self-sufficient in our society). But the simple elimination of all programs (called for by the Libertarian Party) does nothing to lead to that result--it simply takes the position that everyone can "sink or swim" on their own with no help from the state.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3478. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:08:41 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A9F521F4CF7796B2.FD880F8F40D9EFD3.8612A40114B0DEA2@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26424

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 09:57:09 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>I hate to admit it, but the Chinese have a good idea. The state will support >the first two children. Any more than two and you are on your own. That >would eliminate the women who choose to have kids for the purpose of collecting >welfare on them.

Wrong.

The state will support your FIRST child. If you want a second one, the first one must have died or you must have special permission from the state (needed even if the first child DID die). In the absence of such permission the law instructs the doctor performing the delivery to inject the brain of the breeching baby with formaldehyde, killing it before it is born (under Chinese law, the instant it is born it has all the rights of a citizen and CAN'T be killed).

Would you really care to implement the Chinese (actually,
Communist Chinese, the Chinese in Taiwan have a very different perspective, of course) system here?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3479. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:11:09 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <76BBDFADF4212D1F.5AE1F32CC760AC57.F152D023171D7D95@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26425

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 10:50:15 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
wrote:

>I've heard of trying to squeeze water from a stone. I'd have to think >that squeezing juice from a rope would have to be a pretty close second >to that. But I guess where there's a will there's a way.

You don't make it from the part of the plant that rope is produced from (the stalk), you make it from the flowering tops.

It's no more "odd" than dandelion tea or other herbal teas and wines. The flavor, btw, is not dissimilar to sake, but with a more "herbal" tang.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3480. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:18:11 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uosac$4su$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26429
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C0F2D1B.6D9DEC41@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> >
> > So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with > > another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't
it?
> > BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.
>
> [PKB]

So are you COWARD. Seen* your* letters on the Rain report.

3481. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:29:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0FF153.95117983@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26427

N2EY wrote:
> Cecil, how many times in your life have you moved to follow the work?

Six times, as far as I can recall - two were interstate.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3482. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:32:19 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0FF1F3.EAA60EFC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26428

Rick Adams wrote:
> But according to Cecil we shouldn't be paying for school for > those who can't afford it either.

We'd be doing them a favor. The public schools are a disgrace and a breeding ground for economic collectivism.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3483. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:45:04 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uoshh$5ks$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26430
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9uopk402mqk@enews1.newsguy.com...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9unuggfac5@dosa.alt.net...
>
> > So you ARE an anonymous COWARD. Any "stalking" can be dealt with through > > law enforcement channels, you insufferable dunce.
>
> Give [PKB]

Follow your own advice, child molester.

3484. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:46:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0FF54E.C567E4BD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26432

Rick Adams wrote:
> When the suit is filed, a person would have a choice to have > the trial conducted by the government at fee "X" or by the private > sector at fee "Y" either of which would be binding.

That's the entire point. The private sector would NOT be binding. How can the private sector enforce anything? Again, Mafia?

> >That's their responsibility, Rick, not yours or mine. Let the buyer > >beware.
>
> And his children starve.

If he/she cannot provide for his/her children, take them away and give them to someone who will provide for them (adoption).

> Nothing wrong with that--except that what you are arguing IS > the Libertarian Party position--and you have consistently claimed to > be a practicing Libertarian.

Just because I am a member of the Libertarian party doesn't mean I support all of their policies.

> Gee, if that's the case, since the primary skills needed from > a slave were endurance and physical strength, how is it that the top > competitors in weight lifting, pentathlon, and body building are all > caucasian?

Because the NBA pays better.

> More stereotypes, Cecil. The vast majority of poor people > simply CAN'T find work or support themselves without help.

Show me a poor man who had an 'A' average in high school and who cannot get a job. Most were too lazy in high school to earn
'A's and most are still to lazy to work.

> Is it fair to cost one man a job to give it to someone else?

So you are for paying people to sit on their posteriors so there will be more jobs for everyone else? I'm beginning to understand.

> Or the majority of the population of the US, given the points > you raise. Which means you don't want to be elected to significant > office either.

Yep, like Will Rogers, we would rather be right than be president.
--

cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3485. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:49:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C0FF604.EDDA854C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26433

Rick Adams wrote:
> Would you really care to implement the Chinese (actually,
> Communist Chinese, the Chinese in Taiwan have a very different > perspective, of course) system here?

I would suggest providing welfare and public education only for the first two children. I would suggest providing free tubal ligations and vasectomies after two kids.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3486. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 22:49:45 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <dCSP7.288625$5A3.112334142@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26431
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

Joe, Welcome to rec.radio.cb at it's finest. He is one of the guys that the posters of that NG looks up to, for what I don't know. He can say whatever he wants to you but don't try to say it back they wil be all over you, there are many hypocrites residing there, you have been warned.

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message news:71E8B5A34BC82906.72D2177CEF862180.E4ABE684AFB9FF66@lp.airnews.net...
> On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 14:15:02 GMT, "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
> wrote:
>
> >Hey Joe,
> >Fuck off and die!
>
> Creative. Did you think that one up yourself, or did your mommy tell > it to you?
>
>
>
> Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
> kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3487. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:09:45 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <70658FF5BCD4F6FC.5AA778CDC657C0C6.11056F1018C939F7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26434

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 01:50:03 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> And few, if any, of the wiccan or pagan groups in this country today >can trace their roots back to those ancient religions in Greece or >Rome.

Some can--but for the most part that's true.

Your point being?

>Instead, like I said, these are modern day offshoots of satanic >groups trying to legitimize their existence by claiming to be >descendants of those ancient religions (when no such link to these >religions exists).

That's totally absurd.

Simply because they may not be able to trace a direct lineage, does NOT mean that they don't subscribe to the beliefs of the religion. What on earth justifies the outrageous claim that they are "satanic groups" instead of groups that have no link to Christianity at all?

>And, while doing so, they engage in occult >practices, witchcraft, and other activities commonly associated with >satanism, while engaging in little or no activities commonly >associated with the ancient wiccan or pagan religions.

Those activities are ONLY "associated with satanism" by Christian churches--not by either the participants or the unbiased observer.

If you want to base your definition on unsupported superstitious accusations, go for it--but don't expect educated and unbiased people to agree with those false claims.

Witchcraft, btw, is the Christian term for Wicca. Now would you care to explain how it is you simultaneously claim that the practitioners are not Wiccans but are Witches?

Sort of like claiming someone is not a Christian but IS a Roman Catholic, isn't it?

>Sorry, Rick, it >all comes down to an old saying - if is looks like a duck, walks like >a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

If it looks like a superstitious falsehood, sounds like a superstitious falsehood, distorts the truth like a superstitious falsehood, it . . .

> By the way, you can see for yourself the connection between satanism >and these groups (pagans and wiccans). Go to any internet search >engine, enter "satanism," and watch how many wiccan and pagan web >sites pop up on the list. If these groups have no link to satanism, >why would so many mention satanism on their web sites?

Go to any internet search engine, enter "homosexual" and watch how many Christian web sites pop up on the list. If Christianity doesn't actively promote homosexuality, why would so many mention it on their web sites?

If you really feel that the presence of a number of sites which include a term demonstrates how valid that term is, then do a search on "sex." You'll be amazed to learn that sex is properly conducted with teenage girls and that all women are sluts who exist solely as receptacles for male organs. I'm sure Kim will be happy to know her "real" role in life, but after all--that's what the WEB says it is!

>> (snip) It is a completely false statement
>> perpetuated by the Christian church in an >> attempt to hide the actual nature of the >> religions. (snip)
>
> Well, sorry, my friend. I'm not the "Christian church." I'm a person >with eyes that can see what is right in front of my face. Again, if is >looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

Apparently, you are a person whose eyes see what that WANT to see instead of reality. Wicca has no connection to Satanism whatever--that would necessitate a tie to Christianity, which most Wiccans would (legitimately, I believe) find abhorrent.
>
>> (snip) The pentagram, for your information,
>> was a religious symbol in Egypt, Macedonia,
>> Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and
>> among the Norse peoples-- (snip)
>
> This isn't Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, or India, >Rick. In this country, in modern times, the pentagram and penticle are >used as satanic symbols.

No, Dwight. They aren't. They are CLAIMED to be satanic symbols, but only by the Christian Churches--and there is absolutely no reason to believe them over the people who USE those symbols.

If I state that the crucifix is a satanic symbol does it make it one? If not why does the claim of one religion have the ability to define the symbols of another that doesn't share it's beliefs?

Try using legitimate academic sources for your information about the topic, Dwight, not prejudice and Christian propaganda.

>And both groups (wiccan and pagan) selected >those symbols exactly because of their association to satanism. Once >again, if is looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it...

And again, if you can't be troubled to take the time to learn just how false that statement is, you simply don't have the integrity to discuss a religious concept in the first place. If it lies like a hypocrite, cites like a hypocrite, demands belief like a hypocrite, it
. . .

>> NONE of which groups "stole" it from >> Christianity. (snip)
>
> ?? Did anyone say they did? I know I didn't.

You did.

Satanism was INVENTED by the Judeo-Christian religion. NO religion other than that even believes in the EXISTANCE of a "Satan."
Thus any symbols claimed to belong to Satanism are, by necessity, Christian in nature.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3488. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:10:24 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F6DFB340F47F80B1.3709B53C2DBB14AD.46FBFA9F22F4417A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26435

On Thu, 6 Dec 2001 08:37:17 -0500, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:

>> The area code for Hell is 734.
>
>...and it freezes over every year!

Yup.

According to the weather reports, it should start doing so tomorrow.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3489. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:11:34 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <68673542FE96CBE5.05FE25B1C7AF220E.D830212EAB602323@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26436

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 01:56:50 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Well, to get the connection between the pentagram and satanism out >of my head, you'd have to tell me to ignore several hundred years of >history - that symbol has been used by self proclaimed satanists for >at least that long (possibly longer).

History, Dwight?

Or religious propaganda?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3490. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:13:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <33139E42BBC95B9C.77B83852C75D1D72.581BC62A56AFA5E4@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26438

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 02:36:30 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> And your last name rearranged spells "Sadam."

Were you hoping, perhaps, for it to be satan?

Rick
--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3491. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:13:39 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <DYSP7.288630$5A3.112352903@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26437
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"W6DKN" <w6dkn@qsl.net> wrote in message
> Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some > rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the > license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...
>
> 73 de W6DKN

I agree totally W6DKN, I am sure there a few cops around the country who get over zealous over some things, but do these people honestly think a LEO wants to lose his job over harrasing a Ham or Cb operator. You have got to be kidding me, most police for starters have Mobile Video Recorders in their cars which records the auido and video from a traffic stop. These same cops are out there risking there lives so you can live a safe life, now there out here picking on radio operators etc. I don't know about the rest of you guys but where i am at the cops have more important things to do and when called upon to invesitgate a CB/rfi complaint I am sure they will do what they are trained to do. Before all this can happen towns/States must enacted ordinances etc for the cops to enforce along with these ordinances comes a set of guidelines a SOP(Standard Operating Procedure) must be followed, they will be trained in what to look for, if needed or they may call an expert in to help. You guys are acting like they will send these cops out tearing cars apart without any training in what to look for. Many Leo's are Hams what are you gonna lie to them about? Before a cop uses a gun he is trained with it, before he uses a radar he is trained in its use and the principles of operation, before he goes after gang members he is familiar with there "colors" tatoos, etc. Why will this be any different?
I can see the headlines now.

Rouge Cop Suspended with out pay for false arrest of a suspected "freebander" who had a rci 2950 hidden under his seat along with a Palomar 250. After an investigation was held the cop has been suspended indefinitely since the radio did not have a mike and the operator said he was only listening officer and wasn't able to transmit. But a further review of the suspects vehicle and a power mike turned up in the glove compartment. This is still under investigation, they are going to have an expert come in and check the radio with a Spectro- Goinometer this device will tell when the radio was last keyed and on what frequency.... Stay tuned for details...

3492. Re: TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:25:00 UTC
From: T <tcalof@escape.ca>
Message-ID: <tcalof-5C2DB6.17250006122001@enews.mts.net>
Source record: 26439
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

In article <8f86ecaf.0112052315.3e80bf7f@posting.google.com>,
twithedsmaster@yahoo.com (Twithed's Master) wrote:

> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
> TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT

Your point?

3493. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:25:28 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FC5470D7967145B1.B7911DC0B9595537.7623D44C875A6822@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26440

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 04:15:38 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> Actually, most states still have them, but they're often not based >on age anymore (the appearance of age discrimination). Instead, >they're based on driving competency. Sadly, because these laws are >dependant on the police officer detecting the problem driver, instead >of some type of test, they often don't work until it is too late (an >accident). And the result is exactly the example you gave.

I had precisely that kind of experience yesterday.

My wife and I were driving in Jackson, MI, and came to a stop at a traffic circle. The circle is CLEARLY posted as being one-way (to the right as you approach it), and I was in the left lane intending to enter the circle in it's inner lane (the one that continues around the circle--the outer one exits at the next road). On my right was a Cadillac driven by a very elderly woman--who calmly turned left directly in front of my car and proceeded around the traffic circle in the wrong direction honking at the cars that were coming toward her!

THAT person doesn't belong behind the wheel of a motor vehicle.

I feel sorry for those who, through age or infirmity, have lost the skills or physical capabilities (vision, etc.) necessary to drive a motor vehicle. But feeling sorry for them does NOT mean permitting them to keep driving and endangering others--it means trying to encourage the creation--and use--of better public transportation facilities so that such individuals CAN remain independent yet still not endanger the lives of others.

>> (snip) They were carrying guns and in most cases
>> their fathers were card-carrying NRA members.
>> Let's save the kids in the schools--we'll >> declare the NRA a terrorist organization and >> put all the members in prison for supporting >> terrorism in the United States (snip)
>
>
> The NRA is a political lobbying group, not a group involved in >terrorism. You would have a hard time proving such a charge in court >and I certainly would not want to attempt the arrest of the ten >million or so NRA members based solely on their membership in that >organization. Somehow, I think you would end up with one heck of a >fight on your hands (especially if a few million more gun owners join them).

Under the current law, there is no NEED to prove such organizations to be terrorist organizations. All the President needs to do is state that they are terrorist organizations and it immediately becomes a Federal crime to support that organization in any manner. Theoretically, Wimpus could declare the Democratic party a terrorist organization just before the 2004 general election, and they could not be elected to office (not so far fetched--Hitler did precisely the same thing under similar laws in Germany in 1933-34 with their leading parties). Of course he could face later impeachment (assuming the all-Republican congress was interested in impeaching him, of course), but he could do so legally and use the US armed forces and the DoJ to enforce his ruling.

What's scary is that's not something we can feel confident THIS President wouldn't do.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3494. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:26:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2B2EFCC19BD2211B.0B215F1AE6C8C007.A882E0AE8A8F553C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26441

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 04:24:57 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> My own religion? I didn't know I even had a religion. Care to elaborate?

Are you stating that you are not, and do not identify as, a Christian?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3495. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:26:23 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net>
Source record: 26442
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> > Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some > > rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the > > license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...
> >
> > 73 de W6DKN
>
> I agree totally W6DKN, I am sure there a few cops around the country who get > over zealous over some things, but do these people honestly think a LEO > wants to lose his job over harrasing a Ham or Cb operator. You have got to > be kidding me, most police for starters have Mobile Video Recorders in their > cars which records the auido and video from a traffic stop. These same cops > are out there risking there lives so you can live a safe life, now there out > here picking on radio operators etc. I don't know about the rest of you guys > but where i am at the cops have more important things to do and when called > upon to invesitgate a CB/rfi complaint I am sure they will do what they are > trained to do. Before all this can happen towns/States must enacted > ordinances etc for the cops to enforce along with these ordinances comes a > set of guidelines a SOP(Standard Operating Procedure) must be followed, > they will be trained in what to look for, if needed or they may call an > expert in to help. You guys are acting like they will send these cops out > tearing cars apart without any training in what to look for. Many Leo's are > Hams what are you gonna lie to them about? Before a cop uses a gun he is > trained with it, before he uses a radar he is trained in its use and the > principles of operation, before he goes after gang members he is familiar > with there "colors" tatoos, etc. Why will this be any different?
> I can see the headlines now.
>
> Rouge Cop Suspended with out pay for false arrest of a suspected
> "freebander" who had a rci 2950 hidden under his seat along with a Palomar > 250. After an investigation was held the cop has been suspended indefinitely > since the radio did not have a mike and the operator said he was only > listening officer and wasn't able to transmit. But a further review of the > suspects vehicle and a power mike turned up in the glove compartment. This > is still under investigation, they are going to have an expert come in and > check the radio with a Spectro- Goinometer this device will tell when the > radio was last keyed and on what frequency.... Stay tuned for details...

Who says that he would "arrest". What the normal procedure would be is to take the equipment, issue a court citation then let
the courts and the attorneys settle it out.

This is often what happens when the cop
is not totally familiar with the law or the

ham does not have his license on him.

What you should not do is argue as you are not going to win. The street is not the place to settle such issues, the courts are. And no cop is going to let you get out of control and argue with him. He will call back up and arrest you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance is a crime). You may get the radio back but you will pay a fine for being a jerk.

3496. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:29:09 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A6B45858D89DF4F4.0C2F51F00E234730.A6900C9F8C233837@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26443

On 06 Dec 2001 06:00:02 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Apparently you have no problem with "the end of civilization as we >know it." This begs the question: If civilization as we know it does >end, what kind of civilization would you like to take it's place?

One based on fact, not superstition (read religious dogma & theology); concern for others not selfishness; dedicated to freedom not oppression; and based on the concept that the role of the state is to protect and defend, not to regulate and control consensual behavior. It would be a civilization in which the poet, the writer, and the artist (even the less successful ones) were as respected as the rock star, the politician, or the preacher and on in which prejudice, self-righteousness, and hypocrisy did not exist.

What kind would YOU like?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3497. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:31:49 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <FdTP7.146537$WW.9373558@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26444

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:9f4bfe89.0112061119.6c08fb5@posting.google.com...

>
> Something like CCC is one answer. If people can't find work where they > are, with the skills they have, they should go where the work is.
> Cecil, how many times in your life have you moved to follow the work?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I know, Jim, we can sign up with the Reconstruction and Reclamation Corps, the Reeks and Wrecks. And God Bless You, Mr. Rosewater and Kurt Vonnegut fans everywhere.

3498. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:53:24 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <621D79B42CC29D70.1FF1F29E31F90169.F20D6A65EEB00E70@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26445

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 16:46:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>That's the entire point. The private sector would NOT be binding. How >can the private sector enforce anything? Again, Mafia?

Arbitration is voluntary and private now, Cecil. How can IT be enforced?

Look at it this way. Assume a lawsuit is to be filed that in government run courts would cost 10% in fees and in private courts would cost only 2%. It is your choice where to file the suit. Assume you file it in private court (to which your opponent agrees--and since it is just as much to his benefit as yours to save the difference in the fee, should he lose, he is quite likely to do so). Now assume he loses. He has two choices:

1. Pay the judgement and the 2% fee.

2. Refuse to pay, be sued in government court for the entire amount of the judgement (including the 2% fee, the 10% government fee, and further damages for breach of contract)--a suit effectively proven by simply submitting the (binding) legal decision of the private court and proof that it was not paid--and lose even MORE money.

Which do you think most people would choose?

>> And his children starve.
>
>If he/she cannot provide for his/her children, take them away and >give them to someone who will provide for them (adoption).

Who pays for the cost of taking the children, arguing for a termination of parental rights in court, and insuring that they are placed with a suitable adoptive home? More, who pays the price that will result from teaching children that love is unimportant to the parent/child relationship, only economics matters?

I don't want to pay the second price there, Cecil, and the first cost would be as high as it would to help the family stay together in the first place.

Besides, you seem to feel it's easy to find such adoptive homes. For healthy white babies maybe, but how about for older minority children who may have nutrition related health problems to boot?

Will YOU adopt a few inner city black kids? Will your neighbor? Where are you going to place all those unwanted kids, in orphanages as Newt Gingrich suggested--orphanages that cost far MORE than we would spend to keep the family together and help them get on their feet? Who pays for all that, Cecil, if you are eliminating taxes?

>> Nothing wrong with that--except that what you are arguing IS >> the Libertarian Party position--and you have consistently claimed to >> be a practicing Libertarian.
>
>Just because I am a member of the Libertarian party doesn't mean I support
>all of their policies.

Ok, then take me up on my offer to switch sides and see if you can argue the other side convincingly, as you state you can.

I'm willing to "play" and play is all this particular thread exists for anyway.

>> Gee, if that's the case, since the primary skills needed from >> a slave were endurance and physical strength, how is it that the top >> competitors in weight lifting, pentathlon, and body building are all >> caucasian?
>
>Because the NBA pays better.

But if you aren't genetically equipped for it, as you point out . . .

>> More stereotypes, Cecil. The vast majority of poor people >> simply CAN'T find work or support themselves without help.
>
>Show me a poor man who had an 'A' average in high school and >who cannot get a job. Most were too lazy in high school to earn
>'A's and most are still to lazy to work.

Show me a RICH man who had an 'A' average in high school!

Even with grade inflation, an 'A' is supposed to represent work that is far superior to that expected of the student. If an 'A' is considered a norm, then we are setting our standards FAR too low. A 'C' is "average" and a person who at least achieves that average should be well enough educated to compete in our society--he or she represents the AVERAGE student (or should, if grading is based on realistic expectations).

Sure, the person with the 'A' average will get a job most (not all--there still has to BE a job to "get") of the time. So what? If that person represents only the top 10% of the students (as he or she should), then most people aren't going to be able to compete with him or her. Is THAT the basis you use to determine if people are worthwhile or not? According to that, my son's 3.88 GPA and my own undergraduate one of 3.96 are not adequate (a 4.0 GPA is necessary for an 'A' average--something a LOT easier to earn in graduate studies than in undergrad or high school work). Sorry, Cecil, but you aren't being very realistic there.

>> Is it fair to cost one man a job to give it to someone else?
>
>So you are for paying people to sit on their posteriors so there will >be more jobs for everyone else? I'm beginning to understand.

Nope. I'm for spending money on programs to educate that person so he WILL have a job, to care for the children of a single parent so she can attend school or work, and to insure that those in our society who are incapable for physical or mental reasons of working are cared for in a civilized and compassionate manner.

People have called Islamics "barbarians" in this news group.
In the Islamic faith it is a crime to refuse food or shelter to a person who asks for--and needs--it. Somehow, that seems a lot more "civilized" than they system you call for to me.

>> Or the majority of the population of the US, given the points >> you raise. Which means you don't want to be elected to significant >> office either.
>
>Yep, like Will Rogers, we would rather be right than be president.

You'll also notice that Will Rogers ISN'T President (although in the eighties we had one who thought he was ROY Rogers)--Wimpus is.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3499. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:56:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A2627698E1EEF2E8.993E949F83F53DAA.687ED882ACBEA1EE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26446

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 16:49:40 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>I would suggest providing welfare and public education only for >the first two children. I would suggest providing free tubal >ligations and vasectomies after two kids.

And if a third child is born, should we punish the child by not assisting it? Are the "sins" of the parents to be visited on their children?

I agree about offering free ligations and vasectomies--and I wouldn't require two births (or poverty) for someone to receive them.
EVERY person who receives one contributes to a reduction in population growth. On the other hand, if you're serious about limiting birth among the poor, you need to ALSO offer free birth control, free condoms in the schools, and free abortions as well. And those are things our Religious Right will work very hard to prevent you from doing.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3500. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-06 23:58:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2D604999866E7D2C.C8B5B7133C274EF9.CF7ACE10F5802E90@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26447

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 16:32:19 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>> But according to Cecil we shouldn't be paying for school for >> those who can't afford it either.
>
>We'd be doing them a favor. The public schools are a disgrace >and a breeding ground for economic collectivism.

Yup!

But complete (versus functional) illiteracy isn't exactly the answer either.

How about just improving the schools and eliminating the aspects of public schooling that don't address legitimate educational concerns (morality based education, sports beyond those used for physical health, etc.) instead?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3501. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 00:03:52 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <3C5DF4B0B3B8DEB9.F79906022B8F9781.5A05844DCA2337CD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26448
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 23:13:39 GMT, "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote:

>Before a cop uses a gun he is >trained with it,

I hope they're going to get better training in radio identification than they get in gun handling; I don't want to have to call the chief to get my toaster oven back...after the cop accidentally roasts his hand in it.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3502. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 00:06:52 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C10081C.F9735325@uci.edu>
Source record: 26449

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 10:50:15 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
> wrote:
>
> >I've heard of trying to squeeze water from a stone. I'd have to think > >that squeezing juice from a rope would have to be a pretty close second > >to that. But I guess where there's a will there's a way.
>
> You don't make it from the part of the plant that rope is > produced from (the stalk), you make it from the flowering tops.
>
> It's no more "odd" than dandelion tea or other herbal teas and > wines. The flavor, btw, is not dissimilar to sake, but with a more > "herbal" tang.
>
> Rick

Don't you think pot wine is even a little odd?

"Ahhh saay it's a joke, son"

3503. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 00:19:19 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C100B07.C3E60827@uci.edu>
Source record: 26450

Rick Adams wrote:
> Come to think of it, we didn't--he's President because > of election fraud in the State where his brother is Governor, isn't
> he?

No. That's simply an underinformed misconception, regurgitated perpetually by liberal malcontents, against mountainous evidence to the contrary, in hopes that repetition will cause reality to invert itself. Shirley you knew that, Rick.

3504. Re: TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOTTRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 00:46:30 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <GjUP7.12638$MX1.4165098@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 26551
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.shortwave,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"T" <tcalof@escape.ca> wrote in message news:tcalof-5C2DB6.17250006122001@enews.mts.net...
> In article <8f86ecaf.0112052315.3e80bf7f@posting.google.com>,
> twithedsmaster@yahoo.com (Twithed's Master) wrote:
>
> > TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A
> > FAGGOT, TRAIN IS A FAGGOT
>
> Your point?

I think he is hoping to have sex with me.....Not happening! The only other thing i can think of is that with cold weather setting in for the winter he is implying that I am a bundle of wood and he wants me for his fireplace......Still not going to happen!
Train

3505. kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 01:17:10 UTC
From: Lightbulbs <taktango6000@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <qMUP7.34075$WC1.3486408@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26552
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

From the ARRL web:

FCC Focusing on Role of Former Licensee as Contest Op

NEWINGTON, CT, Dec 5, 2001--The FCC is looking into whether a South Carolina amateur broke any rules when he let former licensee Herb Schoenbohm, ex-KV4FZ, operate during a recent contest. Stephen S. Reichlyn, AA4V, rented and operated from Schoenbohm's station in the US Virgin Islands as AA4V/KP2 during the CQ World Wide SSB Contest the weekend of October 27-28.
After the FCC was alerted to the operation, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth wrote Reichlyn on November 13. He requested further information on the role of the "former licensee" whose location and equipment Reichlyn had used. Although the letter did not mention Schoenbohm by name, Hollingsworth subsequently confirmed to the ARRL that Schoenbohm was, indeed, the "former licensee" in question.
Following a legal odyssey that lasted more than five years and ended at the doorstep of the US Supreme Court, the FCC was successful last year in its efforts to deny Schoenbohm's Amateur Radio license renewal application. The FCC had turned down Schoenbohm's application citing his 1992 felony conviction on federal fraud charges and on character issues. His interim operating authority expired earlier this year.

Hollingsworth's letter was prompted by an e-mail said to have been authored by Reichlyn that outlined Schoenbohm's role. The information in the e-mail--forwarded to the FCC by another amateur--suggested that Reichlyn may have let Schoenbohm operate while Reichlyn was absent or asleep and in violation of FCC rules governing third-party communications.
FCC rules consider an unlicensed individual who communicates via Amateur Radio to be a third party and require that a licensed control operator be present at the control point, "continuously monitoring and supervising the third party's participation." Such a third party also may not exchange messages with stations in countries with which the US does not have a third-party traffic agreement. That list includes the UK and most of Europe.
The FCC also may have to consider how its refusal to renew Schoenbohm's license affects his legal status as a third party. An individual whose license was revoked or suspended or surrendered for cancellation following revocation, suspension or fine--or who is under a cease-and-desist order relating to amateur operation--may not serve as a third party at an Amateur Radio station.

In his November 13 letter, Hollingsworth asked Reichlyn to list specific operating times and operators, to describe his "exact location" during times AA4V/KP2 was on the air and to detail when he was asleep while others operated. Hollingsworth also asked for a copy of the AA4V/KP2 contest log and for records of any other transmissions made as AA4V/KP2 between October 1 and November 5.

Reichlyn responded November 18 with a five-page explanation and more than 150 log pages of his contest and non-contest operation from the US Virgin Islands this fall. The FCC provided copies of Reichlyn's letter and some of the log pages to the ARRL at the League's request.
Reichlyn confirmed that he had rented Schoenbohm's station for the event and that he and another operator planned to travel to the US Virgin Islands to participate in the contest. When the other operator had to back out at the last minute, Reichlyn opted to attempt a solo operation. During the contest, however, he asked Schoenbohm to fill in briefly on two occasions, Reichlyn said--for about an hour and a half on October 27 and again the next day for about a half hour. He said Schoenbohm "was fully supervised by me as I was resting in the same room" on both occasions.

Reichlyn said Schoenbohm agreed "reluctantly" to spell him when he was not feeling well and on the second occasion while he "ate and rested." He said no one but he and Schoenbohm operated during the event, and that, to his knowledge, Schoenbohm never used the station without his supervision and oversight.

Reichlyn said he "certainly would not have asked him [Schoenbohm] to help me" if he had any reason to believe it might violate FCC rules. He also pointed out that Schoenbohm would not be likely to risk any violations himself since he had taken an Amateur Radio exam since losing his license and was "awaiting a favorable ruling on his license application" from the FCC. Schoenbohm vowed last year to return to Amateur Radio. Hollingsworth confirmed that Schoenbohm's license application is pending within the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau.
"It is now obvious to me that perhaps my choice of using Mr. Schoenbohm as a relief operator was poor but nonetheless, I would not have knowingly jeopardized my license to achieve a higher score in a radio contest or for any other reason."
Reichlyn, who said he's been licensed since 1967, told Hollingsworth that he would cooperate with the FCC in resolving the investigation. Hollingsworth told the ARRL that the case remains open and the inquiry continues.

---------- end bulletin ----------

As far as I am concerned this whole thing stinks on ice and Herbie is the smelly fish! There is no doubt in my mind that Herbie used this guy Reichlyn to do an "end run" to get back on the air to stir up shit. That's what Herb knows best how to do you know!

3506. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 01:47:42 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9up73g01b00@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 26553

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:F6DFB340F47F80B1.3709B53C2DBB14AD.46FBFA9F22F4417A@lp.airnews.net...
> On Thu, 6 Dec 2001 08:37:17 -0500, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
> wrote:
>
> >> The area code for Hell is 734.
> > >
> > >...and it freezes over every year!
> >
> > Yup.
> >
> > According to the weather reports, it should start doing so > > tomorrow.
> >
> > Rick

Should have done so by now. Here in Pittsburgh, we've had record highs.

3507. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:08:19 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C10248A.1A47610A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26554

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 04:24:57 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> > My own religion? I didn't know I even had a religion. Care to elaborate?
>
> Are you stating that you are not, and do not identify as, a > Christian?
>
> Rick

I think that you've missed the humor, Rick. Dwight doesn't know of a religion called "Stewartism".

Dave K8MN

3508. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:25:42 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c10270d.2124371@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26555
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 23:47:42 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH"
<kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:

>On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 04:08:35 GMT, billsohl@mindspring.com (Bill Sohl)
>wrote:
>
>>On Tue, 04 Dec 2001 18:08:27 -0600, "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" >><kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote:
>
>>>If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a >>>legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable >>>cause to search.
>>
>>The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
>>a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>
>Maybe not, but it's easy to walk into a truck stop that sells the >things, take a few polaroids, and issue them to the beat officers for >comparison. They're still not going to catch the guy with a modified
>'normal' rig, but they'll be able to spot the 'export' radios.

Just how many different LEGAL rigs are there anyway? Must be hundreds since CBs have been made for years by many diffenernt companies. Many are out of buisness. My point is that there isn't any COMPLETE list of "legal" CB rigs to begin with.

>As far as other services, there's only one mobile FRS rig that I'm >aware of, and for any service requiring a license, they can look at >the license.

You do NOT need a license to have a rig that is legal for other services. Many ham rigs, especially older ones, can broadcast on CB frequencies without ANY mods at all. Owning one is neither illegal, nor is it prima facia evidence of any illegal operation.

>OTOH, if you're using an export CB as your mobile 10m rig, I'd >recommend having a copy of the applicable sections of Part 97 in the >glovebox anyway.

See the problem? Odds are the ordinance (assuming it is true) is NOT targeted at mobile ops at all, but rather the illegal home illegal CB operator...AND that is where the access issue runs up against the search warrant issue, etc.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3509. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:29:09 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c1028c1.2561068@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26556
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 15:10:31 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> >>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make >> >>any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local >> >>atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause >> >>submitted before a judge.
>> >
>> >If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a >> >legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable >> >cause to search.
>>
>> The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't >> a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>
>Actually they can. It is the type acceptance >plate on the back of the radio.

So now a citizen has to take a rado out of the car to allow a cop to look for the acceptance tag? Not likly to stand up in court as any reasonable request based on probable cause.

> If it (type acceptance plate) is not there,
>then make the arrest.

Easy enough to peel one off another radio too :-)

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3510. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:33:46 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c1029d6.2837853@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26557
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 14:32:14 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> > >
>> > >
>> > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't >> > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>> > > >
>> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
>> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
>> > > > then make the arrest.
>> > >
>> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
>> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of >> > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
>> > >
>> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
>> >
>> > That is what happens in my state with respect
>> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
>> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
>> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
>> > members.
>>
>> What state do you live in? Russia? Sure must suck
>> to be you! Here they look at you suspiciously
>> if you _don't_ have at least a deer rifle in the car!
>
>Indiana. We have one of the most pro gun set of >laws in the country. One of the oldest personal >protection permits. But you had better have a >permit if you have a handgun in the vehicle.
>
>Rifles and shotguns are a bit different. Even a kid >can have one, if he has written permission from his >parents. But too many have gone to jail because >dad left his handgun in the car.

All not relavant since the rules/laws for possession of radios is not at all similar. Indeed, no state has a law that requires having a license to have any of the CB radios or FRS radios. A few (less than 10) states prohibit having a radio receiver capable of receieving police (public frequencies) in the car.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3511. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:37:59 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c102ae7.3111284@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26558
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Wed, 05 Dec 2001 15:17:31 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> >RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
>>
>> Posted by a ham operator. Typical.
>>
>> If you're a ham (as I am), you really shouldn't be gloating over this.
>>
>> Do you think the average traffic cop can tell the difference between a CB >> antenna and a ham antenna? Will he be able to tell your HR2600 10m mobile from >> a Galaxy "export" CB? Doubtful.
>>
>> These new "local yokel" anti-CB laws are BAD NEWS for ALL operators of mobile >> radio equipment. Just another excuse for unwarranted police harrassment.
>> Anyone with an antenna will now be suspect.
>
>He pulls you over. Sees the radio, asks for >a ham license. In most states it is already >illegal to have radios that can listen to police
>bands in cars if you do not have a license
>so they just "expand" the law a bit. No license >then you and the car are off the street.
>
>Let the lawyers settle this. The police have >radio techs who can determine if a radio
>is illegal.

So is that radio tech cop going to train all the beat cops to "recognize" illegal CB rigs? Not likly.

>And the police might even start
>having military style signal intelligence units
>to monitor radio traffic, to include cell phones.

Not likly, too expensive and very little payback in either positive public relations or in cash flow for convictions. Local police forces just don't care about this stuff...nor should they.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3512. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:39:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c102b1c_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26560

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C0F0327.267492CB@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > You guys must be a lot more "aware" of > > situations where litigation is a > > prohibitive for having business lunches.
> > I have female supervisors, married ones
> > at that, who have business lunches every > > day with their married, male subordinates.
> > There are lunches, every day, where > > married men and women go alone with each > > other--just for the heck of it.
>
>
> And just wait until one of those women realises she can sue the > company, and that 99% of the time the company will fire the male > employee and settle with the woman, to see how fast that situation > ends. It's going on from one end of the country to the other.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Sorry, Dwight. I think what you've got there is nothing more than a red herring. Imagination at best, paranoia at worst. There are female bosses, males bosses, everywhere, every day that must deal with the opposite sex as either their superior or employee.

Just today, my supervisor (a male) spent the better part of this afternoon behind closed doors with his manager (a woman). After she left, it was time to go home, but not before I spent a few moments with my supervisor (again, a man) behind closed doors. Imaginative, immature minds would call him a lucky man.

I don't believe anything is going on "from one end of the country to the other." Most of us are far more adult than that.

Kim W5TIT

3513. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:41:31 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c102bbd.3325004@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26559
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 05:21:15 GMT, "W6DKN" <w6dkn@qsl.net> wrote:

>"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
>news:MkzP7.102029$8n4.6420029@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
>> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk
>> having your equipment >> damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am th' law 'round >hyar,
>> boy) to take >> time to examine your papers and find out that you are not doing anything >> wrong? I don't think >> so--not me. If some rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s)
>> while ignoring the license
>> I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue
>the >> SOB and his agency
>> and cause him as much trouble as I can.
>>
>> Jerry
>
>Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some >rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the >license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...

Until the FCC exempted ham transcievers, there were a handful of states where that could and did happen...with both mobile rigs and HTs in some cases. NJ changed its own law several years before preemption by the FCC. Once the law was changed, one case that had been pending against a NJ ham was dropped.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3514. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:41:50 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c102bb1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26561

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C0F149F.FFEC859@sccoast.net...
>
> By the way, you can see for yourself the connection between satanism > and these groups (pagans and wiccans). Go to any internet search > engine, enter "satanism," and watch how many wiccan and pagan web > sites pop up on the list. If these groups have no link to satanism, > why would so many mention satanism on their web sites?
>

Well, hands down...there's proof postive fer ya.

Good grief, Dwight.

Kim W5TIT

3515. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:42:48 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c102bea_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26563

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C0F1635.C8E9B5FE@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > I think someone, maybe even you, was > > making the point that something shaped > > like a pentagram was satanic. The > > Pentagon building, shaped as it is,
> > holds the foundation for a pentagram,
> > does it not?
>
>
> I never made any such claim. I said the pentagram itself was a > satanic symbol.
>
>
> > It was a stab at trying to get the > > equation of pentagram=satanic out of > > the holder's head...because it's hogwash.
>
>
> Well, to get the connection between the pentagram and satanism out > of my head, you'd have to tell me to ignore several hundred years of > history - that symbol has been used by self proclaimed satanists for > at least that long (possibly longer).
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

It's also been used in religious, Masonic, etc., circles, so you'd better dodge them too.

Kim W5TIT

3516. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:45:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c102c74_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26564

Man, you got that right, Dwight. Hrrrmpphhh.

Kim W5TIT

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C0F3AA6.3EAFBD72@sccoast.net...
> Jim Kelley wrote:
> >
> > That's almost right. Ask MOST any Arab, and
> > he'll tell you that he was told by his imam
> > he should be angry and hateful. The reason?
> > Well it's because there's a great satan -
> > sorta like the boogie man, only meaner. You > > see, he must rely on his religious leaders
> > for all his information because he's too
> > illiterate to discover the truth for himself.
> > Of course even if he can read, the Arab > > press will tell him that he should be angry
> > and hateful.
>
>
> Sounds a little like our own country, doesn't it? Replace "imam"
> with "government," "religious leaders" with "political leaders," and > the "Arab press" with the "American press."
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3517. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:46:55 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c102c6d.3500641@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26562
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 23:13:39 GMT, "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote:

>"W6DKN" <w6dkn@qsl.net> wrote in message
>> Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some >> rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the >> license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...
>> 73 de W6DKN
>
>I agree totally W6DKN, I am sure there a few cops around the country who get >over zealous over some things, but do these people honestly think a LEO >wants to lose his job over harrasing a Ham or Cb operator. You have got to >be kidding me,

I generally agree with that which is why most every LEO wouldn't even attempt to get involved in such silliness.

>most police for starters have Mobile Video Recorders in their >cars which records the auido and video from a traffic stop. These same cops >are out there risking there lives so you can live a safe life, now there out >here picking on radio operators etc. I don't know about the rest of you guys >but where i am at the cops have more important things to do and when called >upon to invesitgate a CB/rfi complaint I am sure they will do what they are >trained to do.

Ditto my above.

>Before all this can happen towns/States must enacted >ordinances etc for the cops to enforce along with these ordinances comes a >set of guidelines a SOP(Standard Operating Procedure) must be followed,
>they will be trained in what to look for, if needed or they may call an >expert in to help. You guys are acting like they will send these cops out >tearing cars apart without any training in what to look for.

Which is why most localities will NOT enact such ordinances...the cost vs return on investment isn't worth it.

>Many Leo's are
>Hams what are you gonna lie to them about?

Very few cops are hams as a percent of all cops.

>Before a cop uses a gun he is >trained with it, before he uses a radar he is trained in its use and the >principles of operation, before he goes after gang members he is familiar >with there "colors" tatoos, etc. Why will this be any different?

>I can see the headlines now.
>
> Rouge Cop Suspended with out pay for false arrest of a suspected
>"freebander" who had a rci 2950 hidden under his seat along with a Palomar
>250. After an investigation was held the cop has been suspended indefinitely >since the radio did not have a mike and the operator said he was only >listening officer and wasn't able to transmit. But a further review of the >suspects vehicle and a power mike turned up in the glove compartment. This >is still under investigation, they are going to have an expert come in and >check the radio with a Spectro- Goinometer this device will tell when the >radio was last keyed and on what frequency.... Stay tuned for details...

You make the case for exactly why the LEOs don't need or want to get involved in FCC matters.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3518. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:48:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c102d56_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26566

"Sean G Gilley" <uem@mycroft.cmhnet.org> wrote in message news:ff37aa44.0112061023.50d61cc4@posting.google.com...
> Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:<3C0EF426.7EB131F5@sccoast.net>...
> > Sean G Gilley wrote:
> > > But I
> > > really believe that if two employees being > > > involved in a civil lawsuit was commonplace,
> > > I would've heard about it. (snip)
> >
> >
> > Yea, like several thousand you did not hear about. According to an > > Stars & Stripes article I read a few years ago, there have been over > > 200 sexual harassment lawsuits brought against the military alone. And > > I'd speculate there has been several thousand brought against > > companies over the last few decades. And you've never heard of these > > lawsuits? Where have you been, Sean?
>
> I meant within the companies that I worked for.
>
> However, by far, the majority of those cases have nothing to do with > casual contact between peers -- or even casual contact between > employer and employee. The majority of the cases brought for sexual > harassment have to do with an employer or manager harassing an > employee in some manner. That manner may include being asked out to > lunch or something like that, but that sort of activity is rarely > the base of the lawsuit.
>
> If there was a female empoyee at my company that I saw often or worked > with often, I wouldn't be worried about hasassment for asking her to > lunch with me any more than I'd worry about the same if I asked a > male employee to go to lunch.
>
> That's what I thought we were discussing -- casual lunches and other casual > contacts between a male and female.
>
> Sean.

I think we are, too, Sean.

Kim W5TIT

3519. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:52:40 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c102db8.3832015@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26565
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 23:26:23 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> > Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some
>> > rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the >> > license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...
>> >
>> > 73 de W6DKN
>>
>> I agree totally W6DKN, I am sure there a few cops around the country who get >> over zealous over some things, but do these people honestly think a LEO >> wants to lose his job over harrasing a Ham or Cb operator. You have got to >> be kidding me, most police for starters have Mobile Video Recorders in their >> cars which records the auido and video from a traffic stop. These same cops >> are out there risking there lives so you can live a safe life, now there out >> here picking on radio operators etc. I don't know about the rest of you guys >> but where i am at the cops have more important things to do and when called >> upon to invesitgate a CB/rfi complaint I am sure they will do what they are >> trained to do. Before all this can happen towns/States must enacted >> ordinances etc for the cops to enforce along with these ordinances comes a >> set of guidelines a SOP(Standard Operating Procedure) must be followed,
>> they will be trained in what to look for, if needed or they may call an >> expert in to help. You guys are acting like they will send these cops out >> tearing cars apart without any training in what to look for. Many Leo's are >> Hams what are you gonna lie to them about? Before a cop uses a gun he is >> trained with it, before he uses a radar he is trained in its use and the >> principles of operation, before he goes after gang members he is familiar >> with there "colors" tatoos, etc. Why will this be any different?
>> I can see the headlines now.
>>
>> Rouge Cop Suspended with out pay for false arrest of a suspected
>> "freebander" who had a rci 2950 hidden under his seat along with a Palomar
>> 250. After an investigation was held the cop has been suspended indefinitely >> since the radio did not have a mike and the operator said he was only >> listening officer and wasn't able to transmit. But a further review of the >> suspects vehicle and a power mike turned up in the glove compartment. This >> is still under investigation, they are going to have an expert come in and >> check the radio with a Spectro- Goinometer this device will tell when the >> radio was last keyed and on what frequency.... Stay tuned for details...
>
>Who says that he would "arrest". What the >normal procedure would be is to take the >equipment, issue a court citation then let
>the courts and the attorneys settle it out.

Cops don't last long if that's the way they handle the job.

>This is often what happens when the cop
>is not totally familiar with the law

Cops that aren't familiar with particular laws don't usually bother trying to enforce them.

>...or the ham does not have his license on him.

Hams don't need licenses to POSSESS ham
equipment.

>What you should not do is argue as you are >not going to win. The street is not the place >to settle such issues, the courts are. And no >cop is going to let you get out of control and >argue with him. He will call back up and arrest >you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance >is a crime). You may get the radio back but >you will pay a fine for being a jerk.

No one is suggesting such resistance. The issue is that there is no complete body of information that would ever "guarantee" proper enfocement because there are just too manny types of legal radios out there now.
The cops would rather write 5 speeding tickets than deal with one convuluted "illegal" radio summons.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3520. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 02:55:20 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c102f04.4163898@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26567
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 14:42:55 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk
>> having your equipment damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am
>> th' law 'round hyar, boy) to take time to examine your papers and find out >> that you are not doing anything wrong? I don't think so--not me. If some >> rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the license
>> I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue the >> SOB and his agency
>> and cause him as much trouble as I can.
>
>If you can not afford to have attorneys then
>you really should not be in either the radio
>hobby or in the shooting hobbies. Modern >America requires that you have an attorney
>for everything you do.
>
>And the cops do not hassle decent people, >especially if they know them. What cops >go after are those who look like they are
>trouble makers.
>
>Drive a decent, newer car but not too expensive.

That is SICK! Why should the car I drive impose ANY extra scrutiny of me as an individual... unless the car itself is patently illegal to be on the road.

>Dress well, a bit conservative. Wear short hair and >avoid the hillbilly beard look.

Pathetic!

>Learn to speak as >if you were college educated. Do that and the cops
>generally leave you alone.

How do the cops know how anyone speaks?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3521. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 03:07:57 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp@msn.com>
Message-ID: <319f0406015193daafabfa88b8465440@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 26568
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Lightbulbs" <taktango6000@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:qMUP7.34075$WC1.3486408@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> From the ARRL web:

(massive BS snippage)
> --------------- end bulletin ---------------
>
> As far as I am concerned this whole thing stinks on ice and Herbie is
the smelly fish!
> There is no doubt in my mind that Herbie used this guy Reichlyn to do an "end run" to get > back on the air to stir up shit. That's what Herb knows best how to do you know!
>
>

The B.A.R.F. position is this. It's no one's business! Why cant you guys leave him alone! Some of you folks get hardons when you hear Herb!

Some of you people just enjoy beating dead horse's dont you?

--
Lloyd Davies,
B.A.R.F. Chief of Communications
http://www.angelfire.com/in/w9xn/
http://www.anglefire.com/al/sj61 - Under development

3522. USA bans 6th plank!!!!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 03:23:29 UTC
From: Dave or Debby <truth@planetc.com>
Message-ID: <3c1038e2@news.planetc.com>
Source record: 26569
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

NO, you COMMUNISTS are on da way OUT of the world!!!!!!!!
Dave!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

"dweebo Spanka!" <oldkeykollekter@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:b71d3652.0112040834.63c588b1@posting.google.com...
> MORE TO COME!!! YOU KEYCLOWNS ARE ON THE WAY OUT!
>
>
>
> N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:<3C0B8E50.56C82205@gte.net>...
> > RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
> >
> >
> >
> > Tacoma Washington may be the first city to prohibit Class D 11 meter C-B
> >
> > operators from using non-FCC certified transmitting equipment. Adopted > > last September 12th but only now becoming widely known, Tacoma City > > Ordinance 26851 amends Chapter 8.38 of their Municipal Code in two ways.
> >
> > First is Section 8.38.010 which directly prohibits use of non-approved > > radio equipment by CB'ers. And if a CB'er breaks the new law he or she > > is subject to Section
> >
> > 8.38.020. This makes using such a radio a misdemeanor punishable to a > > fine of up to $500, and/or up to 6 month imprisonment.
> >
> >
> >
> > Tacoma enacted Ordinance 26851 based on an earlier amendment to the > > Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which was adopted by Congress a > > couple of years ago. As this was a Congressional action, not an FCC > > action, any challenges by C-B operators to the new Tacoma local law > > would have to go through the federal courts. As far as we can > > determine, the new law is carefully crafted to affect only C-B operators
> >
> > and no other radio operators in the Tacoma area. (Various news sources)
> >
> >
> >
> > **
> > ftp://ftp.arnewsline.org/quincy/News/news.txt

3523. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 03:24:47 UTC
From: twiddle twat <capfoghuskyo@aol.com>
Message-ID: <3EWP7.8508$714.790416@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26570
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message news:319f0406015193daafabfa88b8465440@spamfreenews.com...
>
> Some of you folks get hardons when you hear Herb!
>
> Some of you people just enjoy beating dead horse's dont you?
> --
> Lloyd Davies,
> B.A.R.F. Chief of Communications
> http://www.angelfire.com/in/w9xn/
> http://www.anglefire.com/al/sj61 - Under development

Actually Lloyd, I get a hardon when I see things like this --> http://ww3.voyeurweb.com/main/Prc49/Ps46204mbsGG/index.html

MUCH BETTER than listing to the old fartknockers on ham radio, don't U agree??

3524. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 03:47:05 UTC
From: Pancho Hernandez <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> Message-ID: <9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26571
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> I wish that I'd have > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so I can > record very soon.
>
You are seriously misinformed if you think Riley Hollingsworth would accept any tape recordings from you. You have been the recipient of several warnings from Hollingsworth. Therefore my boy, you must be very stupid indeed, if you think you have even a shred of credibility with Hollingsworth. Put in simple language you might be able to understand. You are a known repeat violator of FCC rules and regulations my boy!!!!!! Now, would you like for us to post all your warning letters from Hollingsworth? so everyone can see what a fool you are Roger? Go back to playing on your CB radio. That is more akin to your level of expertise butthole!!!!!!!!!!

3525. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:07:38 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net>
Message-ID: <egXP7.4480$xy4.1674762434@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 26574
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

What he is saying is correct. Most police officers (while in their heart they think that what they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
is merely an inconvenience to someone.
NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he thinks is right.

Landshark

--
"BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net...
>
> Who says that he would "arrest". What the > normal procedure would be is to take the > equipment, issue a court citation then let
> the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
>
> This is often what happens when the cop
> is not totally familiar with the law or the > ham does not have his license on him.
>
> What you should not do is argue as you are > not going to win. The street is not the place > to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> cop is going to let you get out of control and > argue with him. He will call back up and arrest
> you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance
> is a crime). You may get the radio back but > you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
>
>
>

3526. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:09:13 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <9C8DCD64ECBBBC06.36EA405524D49DF3.9F264AA8E825E332@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26572

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 16:06:52 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
wrote:

>Don't you think pot wine is even a little odd?

Actually, if pot was legal you would probably see a lot more of it--and to be honest I'd very much prefer that to be the case. The only _actual_ harm done to the body by pot results from inhaling the smoke. By drinking pot wine, the ability to control the dosage that is inherent in smoking it still remains (it doesn't if it is taken in pill form as Marinol is today) and to use it in a social setting is maintained, but the health risk is eliminated.

Btw, as I recall (it HAS been a _long_ time <sigh>), it goes quite well with cheese and wine, and is a comfortable accompaniment to seafood, particularly lobster and crab. Because it's fairly dry (i.e., similar to a white Bordeaux but, of course, not as rich in texture or fruitiness) it doesn't overpower the delicate flavors of foods or overcome the sweetness of warmed lemon-butter.

>"Ahhh saay it's a joke, son"

Nope--I save that line for the marijuana laws!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3527. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:11:55 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AA572B4FB22C1EC7.47D453CF94D51FD6.2BAC48DE64699925@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26573

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 16:19:19 -0800, Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
wrote:

>No. That's simply an underinformed misconception, regurgitated >perpetually by liberal malcontents, against mountainous evidence to the >contrary, in hopes that repetition will cause reality to invert itself.
>Shirley you knew that, Rick.

Ok, then he's president because the people of the United States were not presented any intelligent options and chose what they (perhaps wrongly) perceived as the lesser of two evils--the way we decide MOST elections in recent years.

It's a scary thought to realize that we've gone _downhill_ from Bill Clinton in our choice of dictators, er leaders.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3528. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:31:38 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <19DD021186F168A6.C09669506FA38733.C93E15CF68DC3FFD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26575

On Thu, 6 Dec 2001 20:41:50 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
>news:3C0F149F.FFEC859@sccoast.net...
>>
>> By the way, you can see for yourself the connection between satanism >> and these groups (pagans and wiccans). Go to any internet search >> engine, enter "satanism," and watch how many wiccan and pagan web >> sites pop up on the list. If these groups have no link to satanism, >> why would so many mention satanism on their web sites?
>>
>
>Well, hands down...there's proof postive fer ya.

Hey, Kim.

I just did a search (using Copernic Pro 2000 to be sure I hit all the good engines) on "Kim" and "TIT."

I didn't know you were a busty twenty-something blonde breast fighter in Detroit!

All these secrets being kept from us are FINALLY being revealed by the TRUE LIGHT cast by the Internet search engines!

ALL HAIL GOOGLE--GOD OF KNOWLEDGE!

>Good grief, Dwight.

Be respectful, Kim. Dwight is a sports celebrity! From 1988 to 1993 he was one of the top five basketball scorers at Florida International University (number one most of those years!) where he proudly wore his number 15.

Cecil is going to have a fit over that one though, since the pictures make it clear he's not only a basketball champ but he's black as well.

What makes his success even more amazing is that he was born (in Stockton, CA, btw) in 1948, making him 44 years old the last year he was scoring champion--AND that he was already supporting a family in 1971 yet was still able to start college on a basketball scholarship in 1988!

Of course, he must not have completed his major, since he also attended the University of Arkansas from 1992 to 1995 (put on a bit of weight in his pictures there, too) when he became a professional basketball player (I guess Cecil is going to use this to prove his point about the NBA) playing for Yugoslavia originally, then Poland and other nations.

Damn, Dwight, we didn't know we had such a sports hero among us! But, we do now--the Internet never lies!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3529. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:34:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <263E4311D2D15723.0F39600C9A1A473C.01942BAEA321ED60@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26576

On Thu, 6 Dec 2001 20:47:42 -0500, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:

>Should have done so by now. Here in Pittsburgh, we've had record highs.

Same here. Right now it's 38 outside--unseasonably warm, but still as cold as Hell!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3530. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:39:36 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <41533AE385611E8B.B5A2361EBB87651E.D2EC66138F6E9A03@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26577

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 02:08:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I think that you've missed the humor, Rick. Dwight doesn't know of a >religion called "Stewartism".

He should--it only took me a few minutes to get five hits on "Stewartism" in Copernic, and he gets all his religious knowledge from the Internet, so . . .

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3531. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:43:52 UTC
From: JR <radiobur@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F90FE.2D861CC0@mailcity.net>
Source record: 26578
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Bill Sohl wrote:

> Hams don't need licenses to POSSESS ham
> equipment.

Let's see, if you are a ham then you have a license. What are you trying to say?

3532. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 04:50:54 UTC
From: JR <radiobur@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C0F92A4.13705D1C@mailcity.net>
Source record: 26579
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

KC8JBO wrote:

>
> So are you COWARD. Seen* your* letters on the Rain report.

Which letters woger? Be specific now, exactly which of my letters have you seen on the Rain report?

3533. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 05:30:26 UTC
From: voobner@yahoo.com
Message-ID: <fbc7a2.0112062130.7274ff8d@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26580
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Landshark" S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net wrote
> What he is saying is correct. Most police >officers (while in their heart they think that what >they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper >training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
>can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
>is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is >one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to >tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you >say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he >thinks is right.
>
> Landshark

Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more illegally-minded CBers in this thread.

The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma Ordinance)

Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile rigs.

If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying (can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another town.

-Aaron-

3534. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 06:11:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C105D7E.56103F7D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26581

Rick Adams wrote:
> Look at it this way. Assume a lawsuit is to be filed that in > government run courts would cost 10% in fees and in private courts > would cost only 2%.

There's no such thing as a private court of law. Law, by definition, is the bailiwick of the government. The best a "private court" would be able to do is a gentleman's agreement. But how would you enforce the agreement without help from the government? Mafia?

> I don't want to pay the second price there, Cecil, ...

There's an easy solution. We will have a referendum. Everybody who votes your way gets to pay for the desired result. Everybody who votes my way doesn't have to pay anything. What do you think the vote would be?

> Show me a RICH man who had an 'A' average in high school!

I'm rich compared to the average person on this planet and I was a member of the National Honor Society.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3535. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 06:12:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C105DE0.7109F1C1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26582

Rick Adams wrote:
> And if a third child is born, should we punish the child by > not assisting it? Are the "sins" of the parents to be visited on their > children?

Yes. The problem will never be solved otherwise.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3536. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 06:15:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C105E8E.AB3AD69A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26583

Krell wrote:
>
> "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> > According to the weather reports, it should start doing so > > tomorrow.
>
> Should have done so by now. Here in Pittsburgh, we've had record highs.

Here in East Texas the leaves are starting to change colors but I ran the air conditioning today.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3537. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 08:12:55 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <bS_P7.842$K%4.176931@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 26584
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Aaron H. Voobner" <voobner@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:fbc7a2.0112062130.7274ff8d@posting.google.com...

> Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant > attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more > illegally-minded CBers in this thread.
>
> The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw
> CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference > complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so > the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused > this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw > CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma > Ordinance)
>
> Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions > about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile > rigs.
>
> If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying > (can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't > tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got > troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another > town.
>
> -Aaron-

Amen. Like the old saying goes, to all those that this law will affect, - "You made your own bed, now lie in it" 'Nuff said...

73 de W6DKN

3538. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 09:21:31 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1089E2.83EFA656@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26585

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote..
> >
> > Deterrence is only one aspect of the > > death penalty - it also serves as just > > punishment for a serious crime [...]
>
> Out of curiosity, could you explain why > killing someone is a just punishment
> for a crime?

Well, killing someone who has wrongly killed certainly seems like an equitable, and therefore just, punishment. Why would you see that as unjust?

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3539. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 09:34:04 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C108CD0.B87E7E1B@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26586

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote...
> ?
> > I don't "wish" to believe anything.
> > I want to see evidence and I've seen > > none to support an argument for or > > against.
>
> http://www.polyamory.org/
> http://www.nasca.com/
> http://www.ejhs.org/volume3/swing/body.htm
>
> Hope they help,

Well, not really that helpful. I was hoping for a little less biased information. The three sites you offered are all sites supporting polygamous relationships (which is a little like sending a person to KKK sites to find out the truth about KKK groups). Thanks anyway, though.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3540. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 09:43:41 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C108F0D.C007FCB8@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26587

N2EY wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart writes:
>
> > Add in an easy marriage license and you have > > nothing but a recipe for failure. By the way, > > for the kids reading, "recipe" is a cooking > > term. :-)
>
> HAW!!
>
> For some odd reason, as a kid I was driven to > learn how to do practical things. Still am. Like > cooking, carpentry, raising vegetables, > rebuilding cars, all sorts of stuff. Are there > kids today like that?

No, certainly not all kids are like that. I was just using a gross exaggeration to be funny. In many way, the kids today do have a lot to be said in their favor, but that doesn't completely overshadow some of their limitations (such as in relationship skills). And, when discussing marriage, it is exactly those relationship skills that matter.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3541. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 09:49:18 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C10905D.F6715B13@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26588

N2EY wrote:
>
> In addition, it doesn't take a lawsuit to > cause damage. All it takes is a complaint > to do all sorts of damage.

Of course. As long as companies are afraid of a potential lawsuit, and the negative publicy these lawsuits bring, they are going to overreact.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3542. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 10:03:15 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1093A0.87EF9C2A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26589

Sean G Gilley wrote:
>
> That's what I thought we were discussing -- casual > lunches and other casual contacts between a male > and female.

And that IS exactly what we're talking about, Sean. Many senior employees avoid casual lunches and other such contacts with junior opposite sex employees exactly because of the possible negative consequences. In fact, that has become SOP in many companies, backed up by stated company policies. And I would take that to the next step - relationships with equal employees with jobs dependent on mine. In other words, if my job had any bearing on that other person's job in any way whatsoever, that relationship would never go beyond casual conversations with other employees around (a lunch would be entirely out of the question).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3543. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 10:48:54 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C109E40.BF313194@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26590

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> Sorry, Dwight. I think what you've got there > is nothing more than a red herring. Imagination > at best, paranoia at worst. There are female > bosses, males bosses, everywhere, every day > that must deal with the opposite sex as either > their superior or employee.

Of course, they do, Kim. And, if they have any sense, they would be very careful in doing so. And most do have sense enough to do so.

> (snip) After she left, it was time to go home,
> but not before I spent a few moments with my > supervisor (again, a man) behind closed doors.
> Imaginative, immature minds would call him a > lucky man. (snip)

Okay, Kim. Lets take a look at that situation. If you went to work tomorrow and accused that boss of making sexual remarks, and even grabbing you, during that meeting (threatening to go to the press if the company didn't "protect" you), what do you think the company would do? I'm telling you right now, unless the company is foolish (sexual harassment lawsuits can attract national media exposure), they would almost immediately fire the manager and do just about anything to satisfy you.

And it doesn't matter if what you said is true. In fact, the company may not even believe you. At this point, it really doesn't matter. The company has two choices - fire the employee or face negative publicity that could hurt the company's reputation. Since employees are expendable, the company is obviously going to take that route (find an excuse to fire the manager). And, by the way, they would find an excuse (they don't want him to sue, so they'll find something wrong with his work performance or simply call it "budget cutbacks").

You don't even have to be the person making the complaint. Lets say another co-worker, who happens not to like you or the boss, makes a complaint that you two are spending too much time together and you're getting favorable treatment because of it. What is even worse, two or three other co-workers, friends of that co-worker, agrees with that complaint. Now what do you think the company is going to do? They have two choices - let you two continue to meet even if it causes friction in the workplace or end the friction in the workplace by ending your casual meetings around the workplace.

It doesn't even have to be a co-worker complaining. Lets say Betty (made up name) doesn't like the fact that her husband is meeting with too many woman who work with him at the local small town factory, so she gets up in front of her church Sunday morning and begins talking about all the "sluts" who work for that company and all the illicit relationships between co-workers at that company. To make matters worse, a newspaper reporter, also a member of the church, hears this and decides to do an article about it in the local newspaper. Now what do you think the company is going to do?

Now, I know you're convinced all these are simply outrageous examples made up to support my position, but let me assure you that each happened almost exactly as I described. In fact, I personally had to deal with each one of these cases myself. And you can add these to the many cases I've seen, or heard about, that I was not involved with in any way. So don't tell me this stuff is not going on because we're "far more adult than that," Kim. It is going on, and it is becoming more commonplace.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3544. Re: TWISTEDHED DEMANDS MORE RESPECT FOR FREEBAND BOOTLEGGERS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:29:08 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112070429.72da0261@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26591

From: Twstedhead@webtv.net (Twstedhead@webtv.net)
Subject: Re: Important message!
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Date: 1999/10/06

Many of us live for long distance DX. IF you have a problem with this mode of operating, tell me what frequency and time you will be on. If this poor kid can get you riled by asking to talk skip(GASP!) I can't wait till you hear me. Pick on someone your own size. I'm ready to key all over your whiny, sniveling ass!

Gettin' WAY-UP from the 'pile

3545. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:32:43 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C10B67B.E07CC4CB@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26592

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) Simply because they may not be able > to trace a direct lineage, does NOT mean > that they don't subscribe to the beliefs of > the religion. (snip)

It's very simple, Rick. Most of the modern day pagans and wiccans have no idea what these ancient religions believed in or how they worshipped. There is no pagan or wiccan "bible" that dates back to that time period. And there is no lineage where the beliefs and practices of those religions were passed down from one generation to the next. Instead, many of the groups today have simply made up fantasy religions based on tidbits of what they've read in old literature, often written by persons not even involved in those ancient religions. In other words, these modern groups simply borrowed the names of those old religious and applied them to their modern day satanic nonsense.

> What on earth justifies the outrageous claim that > they are "satanic groups" instead of groups that > have no link to Christianity at all?

For one so opposed to religion, you seem to be obsessed with the religious meaning of the word "satanic" (one who worships satan). Get out a dictionary, my friend. Today that word means one who is devilish, satan-like, infernal, wicked, or evil. Today, the direct religious meaning is hardly used anymore outside religious circles.

> (snip) Those activities are ONLY "associated with > satanism" by Christian churches--not by either
> the participants or the unbiased observer.

Nonsense. _I_ associate these activities (occult practices, witchcraft, etc) with satanism and I'm not a christian church, nor am I associated with a christian church. These practices have long been associated with satanism. Now you might like to change the name to hide the association, but I choose to call a spade a spade. In other words, it comes back to what I said in the previous message - if is looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it is a duck. What would you want to call it something else?

> (snip) Witchcraft, btw, is the Christian term for > Wicca. Now would you care to explain how it is you > simultaneously claim that the practitioners are > not Wiccans but are Witches?

Where have I claimed they're witches? I said they engage in occult practices, witchcraft, and other activities commonly associated with satanism. All of which I personally think is a full load of BS. By the way, since you're always ranting against superstition, why are you so busy defending this obvious superstition? Or are you only opposed to christian superstition?

> (snip) If it looks like a superstitious falsehood,
> sounds like a superstitious falsehood, distorts
> the truth like a superstitious falsehood, it...

Well, you obviously don't like those who challenge your favorite superstition.

> (snip) Go to any internet search engine, enter
> "homosexual" and watch how many Christian web > sites pop up on the list. If Christianity doesn't > actively promote homosexuality, why would so many > mention it on their web sites?

Okay, I did that, Rick. I popped over to AltaVista and entered "homosexual." Fourteen of the fifteen sites that came up on the first search page were sites promoting homosexuality. One was in another language. None were religious sites. In fact, I had to go through another search page and a half before I could find a single religious site mentioning homosexuality (the issue of homosexuality and the Boy Scouts).

> (snip) Try using legitimate academic sources for > your information about the topic, Dwight, not > prejudice and Christian propaganda.

Okay, I'm game, Rick. Provide me with a legitimate academic source. Not a web page - you've already said I shouldn't believe those.

> (snip) And again, if you can't be troubled to > take the time to learn just how false that > statement is, you simply don't have the integrity
> to discuss a religious concept in the first place.
> If it lies like a hypocrite, cites like a > hypocrite, demands belief like a hypocrite, it..

Oh, here we go again. You don't like the views expressed, so you start resorting to name calling.

> (snip) Satanism was INVENTED by the Judeo-Christian > religion. NO religion other than that even believes > in the EXISTANCE of a "Satan." Thus any symbols > claimed to belong to Satanism are, by necessity,
> Christian in nature.

What does that matter, Rick? If a person decides to play baseball, he doesn't stop being a baseball player because someone else invented the game. And he can call himself what he wants, but the entire world, not just those who invented the game, still knows he is a baseball player. The same is true for satanic groups. They can call themselves whatever they want, but that still doesn't change the fact that they're satanic groups.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3546. TWISTEDHED PROMOTES FREEBAND BOOTLEGGING

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:35:32 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112070435.4196cbcc@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26593

Written by: RS 1175ï¿½ (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net

Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves

DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small, intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.

27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency. Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555 as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem."

Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent, I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.

Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by. Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.

(continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)

3547. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:38:54 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C10B7EC.9B6AB3CF@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26594

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Damn, Dwight, we didn't know we had such a > sports hero among us! But, we do now--the > Internet never lies!

So your premise now is that all web sites are wrong (lying) and only you could possibly be right? Or is it only the sites that disagree with you? Sorry, my friend, but, based on what you've written so far, I would believe a web site done by a drunken sailor from Brazil before I would believe you.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3548. TWISTEDHED PROMOTES ILLEGAL CB

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:39:13 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112070439.3d576513@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26595
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

Written by: RS 1175ï¿½ (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net

Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves

DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small, intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.

27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency. Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555 as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem."

Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent, I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.

Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by. Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.

(continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)

3549. Re: TWISTEDHED JUSTIFIES HIS "free banding"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:41:02 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112070441.104fa536@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26596
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Written by: RS 1175ï¿½ (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net

Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves

DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small, intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.

27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency. Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555 as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem."

Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent, I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.

Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by. Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.

(continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)

3550. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:41:36 UTC
From: Trouser Trout <pipedream@hotmail.comspa>
Message-ID: <20011207074139.221$c5@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 26597
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message > I agree Bill,what a crock of steaming dung this is. I'm not degrading cops, > but I know a few of them and their not'college educated',themselves. They > dress like me when their off-duty,jeans and a shirt.
>
> Do you live in some exclusive country club ?!?
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

Mopar,Of course they would dress like you they are no different than any of us. They also drink beer too.

3551. Re: ILLEGAL CB "10 Meter Base Station" USED BY TWISTEDHED

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:42:27 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112070442.582db483@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26598
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Written by: RS 1175ï¿½ (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net

Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves

DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small, intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.

27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency. Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555 as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem."

Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent, I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.

Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by. Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.

(continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)

3552. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 12:52:41 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C10BB25.923CF31D@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26599

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) I feel sorry for those who, through age > or infirmity, have lost the skills or physical > capabilities (vision, etc.) necessary to drive
> a motor vehicle. But feeling sorry for them does > NOT mean permitting them to keep driving and > endangering others--it means trying to encourage > the creation--and use--of better public > transportation facilities so that such individuals
> CAN remain independent yet still not endanger
> the lives of others.

What do you know - we finally agree on something. Having spent almost half my adult life living in Europe, I wish there was a better public transportation system in this country. And, when discussing public transportation, this (the elderly) is the one thing that is so often overlooked. In Europe, there are routine driving tests (reaction times, etc). When a person fails those tests, they lose the license. That means many older persons in those countries cannot drive, but there is an excellent public transportation system available to them. In fact, the system is so good, I often used it to go shopping because it was faster and far less hassle than dealing with traffic. Sadly, nothing similar exists in this country, so I have a much harder time accepting the notion of stripping the ability to drive from the elderly.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3553. Re: TWISTEDHED PROMOTES ILLEGAL CB

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 14:36:32 UTC
From: Lloyd <barfies@BARFxxzzxx.net>
Message-ID: <9uqk1v$87j$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26600
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

Doesn't KC8JBO operate on 27.555 USB ?????

"IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:ce9e428e.0112070439.3d576513@posting.google.com...
> Written by: RS 1175 (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net
>
> Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves
>
>
> DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there > for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up > rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for > international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant > listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated > rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile > cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small, > intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and > pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a > permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, > completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.
>
> 27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency.
> Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to > another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call > frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious > group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts > from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555 > as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with > language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of > children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are > being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have > effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to > fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their > wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat > empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of > DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and > are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage > that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, > you are part of the problem."
>
> Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much > trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies > many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop > during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I > occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have > become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent,

> I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station > just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are > QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.
>
> Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and > other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, > Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has > become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 > to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still > making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get > them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED > to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by.
> Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies > close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX > channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not > surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical > locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I > noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the > blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.
>
> (continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)

3554. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 14:54:10 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10D82D.C62F6F1E@gte.net>
Source record: 26501
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> >> > Until you can reference an actual case where a licensed ham has had "some > >> > rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the > >> > license", this is all just paranoid supposition. Relax...
> >> >
> >> > 73 de W6DKN
> >>
> >> I agree totally W6DKN, I am sure there a few cops around the country who get > >> over zealous over some things, but do these people honestly think a LEO > >> wants to lose his job over harrasing a Ham or Cb operator. You have got to > >> be kidding me, most police for starters have Mobile Video Recorders in their > >> cars which records the auido and video from a traffic stop. These same cops > >> are out there risking there lives so you can live a safe life, now there out > >> here picking on radio operators etc. I don't know about the rest of you guys > >> but where i am at the cops have more important things to do and when called > >> upon to invesitgate a CB/rfi complaint I am sure they will do what they are > >> trained to do. Before all this can happen towns/States must enacted > >> ordinances etc for the cops to enforce along with these ordinances comes a > >> set of guidelines a SOP(Standard Operating Procedure) must be followed,
> >> they will be trained in what to look for, if needed or they may call an > >> expert in to help. You guys are acting like they will send these cops out > >> tearing cars apart without any training in what to look for. Many Leo's are > >> Hams what are you gonna lie to them about? Before a cop uses a gun he is > >> trained with it, before he uses a radar he is trained in its use and the > >> principles of operation, before he goes after gang members he is familiar > >> with there "colors" tatoos, etc. Why will this be any different?
> >> I can see the headlines now.
> >>
> >> Rouge Cop Suspended with out pay for false arrest of a suspected
> >> "freebander" who had a rci 2950 hidden under his seat along with a Palomar
> >> 250. After an investigation was held the cop has been suspended indefinitely > >> since the radio did not have a mike and the operator said he was only > >> listening officer and wasn't able to transmit. But a further review of the > >> suspects vehicle and a power mike turned up in the glove compartment. This > >> is still under investigation, they are going to have an expert come in and > >> check the radio with a Spectro- Goinometer this device will tell when the > >> radio was last keyed and on what frequency.... Stay tuned for details...
> >
> >Who says that he would "arrest". What the > >normal procedure would be is to take the > >equipment, issue a court citation then let
> >the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
>
> Cops don't last long if that's the way they > handle the job.

>
> >This is often what happens when the cop
> >is not totally familiar with the law
>
> Cops that aren't familiar with particular laws don't > usually bother trying to enforce them.
>
> >...or the ham does not have his license on him.
>
> Hams don't need licenses to POSSESS ham
> equipment.
>
> >What you should not do is argue as you are > >not going to win. The street is not the place > >to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> >cop is going to let you get out of control and > >argue with him. He will call back up and arrest
> >you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance
> >is a crime). You may get the radio back but > >you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
>
> No one is suggesting such resistance. The issue > is that there is no complete body of information that > would ever "guarantee" proper enfocement because there > are just too manny types of legal radios out there now.
> The cops would rather write 5 speeding tickets than deal with > one convuluted "illegal" radio summons.

The normal procedure, when a police officer is uncertain of a law, is to assume that the civilian is in the wrong. As one cop told me, you can always unarrest a guy. If he acts like a jerk, well then "everyone is a sinner, it is just a matter of finding the right sin".

Cops do survive doing this. Often they are backed up by the courts. Now you might live in small town where everyone knows each other. But in medium to large communities, the cops do not know everyone.
Unless you are very well politically connected,
you will not get the cop in trouble.

3555. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:01:21 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011207100121.13985.00000348@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 26502

In article <A6B45858D89DF4F4.0C2F51F00E234730.A6900C9F8C233837@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> One based on fact, not superstition (read religious dogma & >theology); concern for others not selfishness; dedicated to freedom >not oppression; and based on the concept that the role of the state is >to protect and defend, not to regulate and control consensual >behavior. It would be a civilization in which the poet, the writer, >and the artist (even the less successful ones) were as respected as
>the rock star, the politician, or the preacher and on in which >prejudice, self-righteousness, and hypocrisy did not exist.
>
> What kind would YOU like?
>
> Rick

Rick:

Actually, one pretty much the way you described it, but I don't find too much different with the civilization we have now and your ideal.
Sure, we have problems, but we're human beings, and imperfect by nature. The trick is to rise above our imperfection, and continually strive to make things better. I'm not so sure that poets, authors, and artists aren't already as respected as rock stars, politicians, or preachers. Among those six groups of people, I admire individual representatives of each group, and I'm pretty sure most people do.

My ideal civilization would be one in which individual initiative, ingenuity, and integrity is valued above all other human traits, and where we all enjoy equal freedom to excel as human beings without the prejudice, self-righteousness, and hypocrisy you abhor. I believe that the role of government must be limited as you suggest, and that the primary source of social "safety nets" lies wholly within the private sector, as a reflection of the genorosity of the "haves" toward the "have nots," without bureaucratizing the concept into a Welfare State which only stimulates laziness, immorality, and dependency.

I say the government should not only stay out of our bedrooms, but out of our corporate boardrooms as well. I believe that social consciousness is a good thing, but that human behavior can't be legislated. People need to be given the right kind of incentives to do the right things, and doing the wrong things needs to be sanctioned by negative social pressure, not government edict. I believe that we need to be a nation of laws, but just enough laws to deal with the worst of anti-social behavior -- not a law covering every possible human misery, real or imagined (are you reading this, Montgomery County?).

I think that if you read the volumes of my postings to this newsgroup and others, including my past contributions on Fidonet, that I've been pretty consistent in my thinking re: the above ideal civilization.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3556. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:06:24 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10DB10.38F66182@gte.net>
Source record: 26503
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> > What he is saying is correct. Most police > >officers (while in their heart they think that what > >they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > >training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> >can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> >is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> > NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > >one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > >tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > >say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > >thinks is right.
> >
> > Landshark
>
> Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant > attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more > illegally-minded CBers in this thread.
>
> The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw
> CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference > complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so > the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused > this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw > CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma > Ordinance)
>
> Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions > about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile > rigs.
>
> If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying > (can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't > tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got > troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another > town.

You are correct, in part. This did come about because of out of control "outlaw CBers". And for the most part the cops will not hassle lawfully licensed hams.

However, and this goes for every community,
if the cop does stop you and does ask about your radios then he might assume that you are there to interfere with him. Newbie cops can be a bit paranoid. They do not like any civilian who acts out of the normal. And radio nuts are like gun nuts, not normal. They have a passion for their hobbies.

It is not that the cops are corrupt. It is that they are fearful. Too many lose cannons in society.
Too many drug dealers, terrorists, and just pain old farts with big mouths. Too many guys who see themselves above the law.

All it takes is one shooting, like the one up in Goshen last night, and every cop within 200 miles is on high alert. Given what happened on Sept. 11th, they are now looking for those who might be terrorists. And a car full of ham gear looks very suspicious. Given that many hams are gun owners as well, and you might have a young cop who is going to over react.

Just look at Cincinnati. They take young men from the suburbs who have been told all their lives to stay out of certain neighborhoods, especially after dark and make them
cops. Then their first assignment is those exact neighborhoods.
Guess what? You have a fearful, inexperienced cop in a place where he is totally out of his league. Guess what happens? He winds up over reacting and shooting some young black guy. Which results in a riot as it did last spring.

Guys, you live in a too sheltered life.

3557. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:08:14 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10DB80.38FAB023@gte.net>
Source record: 26504
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

>
> >> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, risk > >> having your equipment damaged because some rambo cop was too gung ho (Ah am th' > law 'round hyar, boy) to take time to examine your papers and find out > >> that you are not doing anything wrong? I don't think so--not me. If some > >> rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my radio(s) while ignoring the license
> >> I am trying to show him, I guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue the > >> SOB and his agency
> >> and cause him as much trouble as I can.
> >
> >If you can not afford to have attorneys then
> >you really should not be in either the radio
> >hobby or in the shooting hobbies. Modern > >America requires that you have an attorney
> >for everything you do.
> >
> >And the cops do not hassle decent people, > >especially if they know them. What cops > >go after are those who look like they are
> >trouble makers.
> >
> >Drive a decent, newer car but not too expensive.
>
> That is SICK! Why should the car I drive
> impose ANY extra scrutiny of me as an individual... > unless the car itself is patently illegal to be on > the road.
>

It is called profiling. It happens to blacks everyday.

>
> >Dress well, a bit conservative. Wear short hair and > >avoid the hillbilly beard look.
>
> Pathetic!
>
> >Learn to speak as > >if you were college educated. Do that and the cops > >generally leave you alone.
>
> How do the cops know how anyone speaks?

The first time you open your mouth after he stops you.

3558. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:10:54 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10DC20.E5870439@gte.net>
Source record: 26506
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> >
> > >> SO you want to have to go thru the hassle, take time to go to court, > > >> risk having your equipment damaged because some rambo cop was too gung > > >> ho (Ah am th' law 'round hyar, boy) to take time to examine your > > >> papers and find out that you are not doing anything wrong? I don't > > >> think so--not me. If some rambo, fat-bellied dep'ty sheriff takes my > > >> radio(s) while ignoring the license I am trying to show him, I > > >> guarantee you I'll do everything I can to sue the SOB and his agency > > >> and cause him as much trouble as I can.
> > >
> > >If you can not afford to have attorneys then
> > >you really should not be in either the radio
> > >hobby or in the shooting hobbies. Modern > > >America requires that you have an attorney > > >for everything you do.
> > >
> > >And the cops do not hassle decent people, > > >especially if they know them. What cops > > >go after are those who look like they are > > >trouble makers.
> > >
> > >Drive a decent, newer car but not too expensive.
> >
> > That is SICK! Why should the car I drive
> > impose ANY extra scrutiny of me as an individual...
> > unless the car itself is patently illegal to be on > > the road.
> >
> > >Dress well, a bit conservative. Wear short hair and > > >avoid the hillbilly beard look.
> >
> > Pathetic!
> >
> > >Learn to speak as > > >if you were college educated. Do that and the cops > > >generally leave you alone.
> >
> > How do the cops know how anyone speaks?
> >
> > Cheers,
> > Bill K2UNK
> >
> I agree Bill,what a crock of steaming dung this is. I'm not degrading cops, > but I know a few of them and their not'college educated',themselves. They > dress like me when their off-duty,jeans and a shirt.

>
> Do you live in some exclusive country club ?!?

They may be working class. In my state, cops are being hired with degrees especially in the big cities.

But cops do profile. College educated types are often given a break, if they do not talk back.

Think about it, blacks are profiled all the time.
As are folks with long, dirty hair or beards.

3559. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:13:05 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uqne9$f9o$s@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26508
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

LARDAAAAASSSSSSSS LLLLLLLLOYD
"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message news:319f0406015193daafabfa88b8465440@spamfreenews.com...
>
> "Lightbulbs" <taktango6000@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:qMUP7.34075$WC1.3486408@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > From the ARRL web:
>
> (massive BS snippage)
> > --------------- end bulletin ---------------
> >
> > As far as I am concerned this whole thing stinks on ice and Herbie is
> the smelly fish!
> > There is no doubt in my mind that Herbie used this guy Reichlyn to do an > "end run" to get > > back on the air to stir up shit. That's what Herb knows best how to do > you know!
> >
> >
>
> The B.A.R.F. position is this. It's no one's business! Why cant you guys
> leave him alone! Some of you folks get hardons when you hear Herb!
>
> Some of you people just enjoy beating dead horse's dont you?

Lardass Lllllloyd gets hard ons from beating dead horses. And slurping nutsacks.

3560. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:15:54 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10DD4A.975EF245@gte.net>
Source record: 26505
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> >> >RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR
> >>
> >> Posted by a ham operator. Typical.
> >>
> >> If you're a ham (as I am), you really shouldn't be gloating over this.
> >>
> >> Do you think the average traffic cop can tell the difference between a CB > >> antenna and a ham antenna? Will he be able to tell your HR2600 10m mobile from > >> a Galaxy "export" CB? Doubtful.
> >>
> >> These new "local yokel" anti-CB laws are BAD NEWS for ALL operators of mobile > >> radio equipment. Just another excuse for unwarranted police harrassment.
> >> Anyone with an antenna will now be suspect.
> >
> >He pulls you over. Sees the radio, asks for > >a ham license. In most states it is already > >illegal to have radios that can listen to police
> >bands in cars if you do not have a license
> >so they just "expand" the law a bit. No license > >then you and the car are off the street.
> >
> >Let the lawyers settle this. The police have > >radio techs who can determine if a radio
> >is illegal.
>
> So is that radio tech cop going to train all the beat > cops to "recognize" illegal CB rigs? Not likly.
>
> >And the police might even start
> >having military style signal intelligence units
> >to monitor radio traffic, to include cell phones.
>
> Not likly, too expensive and very little payback
> in either positive public relations or in cash flow for > convictions. Local police forces just don't care > about this stuff...nor should they.

It does happen. And cops are going to be on edge with the aftermath of Sept. 11th. A ham, with a car full of radios, does look like a terrorist. Given that hams are often gun owners, and you might have a gung ho young cop who wants to make a name for himself.

Besides profiling has been going on with blacks for sometime now. It is really bad on the east coast, from Boston right down to Florida. The cop does not know you. For all he knows, you are a trouble maker. Shooting your mouth off just makes it worst.

And remember, gun owners have had to deal with this for some time now.

3561. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:19:33 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uqnec$f9o$v@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26509
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Jizz Recepticle" <radiobur@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C0F92A4.13705D1C@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> >
> > So are you COWARD. Seen* your* letters on the Rain report.
>
> Which [Poor poor Jizz recepticle]

The lady doth protest too much.

3562. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:21:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C10DE79.AF76A45A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26507

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I say the government should not only stay out of our bedrooms, ...

Changed your mind about homosexuals?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

3563. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:25:04 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uqneg$f9o$12@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26510
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

Bean -boy and taco bell worker
"Pancho Hernandez" <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> wrote in message news:9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> > I wish that I'd have > > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so I > can > > record very soon.
> >
> You are [Pathetic laming and sniveling]

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!!

Wrong again, Bean boy!!! Riley WOULD accept tape recordings from me.
Or wav. files of N4CND's profanity on 3.901.

3564. Re: TWISTEDHED PROMOTES ILLEGAL CB

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:36:20 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uqpja$kh5$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26513
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

Laaaaaardasssss Lllllllllllllllllllllloyd the nutsack slurping eternal technician
"Lloyd" <barfies@BARFxxzzxx.net> wrote in message
news:9uqk1v$87j$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> Doesn't KC8JBO operate on 27.555 USB ?????

Quit humpin my leg, Lardasssssssss, and get back to slurping winos' nutsacks behind the dumpster.

> "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:ce9e428e.0112070439.3d576513@posting.google.com...
> > Written by: RS 1175 (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net
> >
> > Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves
> >
> >
> > DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there > > for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up > > rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for > > international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant > > listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated > > rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile > > cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small,
> > intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and > > pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a > > permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, > > completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.
> >
> > 27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency.
> > Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to > > another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call > > frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious > > group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts > > from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555
> > as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with > > language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of > > children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are > > being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have > > effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to > > fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their > > wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat > > empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of > > DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and > > are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage > > that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, > > you are part of the problem."

> >
> > Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much > > trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies > > many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop > > during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I > > occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have > > become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent,
> > I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station > > just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are > > QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.
> >
> > Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and > > other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, > > Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has > > become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 > > to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still > > making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get > > them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED > > to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by.
> > Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies > > close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX > > channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not > > surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical > > locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I > > noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the > > blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.
> >
> > (continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)
>
>

3565. ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:51:41 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10E5AE.A320B276@gte.net>
Source record: 26511
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

From Amateur Radio Newsline <http://www.arnewsline.org>
ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

The FCC's chief ham radio rules enforcer has told those attending the Ft. Wayne Indiana Hamfest that the time for on the air arguments has come to an end. Riley Hollingsworth, the FCC's Special Counsel for Amateur Radio enforcement told the forum that Amateur Radio road rage must stop now and that the bickering on our frequencies can do nothing but hurt Amateur Radio in the long run.

Hollingsworth also says its time for more hams to get involved in public service. Jack Parker, W8ISH, of Amateur News Weekly, has that part of the story:

--

"Hollingsworth says that it is now time for hams to use frequencies responsibly. He adds that now, more than ever, is the best time for all

Amateur Radio groups to seek out and establish working relationships with local emergency response agencies.

Since September 11th, Amateur Radio and its potential has moved into a prominent position on the national front. But he stresses that we must move quickly at a local level to establish our place in the overall emergency response plan.

Reporting from the Ft. Wayne Hamfest, for amateur News Weekly, I'm Jack Parker, W8ISH."
--

Hollingsworth's views are echoed by many who are already involved in organizing ham radio emergency communications on a local level. They say you can never have to many well trained volunteers. (Amateur News Weekly)

**

What have in amateur radio is a bunch of old farts who are grouchy as hell. Nothing worst than someone old enough to know better who acts like he is still in junior high!

3566. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 15:59:11 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10E771.9B1CFEF9@gte.net>
Source record: 26514
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

> >> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
> >> > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> >> > > > >
> >> > > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
> >> > > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
> >> > > > > then make the arrest.
> >> > > >
> >> > > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
> >> > > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of > >> > > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
> >> > > >
> >> > > > You're out to lunch on this one!
> >> > >
> >> > That is what happens in my state with respect
> >> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
> >> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
> >> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
> >> > members.
> >>
> >> What state do you live in? Russia? Sure must suck
> >> to be you! Here they look at you suspiciously
> >> if you _don't_ have at least a deer rifle in the car!
> >
> >Indiana. We have one of the most pro gun set of > >laws in the country. One of the oldest personal > >protection permits. But you had better have a > >permit if you have a handgun in the vehicle.
> >
> >Rifles and shotguns are a bit different. Even a kid > >can have one, if he has written permission from his > >parents. But too many have gone to jail because > >dad left his handgun in the car.
>
> All not relavant since the rules/laws for possession > of radios is not at all similar. Indeed, no state has a > law that requires having a license to have any of the > CB radios or FRS radios. A few (less than 10) states > prohibit having a radio receiver capable of receieving
> police (public frequencies) in the car.

And how does that young cop know that you are not some type of terrorist? All those radios could be used to spy on the police so that you can try to overthrow the US government.

That is how young cops think. It is worst in LA or NYC, but it happens everywhere.

Look at how blacks are profiled. It seems that
"driving while black" is a crime in many big cities.

3567. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 16:02:28 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C10E833.B59D3FD4@gte.net>
Source record: 26512
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

>
> >> >>pass all the "laws" you want.....answer me one question.....how does it make > >> >>any difference? how is this new law going to be actively enforced?? local > >> >>atthorities still have to obtain a search warrant,with reasonable cause > >> >>submitted before a judge.
> >> >
> >> >If it's mobile, they only have to see some indication that it's not a > >> >legal rig from outside the vehicle. After that, they'll have probable > >> >cause to search.
> >>
> >> The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't > >> a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
> >
> >Actually they can. It is the type acceptance > >plate on the back of the radio.
>
> So now a citizen has to take a rado out of the car to allow > a cop to look for the acceptance tag? Not likly to > stand up in court as any reasonable request based > on probable cause.
>
> > If it (type acceptance plate) is not there,
> >then make the arrest.
>
> Easy enough to peel one off another radio too :-)

Maybe what we need to do is register your radios with the local police. After all, radio transmitters could be used in espionage or terrorism. How do the police know that you are not some right wing nut planning to overthrow the government?

Or a left wing ecco terrorist? Or just an old fart with too much attitude?

And probable cause can be manufactured.

3568. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 16:25:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C10ED7A.71894D9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26515
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

N9NWO wrote:
> The FCC's chief ham radio rules enforcer has told those attending the > Ft. Wayne Indiana Hamfest that the time for on the air arguments has > come to an end.

Egads, we can't even argue over whether a dipole or a vertical is best?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

3569. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 16:30:38 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011207113038.01446.00000134@mb-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 26516

In article <3C108F0D.C007FCB8@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> Dwight Stewart writes:
>>
>> > Add in an easy marriage license and you have >> > nothing but a recipe for failure. By the way, >> > for the kids reading, "recipe" is a cooking
>> > term. :-)
>>
>> HAW!!
>>
>> For some odd reason, as a kid I was driven to >> learn how to do practical things. Still am. Like >> cooking, carpentry, raising vegetables, >> rebuilding cars, all sorts of stuff. Are there >> kids today like that?
>
>
> No, certainly not all kids are like that.

I was just wondering. I note that many adults are not like that either.

Garrison Keillor did a wonderful piece about the difference between "farm" people and "city" people. The terms refer to a state of mind rather than where a person lives or was raised. "Farm" folks learn to do for themselves while "city" people tend to specialize in a few things and depend on others for everything else.

> I was just using a gross >exaggeration to be funny.

It worked!

> In many way, the kids today do have a lot to >be said in their favor, but that doesn't completely overshadow some of >their limitations (such as in relationship skills). And, when >discussing marriage, it is exactly those relationship skills that matter.
>
Right on target there!

Earlier generations operated under different conditions, though. For one thing, people tended to marry within their own social/ethnic/geographic/religious group far more in the past. For another, roles were more clearly defined.

Divorces were very difficult to get and carried an enormous social stigma, as well as being a financial meltdown.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3570. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 16:30:39 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011207113039.01446.00000135@mb-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 26517

In article <3C10BB25.923CF31D@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> (snip) I feel sorry for those who, through age
>> or infirmity, have lost the skills or physical >> capabilities (vision, etc.) necessary to drive
>> a motor vehicle. But feeling sorry for them does >> NOT mean permitting them to keep driving and >> endangering others--it means trying to encourage >> the creation--and use--of better public >> transportation facilities so that such individuals
>> CAN remain independent yet still not endanger
>> the lives of others.
>
>
> What do you know - we finally agree on something. Having spent >almost half my adult life living in Europe, I wish there was a better >public transportation system in this country. And, when discussing >public transportation, this (the elderly) is the one thing that is so >often overlooked. In Europe, there are routine driving tests (reaction >times, etc). When a person fails those tests, they lose the license.
>That means many older persons in those countries cannot drive, but >there is an excellent public transportation system available to them.
>In fact, the system is so good, I often used it to go shopping because >it was faster and far less hassle than dealing with traffic. Sadly, >nothing similar exists in this country, so I have a much harder time >accepting the notion of stripping the ability to drive from the elderly.
>
Right on the money, Dwight.

It must be remembered that the USA once had extensive "public" transportation infrastructure (actually, most transit was run by private companies). But most of it disappeared because:

1) the government subsidized the private automobile by spending billions on roads while refusing to fund transit
2) tax structures ate up transit profitability
3) transit companies were bought up by agents of the auto, oil and rubber companies and intentionally destroyed
4) Americans' image of themselves and their country became one of auto transportation for almost all purposes and suburban sprawl.

There was a TV commercial campaign some years back that used the slogan "it's not your car, it's your freedom". Scary.

The main reason the Europeans have such great transit systems is that they are willing to enact taxes and spend the money to have them. A liter of gasoline in Europe typically costs what a gallon costs here, even though the production costs are about the same. The difference is tax, much of which funds transit.

Try to imagine the reaction if the White House and Congress jointly proposed a $1 tax on each gallon of gasoline sold for private passenger car use, with the tax to be spent only for public surface transportation.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3571. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 17:16:37 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9uqt9dpab1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 26518

Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:AA572B4FB22C1EC7.47D453CF94D51FD6.2BAC48DE64699925@lp.airnews.net...
> It's a scary thought to realize that we've gone _downhill_ > from Bill Clinton in our choice of dictators, er leaders.
>
> Rick

Sorry to hear things aren't going well for you, and that your glass is so philosophically empty. Personally, I'm glad George Bush is in charge.

3572. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 17:36:23 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <20BE4C7C07B6ED04.7054935558FD092F.784326E2ACFED0E1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26519
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 16:02:28 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>Maybe what we need to do is register your radios
>with the local police. After all, radio transmitters >could be used in espionage or terrorism.

Or tormenting fast-food places that use 49MHz radios for the drive-thru.

Then again, adding extra Special Sauce to someone's order could be considered chemical warfare.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3573. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 17:43:17 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <EFB532FA15C772D2.9672E32B678B6263.48FAE5B7EA078316@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26520
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 15:51:41 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>Riley Hollingsworth, the FCC's Special Counsel for >Amateur Radio enforcement told the forum that Amateur Radio road rage
>must stop now

Now there's a threat; stop fighting or Riley's going to send you a whole bunch of progressively slightly nastier letters. If you live long enough for him to finally get tired of writing warnings to you, then there may be an actual enforcement action.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3574. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 17:43:59 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <BE6DCDC4DE8DF082.A520221E08477A78.E278855816054FD9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26521
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 10:25:30 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>N9NWO wrote:
>> The FCC's chief ham radio rules enforcer has told those attending the >> Ft. Wayne Indiana Hamfest that the time for on the air arguments has >> come to an end.
>
>Egads, we can't even argue over whether a dipole or a vertical is best?

Depends on which one you're using for CW :)

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3575. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:34:31 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C110BD5.7FE361CE@gte.net>
Source record: 26524
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

>
> >Riley Hollingsworth, the FCC's Special Counsel for > >Amateur Radio enforcement told the forum that Amateur Radio road rage
> >must stop now
>
> Now there's a threat; stop fighting or Riley's going to send you a > whole bunch of progressively slightly nastier letters. If you live > long enough for him to finally get tired of writing warnings to you,
> then there may be an actual enforcement action.

At least he tries to be fair. He does give you a chance. He does not have
to.

A few $10,000 fines and most of these
assholes will be off the air. Or in jail.

3576. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:37:44 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C110C97.714CBF2B@gte.net>
Source record: 26525
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

>
> >Maybe what we need to do is register your radios
> >with the local police. After all, radio transmitters > >could be used in espionage or terrorism.
>
> Or tormenting fast-food places that use 49MHz radios for the > drive-thru.
>
> Then again, adding extra Special Sauce to someone's order could be > considered chemical warfare.

What was that case a few years back where the guy was arrested for interfering with McDonald's drive thru?

3577. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:42:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <73B73524DEBE220E.770D50A4DC6C4D2E.D6986AA5C18AB0D5@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26522

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 00:11:10 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>> Look at it this way. Assume a lawsuit is to be filed that in >> government run courts would cost 10% in fees and in private courts >> would cost only 2%.

>There's no such thing as a private court of law. Law, by definition, >is the bailiwick of the government. The best a "private court" >would be able to do is a gentleman's agreement. But how would >you enforce the agreement without help from the government? Mafia?

Er, Cecil,

The Libertarians are the ones that want a privatized society,
remember?

I don't see what the difficulty in enforcement would be--it works perfectly well with private arbitration now. So long as the law defined the decision of a private court as binding on all parties, if the losing side in a civil suit ended up defaulting on payment, the higher priced government court could be used (at his expense) to compel payment.

>> Show me a RICH man who had an 'A' average in high school!
>
>I'm rich compared to the average person on this planet

So is the typical stock clerk--the average for the planet is pretty low.

>and I was a >member of the National Honor Society.

But did you have an 'A' average?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3578. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:44:11 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <62E211A549470EDE.BD6E6785A6A3BD65.6B1AB451E6900C8B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26523

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 00:12:48 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>> And if a third child is born, should we punish the child by >> not assisting it? Are the "sins" of the parents to be visited on their >> children?
>
>Yes. The problem will never be solved otherwise.

And _that_, Cecil, is a perfect example of why the Libertarian Party will never attract enough new members to be a serious influence on our political system.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3579. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:52:32 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A36B792A275E1F57.18A683152804F4E2.29F3FC213AD1F7D1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26526

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 04:34:04 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> Dwight Stewart wrote...
>> ?
>> > I don't "wish" to believe anything.
>> > I want to see evidence and I've seen >> > none to support an argument for or >> > against.
>>
>> http://www.polyamory.org/
>> http://www.nasca.com/
>> http://www.ejhs.org/volume3/swing/body.htm
>>
>> Hope they help,
>
>
> Well, not really that helpful. I was hoping for a little less biased >information. The three sites you offered are all sites supporting >polygamous relationships (which is a little like sending a person to >KKK sites to find out the truth about KKK groups). Thanks anyway, though.

The third cite is a _research_ paper written by two sociologists and the site itself is the home of the Electronic Journal of Human sexuality, an electronic version of the traditional paper bound version. That's hardly a biased source of information. In addition you ignored the print references completely--do you obtain
ALL your information from the Internet?

Incidently, your analogy to the KKK, if true, would make it pretty clear that if someone wants information on ham radio the LAST place to look would be the ARRL site, since that's biased in favor of it. The sites I listed _do_ contain some positive information about poly and swinging, but they neither distort the facts they present nor do they pretend to speak for everyone--only themselves. That's hardly the behavior of the KKK.

If research paper citations, sites dedicated to polyamory and swinging, and very sound paper bound citations aren't sufficient for you, I guess you'll have to settle for them--outside of sending you to religious sites where they will "prove" (by recourse to the bible, of course, their ONLY source of information on the topic) that such behavior is "sinful" and "wrong." Since that's pretty much what you appear to believe, I'm sure you'll find those sites far more compatible.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3580. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 18:57:07 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D841CA89BDEDA32D.82206C0E47B55D34.368E527916190CE5@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26527

On Fri, 7 Dec 2001 09:16:37 -0800, "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu>
wrote:

>Sorry to hear things aren't going well for you, and that your glass is so >philosophically empty. Personally, I'm glad George Bush is in charge.

Of what--the destruction of the US Constitution?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3581. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:11:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <99DB8CCD5A29D28A.D68CB5D81C427019.C416FC22376F0B6F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26528

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 07:32:43 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> It's very simple, Rick. Most of the modern day pagans and wiccans >have no idea what these ancient religions believed in or how they >worshipped. There is no pagan or wiccan "bible" that dates back to >that time period. And there is no lineage where the beliefs and >practices of those religions were passed down from one generation to >the next. Instead, many of the groups today have simply made up >fantasy religions based on tidbits of what they've read in old >literature, often written by persons not even involved in those >ancient religions. In other words, these modern groups simply borrowed >the names of those old religious and applied them to their modern day >satanic nonsense.

You really ARE hung up on anything that contradicts Christianity being "Satanic" aren't you?

Dwight, can't you get it through your head that not everyone in the world believes in the boogey-man? The majority of Christians don't even believe in Satan--let alone those who are not even part of the Christian religion in the first place.

I don't know where you're getting your (false) knowledge about pagan religions--probably the web since you don't seem capable of using any other source of information--but if you had demonstrated as much knowledge of ham radio as you do of Wicca and pagan faiths, you would have flunked your Novice test.

>> What on earth justifies the outrageous claim that >> they are "satanic groups" instead of groups that >> have no link to Christianity at all?
>
> For one so opposed to religion, you seem to be obsessed with the >religious meaning of the word "satanic" (one who worships satan). Get >out a dictionary, my friend. Today that word means one who is >devilish, satan-like, infernal, wicked, or evil. Today, the direct >religious meaning is hardly used anymore outside religious circles.

In the first place, the meaning of "Satanic" is very clear--and since Satan is a creation of Judeo-Christian mythology and appears in no other religion, it's pretty clear that the term "Satanic" has relevance for the Christian (as well as Jew and Muslim, of course) alone, not for those who are part of other religions.

In the second place, even if you DID use your own definition of satanic, all you are claiming is that people who are Wiccans or Pagans are really "devilish, satan-like, infernal, wicked, or evil" people! What utter rubbish! Not only is that offensive to people who practice those religions, it's just about as bigoted a religious statement as you could make. I can't help the fact that you are so hung up in the superstitious nonsense of Christianity that you actually believe that kind of absurd crap, but claiming it in public only makes you look like a fool. Learn something ABOUT those religions before you claim to be an expert on them.

>> (snip) Those activities are ONLY "associated with >> satanism" by Christian churches--not by either
>> the participants or the unbiased observer.
>
> Nonsense. _I_ associate these activities (occult practices, >witchcraft, etc) with satanism and I'm not a christian church, nor am
>I associated with a christian church.

You do so through ignorance and superstition. I'm referring to reality. They are NOT the same.

>These practices have long been >associated with satanism.

Yup.

BY THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

So who cares how THEY define the behavior of other religions?
For someone who claims that biased sources are always poor sources of information, you're certainly willing enough to use their views when it suits your purposes.

>Now you might like to change the name to >hide the association, but I choose to call a spade a spade. In other >words, it comes back to what I said in the previous message - if is >looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, it is a >duck. What would you want to call it something else?

I don't, Dwight. You do. I'm not _claiming_ that it's "Satanism" or "Satanic," remember? You are.

Rick

>
>
>> (snip) Witchcraft, btw, is the Christian term for >> Wicca. Now would you care to explain how it is you >> simultaneously claim that the practitioners are >> not Wiccans but are Witches?
>
>
> Where have I claimed they're witches? I said they engage in occult >practices, witchcraft, and other activities commonly associated with >satanism. All of which I personally think is a full load of BS. By the >way, since you're always ranting against superstition, why are you so >busy defending this obvious superstition? Or are you only opposed to >christian superstition?

>
>
>> (snip) If it looks like a superstitious falsehood,
>> sounds like a superstitious falsehood, distorts
>> the truth like a superstitious falsehood, it...
>
>
> Well, you obviously don't like those who challenge your favorite superstition.
>
>
>> (snip) Go to any internet search engine, enter
>> "homosexual" and watch how many Christian web >> sites pop up on the list. If Christianity doesn't >> actively promote homosexuality, why would so many >> mention it on their web sites?
>
>
> Okay, I did that, Rick. I popped over to AltaVista and entered >"homosexual." Fourteen of the fifteen sites that came up on the first >search page were sites promoting homosexuality. One was in another >language. None were religious sites. In fact, I had to go through >another search page and a half before I could find a single religious >site mentioning homosexuality (the issue of homosexuality and the Boy Scouts).
>
>
>> (snip) Try using legitimate academic sources for >> your information about the topic, Dwight, not >> prejudice and Christian propaganda.
>
>
> Okay, I'm game, Rick. Provide me with a legitimate academic source.
>Not a web page - you've already said I shouldn't believe those.
>
>
>> (snip) And again, if you can't be troubled to >> take the time to learn just how false that >> statement is, you simply don't have the integrity
>> to discuss a religious concept in the first place.
>> If it lies like a hypocrite, cites like a >> hypocrite, demands belief like a hypocrite, it..
>
>
> Oh, here we go again. You don't like the views expressed, so you >start resorting to name calling.
>

>
>> (snip) Satanism was INVENTED by the Judeo-Christian >> religion. NO religion other than that even believes >> in the EXISTANCE of a "Satan." Thus any symbols >> claimed to belong to Satanism are, by necessity,
>> Christian in nature.
>
>
> What does that matter, Rick? If a person decides to play baseball, >he doesn't stop being a baseball player because someone else invented >the game. And he can call himself what he wants, but the entire world, >not just those who invented the game, still knows he is a baseball >player. The same is true for satanic groups. They can call themselves >whatever they want, but that still doesn't change the fact that >they're satanic groups.
>
>
>Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
>http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3582. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:15:11 UTC
From: Enrique Alejandro Martinez <pilotenrique@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <9ur4dn$h5h$1@onyx.indstate.edu>
Source record: 26530
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

Roger is a loser anyway. There is no sense even argueing with him here. His only responses are his lame racial slurs. I think its funny. He has a big mouth on the keyboard, but in person he would run away.
"Pancho Hernandez" <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> wrote in message news:9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> > I wish that I'd have > > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so I > can > > record very soon.
> >
> You are seriously misinformed if you think Riley Hollingsworth > would accept any tape recordings from you. You have been the > recipient of several warnings from Hollingsworth. Therefore my boy, > you must be very stupid indeed, if you think you have even a shred > of credibility with Hollingsworth. Put in simple language you might > be able to understand. You are a known repeat violator of FCC > rules and regulations my boy!!!!!! Now, would you like for us to > post all your warning letters from Hollingsworth? so everyone can > see what a fool you are Roger? Go back to playing on your CB > radio. That is more akin to your level of expertise butthole!!!!!!!!!!
>
>
>
>

3583. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:18:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C8CE8E9DF974C82C.8426634A826A06AD.0E8068ECD61F93BD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26529

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 07:38:54 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> Damn, Dwight, we didn't know we had such a >> sports hero among us! But, we do now--the >> Internet never lies!
>
>
> So your premise now is that all web sites are wrong (lying) and only >you could possibly be right? Or is it only the sites that disagree >with you? Sorry, my friend, but, based on what you've written so far,
>I would believe a web site done by a drunken sailor from Brazil before
>I would believe you.

Sorry, "Dribbles," but you got it wrong as usual.

YOU'RE the one who was claiming that Wiccan and Pagan religions are really Satanic and attempting to "prove" it by referring to web sites, remember? You made it very clear that the web sites were the most accurate source of information.

Well, Dwight, if that's true for you it's equally true for others--so since you insist that Wicca=Satanist based on your web search, I guess I'll stick with my claim that Dwight Stewart is a black, over weight, middle aged, former basketball player who studied as an undergraduate from 1988 to 1995 (kind of _slow_, weren't you?) then progressed through a series of one season contracts with "top" competitors like Yugoslavia and Poland. After all, that's what the web says and, as you make it clear, the web is always right.

Next time, do your research intelligently (someone can help you with that part if you need them to--perhaps Cecil?) instead of using a web search to "prove" your absurd claims, and perhaps others will take the time to do the same as well.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3584. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:27:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AC6AD852A0C95786.D358EF19F56D2FD2.A418BABB466DB6AE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26531

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 07:52:41 -0500, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:

> What do you know - we finally agree on something. Having spent >almost half my adult life living in Europe, I wish there was a better >public transportation system in this country. And, when discussing >public transportation, this (the elderly) is the one thing that is so >often overlooked. In Europe, there are routine driving tests (reaction >times, etc). When a person fails those tests, they lose the license.
>That means many older persons in those countries cannot drive, but >there is an excellent public transportation system available to them.
>In fact, the system is so good, I often used it to go shopping because >it was faster and far less hassle than dealing with traffic. Sadly, >nothing similar exists in this country, so I have a much harder time >accepting the notion of stripping the ability to drive from the elderly.

It's a difficult decision--but one we don't have a lot of choice about. I can feel for the people who would then be left in a very difficult situation--but at the same time allowing drivers on the road who are a danger to others (and to themselves) is simply an unacceptable alternative.

I live in a very rural area myself--and since I'm pushing sixty (haven't got there yet--but it isn't that many more years until I do) I'm aware of the fact that at some point I won't be able to drive safely--particularly on high speed rural roads in a state where Winter means snow, ice, and reduced visibility. By that time, I'll have no choice but to have moved to an area where driving is either inessential or only involves daytime driving in good weather on lower speed roads (which most seniors can handle long after the ability to drive safely at night or at higher speed is gone). Unfortunately, that's a situation that most rural residents will face sooner or later, and equally unfortunately far too many choose to keep driving well past the point at which they are no longer safe on the roads with the end result being a need for precisely the kind of laws they have in Europe.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3585. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:35:32 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <8S8Q7.147479$WW.9469991@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26532
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

$10,000 dollar NALs may well be part of the problem. If there is a choice, I would think most people would give another individual a second (or third or fourth) chance rather than hitting them with a $10,000 fine. What we need are some $100 or $200 fines for offenders with no serious previous records. Fines that, like traffic fines, would most likely not be forgiven. Some sort of progressive type fines. Even drunk drivers get a relatively 'modest' fine for first time offenders (like $500 to $1000 fine, plus lawyer costs, plus the fact their insurance will double for 10 years). After that, jail is a reality - as it should be. Once a pattern develops and a few low level fines are levied, once that big NAL hits, it is time to NOT forgive and forget. Just like the banks, take the house. Unfortunately, the FCC is being taken as a joke. Fact is, we NEED some sort of frequency allocating/enforcement organization so all can share the spectrum equitably.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C110BD5.7FE361CE@gte.net...
> >
> > >Riley Hollingsworth, the FCC's Special Counsel for > > >Amateur Radio enforcement told the forum that Amateur Radio road rage
> > >must stop now
> >
> > Now there's a threat; stop fighting or Riley's going to send you a > > whole bunch of progressively slightly nastier letters. If you live > > long enough for him to finally get tired of writing warnings to you, > > then there may be an actual enforcement action.
>
> At least he tries to be fair. He does > give you a chance. He does not have
> to.
>
> A few $10,000 fines and most of these > assholes will be off the air. Or in jail.
>
>

3586. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:39:21 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011207143921.01104.00000077@mb-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26533

In article <32E66B00688E1FAC.6E4880AD94FB3AFD.6ACF00FD3AD58309@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:07 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Work or do something else constructive, like going to school and making the >>grade.
>
> But according to Cecil we shouldn't be paying for school for >those who can't afford it either.

This is my plan, not Cecil's plan. I say taxes should pay for high quality free schools from pre-K through at least a bachelor's degree - for everyone that can make the grades.

>>The problem is that the benefits are not tied to responsible behaviors that >>will lead the dependent person to become independent.
>
> Here I agree.

Then why do you support programs that do the exact opposite?

> But under the Libertarian Party the >consideration isn't for changing the programs into ones that WILL >work--it's on eliminating them w/o replacement.
>
You'll have to ask Cecil about that.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3587. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:39:21 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011207143921.01104.00000078@mb-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26535

In article <FVPP7.212272$3d2.9554434@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>, "Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>Jim, N2EY wrote:
>
>> ....For example, most European religions have some sort of winter >> equinox celebration because of the effects lack of daylight causes in many >> people. For peoples with limited understanding of how the seasons and >weather >> work, and with limited artificial lighting, the loss of the Sun at the end
>of >> December could be very disturbing. Equinox celebrations, whatever they are >> called, remind us that the Light will return and spring will comne again.
>
>Yeah, but those were really WINTER SOLSTICE celebrations! <smirk>

DOH!!!!

Of course!
>
>Equinox celebrations were when the ancients would set their >clocks ahead one hour, or behind one hour, and then get really >confused for the next couple of weeks trying to remember whether >it was "Spring back, Fall forward", "Spring ahead, Fall back" or
>"Move to Arizona".
>
Yup.

Guess who first seriously proposed daylight savings time?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3588. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:39:22 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011207143922.01104.00000079@mb-cu.aol.com>
Source record: 26534

In article <F4096A0B6D435DBA.C34FB1B26A756925.A2B9BA49F174A979@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:10 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Which proves Cecil's point - HE may not get back what he put in, plus >interest.
>
> True--but if Social Security did not exist, he would have paid >that difference, probably plus some, into additional taxes to support >welfare for those who _didn't_ have sufficient investments for their >old age, or who were surviving children and spouses.

Only if those programs still existed and only the retirement part of SS were eliminated, AND if your math is right. Which I doubt.
>
> You cite the fact the your investments would have been >government insured--but that misses Cecil's entire point that NOTHING >should be paid for by the government other than certain essential >services.

Govt. bonds are only "insured" by the ability of the govt. to print more money to cover them, and raise taxes in the process. That's not a bad thing.

>Your investments are insured by other people's tax dollars, >and were it not for those there would be absolutely no guarantee that >any investment, fund, bank or other financial institution would not >simply go broke and leave you destitute.

So? That security is bought and paid for by the acceptance of lower interest rates. It's the old risk-return game.

73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> Rick

3589. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 19:53:37 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C111E41.BDCDDAB8@uci.edu>
Source record: 26536

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> Man, you got that right, Dwight. Hrrrmpphhh.
>
> Kim W5TIT

You think Dwight is right that the United States is like Afghanistan?
Get real, Kim.

3590. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 20:26:50 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C11260A.B3F89A35@uci.edu>
Source record: 26537

Rick Adams wrote:

> Actually, if pot was legal you would probably see a lot more > of it [pot wine]

Ya think?

3591. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 20:51:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C112BB5.1A3438D8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26538

Rick Adams wrote:
> The Libertarians are the ones that want a privatized society,
> remember?

EGADS, Rick. Libertarians are not for a privatized government.
Libertarians are all for an armed forces, a police system,
and a court system, i.e. the systems necessary to protect our inalienable rights.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

3592. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 20:55:21 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C112CB9.D1B0BA35@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26539

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >> And if a third child is born, should we punish the child by > >> not assisting it? Are the "sins" of the parents to be visited on their > >> children?
> >>
> >Yes. The problem will never be solved otherwise.
>
> And _that_, Cecil, is a perfect example of why the Libertarian > Party will never attract enough new members to be a serious influence > on our political system.

Well, let me ask you this, Rick. Why are children born to American parents more valuable human beings than children born to parents in other countries? To be consistent, you have to advocate welfare for all the children of the world, not just for American children.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

3593. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 20:56:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C112D17.988E496D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26540

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote:
>
> >Sorry to hear things aren't going well for you, and that your glass is so > >philosophically empty. Personally, I'm glad George Bush is in charge.
>
> Of what--the destruction of the US Constitution?

You wouldn't have that problem with a Libertarian government, Rick. :-)
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

3594. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 21:13:01 UTC
From: bpnjensen@yahoo.com Message-ID: <37af7e1c.0112071313.27189955@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26541
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp@msn.com> wrote in message news:<319f0406015193daafabfa88b8465440@spamfreenews.com>...

> The B.A.R.F. position is this. It's no one's business! Why cant you guys > leave him alone! Some of you folks get hardons when you hear Herb!
>
> Some of you people just enjoy beating dead horse's dont you?

Well, your position is stupid and erroneous. The "horse" obviously ain't dead, and this is the type of thing that can and may well affect amateur radio operators for decades to come. It's public record; it's a public activity; and the amateur radio public has every right, maybe even an obligation, to discuss it. Hopefully the discussion will focus on issues rather than personalities, but it is still a valid topic.

Bruce Jensen

3595. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 21:41:05 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9urjsh$k70$3@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26608
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Illegal alien and soon to be turned into the INS for having an expired visa,
"Enrique Alejandro Martinez" <pilotenrique@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:9ur4dn$h5h$1@onyx.indstate.edu...

Hmmmmm the computer system administrator will just have to suspend your internet acess for abusing the school's computer resources, bean boy.

> Roger is a loser anyway. There is no sense even argueing with him here.
His > only responses are his lame racial slurs. I think its funny. He has a big > mouth on the keyboard, but in person he would run away.

Get your ass over here if you can get gas for the Cordoba you drive, bean boy.

> "Pancho Hernandez" <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> wrote in message > news:9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> > > I wish that I'd have > > > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so I
> > can > > > record very soon.
> > >
> > You are seriously misinformed if you think Riley
> Hollingsworth
> > would accept any tape recordings from you. You have been the > > recipient of several warnings from Hollingsworth. Therefore my boy, > > you must be very stupid indeed, if you think you have even a shred > > of credibility with Hollingsworth. Put in simple language you might > > be able to understand. You are a known repeat violator of FCC > > rules and regulations my boy!!!!!! Now, would you like for us to > > post all your warning letters from Hollingsworth? so everyone can > > see what a fool you are Roger? Go back to playing on your CB > > radio. That is more akin to your level of expertise butthole!!!!!!!!!!
> >
> >
> >
> >
>
>

3596. Leland Scott inflicted with Twisteditis

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 21:53:02 UTC
From: amosz@cs.com
Message-ID: <9urdnu$hb0$1@news.netmar.com>
Source record: 26543
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.antenna

>=A0 X no Arhive yes
>=A0=A0=A0=A0=A0=A0As
Leland must be the lead knob polisher
the way he grabs Twistyheds leg with his paws
>=A=A=A

----- Posted via NewsOne.Net: Free (anonymous) Usenet News via the Web ----- http://newsone.net/ -- Free reading and anonymous posting to 60,000+ groups NewsOne.Net prohibits users from posting spam. If this or other posts made through NewsOne.Net violate posting guidelines, email abuse@newsone.net

3597. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 21:58:52 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C113B9C.90118D88@uci.edu>
Source record: 26542

CAM wrote:
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote:
> >
> > >Sorry to hear things aren't going well for you, and that your glass is so > > >philosophically empty. Personally, I'm glad George Bush is in charge.
> >
> > Of what--the destruction of the US Constitution?
>
> You wouldn't have that problem with a Libertarian government, Rick. :-)

He only imagines that he has that problem even NOW.

3598. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:22:04 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <gibQ7.291568$5A3.113102643@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26544
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
>
> And how does that young cop know that you > are not some type of terrorist?

Because he will ask/questions, you will answer the questions and he will find out your motives. Do you think They just slap the handcuffs on? And ask questions later.

>All those radios could be used to spy on the police so that you can try to >overthrow the US government.

Anything is possible. Look at 09-11-01.

> That is how young cops think. It is worst in > LA or NYC, but it happens everywhere.

Can you cite any specific references or are you speaking as a young cop? or just talking out your backside.

> Look at how blacks are profiled. It seems that
> "driving while black" is a crime in many big cities.

Of course they are never doing anything wrong. The blacks are profiled because it has been constantly shown they commit more crimes as a race. Cops profile people everyday ...criminals...this is what they are trained to do. Perhaps you had better take a look at the statistics of the black population and there driving skills. If you were a cop and a car with 4 Catholic nuns or a car with 4 young black men drove by who would you think would draw attention to the police. Which car would the cop have a better chance of finding something illegal?
Past statistics show of course the young black males. Is that profiling I guess you could call it that. Lets use the same example with a car load of Mexicans and a car load of girls from a nearby college. Who would you pull over if you were a cop. The Mexicans because statistics show they are more likely to be illegal and not possess a drivers license. Is that profiling no that called doing your job. Any one with a towel on there head or of Middle east decent is getting stopped going in and out of NYC is that profiling?

3599. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:24:25 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C114199.31D70D6F@uci.edu>
Source record: 26546

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> And their gay/lesbian parents are not going to have any > influence on their sexual "identity." Right.

I don't know if you've raised any daughters, Larry, but do you think that your influence on them would have made them want to be men?

3600. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:27:17 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <9nbQ7.291571$5A3.113106068@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26545
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
> The normal procedure, when a police officer > is uncertain of a law, is to assume that the > civilian is in the wrong.

Yeah Ok just because you say it doesn't make it so. What do you know of normal police procedure? Sounds Like not much.

>As one cop told me, you can always unarrest a guy. If he acts like a jerk, >well then "everyone is a sinner, it is just a matter of finding the right sin".

You watch to much TV!

> Cops do survive doing this. Often they are > backed up by the courts.

Yes the conspiracy theory!

3601. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:34:55 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <jubQ7.291577$5A3.113110981@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26547
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C10DB10.38F66182@gte.net...

> However, and this goes for every community,
> if the cop does stop you and does ask about > your radios then he might assume that you > are there to interfere with him.

Why would he assume this? What reason have you given him to think this?

>Newbie cops can be a bit paranoid. They do not like any > civilian who acts out of the normal.

And neither do I but your proof of newbie cops is a highly exaggerated .

>And radio nuts are like gun nuts, not normal.

Yes you are proving this .

> It is not that the cops are corrupt. It is that they > are fearful. Too many lose cannons in society.
> Too many drug dealers, terrorists, and just pain
> old farts with big mouths. Too many guys who > see themselves above the law.
>
> All it takes is one shooting, like the one up in Goshen
> last night, and every cop within 200 miles is on high > alert. Given what happened on Sept. 11th, they are > now looking for those who might be terrorists. And > a car full of ham gear looks very suspicious. Given > that many hams are gun owners as well, and you might > have a young cop who is going to over react.

What is your beef with "young cops" Young cops are more in tuned to electronics etc than the old cops. Cops use 2 to 3 different radios, walkie talkies and yes even scanners in the cars radios so they are not exactly foreign to them

>
> Just look at Cincinnati. They take young men from the > suburbs who have been told all their lives to stay out of > certain neighborhoods, especially after dark and make them
> cops. Then their first assignment is those exact neighborhoods.
> Guess what? You have a fearful, inexperienced cop > in a place where he is totally out of his league. Guess > what happens? He winds up over reacting and shooting > some young black guy. Which results in a riot as it did > last spring.

>
> Guys, you live in a too sheltered life.

Sorry Charlie I deal with hundreds of cops a week I wouldnt call that sheltered.

3602. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:43:18 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <aCbQ7.291580$5A3.113117543@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26548
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
>
> It does happen. And cops are going to be on edge > with the aftermath of Sept. 11th. A ham, with a > car full of radios, does look like a terrorist.

Thats funny where have you heard that? I havent seen a bolo stating that.

>Given that hams are often gun owners, and you might > have a gung ho young cop who wants to make > a name for himself.

Can you cite and specific refrences that state how many Hams are gun owners or are you shooting this off the top of your head again.

>
> Besides profiling has been going on with blacks > for sometime now.

Yes as well as other criminal they are profiled daily. In order to make the streets more safe.

> It is really bad on the east > coast, from Boston right down to Florida. The > cop does not know you. For all he knows, you > are a trouble maker.

Nor do you know the cop, For all he knows you are a decent person unless you give him a reason to think otherwise.

>Shooting your mouth off just makes it worst.
> And remember, gun owners have had to deal > with this for some time now.

Had to deal with what shooting there mouth off?

3603. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:44:37 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C114648.D10C9D4A@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26549

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> The third cite is a _research_ paper written > by two sociologists and the site itself is > the home of the Electronic Journal of Human > sexuality, an electronic version of the > traditional paper bound version. That's > hardly a biased source of information. In > addition you ignored the print references > completely--do you obtain ALL your > information from the Internet?

When that is all you've offered me, yes. And, again, sending me to sites supporting polygamous relationships, which offer only material supporting that, is hardly offering me an unbiased source. Likewise, the information on those sites is hardly worthwhile since it only presents only a single view (that supporting polygamous relationships).

> (snip) Incidently, your analogy to the KKK, > if true, would make it pretty clear that if > someone wants information on ham radio the LAST > place to look would be the ARRL site, since > that's biased in favor of it. (snip)

Actually, the KKK analogy is a valid one in this case. Like the KKK sites, or the ARRL site for that matter, the sites you offered present only one view, one position. That hardly makes those sites worthwhile if one wants the complete story about this issue. As for your mention of the ARRL site, if I wanted information about ham radio as an issue, I would indeed not visit ONLY that site. I would instead attempt to find sites that offered a more balanced view, or visit a range of sites with different views.

> (snip) outside of sending you to religious sites > where they will "prove" (by recourse to the > bible, of course, their ONLY source of > information on the topic) that such behavior is > "sinful" and "wrong." Since that's pretty much > what you appear to believe, (snip)

Well, I certainly think that type of behavior is wrong, but I'm not basing that on any religious belief ("sinful"). In fact, I don't even understand why liberals always start screaming about religion everytime someone takes a moral stand against anything liberals support? Do liberals think it is impossible to have a moral belief without involving religion? Do all liberals think there are only two alternatives - religion or everything goes? If that is what you think, you're wrong. It's not just religious fanatics who are opposed to the liberal nonsense in this country.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3604. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:50:56 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnznph2.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26550
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 11:36:23 -0600, Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH wrote:

>Then again, adding extra Special Sauce to someone's order could be >considered chemical warfare.

In Southern California there used to be a brand of horseradish sauce called "Atomic"....

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3605. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 22:50:58 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnzo1k3.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26601

On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 21:09:03 GMT, Dave Heil wrote:

>Phil Kane wrote:
>
>" ". "
> ", he added.
>
>Well, Phil,
>
>" ". That's my final word on the >subject.

The contents of my first message was all that was necessary to add to the discussion.....

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3606. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:00:12 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1149EA.21CCE1D6@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26602

N2EY wrote:
>
> (snip) Garrison Keillor did a wonderful piece > about the difference between "farm" people and
> "city" people. The terms refer to a state of > mind rather than where a person lives or was > raised. "Farm" folks learn to do for themselves > while "city" people tend to specialize in a > few things and depend on others for everything > else. (snip)

I read something similar to that, but I don't remember the author (remembering names is not my strong point). Anyway, this author was talking about politics, using something similar to that to explain the differences between those in the city and country. For example, he explained why those in the city see little use for a gun, while those in the country cannot imagine life without one. He argued that city folk tend to depend on law enforcement for their protection, while those in the country tend to depend on themselves for protection (realising that it may be some time before law enforcement might arrive on the scene). This difference, he concluded, explains the different trend in views on firearm ownership. Of course, he discussed many other political differences, but this can serve as an obvious example of the direction he was taking.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3607. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:15:17 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gnzpbi4.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 26603
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 19:35:32 GMT, JAMES HAMPTON wrote:

>$10,000 dollar NALs may well be part of the problem. If there is a choice,
>I would think most people would give another individual a second (or third >or fourth) chance rather than hitting them with a $10,000 fine. What we >need are some $100 or $200 fines for offenders with no serious previous >records. Fines that, like traffic fines, would most likely not be forgiven.

Blame the U S Attorneys' offices who will not start forced collection action on agency administrative forfeitures (the things that the FCC issues, for example) unless they are in the vicinity of $10K or more. So the rule is - levy the legal maximum and plea bargain down.

>Some sort of progressive type fines. Even drunk drivers get a relatively >'modest' fine for first time offenders (like $500 to $1000 fine, plus lawyer >costs, plus the fact their insurance will double for 10 years). After that, >jail is a reality - as it should be. Once a pattern develops and a few low >level fines are levied, once that big NAL hits, it is time to NOT forgive >and forget. Just like the banks, take the house. Unfortunately, the FCC is >being taken as a joke. Fact is, we NEED some sort of frequency >allocating/enforcement organization so all can share the spectrum equitably.

What we need is better back-up of FCC actions by the US Attorneys' offices.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

3608. SAME OLD TWISTEDHED, EVEN BACK THEN!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:24:50 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112071524.1d8bc082@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26604

From: Twistedhed (Twistedhead@webtv.net)
Subject: Re: BIG FAT LINEAR FOR 11 METERS QUESTION
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Date: 2001-02-16 22:20:04 PST

Jay in the Mojave <jay123a@qnet.com> wrote:
>Hello QRN 2000:
>
>Yep, knowing what bait is, that can't be argued.
>For someone who chums and trolls a lot 2.
>
>But knowing how to set the bait, troll around as if not trolling, takes >a little practice, ah!
>
>Jay in the Mojave

Jay, I get a charge out of how you stick up for us criminalistic outbander types and bash those stuck up hammies as soon as they show their ugly faces. If I could do anything for you I would. Perhaps a big kiss?

3609. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:27:35 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C11504E.7ACE1EFD@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26605

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Dwight Stewart wrote...
> >
> > (snip)
>
> (snip) In the first place, the meaning of "Satanic" > is very clear--and since Satan is a creation of > Judeo-Christian mythology and appears in no other > religion, it's pretty clear that the term "Satanic" > has relevance for the Christian (as well as Jew > and Muslim, of course) alone, not for those who > are part of other religions.

Yes, the meaning of "Satanic" (capital "s") is clear - it refers to the religious context of the word and is the one you continue to use in spite of my repeated objections. However, the meaning of "satanic" (lower case "s") seems much less clear to you - and it has nothing to do with "Satan."

> (snip) In the second place, even if you DID use > your own definition of satanic, (snip)

I used the dictionary definition of the word, not my own definition.

> > Nonsense. _I_ associate these activities (occult > > practices, witchcraft, etc) with satanism and I'm > > not a christian church, nor am I associated with > > a christian church.
>
> (snip) You do so through ignorance and superstition.
> I'm referring to reality. They are NOT the same.

And I say that the association with satanism is the reality.

> > These practices have long been associated with > > satanism.
>
> Yup.
>
> BY THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

And by just about everyone else in this country, and around the world for that matter. Walk down any street in this country and ask people to identify the practices of satanism. About 99 percent, both religious and non-religious, would list these very things. That is the reality, Rick. Of course, I suppose you'll now say the entire world it wrong.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3610. CBER TWISTEDHED GOT HIS EYE ON YO' BAND

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:28:51 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112071528.604477e6@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26606

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: RE: Ham rigs on CB
Newsgroups: rec.radio.cb
Date: 2001-03-23 22:44:57 PST

"Mike" <km6ab@pacbell.net> wrote:
>When I read some of the postings and replies from some hams it makes me >embarrassed to admit I have a license. I have met many hams who are soooo >socially immature that the most trivial infraction of any rule that will >never affect them will take over their entire lives! And what's worse, it >spills over to us reasonably normal folk and fuks up our day. I know that >telling them to get a life will not make any difference as they will never >get a clue. But saying GET A FUKING CLUE YOU FUKED UP HAM!!! makes ME feel a >little better and is good medicine for me. The vast majority of hams are >good, intelligent, reasonable people and it only takes the few wacked up >ones to give an outstanding hobby a bad name. So please don't form a bad >opinion about all hams. Lets just hope the socially impossible ones become >the victims of school shootings so our children are spared.....
>73, luv ya all!
>Yur ham friend,
>Bob.
>
>

Right on mike!!! Some hams are SUCH tightasses. They don't realize that CBers have already taken over 25 to 28 MHz and we will take 29MHz too and there's not much they can do about except sit back and enjoy it.

3611. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:34:46 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1151FD.8730D2D1@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26607

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) YOU'RE the one who was claiming that > Wiccan and Pagan religions are really Satanic > and attempting to "prove" it by referring to > web sites, remember? You made it very clear > that the web sites were the most accurate > source of information.

First of all, I did not attempt to use web sites to prove anything.
I simply pointed to those web sites as one piece of evidence to support my position. Second, I have never claimed that web sites were the most accurate source of information. That is just some false nonsense you came up with to belittle me.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3612. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:43:30 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C115408.4B06E79F@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26609

N2EY wrote:
>
> (snip) Try to imagine the reaction if the White House
> and Congress jointly proposed a $1 tax on each gallon > of gasoline sold for private passenger car use, with > the tax to be spent only for public surface
> transportation.

LOL. I don't think there is a Senator or Congressman with the balls to do it. Heck, I'm not even sure I would have the balls to do it if I were in their situation. They haven't tarred and feathered anyone in this country recently, but I'm sure some would serious think about it.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3613. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:49:13 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C11555F.CAA8F4DA@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26610

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> (snip) Unfortunately, that's a situation that most > rural residents will face sooner or later, and > equally unfortunately far too many choose to keep > driving well past the point at which they are no > longer safe on the roads with the end result > being a need for precisely the kind of laws they > have in Europe.

And, law or no law, I'd probably be right out there driving with them when I reach that age. Without some reasonable public transportation, I'll be damned if some law is going to lock me up with no way to go anywhere. I have no desire to be a recluse in a free country.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3614. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:56:53 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C11572A.B52686A9@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26611

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> Are you stating that you are not, and do not identify > as, a Christian?

Man, I haven't went to any church in at least 25 to 30 years. No, I would definately not call myself a christian (and I doubt many others, other than you, would call me that either).

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3615. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-07 23:59:16 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1157B8.B713B0C2@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26612

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> I think that you've missed the humor, Rick.
> Dwight doesn't know of a religion called
> "Stewartism".

Wow, do they have a religion like that, Dave? I'll join.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3616. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:00:16 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112071600.72e7b3e9@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26613
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Lightbulbs" <taktango6000@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:<qMUP7.34075$WC1.3486408@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net>...

>
> Reichlyn, who said he's been licensed since 1967, told Hollingsworth that he > would cooperate with the FCC in resolving the investigation. Hollingsworth > told the ARRL that the case remains open and the inquiry continues.
>
> --------------- end bulletin ---------------
>
> As far as I am concerned this whole thing stinks on ice and Herbie is the smelly fish!
> There is no doubt in my mind that Herbie used this guy Reichlyn to do an "end run" to get > back on the air to stir up shit. That's what Herb knows best how to do you know!
>
>
A lot of these guys go off to Carribean spas for dx contest weekends simply to roll up huge scores, my own club usually fields several of 'em per contest. It's a helluva lot easier to put an existing pile of hardware on the air than it is to do a from-scratch dxpedition, path of least resistance, etc. This guy Reichlyn oughta known better than to latch up with Herbie just to save the effort of transporting and putting together a station. Herby is nothing but trouble, ya stay away from those types. Reichlyn obviously used some bad judgement in the company he keeps but if in fact he did supervise all of Herby's operations the FCC has no squawk on him. And you can bet that there is no way Riley is ever gonna determine with any certainty that Reichlyn was in fact asleep while Herby operated.
>
>
If there are Federal court orders which restrain Herby from operating under any conditions it's his tits which are in the wringer again.
>
>
I have a buddy who was a permanent resident KV4 forty years ago when he was a kid. I'm told that even back then Herby was toxic waste other KV4s wanted nothing to do with.
>
>
w3rv

3617. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:03:14 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C1158A3.16A0AAFC@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26614

Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Man, you got that right, Dwight. Hrrrmpphhh.
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> You think Dwight is right that the United States > is like Afghanistan?

No, I think Afghanistan is a lot like us and most other countries.
There are very few that don't attempt to use propaganda to further agendas.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3618. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:18:09 UTC
From: Dwight Stewart <stewartx@sccoast.net>
Message-ID: <3C115C21.353BB5EE@sccoast.net>
Source record: 26615

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> I think that you've missed the humor, Rick.
> Dwight doesn't know of a religion called
> "Stewartism".

Besides, he'll never get that type of humor, Dave. He seems to think only of christianity, when I was actually hoping that I was wealthier than I thought (religions make good money). Imagine if I actually had one of my own - and I don't think I would really care what they called it.

Dwight Stewart (W5NET)

http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

3619. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:18:54 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <3C115C6E.A5274B5@uci.edu>
Source record: 26616

Dwight Stewart wrote:
> Are you arguing that total trust is what you believe in, Cecil? That > you would trust your wife alone with another man in any situation, and > that any man who doesn't is simply insecure and doesn't trust his > wife?

No. I think he's arguing that he wouldn't suspect his wife of infidelity simply because she went out to lunch with her boss.

3620. Re: Dropping the code.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:22:35 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c115cab.1309896@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26617

On 30 Nov 2001 08:18:47 -0800, kb9rvb@arrl.net (Carl Zager) wrote:

>yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) wrote in message
news:<20011111104320.12427.00001965@nso-cg.aol.com>...
>> I recall having to answer a lot of questions about repeaters when I >> took my written exams for Tech, General, Advanced, and Extra. I >> also had to answer a lot of questions about SSB, RTTY, and FM.
>> Why were these modes being "singled out?"
>
>Not to beat a dead horse, but ... is it possible to miss ALL the >questions pertaining to SSB and still pass the test? RTTY? FM? And >still pass the test?

The answer is an unequivacal YES!

>That, in itself, makes the code different.

True.

>...
>> However, without >> the code tests, I never would have been able to use the Morse/CW >> mode, a mode which has produced over 85% of my HF operating >> achievements, and 99.999% of my overall enjoyment of ham radio.
>
>There are two premises and I don't think the second always has a >direct connection to the first. Many people use packet exclusively, >yet never had to take a test equivalent to the code test to gain 99%
>of their enjoyment of ham radio.
>
>Presence of the code test does provide an interesting stimulus. There >are probably many who would not be operating CW, had they not had to >study it. Some would ask why the same is not true for the other modes.
>Were folks required to study packet or SSB operation before using it, >might not that serve as the same stimulus to increase the numbers >using other modes? Yet, we don't test that way for any mode except CW.

And with the end of code testing, there will STILL be newcomers to ham radio who will find morse interesting...of that I am certain.

>> The difference is, once I lost my childish, self-serving objections to >> code testing -- based mainly on an immature fear of failure -- I saw >> the code tests as just as useful and necessary as the testing on >> any other mode. It's all about having the right attutude.
>
>I never approached the code in that manner. I came to General from

>Tech with the expressed purpose of using CW as the preferred mode in >QRP operation. Had I gone to code only in order to gain HF phone >privileges, I think I would've been, at the very least, puzzled by the >requirement: Pass a code test to earn phone privileges?
>
>...
>
>> .... Code testing does
>> reinforce good operating technique, because you are tested in exactly >> the same way you operate in CW and a variety of other modes.
>
>I must've missed that part. I recall copying a message in which the >sender identified himself, said where he was from, said what equipment >he was using, and reported the signal strength of the contact. I don't >remember being required to send in CW. I don't remember very much at >all about how to adjust the signal, about using "split" VFO's, about >RIT or XIT or notch. I don't recall being asked how many CQ's I should >send or whether I should send CQ CQ DE KB9RVB CQ over and over again.
>I don't recall anything at all about whether you should crank up your >power to overwhelm everybody else on the frequency -- on the CW test.
>
>Had I finished my ham studies in my teens with many of my friends, I >probably would've come in as a Novice w/ 5wpm and gained that >operating experience that you refer to. But that methodology wasn't >then and isn't now part of the code test. Operations in ham radio >probably are the least covered aspect of the service.
>
>Yes, there are rules for operation -- and those are covered in all the >study guides and on the tests. But what about the realities? What is >the proper procedure for XYZ? What is the impact of ABC? These only >come from actually getting out there and stumbling along, asking your >"Elmer."
>
>Why is code different?
>
>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
>Returning the 73,
>Carl KB9RVB

3621. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:25:50 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c115d6d.1503221@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26618
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 15:59:11 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> >> > > > > The police have near zero ability to determine what is or isn't
>> >> > > > > a legal rig for any service...CB, ham, FRS, private radio, etc.
>> >> > > > >
>> >> > > > Actually they can. It is the type acceptance
>> >> > > > plate on the back of the radio. If it is not there,
>> >> > > > then make the arrest.
>> >> > > >
>> >> > > Bullshit. None of my ham radios have a "type acceptance plate"
>> >> > > on the back, or anywhere else. Neither do yours. Lot's of >> >> > > folks besides me drive my vehicles. Should they be arrested?
>> >> > > >
>> >> > > You're out to lunch on this one!
>> >> >
>> >> > That is what happens in my state with respect
>> >> > to firearms. If you do not have a license, and
>> >> > are caught with a firearms in a vehicle, then
>> >> > you are arrested. That even goes for family
>> >> > members.
>> >>
>> >> What state do you live in? Russia? Sure must suck
>> >> to be you! Here they look at you suspiciously
>> >> if you _don't_ have at least a deer rifle in the car!
>> >
>> >Indiana. We have one of the most pro gun set of >> >laws in the country. One of the oldest personal >> >protection permits. But you had better have a >> >permit if you have a handgun in the vehicle.
>> >
>> >Rifles and shotguns are a bit different. Even a kid >> >can have one, if he has written permission from his >> >parents. But too many have gone to jail because >> >dad left his handgun in the car.
>>
>> All not relavant since the rules/laws for possession >> of radios is not at all similar. Indeed, no state has a >> law that requires having a license to have any of the >> CB radios or FRS radios. A few (less than 10) states >> prohibit having a radio receiver capable of receieving
>> police (public frequencies) in the car.
>
>And how does that young cop know that you >are not some type of terrorist?

He doesn't and he'd better not think having a radio constitutes any probable cause to begin with.

>All those radios
>could be used to spy on the police so that you >can try to overthrow the US government.

Even if true, what would you want...ban all radios from cars?

>That is how young cops think. It is worst in >LA or NYC, but it happens everywhere.

And that type of "young cop" attitude/behavior should be stopped.

>Look at how blacks are profiled. It seems that
>"driving while black" is a crime in many big cities.

What's the relavence? Are you now saying anyone with a radio is being profiled?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3622. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:28:10 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c115e53.1733215@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26619
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 04:43:52 GMT, JR <radiobur@mailcity.net> wrote:

>Bill Sohl wrote:
>
>> Hams don't need licenses to POSSESS ham
>> equipment.
>
>Let's see, if you are a ham then you have a license. What are you >trying to say?

I should have said... hams don't need to show a license to own a ham radio. The license is to OPERATE...it is not needed to buy or own a ham radio.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3623. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:32:07 UTC
From: billsohl@mindspring.com
Message-ID: <3c115ed8.1866925@news.mindspring.com>
Source record: 26620
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On 6 Dec 2001 21:30:26 -0800, voobner@yahoo.com (Aaron H. Voobner)
wrote:

>"Landshark" S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net wrote
>> What he is saying is correct. Most police >>officers (while in their heart they think that what >>they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper >>training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
>>can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
>>is merely an inconvenience to someone.
>> NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is >>one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to >>tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you >>say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he >>thinks is right.
>>
>> Landshark
>
>Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant >attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more >illegally-minded CBers in this thread.
>
>The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw
>CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference >complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so >the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused >this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw >CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma >Ordinance)
>
>Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions >about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile >rigs.
>
>If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying >(can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't >tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got >troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another >town.
>
>-Aaron-

Aaron, is there truly a new law in Tacoma? No one has actually found one to exist.

Additionally, I agree that the law, if it exists, is targeted at illegal high power CB ops...from home locations...NOT from cars.
The high power home illegals are the ones that cause constant ongoing interference. No one much cares about an illegal power amp in an 18 wheeler rolling down I-5.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

3624. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:38:44 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <7129BDAEC49CF990.44F6BB9ABBCBDDE9.067CB477F4AC9CEE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26621
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 18:34:31 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

>> Now there's a threat; stop fighting or Riley's going to send you a >> whole bunch of progressively slightly nastier letters. If you live >> long enough for him to finally get tired of writing warnings to you, >> then there may be an actual enforcement action.
>
>At least he tries to be fair. He does >give you a chance. He does not have
>to.

I can understand warnings for spurious emissions, accidental out-of-band, etc. However, he's sending out multiple warnings on blatantly intentional violations. Sure, there's the occasional accidental oprofanity when someone has a near miss on the highway, and sometimes people honestly forget to switch the VOX off before they crank up the stereo, but http://www.arrl.org/news/enforcement_logs/shows several cases where there can hardly be any doubt that the violation was not an accident.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3625. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:45:03 UTC
From: "Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net>
Message-ID: <FAB8E5B2BED23112.B94B16B8D276746A.266D7BBC82C8890C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26622
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 19:35:32 GMT, "JAMES HAMPTON"
<j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> wrote:

>$10,000 dollar NALs may well be part of the problem.

$10k is the maximum. They can reduce it when the circumstances warrant. However, I do agree that there should be an established amount for first-time offenders. I'd say switch to a standard of one warning, then a $100 fine.

Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH
kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net

3626. Re: kv4fz does an "end run" to get on the air?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 00:46:51 UTC
From: maha ahhaaa <nidashere3voor@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <%pdQ7.10757$714.1118666@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 26623
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Brian Kelly" <kelly@dvol.com> wrote in message news:d22b54c3.0112071600.72e7b3e9@posting.google.com...
> Reichlyn obviously used some bad judgement in the > company he keeps but if in fact he did supervise all of Herby's > operations the FCC has no squawk on him. And you can bet that there is > no way Riley is ever gonna determine with any certainty that Reichlyn > was in fact asleep while Herby operated.

Reichlyn is really one of Herbie's closet butt-buddies or he genuinely was ignorant about fuzzy zipper's sorrid past on ham radio. I find it very hard to believe that one could be a ham since the late 60's, and yet not be aware of the extraordinary controversey that kv4fz created in the ham bands on a near-continous basis since 1978, which is as far back as my knowledge of the 8-ball goes.
What or where was Reichlyn living for the past few Years not to know about Herb the turd ? In a freakin cave in Afganistan with Osama Bin Laden perhaps ???

> I have a buddy who was a permanent resident KV4 forty years ago when > he was a kid. I'm told that even back then Herby was toxic waste other > KV4s wanted nothing to do with.

What else are we to expect from a guy who made his money in USVI politics?

3627. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 01:50:14 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <qleQ7.292510$5A3.113287076@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 26624
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Bill, So long as I doesn't effect you you don't care right? How about if you live next to I-5 and are tired of the Hi-power mobiles...The law should be for anything car, house, tree fort, back alley.

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message news:3c115ed8.1866925@news.mindspring.com...
> On 6 Dec 2001 21:30:26 -0800, voobner@yahoo.com (Aaron H. Voobner)
> wrote:
>
> >"Landshark" S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net wrote
> >> What he is saying is correct. Most police > >>officers (while in their heart they think that what > >>they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > >>training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> >>can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> >>is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> >> NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > >>one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > >>tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > >>say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > >>thinks is right.
> >>
> >> Landshark
> >
> >Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant > >attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more > >illegally-minded CBers in this thread.
> >
> >The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw
> >CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference > >complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so > >the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused > >this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw > >CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma > >Ordinance)
> >
> >Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions > >about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile > >rigs.
> >
> >If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying > >(can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't > >tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got > >troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another > >town.

> >
> >-Aaron-
>
> Aaron, is there truly a new law in Tacoma? No one has > actually found one to exist.
>
> Additionally, I agree that the law, if it exists, is targeted at > illegal high power CB ops...from home locations...NOT from cars.
> The high power home illegals are the ones that cause > constant ongoing interference. No one much > cares about an illegal power amp in an 18 wheeler rolling down I-5.
>
> Cheers,
> Bill K2UNK

3628. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:00:35 UTC
From: Angst <ToodleDoo@youtoo.col>
Message-ID: <9urs2a$470$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 26625
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9uo12vlfq0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "DT" <DT2314@ncvillage.net> wrote in message
> news:3204442.23871@ncvillage.net...
> >
> > On Wed, 5 Dec 2001 15:42:51 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> > >
> > > Oh, I don't know.....he may be listening more than you think. He got
> on > > > 14.313 recently and talked to Dan.
> > >
> >
> > We can take care of things ourselves instead of waiting around for Mr.
> > No Show. I have a Collins KWM-2 all hooked up and ready to take Dimmy > > out whenever he shows up and starts his profanity again.
>
> So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with > another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't
it?
> BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.

And it was AMP who suggested making a midnight call to tear down towers and antennas. Just goes to show, you put a CB'er on Ham Radio and he's still a CB'er.

3629. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:06:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c1174e6_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26626

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C108CD0.B87E7E1B@sccoast.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > Dwight Stewart wrote...
> > ?
> > > I don't "wish" to believe anything.
> > > I want to see evidence and I've seen > > > none to support an argument for or > > > against.
> >
> > http://www.polyamory.org/
> > http://www.nasca.com/
> > http://www.ejhs.org/volume3/swing/body.htm
> >
> > Hope they help,
>
>
> Well, not really that helpful. I was hoping for a little less biased > information. The three sites you offered are all sites supporting > polygamous relationships (which is a little like sending a person to > KKK sites to find out the truth about KKK groups). Thanks anyway, though.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

I sure do wish people would be just a little less cynical about "sources."
Dwight, a site that supports polygamous relationships is probably full of expert opinions from those who practice polygamy. Just as probably one of the best sources for cancer information would be from a site sponsored by an agency that supports cancer research, The American Cancer Society.

You, yourself, have offered sources of information that "support" your point of view. I would tell you that camping is one of the most rewarding vacation experiences anyone could ever have; and I could support that point of view with not only my own experience, but the evidence on several websites. I am sure there are websites that offer other experiences as the most rewarding vacation experience. To take it to an even more serious level, I could tell you that smoking pot and driving is far safer than drinking and driving. I could also tell you that from personal experience, and could probably find sources of information that support my point of view.

Now, on political stuff, all bets are off. I am no more likely to be inspired to a different way of thinking about something because I read or listen to someone like, say, Rush Limbaugh; just as you would not be by reading something out of Sojourners Truth (think that was the name of the magazine) or National Public Radio.

My question to you is, if you are not willing to accept the information that is offered as part of an offer of education about a certain topic, then why even debate. And, the likelihood that you will find an absolute independent source for topics of discussion is nearly, if not, nil.

Kim W5TIT

3630. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:08:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117560_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26627

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C1093A0.87EF9C2A@sccoast.net...
> Sean G Gilley wrote:
> >
> > That's what I thought we were discussing -- casual > > lunches and other casual contacts between a male > > and female.
>
>
> And that IS exactly what we're talking about, Sean. Many senior > employees avoid casual lunches and other such contacts with junior > opposite sex employees exactly because of the possible negative > consequences. In fact, that has become SOP in many companies, backed > up by stated company policies. And I would take that to the next step > - relationships with equal employees with jobs dependent on mine. In > other words, if my job had any bearing on that other person's job in > any way whatsoever, that relationship would never go beyond casual > conversations with other employees around (a lunch would be entirely > out of the question).
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

Ah, the politically "correct" life. I don't subscribe to it. If you guys do, that's up to you. I'll never bend so far as to be ruled by the fearful.

Kim W5TIT

3631. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:20:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117832_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26628

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C109E40.BF313194@sccoast.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Sorry, Dwight. I think what you've got there > > is nothing more than a red herring. Imagination > > at best, paranoia at worst. There are female > > bosses, males bosses, everywhere, every day
> > that must deal with the opposite sex as either > > their superior or employee.
>
>
> Of course, they do, Kim. And, if they have any sense, they would be > very careful in doing so. And most do have sense enough to do so.
>

Uh, they are. They don't go around necking at every turn in the hallways or during their lunches or private meetings! For crying out loud. You sound like you are either subservient to or support the very things that nidiots have come up with for us all to fear so that our whole "relationship building" bites the dust. Sorry, but I have never worked in a company--though I've only worked for maybe 5--that yet admonishes private lunches or meetings with the opposite sex. Make sure I never live where you have, because I find a life like that, corporate or private, ridiculous to say the least.

>
> > (snip) After she left, it was time to go home,
> > but not before I spent a few moments with my > > supervisor (again, a man) behind closed doors.
> > Imaginative, immature minds would call him a > > lucky man. (snip)
>
>
> Okay, Kim. Lets take a look at that situation. If you went to work > tomorrow and accused that boss of making sexual remarks, and even > grabbing you, during that meeting (threatening to go to the press if > the company didn't "protect" you), what do you think the company would > do? I'm telling you right now, unless the company is foolish (sexual > harassment lawsuits can attract national media exposure), they would > almost immediately fire the manager and do just about anything to > satisfy you.
>

And, so. What shall we do? Shall we make managers have to have only same-sex employees? Do we have chaperones for every "private" meeting that must take place?! This is ludicrous, Dwight. I am not doubting that it happens, as you say it does. BUT, I have never, ever, ever worked in a company where it is "uncommon" for two people of the opposite sex to have closed door meetings, or to have lunch one-on-one together.

> And it doesn't matter if what you said is true. In fact, the company > may not even believe you. At this point, it really doesn't matter. The > company has two choices - fire the employee or face negative publicity > that could hurt the company's reputation. Since employees are > expendable, the company is obviously going to take that route (find an > excuse to fire the manager). And, by the way, they would find an > excuse (they don't want him to sue, so they'll find something wrong > with his work performance or simply call it "budget cutbacks").

And, I say to you that if it were that easy, there'd be unscrupulous people all over the place doing it.

> You don't even have to be the person making the complaint. Lets say > another co-worker, who happens not to like you or the boss, makes a > complaint that you two are spending too much time together and you're > getting favorable treatment because of it. What is even worse, two or > three other co-workers, friends of that co-worker, agrees with that > complaint. Now what do you think the company is going to do? They have > two choices - let you two continue to meet even if it causes friction > in the workplace or end the friction in the workplace by ending your > casual meetings around the workplace.

See above. And, believe me, I'd welcome an end to meetings with bosses and other employees! Oh, I wouldn't call an employee review, job interview, etc. a "casual meeting."

> It doesn't even have to be a co-worker complaining. Lets say Betty > (made up name) doesn't like the fact that her husband is meeting with > too many woman who work with him at the local small town factory, so > she gets up in front of her church Sunday morning and begins talking > about all the "sluts" who work for that company and all the illicit > relationships between co-workers at that company. To make matters > worse, a newspaper reporter, also a member of the church, hears this > and decides to do an article about it in the local newspaper. Now what > do you think the company is going to do?

Then I'd say, now you're really letting your imagination run wild, Dwight. I just plain don't believe this is happening with such regularity that companies all over have policies to keep opposite sex meetings from happening. I don't believe it for one minute.

>
> Now, I know you're convinced all these are simply outrageous > examples made up to support my position, but let me assure you that > each happened almost exactly as I described. In fact, I personally had > to deal with each one of these cases myself. And you can add these to > the many cases I've seen, or heard about, that I was not involved with > in any way. So don't tell me this stuff is not going on because we're > "far more adult than that," Kim. It is going on, and it is becoming > more commonplace.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

No, Dwight. I'll tell you in a heartbeat that it isn't going on and I do believe that we are all far more adult than that. If this was going on as much as you say, and if the prevailing attitude were to adjust company policies because of it, there would be such a stranglehold on the ability of companies to do business that it would be impossible to do business!!

And, as I said, I have never, ever seen it happen yet. Yet is the operative word, but it is also the one on which I base my opinion that you have nothing more than a red herring.

Kim W5TIT

3632. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:23:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c1178ec_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26629

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C10B67B.E07CC4CB@sccoast.net...
>
> For one so opposed to religion, you seem to be obsessed with the > religious meaning of the word "satanic" (one who worships satan). Get > out a dictionary, my friend. Today that word means one who is > devilish, satan-like, infernal, wicked, or evil. Today, the direct > religious meaning is hardly used anymore outside religious circles.
>

You are labeling many of my Wiccan friends, Dwight. And, I can assure they are no more devilish, satan-like, infernal, wicked, or evil than you or I.
And, the American Indian beliefs could also be labeled, as you say,
"satanic" yet has no founding at all in such rubbish.

Kim W5TIT

3633. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:24:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c11793a$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26630

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C10B7EC.9B6AB3CF@sccoast.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > Damn, Dwight, we didn't know we had such a > > sports hero among us! But, we do now--the > > Internet never lies!
>
>
> So your premise now is that all web sites are wrong (lying) and only > you could possibly be right? Or is it only the sites that disagree > with you? Sorry, my friend, but, based on what you've written so far,
> I would believe a web site done by a drunken sailor from Brazil before
> I would believe you.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/

EWwwww, Dwight. Low blowin' now, eh? Hmmmm, just a week ago you were a proponent of ending this thread so that the "hateful" stuff would stop. LOL

Kim W5TIT

3634. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:28:10 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c1179ff_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26631

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C10BB25.923CF31D@sccoast.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > (snip) I feel sorry for those who, through age
> > or infirmity, have lost the skills or physical > > capabilities (vision, etc.) necessary to drive
> > a motor vehicle. But feeling sorry for them does > > NOT mean permitting them to keep driving and > > endangering others--it means trying to encourage > > the creation--and use--of better public > > transportation facilities so that such individuals
> > CAN remain independent yet still not endanger
> > the lives of others.
>
>
> What do you know - we finally agree on something. Having spent > almost half my adult life living in Europe, I wish there was a better > public transportation system in this country. And, when discussing > public transportation, this (the elderly) is the one thing that is so > often overlooked. In Europe, there are routine driving tests (reaction > times, etc). When a person fails those tests, they lose the license.
> That means many older persons in those countries cannot drive, but > there is an excellent public transportation system available to them.
> In fact, the system is so good, I often used it to go shopping because > it was faster and far less hassle than dealing with traffic. Sadly, > nothing similar exists in this country, so I have a much harder time > accepting the notion of stripping the ability to drive from the elderly.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>
> http://www.qsl.net/w5net/
>

heh heh heh. I live rural enough that I get my blind friends behind the wheel of my vehicles and let them drive. I crack up at the story of one of my former blind friends who drove down a residential street (creeping, mind you) while the sighted owner of the vehicle used her cane to knock against the sides of parked vehicles so she would miss them...ROFLMAO

The whole neighborhood was laughing, as I hear. (Before you do gooders jump--the cane did absolutely no damage to any of the vehicles). Neither did the blind person...LOL

Kim W5TIT

3635. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:29:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117a43_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26632

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message news:20011207100121.13985.00000348@mb-md.aol.com...
> In article
<A6B45858D89DF4F4.0C2F51F00E234730.A6900C9F8C233837@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >
> > One based on fact, not superstition (read religious dogma & > >theology); concern for others not selfishness; dedicated to freedom > >not oppression; and based on the concept that the role of the state is > >to protect and defend, not to regulate and control consensual > >behavior. It would be a civilization in which the poet, the writer, > >and the artist (even the less successful ones) were as respected as
> >the rock star, the politician, or the preacher and on in which > >prejudice, self-righteousness, and hypocrisy did not exist.
> >
> > What kind would YOU like?
> >
> > Rick
>
> Rick:
>
> Actually, one pretty much the way you described it, but I don't find > too much different with the civilization we have now and your ideal.
> Sure, we have problems, but we're human beings, and imperfect
> by nature. The trick is to rise above our imperfection, and continually > strive to make things better.

So. When ya gonna start, Larry?

Kim W5TIT

3636. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:32:21 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117af9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26633

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:D841CA89BDEDA32D.82206C0E47B55D34.368E527916190CE5@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 7 Dec 2001 09:16:37 -0800, "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu>
> wrote:
>
> >Sorry to hear things aren't going well for you, and that your glass is so > >philosophically empty. Personally, I'm glad George Bush is in charge.
>
> Of what--the destruction of the US Constitution?
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

He (they) sure is/are on his (their) way, eh?

Kim W5TIT

3637. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:37:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117c28_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26634

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:C8CE8E9DF974C82C.8426634A826A06AD.0E8068ECD61F93BD@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 07:38:54 -0500, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >>
> >> Damn, Dwight, we didn't know we had such a > >> sports hero among us! But, we do now--the > >> Internet never lies!
> >>
> >>
> > So your premise now is that all web sites are wrong (lying) and only > >you could possibly be right? Or is it only the sites that disagree > >with you? Sorry, my friend, but, based on what you've written so far,
> >I would believe a web site done by a drunken sailor from Brazil before
> >I would believe you.
>
> Sorry, "Dribbles," but you got it wrong as usual.
>
> YOU'RE the one who was claiming that Wiccan and Pagan > religions are really Satanic and attempting to "prove" it by referring > to web sites, remember? You made it very clear that the web sites were > the most accurate source of information.
>
> Well, Dwight, if that's true for you it's equally true for > others--so since you insist that Wicca=Satanist based on your web > search, I guess I'll stick with my claim that Dwight Stewart is a > black, over weight, middle aged, former basketball player who studied > as an undergraduate from 1988 to 1995 (kind of _slow_, weren't you?) > then progressed through a series of one season contracts with "top" > competitors like Yugoslavia and Poland. After all, that's what the web > says and, as you make it clear, the web is always right.
>
> Next time, do your research intelligently (someone can help > you with that part if you need them to--perhaps Cecil?) instead of > using a web search to "prove" your absurd claims, and perhaps others > will take the time to do the same as well.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH

> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Not to mention that well thought out sources of information are far more respectable to offer than those conjured up out of thoughtless absurdity. I have even had favorable discussions of Wiccan practices and theology with Catholic priests, who are quite willing to accept the belief system, and know the difference between a satanic or demonic cult, or the occult, and pagan religions.

Kim W5TIT

3638. Re: some sobering numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:42:43 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117d71_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26636

"Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message news:3C111E41.BDCDDAB8@uci.edu...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > Man, you got that right, Dwight. Hrrrmpphhh.
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> You think Dwight is right that the United States is like Afghanistan?
> Get real, Kim.

I don't think Dwight is saying the United States is like Afghanistan, therefore I cannot possibly think he is right about it. I believe Dwight's observation is that, depending on what side one is on, one always feels the victim and one always is the offender.

Kim W5TIT

3639. Re: TWISTEDHED PROMOTES ILLEGAL CB

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:46:17 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112071846.69bb9b82@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26635
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: KC8JBO WILL LICK MY BOOTS
Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 2001-04-14 17:32:05 PST

Because I say so!

HAHAHAHA!

Twistedhed
King Of rec.radio.cb

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<9uqpja$kh5$0@pita.alt.net>...
> Laaaaaardasssss Lllllllllllllllllllllloyd the nutsack slurping eternal > technician
> "Lloyd" <barfies@BARFxxzzxx.net> wrote in message
> news:9uqk1v$87j$0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > Doesn't KC8JBO operate on 27.555 USB ?????
>
> Quit humpin my leg, Lardasssssssss, and get back to slurping winos' nutsacks > behind the dumpster.
>
> > "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message > > news:ce9e428e.0112070439.3d576513@posting.google.com...
> > > Written by: RS 1175 (Florida, USA) e-mail: twistedhed@webtv.net
> > >
> > > Original story published in the April 2000 issue of Sporadic Waves
> > >
> > >
> > > DX Gone Crazy? International DX on the eleven meter free-band is there > > > for the taking just about everyday on sideband. AM is also giving up > > > rare contacts. But one of the better known frequencies for > > > international DX contacts, 27.555 USB, once a jewel of pleasant > > > listening and international contacts, has unfortunately deteriorated > > > rapidly over the last few months, morphing itself into a vile > > > cesspool, spewing forth all it's bile and waste, due to a small,
> > > intellectually-challenged, rapid group of angry, self-loathing and > > > pathetic operators who have taken it upon themselves to take up a > > > permanent-like residential status there, and in the process, > > > completely abdicated any civil, polite conversation.
> > >
> > > 27.555 has long been an international world wide contact frequency.
> > > Standard protocol has always dictated one makes a contact and QSY's to > > > another frequency for their conversation, thus leaving the call > > > frequency open at all times for contacts. This small but nefarious > > > group is attempting to jam, interfere, and prevent any DX contacts > > > from being made on frequency. In case you haven't listened in on 555

> > > as of late, the frequency has literally become a key down fest with > > > language that one would be embarrassed to hear in the company of > > > children, while only those blowing ridiculous amounts of power are > > > being heard. Some incredibly rare and difficult DX contacts have > > > effectively been nullified because so many operators are choosing to > > > fight fire with fire....in other words, many are pumping up their > > > wattage rather than surrender the frequency. While I can somewhat > > > empathize with the operators who are attempting to defend this bit of > > > DX space, especially the ones who are located outside of the U.S. and > > > are permitted to transmit there, I can't seem to shake the old adage > > > that keeps playing in my mind, "If you are not part of the solution, > > > you are part of the problem."
> > >
> > > Power wars are not going to solve anything. The frequency has so much > > > trash on it that it is already beginning to sound like the frequencies > > > many have attempted to elude. While 27.555 used to be an everyday stop > > > during my channel surfing activities, it no longer is. Oh, I > > > occasionally flip there in hopes that the channel may somehow have > > > become civilized again, but as soon as I hear the hate and discontent,
> > > I no longer have the patience to listen for a far off exotic station > > > just to have them get keyed on as they give the frequency they are > > > QSYing to. It is easier to change the frequency.
> > >
> > > Other operators around the world are also gravitating to nearby and > > > other frequencies. In the last 2 weeks, I have heard France, Italy, > > > Germany, the U.K., and Holland comment on what a sad state 27.555 has > > > become due to the selfish and inconsiderate actions of a few. 27.415 > > > to 27.595 is yielding great DX. It appears that operators are still > > > making their contacts, they are just working a little harder to get > > > them. Instead of relying strictly on 555, many long time ops who USED > > > to utilize that frequency exclusively are found hovering close by.
> > > Since January, I have counted no less than 30 countries on frequencies > > > close to 555. While 38 LSB(27.385) continues to be a productive DX > > > channel, it mirrors 555 in language, harassment and abuse. Not > > > surprisingly, the perpetrators on 38 claim the same geographical > > > locale as the offenders on 555, which is more than likely true, as I > > > noticed that when the skip conditions begin to fade from the > > > blathering idiots on 555, the same occurs on 38.
> > >
> > > (continued at http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page8.html)
> >
> >

3640. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:47:23 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117e7f_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26637

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C114648.D10C9D4A@sccoast.net...
>
> Well, I certainly think that type of behavior is wrong, but I'm not > basing that on any religious belief ("sinful"). In fact, I don't even > understand why liberals always start screaming about religion > everytime someone takes a moral stand against anything liberals > support? Do liberals think it is impossible to have a moral belief > without involving religion? Do all liberals think there are only two > alternatives - religion or everything goes? If that is what you think, > you're wrong. It's not just religious fanatics who are opposed to the > liberal nonsense in this country.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>

I don't know why conservatives always have to start slinging that term
"liberal" around in the middle of a good argument. As though every person deemed to be a liberal always thinks within the same parameters; and every person deemed to be a conservative always thinks within the same parameters. I would hope that most people are far more capable of thinking than defining their principles as being aligned to a particular political party. If so, call me a COMPLETE independent.

Kim W5TIT

3641. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:49:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c117f16_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26639

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message news:3C11504E.7ACE1EFD@sccoast.net...
>
> And by just about everyone else in this country, and around the > world for that matter. Walk down any street in this country and ask > people to identify the practices of satanism. About 99 percent, both > religious and non-religious, would list these very things. That is the > reality, Rick. Of course, I suppose you'll now say the entire world it wrong.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>

I sure would. If something is wrong, and if something is believed because of wrong perceptions, wrongfully placed concepts, then it's still wrong.
Thank goodness our forefathers believed that.

Kim W5TIT

3642. NUTTY FREEBANDER TWISTEDHED SASSES N0BK

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:53:18 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112071853.22de96f9@posting.google.com>
Source record: 26638
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

From: twistedhed (twistedhed@webtv.net)
Subject: Re: Freeband Export Radios
Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-04-08 00:46:05 PST

I have seen enough of your posts to know you usually make sense -- a lot more sense than you are making here.

"What about you, Dick? In rec.radio.cb you support freebanding and amps. Here you act snotty. Hmmm?"

1. Your tormentors have in general been Codeless Techs who seem to be in need of love. Below 28 MHz most of us old guys could not care less; I sure as hell don't.

"That's the Dick we know and love. Good boy. Don't step out of line again"

To some extent you are reaping the fallout of some interesting politics within the Amateur Service but we can't keep headcases from passing exams any more than you can prevent their buying radios.

"If you are an example of this you are a prime one. Enough said"

2. Beyond that, substitute 'methamphetamine' for 'freeband' and look at your post again. Lots of things exist that would not in an ideal world. Doesn't make them desirable.

"Realism is the mark of a true intellectual. Let us see if you can pass the test"

3. A gentleman, it is said, is one who ignores the trivial, is a cast-iron SOB about more important things, and has sense enough to know the difference. Lots of things exist in the 25-35 MHz range including the ten-meter ham band. Are we supposed to roll over and play dead?

"In a word, yes. The opposition is overwhelming. The old must go out and the new must come in. Your hobby is dying. If 10 and 12 meters must fall, you have no choice but to let it"

4. RESPECT is an interesting term. The black community picked up one version of it from cracker whites and it has gotten a number of them killed. Do you expect deference from outlawry?

"What about the outlawry of 3950 and 14310? Your slip is showing Dick"

If so, what is the difference between a freebander and a pimp? Diana Ross notwithstanding, R-E-S-P-E-C-T (sock it to me) is no way to run things.

"Simple. But we the enlightened do not expect you to understand. Freebanding harms no one. Pimping does. Except when it is a ham turncoat like you lurking in rec.radio.cb waiting to rat out CBers"

If you mean genuine admiration for achievement, for what might this be extended?

"It might be extended to freebanders and those that want to operate radio transceivers without the complications of licensing. A little respect is in order to your betters"

If the idea is 'make nice' and don't state the obvious, take it up with the chaplain.

"You and your dying hobby need a prayer, not me and mine"

In my football coaching days, I set as the ideal for respect having the other team lurch toward the showers beat to shit but saying something like, "And they beat the crap out of us within the rules". It is the difference between competition and thuggery, the difference between a boxer and a street brawler.

"Following rules does not a man make. If the Constitution prevents me from talking on 24 MHz I want to see where it is written so"

5. No discussion of 'power' is complete without pointing out that it is blessed useless in the lo-VHF frequencies. If 100 watts won't do it, fix your antenna, learn to operate, or go home. Manhood problems are no excuse for moose and dirty linears on either side of 28.

"Too bad for your POV Dick. What we want we will simply take. Time you learned the rules, boy"

There is a basic lack of understanding: Given that a few weeks with Morse Academy http://ah0a.org and some quick bathroom reading at irregular intervals will make 28.3-28.5 legal in no time and some more reading while picking up the kid at school will make all of ten meters legal, there isn't just a lot of sense in freebanding, period, if communication is the object of the exercise. So amateurs tend to suspect that freebanding has much the same motivation as mis-aimed fog lites on a clear day, "Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee, lousy with virginity." The lamps are known as Virginity Lights in some circles; watch some dude with his 'kewl' pickup (or the ubiquitous Blazer) howl when the arresting officer notes that on the ticket.

"There you go again with the authority figures. They do not scare us, Dick.
Take off the bogeyman costume"

The essence of your argument is 'prepare to be overwhelmed'. OK, I am prepared.

"I hope you are prepared for freebanding to prevail and spread to your precious hammie bands"

3643. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 02:54:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c118013_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26640

"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
news:3C115408.4B06E79F@sccoast.net...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > (snip) Try to imagine the reaction if the White House
> > and Congress jointly proposed a $1 tax on each gallon
> > of gasoline sold for private passenger car use, with
> > the tax to be spent only for public surface
> > transportation.
>
>
> LOL. I don't think there is a Senator or Congressman with the balls > to do it. Heck, I'm not even sure I would have the balls to do it if I > were in their situation. They haven't tarred and feathered anyone in > this country recently, but I'm sure some would serious think about it.
>
>
> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>

I haven't been following this conversation, so not sure what the context is.
I do know that if the government were truthful about the $1 tax and we'd had no prior experiences to the contrary, I'd be all for it. I'd also want the money equally distributed on something like a per mile of government highway in a state. In other words, a huge landsurface state may still only end up with a small percentage of the money because of less federal highway in that state. That is, if you are talking about highways being "public surface transportation." If you are talking about busses and trains...yech, forget it. Tried both and hate 'em. I'll pollute, thank you.

Kim W5TIT

3644. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 03:33:21 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net>
Message-ID: <5SfQ7.1840$hQ3.79569007@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 26641
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Oh don't worry about Aaron, Bill.
You have just been introduced to one of the three rec.radio.cb trolls. He claims to not even be a cb'er or ham,
but touts the agenda of a Crusade to rid the airwaves of export radio's and amps
via the only source he knows.....
Rec.Radio.CB.
He even tries to quell free speech, just discussing amps or export radios, he will label you a federal criminal. If you have your picture taken along side an export radio or amp, he will label you a federal criminal. Even if you said to have used one, but are not now or plan to in the future
he will label you a criminal.
Yes a true believer in wiping out the worlds supply of export radios and linears, just by trolling Rec.Radio.Cb.

Landshark

--
"BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message news:3c115ed8.1866925@news.mindspring.com...
> On 6 Dec 2001 21:30:26 -0800, voobner@yahoo.com (Aaron H. Voobner)
> wrote:
>
> >"Landshark" S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net wrote
> >> What he is saying is correct. Most police > >>officers (while in their heart they think that what > >>they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > >>training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> >>can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> >>is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> >> NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > >>one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > >>tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > >>say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > >>thinks is right.
> >>
> >> Landshark

> >
> >Good god, I've never heard such whining, paranoia, and blatant > >attempts at stampeding hams than I've heard from some of the more > >illegally-minded CBers in this thread.
> >
> >The Tacoma ordinance was passed as a response to out-of-control outlaw
> >CBers using huge illegal amplifiers causing consumer interference > >complaints. The FCC does not have a staff of 300,000 on the job so > >the local LEO's are forced to deal with it. (Don't forget WHO caused > >this situation to come about. Not the FCC. Not the cops. The outlaw > >CBers did. Without THEIR shenanigans there would BE no Tacoma > >Ordinance)
> >
> >Somehow this has situation been "spun" into lots of wild predictions > >about pot-bellied cops hassling licensed amateurs about their mobile > >rigs.
> >
> >If the cops in your area are as corrupt and dumb as some are saying > >(can't recognize one radio from another, can't recognize an amp, can't > >tell a ham license from a fishing license), then believe me, you got > >troubles that go FAR beyond radio enforcement. I'd move to another > >town.
> >
> >-Aaron-
>
> Aaron, is there truly a new law in Tacoma? No one has > actually found one to exist.
>
> Additionally, I agree that the law, if it exists, is targeted at > illegal high power CB ops...from home locations...NOT from cars.
> The high power home illegals are the ones that cause > constant ongoing interference. No one much > cares about an illegal power amp in an 18 wheeler rolling down I-5.
>
> Cheers,
> Bill K2UNK

3645. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 03:33:55 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <PPfQ7.120129$8n4.8028971@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 26642
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

And I will not argue with him on the scene. If he ignores my license, fails to find out, or know, the procedure I will see the SOB in court IF he takes my equipment. He WILL get in trouble because part of that equipment was purchased with Department of Defense funds. He damn well better produce it in the same condition it was in prior to confiscation or he will answer to someone lots more "connected" than me. Don't tell me a cop is above the law he is sworn to enforce and, therefore, I "can't" get him in trouble for falsely taking private property because he ":thinks" the civilian is wrong.

I don't get into arguments with cops--I know better. But you better believe that whatever legal avenues I have against a Rambo cop, I WILL use them. Hey, I am a vindictive person, what can I say? LOL!

Jerry
K4KWH

Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
news:egXP7.4480$xy4.1674762434@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...
> What he is saying is correct. Most police > officers (while in their heart they think that what > they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > thinks is right.
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
>
>
> "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net...
> >

> > Who says that he would "arrest". What the > > normal procedure would be is to take the > > equipment, issue a court citation then let
> > the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
> >
> > This is often what happens when the cop
> > is not totally familiar with the law or the > > ham does not have his license on him.
> >
> > What you should not do is argue as you are > > not going to win. The street is not the place > > to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> > cop is going to let you get out of control and > > argue with him. He will call back up and arrest
> > you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance
> > is a crime). You may get the radio back but > > you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
> >
> >
> >
>
>

3646. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 04:01:08 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011207230108.25913.00000297@mb-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 26643

In article <3C109E40.BF313194@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>
> It doesn't even have to be a co-worker complaining. Lets say Betty >(made up name) doesn't like the fact that her husband is meeting with >too many woman who work with him at the local small town factory, so >she gets up in front of her church Sunday morning and begins talking >about all the "sluts" who work for that company and all the illicit >relationships between co-workers at that company. To make matters >worse, a newspaper reporter, also a member of the church, hears this >and decides to do an article about it in the local newspaper. Now what >do you think the company is going to do?
>
> Now, I know you're convinced all these are simply outrageous >examples made up to support my position, but let me assure you that >each happened almost exactly as I described. In fact, I personally had >to deal with each one of these cases myself. And you can add these to >the many cases I've seen, or heard about, that I was not involved with >in any way. So don't tell me this stuff is not going on because we're >"far more adult than that," Kim. It is going on, and it is becoming >more commonplace.

Dwight:

You are soooooo right, my friend. I spent all but the first three years of my Air Force career in supervisory positions, and because I was in an "administrative" career field, I worked with an unusually high percentage of female Airmen. When I was a Passenger Service shift supervisor during my first tour at Rhein Main AB, Germany, almost half of the workforce was female -- both military and foreign national civilians. The one thing I learned about them right away was very few of them were above using their sex to "get over" on supervisors. A few of them had their own male shift supervisors wrapped right around their fingers, and when they made a change onto my shift, started having problems when that didn't work with me -- and were all of a sudden expected to perform up to standard. That's when the problems came, and I instinctively made certain that there were no "closed door" counseling sessions, no "private" chats, no situation where there was an unwitnessed exchange between myself and the female Airman in question. As it turns out, this was a good policy, for I never had any problems with accusations from female subordinates; unfortunately,
my own boss did!

In any and all workplaces where both sexes are represented, women, and especially attractive women, have infinitely more power in any given situation where they dealing with men. There is nothing "equal" about their position, and "equality" of treatment is the last thing they want. Those who aren't flaunting their sexual desirability for personal gain are using their "victim status" to gain an advantage. Sure, there are women who are competent professionals who keep "sexual politics" out of their business affairs, but the ones who don't wreck the general reputation of women as employees. I'm sure that Kim is now going to come up with some kind of typically inane, defensive response, but that doesn't my opinion -- one based on lengthy experience in working with women. Kim would say something like "grow up." I'd tell her to do the same!

The only way for a responsible professional to behave when dealing with a superior or subordinate of the opposite sex is to keep all interactions on a strictly professional level, and no "private" meetings, counseling sessions, planning sessions, or two person-only business trips.

73 de Larry, K3LT

3647. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 05:06:39 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c11a0bd_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26644

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011207230108.25913.00000297@mb-dh.aol.com...
> In article <3C109E40.BF313194@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:
>
> >
> > It doesn't even have to be a co-worker complaining. Lets say Betty > >(made up name) doesn't like the fact that her husband is meeting with > >too many woman who work with him at the local small town factory, so > >she gets up in front of her church Sunday morning and begins talking > >about all the "sluts" who work for that company and all the illicit > >relationships between co-workers at that company. To make matters > >worse, a newspaper reporter, also a member of the church, hears this > >and decides to do an article about it in the local newspaper. Now what > >do you think the company is going to do?
> >
> > Now, I know you're convinced all these are simply outrageous > >examples made up to support my position, but let me assure you that > >each happened almost exactly as I described. In fact, I personally had > >to deal with each one of these cases myself. And you can add these to > >the many cases I've seen, or heard about, that I was not involved with > >in any way. So don't tell me this stuff is not going on because we're
> >"far more adult than that," Kim. It is going on, and it is becoming > >more commonplace.
>
> Dwight:
>
> You are soooooo right, my friend. I spent all but the first three years
of > my Air Force career in supervisory positions, and because I was in an > "administrative" career field, I worked with an unusually high percentage > of female Airmen. When I was a Passenger Service shift supervisor during > my first tour at Rhein Main AB, Germany, almost half of the workforce was > female -- both military and foreign national civilians. The one thing I > learned about them right away was very few of them were above using > their sex to "get over" on supervisors. A few of them had their own male > shift supervisors wrapped right around their fingers, and when they made > a change onto my shift, started having problems when that didn't work with > me -- and were all of a sudden expected to perform up to standard. That's > when the problems came, and I instinctively made certain that there were > no "closed door" counseling sessions, no "private" chats, no situation where > there was an unwitnessed exchange between myself and the female Airman > in question. As it turns out, this was a good policy, for I never had any > problems with accusations from female subordinates; unfortunately,

> my own boss did!
>
> In any and all workplaces where both sexes are represented, women, > and especially attractive women, have infinitely more power in any > given situation where they dealing with men. There is nothing "equal" > about their position, and "equality" of treatment is the last thing they > want. Those who aren't flaunting their sexual desirability for personal > gain are using their "victim status" to gain an advantage. Sure, there > are women who are competent professionals who keep "sexual > politics" out of their business affairs, but the ones who don't wreck the > general reputation of women as employees. I'm sure that Kim is now > going to come up with some kind of typically inane, defensive > response, but that doesn't my opinion -- one based on lengthy > experience in working with women. Kim would say something like > "grow up." I'd tell her to do the same!
>

Nope, I'd say that you've either been victimized by some very, very wicked women, or you love the imagination you carry on with. I'd also say that you are right within your usual abrasive character (you know, the one you call so goodhearted) to claim that women are only effective in the workplace because of a) their good looks, or b) their capability to make a man a victim. You're a joke, as usual, Larry.

>
> The only way for a responsible professional to behave when dealing > with a superior or subordinate of the opposite sex is to keep all > interactions on a strictly professional level, and no "private" meetings, > counseling sessions, planning sessions, or two person-only > business trips.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Yeah, and you must work for a company that will never progress beyond the point they are at right now--as your business tactics are about as backwoods as could possibly be imagined.

Let me suggest to you, Larry, that you find some women who are of admirable character, rather whatever little sluts you must have been hanging around your entire life.

Kim W5TIT

3648. Re: A question to all.....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 06:28:33 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C11B311.5A7FD91@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26645

Phil Kane wrote:
>
> On Thu, 06 Dec 2001 21:09:03 GMT, Dave Heil wrote:
>
> >Phil Kane wrote:
> >
> >" ". "
> > ", he added.
> >
> >Well, Phil,
> >
> >" ". That's my final word on the > >subject.
>
> The contents of my first message was all that was necessary to add > to the discussion.....

You do have a point, Phil, but I couldn't let the opportunity pass.

Dave K8MN

3649. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 06:42:05 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C11B63D.E4F8B0A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 26646

Dwight Stewart wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > I think that you've missed the humor, Rick.
> > Dwight doesn't know of a religion called
> > "Stewartism".
>
> Wow, do they have a religion like that, Dave? I'll join.

I think the sanest way to set up the basic tenets are to simply agree with the religious views of the last person who speaks, i.e. if Cecil tells you that you are going to hell for dancing or eating pork, you agree. If Rick Adams screams that there is no God, you agree. In this manner, you avoid all debate on religious matters.

Since we are now in a new millenium, you might consider spiffing up your place of worship. I suggest that you have, as an altar, a large home entertainment center. The focal point on the altar can be a large screen TV. For sacraments, try Jack Daniels and stale Cheetos. You'll also need "the book". I suggest some old copies of 73 magazine. From time to time you can pick up "the book" and read from the ravings of "St. Wayne".

I'm working on the method of eternal punishment for those who fail to follow the tenets of this new religion. I haven't gotten all the details worked out yet but I'm working on something like this:
You die and end up spending eternity at Kim's house...or maybe it just seems like it.

Let me know what you think.

Dave K8MN

3650. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 08:06:12 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6589BF799F545EE5.1098B80E19512A6C.883E5AEA99BED045@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 26647

On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 14:51:01 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>> The Libertarians are the ones that want a privatized society,
>> remember?
>
>EGADS, Rick. Libertarians are not for a privatized government.
>Libertarians are all for an armed forces, a police system,
>and a court system, i.e. the systems necessary to protect >our inalienable rights.

But they want to farm out everything else and run the government services on a fee basis. If it is "fee" based rather than supported by taxes, it's only reasonable that the private sector be permitted to compete (after all, the free market IS the core principle of Libertarian policy, right?)--which leads back to the situation I listed originally.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

3651. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 12:08:21 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <VonQ7.215150$3d2.9753787@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26648

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011207230108.25913.00000297@mb-dh.aol.com...
> In article <3C109E40.BF313194@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
> <stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:
>
> >
> > It doesn't even have to be a co-worker complaining. Lets say Betty > >(made up name) doesn't like the fact that her husband is meeting with > >too many woman who work with him at the local small town factory, so > >she gets up in front of her church Sunday morning and begins talking > >about all the "sluts" who work for that company and all the illicit > >relationships between co-workers at that company. To make matters > >worse, a newspaper reporter, also a member of the church, hears this > >and decides to do an article about it in the local newspaper. Now what > >do you think the company is going to do?
> >
> > Now, I know you're convinced all these are simply outrageous > >examples made up to support my position, but let me assure you that > >each happened almost exactly as I described. In fact, I personally had > >to deal with each one of these cases myself. And you can add these to > >the many cases I've seen, or heard about, that I was not involved with > >in any way. So don't tell me this stuff is not going on because we're
> >"far more adult than that," Kim. It is going on, and it is becoming > >more commonplace.
>
> Dwight:
>
> You are soooooo right, my friend. I spent all but the first three years
of > my Air Force career in supervisory positions, and because I was in an > "administrative" career field, I worked with an unusually high percentage > of female Airmen. When I was a Passenger Service shift supervisor during > my first tour at Rhein Main AB, Germany, almost half of the workforce was > female -- both military and foreign national civilians. The one thing I > learned about them right away was very few of them were above using > their sex to "get over" on supervisors. A few of them had their own male > shift supervisors wrapped right around their fingers, and when they made > a change onto my shift, started having problems when that didn't work with > me -- and were all of a sudden expected to perform up to standard.

That's
> when the problems came, and I instinctively made certain that there were > no "closed door" counseling sessions, no "private" chats, no situation
where > there was an unwitnessed exchange between myself and the female Airman > in question. As it turns out, this was a good policy, for I never had any > problems with accusations from female subordinates; unfortunately,
> my own boss did!
>
> In any and all workplaces where both sexes are represented, women, > and especially attractive women, have infinitely more power in any > given situation where they dealing with men. There is nothing "equal"
> about their position, and "equality" of treatment is the last thing they > want. Those who aren't flaunting their sexual desirability for personal > gain are using their "victim status" to gain an advantage. Sure, there > are women who are competent professionals who keep "sexual > politics" out of their business affairs, but the ones who don't wreck
the > general reputation of women as employees. I'm sure that Kim is now > going to come up with some kind of typically inane, defensive > response, but that doesn't my opinion -- one based on lengthy > experience in working with women. Kim would say something like > "grow up." I'd tell her to do the same!
>
>
> The only way for a responsible professional to behave when dealing > with a superior or subordinate of the opposite sex is to keep all > interactions on a strictly professional level, and no "private"
meetings,
> counseling sessions, planning sessions, or two person-only > business trips.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Sure parallels my experience. Could not agree more.

When speakin' of the ladies, they're as like as a row of pins,
for the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under the skins.

3652. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 13:19:45 UTC
From: Enrique Alejandro Martinez <pilotenrique@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <9ut41idr1@onyx.indstate.edu>
Source record: 26649
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Well Military reject... Number one, I am a US citizen, so you can call the INS. They will find all my papers in order. Call the computer admin, I am not abusing anything. At least I use a real news server and not some anon freebee like you COWARD. Get a life. You act like my 10 year old cousin.
"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:9urjsh$k70$3@pita.alt.net...
> Illegal alien and soon to be turned into the INS for having an expired visa,
> "Enrique Alejandro Martinez" <pilotenrique@hotmail.com> wrote in message > news:9ur4dn$h5h$1@onyx.indstate.edu...
>
> Hmmmmm the computer system administrator will just have to suspend your > internet acess for abusing the school's computer resources, bean boy.
>
> > Roger is a loser anyway. There is no sense even argueing with him here.
> His > > only responses are his lame racial slurs. I think its funny. He has a big > > mouth on the keyboard, but in person he would run away.
>
> Get your ass over here if you can get gas for the Cordoba you drive, bean > boy.
>
>
>
> > "Pancho Hernandez" <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> wrote in message > > news:9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> > > > I wish that I'd have > > > > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up so
> I
> > > can > > > > record very soon.
> > > >
> > > You are seriously misinformed if you think Riley
> > Hollingsworth
> > > would accept any tape recordings from you. You have been the > > > recipient of several warnings from Hollingsworth. Therefore my boy, > > > you must be very stupid indeed, if you think you have even a shred > > > of credibility with Hollingsworth. Put in simple language you might > > > be able to understand. You are a known repeat violator of FCC > > > rules and regulations my boy!!!!!! Now, would you like for us to > > > post all your warning letters from Hollingsworth? so everyone can > > > see what a fool you are Roger? Go back to playing on your CB > > > radio. That is more akin to your level of expertise butthole!!!!!!!!!!

> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>

3653. Re: ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR RADIO ROAD RAGE MUST STOP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 14:11:35 UTC
From: Tony B <user819401@chasonlinemail.org>
Message-ID: <9ut6tqsid0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26650
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Joe Bramblett, KD5NRH" <kd5nrh@kd5nrh.net> wrote in message news:EFB532FA15C772D2.9672E32B678B6263.48FAE5B7EA078316@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 07 Dec 2001 15:51:41 GMT, N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:
>
> >Riley Hollingsworth, the FCC's Special Counsel for > >Amateur Radio enforcement told the forum that Amateur Radio road rage
> >must stop now
>
> Now there's a threat; stop fighting or Riley's going to send you a > whole bunch of progressively slightly nastier letters. If you live > long enough for him to finally get tired of writing warnings to you,
> then there may be an actual enforcement action.

Yes, after Smiley Riley generates a mountain of worthless paper to the perp, Smiley will stamp his feet and jump up and down.
Brings to mind a current open case in the Atlanta area. The perp has a FCC enforcement record dating back to the late 70s on CB.
In 1990, the perp went world wide with a ham license. He immediately came to the attention of FCC enforcement and has ever since been collecting violation notices from the FCC, except for the times he's been incarcerated. He responds to all violation notices with a simple,
"not me, fake tapes, someone else, I am being picked on unfairly, etc.....ad nauseam." An engineer at Powder Springs said when they closed the monitoring station, they forwarded a paper file on the guy that was almost 12 inches thick! Smiley Riley's credibility in this case is seriously questioned. A Congressional Aide looked at the case and had some specific comments about FCC inaction, saying the case was going to provide some good ammo when the FCC comes begging Congress for this and
that.

3654. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 14:23:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c122323_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 26701

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C11B63D.E4F8B0A@earthlink.net...
> Dwight Stewart wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > I think that you've missed the humor, Rick.
> > > Dwight doesn't know of a religion called
> > > "Stewartism".
> >
> > Wow, do they have a religion like that, Dave? I'll join.
>
> I think the sanest way to set up the basic tenets are to simply agree > with the religious views of the last person who speaks, i.e. if Cecil > tells you that you are going to hell for dancing or eating pork, you > agree. If Rick Adams screams that there is no God, you agree. In this > manner, you avoid all debate on religious matters.
>
> Since we are now in a new millenium, you might consider spiffing up your > place of worship. I suggest that you have, as an altar, a large home > entertainment center. The focal point on the altar can be a large > screen TV. For sacraments, try Jack Daniels and stale Cheetos. You'll > also need "the book". I suggest some old copies of 73 magazine. From > time to time you can pick up "the book" and read from the ravings of > "St. Wayne".
>
> I'm working on the method of eternal punishment for those who fail to > follow the tenets of this new religion. I haven't gotten all the > details worked out yet but I'm working on something like this:
> You die and end up spending eternity at Kim's house...or maybe it just > seems like it.
>
> Let me know what you think.
>
> Dave K8MN

You've obviously got a lot of work to do yet, then, Dave. An eternity at my house would be Heaven compared to one at Larry Roll's.

Kim W5TIT

3655. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 14:44:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C122742.5B95C7BD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26702

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >> The Libertarians are the ones that want a privatized society,
> >> remember?
> > >
> > >EGADS, Rick. Libertarians are not for a privatized government.
> > >Libertarians are all for an armed forces, a police system,
> > >and a court system, i.e. the systems necessary to protect > > >our inalienable rights.
>
> But they want to farm out everything else and run the > government services on a fee basis. If it is "fee" based rather than > supported by taxes, it's only reasonable that the private sector be > permitted to compete (after all, the free market IS the core principle > of Libertarian policy, right?)--which leads back to the situation I > listed originally.

The key is that, unlike your original situation, Libertarians do NOT advocate privatizing the court system. There has been a suggestion that the court system could provide income for the government through the charging of fees thus lowering the tax burden. However, the court system would still be a monopoly with no private competition allowed.
It is not reasonable to privatize the court system.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3656. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 14:46:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C1227DE.A776FD2B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26703

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> You've obviously got a lot of work to do yet, then, Dave. An eternity at my > house would be Heaven compared to one at Larry Roll's.

One man's hell is another man's heaven. I once knew a masochist who was looking forward to hell. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3657. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:02:14 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net>
Message-ID: <WXpQ7.5888$J%1.1956491403@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 26704
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Jerry, calm down man, your blood pressure, remember your heart! (Grin)
I'm sure that you will do the right thing Jerry, but there is a sure way to avoid this all together.....
..... Don't go to Tacoma.
Take care,

Landshark

--
"BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"

"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
news:PPfQ7.120129$8n4.8028971@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> And I will not argue with him on the scene. If he ignores my license, fails
> to find out, or know, > the procedure I will see the SOB in court IF he takes my equipment. He
WILL
> get in trouble
> because part of that equipment was purchased with Department of Defense > funds. He damn well > better produce it in the same condition it was in prior to confiscation or > he will answer to someone lots more "connected" than me. Don't tell me a > cop is above the law he is sworn to enforce and, therefore, I "can't" get > him in trouble for falsely taking private property because he ":thinks"
the > civilian is wrong.
>
> I don't get into arguments with cops--I know better. But you better believe > that whatever legal > avenues I have against a Rambo cop, I WILL use them. Hey, I am a vindictive > person, what can
> I say? LOL!
>
> Jerry
> K4KWH
>
>
>
> Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message

> news:egXP7.4480$xy4.1674762434@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...
> > What he is saying is correct. Most police > > officers (while in their heart they think that what > > they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > > training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> > can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> > is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> > NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > > one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > > tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > > say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > > thinks is right.
> >
> > Landshark
> >
> >
> > --
> > "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
> >
> >
> > "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
news:3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net...
> > >
> > > Who says that he would "arrest". What the > > > normal procedure would be is to take the > > > equipment, issue a court citation then let
> > > the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
> > >
> > > This is often what happens when the cop
> > > is not totally familiar with the law or the > > > ham does not have his license on him.
> > >
> > > What you should not do is argue as you are > > > not going to win. The street is not the place > > > to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> > > cop is going to let you get out of control and > > > argue with him. He will call back up and arrest
> > > you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance
> > > is a crime). You may get the radio back but > > > you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>
>

3658. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:40:29 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <NvqQ7.215279$3d2.9769896@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26705

> > Richard McCollum wrote

> > > Without having a clue how it happens, 141 Tech Pluses have been renewed > > > since der Tag including one in November. The last one expires in December
> > > 2011.

> "Richard Plourde" wrote

> > Whats a "der Tag"?

"Richard McCollum" wrote

> The Day. Since the Tech Plus supposedly no longer existed

There was no such day. Technician Plus Licenses still exist.

Rich

3659. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:49:27 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011208104927.28268.00000199@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26706

In article <3C115408.4B06E79F@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> (snip) Try to imagine the reaction if the White House
>> and Congress jointly proposed a $1 tax on each gallon
>> of gasoline sold for private passenger car use, with
>> the tax to be spent only for public surface
>> transportation.
>
>
> LOL. I don't think there is a Senator or Congressman with the balls >to do it. Heck, I'm not even sure I would have the balls to do it if I >were in their situation. They haven't tarred and feathered anyone in >this country recently, but I'm sure some would serious think about it.
>
Agreed. But think what the reaction would be!

In Europe and Japan, where the public transit is so good, the taxes on gasoline are far more than $1 per gallon. We could have even better systems here in the USA, but Americans aren't ready to pay the price - yet.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3660. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:49:27 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011208104927.28268.00000198@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26709

In article <106EDAA36CBDB0CF.FBB270E149FC9B39.475A7CE35203100A@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 06 Dec 2001 05:03:09 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Yup. But ya don't see pentagrams on the Acropolis or in the Pantheon.
>
> You see them in ancient ruins in Northern Europe, in the >Temples of India and Sri Lanka, in parts of Egypt, and in the ruins of >Sumarian lands.

You originally included ancient Rome and Greece - now you leave 'em out.
>
>>The Roman and Greek "nature religions" tried for centuries to eradicate >>Christianity and its source religion, Judaism. Do you know who Antiochus >was?
>
> So?

Guess you don't know who Antiochus was.
>
> The Christians did a pretty good job of reversing that trend
>when it came to the Pagan faiths of Northern Europe--as well as the >Jewish faith in Spain--or did the Inquisition slip past you unnoticed.

I knew about the Inquisition by the time I was 11.

There were also all sorts of persecutions of Jews in other countries besides Spain, persecutions for heresy (Christian killing Christian in the name of Christ), and the Crusades, which were often thinly disguised land grabs for second sons.
>
>>Constantine changed all that.
>
> And a RC Pope restarted the killing.

Yup. The best argument for separation of church and state is the record of what happens without it.
>
> Perhaps you can see a difference between a Roman killing a >person for his or her religion and a Christian doing the same.

You are equating "Roman Catholic" with "Christian". They are not the same. One is a subset of the other. Not all Christian religions have a history of killing in the name of religion.

>Personally, I can't.

Then present the whole story. When the pagans were in power, they killed Christians. When the tables were turned, the killing continued. Paybacks.

Two wrongs don't make a right. But you present only the Christian wrong, never the pagan wrong.
>
> Speaking of killing people for their religion, here's a >completely accurate description of an historically important person.
>See if you can identify him:

This isn't a class, you aren't the teacher.
>
> "<he> was both a passionate anti-Semite and a ferocious >believer in absolute obedience to political authority. He wanted (his >nation is named here) rid of the Jews and he advised that the be >deprived of "All their cash and jewels and silver and gold" and >furthermore, "that their synagogues or schools be set on fire, that >their houses be broken up and destroyed . . . and they be put under a >roof or stable, like the gypsies . . . in misery and captivity as they >incessantly lament and complain to God about us"--advice that was >later followed literally."
>
> He also referred to the peasants who opposed the government as
>"mad dogs," and employed a "coarseness and brutality of language >unequaled in <nation> history."

The Jewish people have been persecuted by so many that there are plenty of candidates for that description. Offhand it sounds like Torquemada, but it could also be any of a number of popes, czars, kings, bishops, and other enemies of freedom. Hitler comes to mind, of course, but that's too obvious. Martin Luther turned against the Jews when he realized that they weren't going to convert to his version of Christianity. Lots of others. The country could be Germany, Russia, England, Spain or many others.

Heck, it could be somebody like JEdgar Hoover, but we don't have lots of Gypsies in the USA.

> Let's see how good your knowledge of history is. Who is the >person I refer to above?
>
See above. There are many candidates.

The concepts of religious tolerance and separation of church and state are very new ones, historically speaking. Many who fled here to escape religious persecution (like the Puritans) turned into the persecutors when they became established in their new land.

Here's a question for you: When and where did the ideas of separation of church and state, and universal religious tolerance, first become established in the USA?

>>Most religions have feast days because people need them, spiritually and >>psychologically. For example, most European religions have some sort of >winter

>>equinox

Actually, solstice.

>celebration because of the effects lack of daylight causes in many >>people. For peoples with limited understanding of how the seasons and >weather
>>work, and with limited artificial lighting, the loss of the Sun at the end
>of >>December could be very disturbing.

(Solstice) >>celebrations, whatever they are >>called, remind us that the Light will return and spring will comne again. It >>was natural for the Christians to put Christmas on the first day when the >>daylight gets noticeably longer using simple methods of measurement.

>
> Which "conveniently" fell directly on a Pagan festival day, of >course, as did other Christian holy days.

So? The purpose was the same. The sun doesn't cooperate just because humans convert. Having feast days on other days would be an admission that the pagan religions had priority.
>
>>> The pentagram, for your information, was a religious symbol in >>>Egypt, Macedonia, Sumeria, Greece, Rome, China, India, and among the >>>Norse peoples--NONE of which groups "stole" it from Christianity.
>>
>>The Egyptians, Greeks and Romans hid it pretty well.
>
> Not particularly, if you examine the writings of the time (in >Rome and Greece at least). It appears there with regularity. That it >isn't used often in buildings is irrelevant--how many Christian >churches do you see with a prominent image of a fish--the ORIGNIAL
>symbol of Christianity?

Plenty. Do you know WHY the fish was a symbol?

73 de Jim, N2EY

"Romanis ite domum? What is that supposed to mean??"

3661. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:49:28 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011208104928.28268.00000200@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26707

In article <3C1149EA.21CCE1D6@sccoast.net>, Dwight Stewart
<stewartx@sccoast.net> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> (snip) Garrison Keillor did a wonderful piece >> about the difference between "farm" people and
>> "city" people. The terms refer to a state of >> mind rather than where a person lives or was >> raised. "Farm" folks learn to do for themselves
>> while "city" people tend to specialize in a >> few things and depend on others for everything >> else. (snip)
>
>
> I read something similar to that, but I don't remember the author >(remembering names is not my strong point). Anyway, this author was >talking about politics, using something similar to that to explain the >differences between those in the city and country. For example, he >explained why those in the city see little use for a gun, while those >in the country cannot imagine life without one. He argued that city >folk tend to depend on law enforcement for their protection, while >those in the country tend to depend on themselves for protection >(realising that it may be some time before law enforcement might >arrive on the scene). This difference, he concluded, explains the >different trend in views on firearm ownership. Of course, he discussed >many other political differences, but this can serve as an obvious >example of the direction he was taking.

That wasn't GK, but it's a logical extension.

I would say that "city" people see a firearm only as a weapon, and an aggressive one. "Country" people see a firearm as a tool with many uses. And in their respective settings, both can be right.

73 de Jim, N2EY

3662. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 15:49:29 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011208104929.28268.00000201@mb-cr.aol.com>
Source record: 26708

In article <3c118013_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"Dwight Stewart" <stewartx@sccoast.net> wrote in message
>news:3C115408.4B06E79F@sccoast.net...
>> N2EY wrote:
>> >
>> > (snip) Try to imagine the reaction if the White House
>> > and Congress jointly proposed a $1 tax on each gallon
>> > of gasoline sold for private passenger car use, with
>> > the tax to be spent only for public surface
>> > transportation.
>>
>>
>> LOL. I don't think there is a Senator or Congressman with the balls >> to do it. Heck, I'm not even sure I would have the balls to do it if I >> were in their situation. They haven't tarred and feathered anyone in >> this country recently, but I'm sure some would serious think about it.
>>
>>
>> Dwight Stewart (W5NET)
>>
>
>I haven't been following this conversation, so not sure what the context is.

It's about how Europe has excellent public transportation and the USA does not.

>I do know that if the government were truthful about the $1 tax and we'd had >no prior experiences to the contrary, I'd be all for it.

I find that hard to believe.

>I'd also want the >money equally distributed on something like a per mile of government >highway in a state. In other words, a huge landsurface state may still only >end up with a small percentage of the money because of less federal highway >in that state.

That's a terrible formula. Using that method, the states with the most existing roads would get the most money, regardless of how much they contribute to the tax base or how much new road they actually need.

> That is, if you are talking about highways being "public >surface transportation."

We were not. We were talking about alternatives to highways.

<If you are talking about busses and trains...yech, >forget it.

There are folks who cannot drive, and others who should not yet do because of lack of alternatives.

> Tried both and hate 'em.

Why? Did you try any of the European or Japanese systems?

> I'll pollute, thank you.

Your pollution harms others. What gives you the right to do that?

America's dependence on imported petroleum has serious political consequences. We import far more today than during the 1970s.

Why is it OK for the govt. to subsidize certain modes of transportation to the detriment of others?

73 de Jim, N2EY

3663. Re: Jam the bastards

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 16:19:05 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9utti6$s8g$4@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26719
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"DT" <DT2314@ncvillage.net> wrote in message
news:23871.0000054@ncvillage.net...
>
> On Thu, 6 Dec 2001 09:20:25 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> >
> > So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with > > another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't
it?
> > BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.
>
> That's exactly what I'm saying. Just like the CBers, the FCC has > abandoned enforcement of ham radio rules. If we don't take care of > ourselves, nobody will. So I'm perfectly willing to jam Dimmy until he > shuts up.

So you're part of the problem, instead of the solution. Vigilanteism went out a long time ago, but, I suppose you're so backward that you still think it's a viable defense.

> I'll jam you too if necessary. That's the way it has to be now.

cc: rholling@fcc.gov.

We'll see about that.

3664. Re: W4AMP on 14313 and 3901

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 16:24:28 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9utti9$s8g$6@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26720
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Enrique Alejandro Martinez" <pilotenrique@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:9ut41idr1@onyx.indstate.edu...
> Well Military reject...

Says the COWARD too chickenshit to enlist.

> Number one, I am a US citizen, so you can call the > INS. They will find all my papers in order.

U.S. citizens don't have "paper" to get in order, fucknuts.
Having that expired visa from that shithole Honduras makes you even more nervous, does it?

> Call the computer admin, I am not abusing anything.

Mwhahahaha...You'd better read your Internet Use agreement.

>At least I use a real news server and not some anon > freebee like you COWARD. Get a life. You act like my 10 year old cousin.

This is before or after you sodomize him, Bean boy?

> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9urjsh$k70$3@pita.alt.net...
> > Illegal alien and soon to be turned into the INS for having an expired
> visa,
> > "Enrique Alejandro Martinez" <pilotenrique@hotmail.com> wrote in message > > news:9ur4dn$h5h$1@onyx.indstate.edu...
> >
> > Hmmmmm the computer system administrator will just have to suspend your > > internet acess for abusing the school's computer resources, bean boy.
> >
> > > Roger is a loser anyway. There is no sense even argueing with him here.
> > His
> > > only responses are his lame racial slurs. I think its funny. He has a > big > > > mouth on the keyboard, but in person he would run away.
> >
> > Get your ass over here if you can get gas for the Cordoba you drive, bean
> > boy.
> >
> >
> >
> > > "Pancho Hernandez" <PHernandez@umashistorydept.con> wrote in message

> > > news:9updvocsf0@pita.alt.net...
> > > >
> > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > news:9um6p0oh7@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > I wish that I'd have > > > > > recorded it, because I would send it in. The station will be set up
> so
> > I
> > > > > can > > > > > record very soon.
> > > > >
> > > > You are seriously misinformed if you think Riley
> > > Hollingsworth
> > > > would accept any tape recordings from you. You have been the > > > > recipient of several warnings from Hollingsworth. Therefore my boy,
> > > > you must be very stupid indeed, if you think you have even a shred > > > > of credibility with Hollingsworth. Put in simple language you might > > > > be able to understand. You are a known repeat violator of FCC > > > > rules and regulations my boy!!!!!! Now, would you like for us
to > > > > post all your warning letters from Hollingsworth? so everyone can > > > > see what a fool you are Roger? Go back to playing on your CB > > > > radio. That is more akin to your level of expertise > butthole!!!!!!!!!!
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
>

3665. Re: Smiley Riley

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 16:27:54 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9uttib$s8g$8@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26721
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"Angst" <ToodleDoo@youtoo.col> wrote in message news:9urs2a$470$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:9uo12vlfq0@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "DT" <DT2314@ncvillage.net> wrote in message
> > news:3204442.23871@ncvillage.net...
> > >
> > > On Wed, 5 Dec 2001 15:42:51 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Oh, I don't know........he may be listening more than you think. He > got
> > on > > > > 14.313 recently and talked to Dan.
> > > >
> > >
> > > We can take care of things ourselves instead of waiting around for Mr.
> > > No Show. I have a Collins KWM-2 all hooked up and ready to take Dimmy > > > out whenever he shows up and starts his profanity again.
> >
> > So you're saying you're advocating illegal jamming to interfere with > > another ham's QSO. That says a lot about your following Part 97, doesn't
> it?
> > BTW, N4CND was the one using profanity, not W4AMP.
>
> And it was AMP who suggested making a midnight call to tear down towers
and > antennas. Just goes to show, you put a CB'er on Ham Radio and he's still a > CB'er.

And N4CND has drove by AMP's house doing stuff as well. From the way Oraasssss'
audio sounds, he should stick to CB.

3666. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 17:29:54 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <m6sQ7.255459$W8.9481433@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26710

"N2EY" wrote

> Here's a question for you: When and where did the ideas of separation of church
> and state, and universal religious tolerance, first become established in the > USA?

You don't mean Philadelphia? Do you? ;-)

> Do you know WHY the fish was a symbol?

Fisher of men???

> "Romanis ite domum? What is that supposed to mean??"

I was thinking 'Romans are home' and so I searched on the net and found this; I thought you'd like it...

What could this be from???? ;-)

CENTURION: What's this, then? 'Romanes Eunt Domus'? 'People called Romanes they go the house'?
BRIAN: It-- it says, 'Romans, go home'.
CENTURION: No, it doesn't. What's Latin for 'Roman'? Come on!
BRIAN: Aah!
CENTURION: Come on!
BRIAN: 'R-- Romanus'?
CENTURION: Goes like...?
BRIAN: 'Annus'?
CENTURION: Vocative plural of 'annus' is...?
BRIAN: Eh. 'Anni'?
CENTURION: 'Romani'. 'Eunt'? What is 'eunt'?
BRIAN: 'Go'. Let--
CENTURION: Conjugate the verb 'to go'.
BRIAN: Uh. 'Ire'. Uh, 'eo'. 'Is'. 'It'. 'Imus'. 'Itis'. 'Eunt'.
CENTURION: So 'eunt' is...?
BRIAN: Ah, huh, third person plural, uh, present indicative. Uh, 'they go'.
CENTURION: But 'Romans, go home' is an order, so you must use the...?
BRIAN: The... imperative!
CENTURION: Which is...?
BRIAN: Umm! Oh. Oh. Um, 'i'. 'I'!
CENTURION: How many Romans?
BRIAN: Ah! 'I'-- Plural. Plural. 'Ite'. 'Ite'.
CENTURION: 'Ite'.
BRIAN: Ah. Eh.

CENTURION: 'Domus'?
BRIAN: Eh.
CENTURION: Nominative?
BRIAN: Oh.
CENTURION: 'Go home'? This is motion towards. Isn't it, boy?
BRIAN: Ah. Ah, dative, sir! Ahh! No, not dative! Not the dative, sir! No!
Ah! Oh, the... accusative! Accusative! Ah! 'Domum', sir! 'Ad domum'! Ah!
Oooh! Ah!
CENTURION: Except that 'domus' takes the...?
BRIAN: The locative, sir!
CENTURION: Which is...?!
BRIAN: 'Domum'.
CENTURION: 'Domum'.
BRIAN: Aaah! Ah.
CENTURION: 'Um'. Understand?
BRIAN: Yes, sir.
CENTURION: Now, write it out a hundred times.
BRIAN: Yes, sir. Thank you, sir. Hail Caesar, sir.
CENTURION: Hail Caesar. If it's not done by sunrise, I'll cut your balls off.
BRIAN: Oh, thank you, sir. Thank you, sir. Hail Caesar and everything, sir!
Oh. Mmm! Finished!
ROMAN SOLDIER STIG: Right. Now don't do it again.
[CENTURIONS chase BRIAN]
MAN: Hey! Bloody Romans.

Now doesn't that say it all? ;-)

Rich

3667. K4ZDH on 14313

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 18:00:33 UTC
From: Smiley Riley <smiley@14313QRM.net>
Message-ID: <9utkb7ast0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 26711
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest

Riley operated for about an hour today on 14313, around 11:30 a.m. EST, as all the 313 regulars lined up for a chance to kiss the sheriff's butt.

Public relations? Hardly. Think again. Bureaucrats work on Saturdays, only for special reasons.

As each 313 regular checked in, an employee in Columbia, MD, sat in a quiet room, clicking a mouse a few times as each regular checked in. Inside of less than 60 mins., government data bases were fed SIT (Special Identification Techniques) data on approximately 30 stations who are 313 regulars. New voice samples, bearing & range, Signature Analysis Data for Radio Fingerprinting, and other data now reside in a government data base.

Looks like the BARFies will be jamming at their own risk.

3668. Re: Damn Code!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 18:15:06 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C1258AA.AE26A61E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 26712
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.swap

Hans Brakob wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote =
> > Maybe he doesn't realize that the only CW-only ham frequencies > > are located in the 2m band.
>
> I didn't realize that either (because it isn't true).

> There is another band with a "CW-only" segment.

My typing got ahead of my brain. Should have been "6m/2m band".
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

3669. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 18:42:36 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <SetQ7.94805$S93.5128475@e3500-atl2.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 26713
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

LOL!!
Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
news:WXpQ7.5888$J%1.1956491403@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...

> ..... Don't go to Tacoma.
> Take care,
>
> Landshark
>
> --
> "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
>
>
> "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
> news:PPfQ7.120129$8n4.8028971@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> > And I will not argue with him on the scene. If he ignores my license, > fails
> > to find out, or know,
> > the procedure I will see the SOB in court IF he takes my equipment. He
> WILL
> > get in trouble
> > because part of that equipment was purchased with Department of Defense > > funds. He damn well > > better produce it in the same condition it was in prior to confiscation or > > he will answer to someone lots more "connected" than me. Don't tell me
a > > cop is above the law he is sworn to enforce and, therefore, I "can't"
get > > him in trouble for falsely taking private property because he ":thinks"
> the > > civilian is wrong.
> >
> > I don't get into arguments with cops--I know better. But you better > believe
> > that whatever legal > > avenues I have against a Rambo cop, I WILL use them. Hey, I am a > vindictive > > person, what can
> > I say? LOL!
> >
> > Jerry
> > K4KWH

> >
> >
> >
> > Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
> > news:egXP7.4480$xy4.1674762434@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...
> > > What he is saying is correct. Most police > > > officers (while in their heart they think that what > > > they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > > > training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> > > can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> > > is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> > > NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > > > one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > > > tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > > > say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > > > thinks is right.
> > >
> > > Landshark
> > >
> > >
> > > --
> > > "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
> > >
> > >
> > > "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
> news:3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net...
> > > >
> > > > Who says that he would "arrest". What the > > > > normal procedure would be is to take the > > > > equipment, issue a court citation then let
> > > > the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
> > > >
> > > > This is often what happens when the cop
> > > > is not totally familiar with the law or the > > > > ham does not have his license on him.
> > > >
> > > > What you should not do is argue as you are > > > > not going to win. The street is not the place > > > > to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> > > > cop is going to let you get out of control and > > > > argue with him. He will call back up and arrest
> > > > you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance
> > > > is a crime). You may get the radio back but > > > > you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >

> >
> >
>
>

3670. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 18:55:19 UTC
From: Trouser Trout <pipedream@hotmail.comspa>
Message-ID: <20011208135523.489$Gc@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 26714
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Don't go to San Francisco either Jerry. You may not like what you see.

"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message news:SetQ7.94805$S93.5128475@e3500-atl2.usenetserver.com...
> LOL!!
> Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
> news:WXpQ7.5888$J%1.1956491403@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...
>
> > ..... Don't go to Tacoma.
> > Take care,
> >
> > Landshark
> >
> > --
> > "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
> >
> >
> > "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
> > news:PPfQ7.120129$8n4.8028971@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> > > And I will not argue with him on the scene. If he ignores my license, > > fails
> > > to find out, or know,
> > > the procedure I will see the SOB in court IF he takes my equipment.
He
> > WILL
> > > get in trouble
> > > because part of that equipment was purchased with Department of Defense
> > > funds. He damn well > > > better produce it in the same condition it was in prior to confiscation > or > > > he will answer to someone lots more "connected" than me. Don't tell me
> a > > > cop is above the law he is sworn to enforce and, therefore, I "can't"
> get > > > him in trouble for falsely taking private property because he ":thinks"
> > the > > > civilian is wrong.
> > >
> > > I don't get into arguments with cops--I know better. But you better

> > believe
> > > that whatever legal > > > avenues I have against a Rambo cop, I WILL use them. Hey, I am a > > vindictive > > > person, what can
> > > I say? LOL!
> > >
> > > Jerry
> > > K4KWH
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
> > > news:egXP7.4480$xy4.1674762434@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com...
> > > > What he is saying is correct. Most police > > > > officers (while in their heart they think that what > > > > they are doing is the right thing) won't have the proper > > > > training for such an enforcement. Shooting a gun
> > > > can remove a life, but taking ones radio equipment
> > > > is merely an inconvenience to someone.
> > > > NEVER argue with a cop, as a friend that is > > > > one says, "I'm God right then, are you going to > > > > tell me I'm wrong?" He's right, no matter what you > > > > say to him, if his mind is set, he will do what he > > > > thinks is right.
> > > >
> > > > Landshark
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > --
> > > > "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN BECAUSE THEY ARE MORE FREE"
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > "N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C0FFEBC.FB60F89D@gte.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > Who says that he would "arrest". What the > > > > > normal procedure would be is to take the > > > > > equipment, issue a court citation then let
> > > > > the courts and the attorneys settle it out.
> > > > >
> > > > > This is often what happens when the cop
> > > > > is not totally familiar with the law or the > > > > > ham does not have his license on him.
> > > > >
> > > > > What you should not do is argue as you are > > > > > not going to win. The street is not the place > > > > > to settle such issues, the courts are. And no
> > > > > cop is going to let you get out of control and > > > > > argue with him. He will call back up and arrest

> > > > > you for resisting law enforcement (non compliance > > > > > is a crime). You may get the radio back but > > > > > you will pay a fine for being a jerk.
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>
>

3671. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 19:01:14 UTC
From: Trouser Trout <pipedream@hotmail.comspa>
Message-ID: <20011208140118.305$lp@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 26715
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Yes Bill just do a look up on Google of Landshark, or The Landshark, you will see he has trolled rec.radio.cb for the past 4-5 years, he has changed his habits this past month for fear of being turned into his ISP. Something he is fond of doing to other people but to no avail. But don't take my word for it like I said Google will reveal all you need to know abnout this guy. BTW, I am supposed to be kill filed from this guy and he still responds to my posts what does that tell you he wants to engage in conversation. He is really really mad about the posts he made in alt.sex... he made these posts a few years back and didn't know he would run into a buzzsaw to call him on it. I say hey fine If your into hooking up with Transsexuals go fo it, but don't be mad when you get caught. True Story!

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGloboil.Net> wrote in message
news:5SfQ7.1840$hQ3.79569007@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com...
> Oh don't worry about Aaron, Bill.
> You have just been introduced to one > of the three rec.radio.cb trolls. He > claims to not even be a cb'er or ham,
> but touts the agenda of a Crusade to rid
> the airwaves of export radio's and amps
> via the only source he knows.................
> Rec.Radio.CB.
> He even tries to quell free speech, just > discussing amps or export radios, he will > label you a federal criminal. If you have > your picture taken along side an export > radio or amp, he will label you a federal > criminal. Even if you said to have used
> one, but are not now or plan to in the future
> he will label you a criminal.
> Yes a true believer in wiping out the worlds
> supply of export radios and linears, just by > trolling Rec.Radio.Cb.
>
> Landshark

3672. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 20:11:51 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <buuQ7.215474$3d2.9797841@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26716

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message news:m6sQ7.255459$W8.9481433@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> "N2EY" wrote
>
> > Here's a question for you: When and where did the ideas of separation of > church
> > and state, and universal religious tolerance, first become established in
> the > > USA?
>
> You don't mean Philadelphia? Do you? ;-)
>

How about Rhode Island?

3673. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-08 20:13:27 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <HvuQ7.215475$3d2.9797858@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 26717

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message news:NvqQ7.215279$3d2.9769896@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
